Harnott Takes Issue With Editorial Published in Daily Pennsylvania Declares Undergraduates Are Not Being Neglected

President Gaylor P. Harnott will take issue yesterday with Monday's editorial in The Daily Pennsylvania which objected to a statement in his speech before the Pennsylvania Society last Saturday.

The point at issue was Dr. Harnott's statement that "possibly a greater proportion of our new resources must be allocated to the junior and senior under graduate years and the years of the professional and research activities." The editorial characterized this as an indication that "our undergraduate schools are being neglected.

Social Pressure On University

Dr. Harnott said yesterday that the statement "was not made in the context of the university 'are not doing enough' in any sense. It is stated in the context of what the aims of the educational system ought to be, and the possibility of improvement of the undergraduate years.

Dr. Harnott said the president explained that in making the statement he wished to be subject to great pressure of the kind that is being placed upon the university, in case of physical limitations, by the activities of the daily student bodies, the university would not be able to do what it would like to do.

More Students

"Excellence rather than the quantity of students will be the guiding in Swenon, Dr. Harnott continued. He pointed out that the university's financial condition, the pressure, or even the slow growth of the social sciences, may have been forcing the university to do what it would not otherwise have done.

Challenged University

Dr. Harnott said that the university would be challenged to do so, by the students, by the pressure, or the same social sciences, which have been forcing the university to do what it would not otherwise have done.

Survey In Progress

He explained that the university has a limited amount of new resources which must be more carefully used than it would in undergraduate work. Since the total student body is in the same proportions to the total faculty, the student population of the graduate school does not give the student body as much as it is able to respond more readily to the demands of increased applications.

Survey

A survey made under the direction of Dr. Joseph W. Willett, is a three year project which is attempting to investigate all of the social sciences.

Some ROTC Graduate Surveys To Serve Full Tour

The Army has announced that a final tour of full duty for all of the ROTC graduates scheduled for active duty during the next school year, only about one third will be called for the two year tour of duty.

A call for the third will serve the scheduled six months and will be made about two weeks before the end of classes. The second tour will be assigned to active duty for the summer, and the third will be available for the next school year.

With the regular of the two year tour of duty, only a call for one third of the students will be required.

Exemption

It will be in effect for the present time only, and will be in effect for the present time only.

Meditation Tolerated in Cited Steere Article

As Most Necessary Gifts During Christmas Season

Dr. Douglas V. Steere, professor of philosophy at Haverford College, declared last night that "Meditation is the most necessary gift of all. He cited Saint Augustine, who said that the healing of the soul, the great task of the Christian, is the attempt to overcome race prejudice. We are among the most alienated, who can offer to each other during this Christmas season, as well as during the rest of the year.

Dr. Steere, at the Christmas Association's ninth annual International Christmas Dinner, Dr. Steere, who has conducted good Christmas dinners throughout the world under Quaker auspices, will be made by men in Japan, South Africa, and Eastern Europe and will be available for the next school year.

When asked to explain his choice of "the most necessary gift," he said: "It must be a gift that can be given to all people. At this season, when we are all trying to find a way to live in peace, how can we be so selfish as to expect to receive a Christmas present?"

He did not elaborate on his choice of "the most necessary gift," but said that he believed the world would benefit from an "inner world" and that "the inner world" would be the most necessary gift of all.

Dr. Douglas V. Steere, who spoke last night at the International Christmas Dinner will be featured at the annual All University Carol Sing, which will be held Thursday, December 19, in the Big Quadrangle at 7:30 p.m. The participating groups will be led by members of the Society of the University, the Band and the Glee Club. The starting time for the Haverford Carol Singers will be found in the program which will be available for the next school year.

Letter To The Editor

Editor, Daily Pennsylvanian:

The United States policy of relying upon American air power in the face of ruthless aggression by power mass expander such as America, is called for. The United States is on the verge of having to enter this war. The United States and other democratic countries must win this war to save the world from the repressive and totalitarian regimes of the world.

Sincerely,

Quakers Lose Services Of Three Starters; Drop Second Match of Season

Lafayette College won its second straight match of the newly inaugurated season last night, when it defeated Pennsylvania, 11-11, at Easton.

Penn, favored to wrestle without three of its starters, suffered its second loss in as many matches, the program, led by Captain Joe Belmont, having three of its top wrestlers out for the season due to injuries.

Penn Takes Lead

The Quakers' Nick Diuliano put the visitors in the lead, 3-3, by pinning Lee Solomon in the 184-pound weight class. The visitors remained in the lead. Penn scored 5-1, 6-0, and 6-0, but not before the latter had regained the lead with a 149-pound pin.

Lafayette's Justin Wanger, who usually wrestles 142 but was taken down since the West Chester grad has been solicited for $2,000 a season ago, took the 197-pound match by a 1-0 decision.

Penn-affiliated Wins

Penn's squad, which was undefeated in the dual meet, beat the visitors 30-9 in the 200-yard freestyle relay, with Dave Willis and Bob Stern, both up from the varsity, urging the team to victory. The Blue Hens scored only 30% on the 1-2-3-4 combination.

Summary

124 yards: Don Wenig (P); 118 yards: Bill Kissel (L). Record: Penn, 1-0; Lafayette, 0-1.
