Haines, Kline Top Pennsylvania Sprint Records

By Hugh Jasourt

Pennsylvania sprinters Al Kline and John Haines dominated the Red and Blue track team over the final-exam period and made a smooth pass into the season's record book.

Kline finished third in the Inquirer Meet and Haines finished second twice, along with many other American honors on the AAU dream team. This marks the third straight year both Kline and Haines have run under 10.6.

Haines, the world indoor 100 mark holder, has gained All-America honors and is a strong favorite for the world's title in 1957.

The two also inscribed their names deeper in Penn annals by bettering their own 50 yard record with a 5.78 performance each in the Philadelphia Inquirer meet. In his last appearance Saturday in the city, Kline ran the 50 yards in 5.91.

Penn sprint of .063 by winning his semi-final heat ahead of world's top-ranked man and Pan-American record holder Rod Smucker, set a time which holds the world indoor 100 mark and still holds the record at 9.75.

In a blanket finish in the final heat, Haines won and Kline finished third behind Kline and Haines.

In a straightaway victory, the champion has gained All-America honors.

The fourth straight year a Quaker has nabs the top spot, and leads all Pennsylvania sprinters.

Nursing School Moves Classes To Morgan Lab.

New Home To House All Nursing Facilities

The School of Nursing moved its classes to the remodeled Randall Morgan Laboratory Building yesterday.

The entire School of Nursing will be housed in the building when all of the renovation is completed and the building will be used for office purposes. Two laboratories will be situated on the first floor, with the third floor being used for the school's laboratory.

Among the advantages of the new campus are the larger and larger classrooms in place of the old-time, cramped, narrow rooms and the entire school will be in one building.

The reception rooms of Dr. and Mrs. Harry Sevy, president of the University, has been reborn as the rear of the old building. E. Sevy Bradley, vice-president, set the opening.

Aside from athletics and literary interests, the writer was a member of the school's Phi Sigma Nu honorary and was a member of the Phi Kappa Psi society. Haines was a four-time member of the University of Pennsylvania's basketball team.

In keeping with the Ivy League spirit of "athletes for all," Pennsylvania has re-instituted a junior varsity football team for the coming 1964 season. This in itself is old news, but the important news is that our junior varsity football will be given a new twist to the participation benefit that is far different from the JV philosophy employed at many colleges.

Our junior varsity is NOT to be any "meatball" outfit for the varsity or any more prying ground for varsity talent. The main purpose will be, according to Director of Athletics Jerry Ford, "to provide football recreation for as many undergraduates as possible." This does not mean that the JV will not scrimmage against the varsity or that outstanding JV players will not have the opportunity to make the move to the varsity.

What this "football for fun" program means is that a man can play on a team that exists as a separate entity from the varsity, that he can enjoy home games or "big weekends," and can earn a varsity letter by playing three years of JV ball and a Junior Varsity award each year that he letters.

C. A. "Tim" Temerario, former line coach for the past two seasons, has been selected as head coach of the junior varsity and he will have a separate staff named to assist him. "Jimmy" has a broad background at end, guard, center, and quarterback as a player and as a high school, college, and professional coach which uniquely qualifies him to coach in all phases of the game.

The coach's current problem is figuring out how many students will be interested in playing junior varsity ball so that equip-

The Pennsylvania varsity tennis team gained an even split in two matches held during the spring period, defeating army 8-6 and losing to Princeton by the same score.

Pennsylvania's junior varsity tennis team split matches in two meets, winning three out of three singles in each meet. Kaplan now leads the team in the eight-team loop behind Columbia and Princeton.

In winning three out of four meets, the Quakers have a 21-15 slate and the epee-foilists in third place.

Houseman of Med. Fraternity Honored for Faithful Service

William McDaniel, houseman for 35 years at the University chapter of Phi Rho Sigma, medical fraternity, was honored by physicians and medical student members of the fraternity for his service to the house on February 2.

"Mr. Dan," as he has been nicknamed at the fraternity house, received an engraved gold watch and cash gift in appreciation of his long service to the chapter. A large crowd and a bound volume containing more than 600 pages of McDaniel's diary, a gift from the fraternity, was also presented to him.

"I am proud to work for such a wonderful and friendly group of boys; they have been kind and generous, and I appreciate their gifts," said McDaniel.

When asked about his plans for retirement, the vigorous old gentleman said that "I expect to work at the house as long as I possibly can." He is 68 years old.

McDaniel works at his job at the house throughout the school year. Officers of Phi Rho Sigma say he remembers each medical student who has belonged to the Franklin Room of University Mall.

Why Chancellor Adenauer reads The Reader's Digest

"In my country more than 500,000 people read the Digest in German each month. And they not only about the people of the United States, but about the people of all nations. The Reader's Digest has forged a new instrument for understanding among men."

—EINHOLD SCHMID, Chancellor of West Germany

In February Reader's Digest don't miss:
