'Low Cost for Policy' Stressed by Schroed

The special committee was instructed to review the effects upon academic freedom and tenure of the national effort to achieve military security and to improve the nation’s economic well-being.

The resurfacing of Temple University was recommended by the committee for a single fac- 1 tory without procedural due process. The facility member, a professor of philosophy, was concerned that the University could end up being used as a testing ground for procedures that would be tried elsewhere.

As Seen From

Weather played havoc with Pennsylvania's athletes over the Easter vacation, and the Quakers were unable to make it a successful one. The entire spring schedule was almost saddled by Yale, 17-7, in the Philadelphia Invitational Meet. The Yankees showed definite signs of promise, qualifying for the national meet in four events.

One Quaker was especially interesting—Joe Smith, from the local track club. Joe is the son of Harry Smith, and the El would indeed be forced to reckon with the Smiths on the Yale track, should the El's fortunes improve. "Yale, especially, could prove to be a real depth threat," said Joe.

Another interesting development, "their freshman team of a year ago shows up well in the early races. We're going to have excellent times in the near future for the three-mile." The El is optimistic for the future.

NYU

New York University track was probably the most interesting track meet of the season. The annual Spring Regatta was held on the Schuylkill Saturday morning. Although the Quakers were not able to finish the schedule, they did manage to win the 200-meter hurdle race, held by both the Penn and the Princeton teams. The Penn relay team was victorious in the 400-meter relay, and the Princeton team in the mile relay. The Princeton team was victorious in both the mile relay and the 300-yard dash.

Penn Relay Carnival Hosts 3000 Athletes

By William Lee

"This year's Penn Relay Carnival will be the greatest!" These were the words of Bob Paul, Director of Sports Information at Pennsylvania, whose office in Westphal Memorial Building overlooks Franklin Field. Paul spoke on the last day of the annual carnival, which was held on the Penn campus last weekend.

The Penn Relays are famous throughout the world and the University of Pennsylvania is proud of this honor. But the University is not the only one in the United States to which this recognition is owed. In fact, the University of Pennsylvania has been named the host of the annual carnival since 1901.

The Relays, which open with the 400-meter relay and close with the mile relay, have been held every year since 1901. The program includes track and field events, as well as a variety of other activities such as the Penn Relays, which is an annual event held on the campus of the University of Pennsylvania.

The Penn Relays are sponsored by the Penn Alumni Association, which is made up of former students of the University. The association was formed in 1901, and has been responsible for the organization and coordination of the Penn Relays ever since.

The Penn Relays are not only a great source of pride for the University of Pennsylvania, but they are also an important event for the local community. The Relays bring in thousands of visitors each year, who come to see the best track and field athletes from around the world compete.

The Penn Relays are also an important source of revenue for the University. The Relays are one of the University's most important fundraising events, and they help to support the University's athletic programs.

Penn Opens EII Season Against Tough Eli Nine

After a pretty busy Spring vacation, Pennsylvania's baseball team undergirds its 1956 EII baptismal fire today against stiff competition at Murray Field.

Coach Jack McClosky has elected Tony Piskanski to take the mound against Ken Makelken of the Ivy League.

Piskanski, a young man with a great arm, will set up a double-header with Muhlenberg.

The first five spots have been filled with regulars this year, with four men fishing in for the remaining two starting berths.

The EII top hurler in 1956 and captain of the varsity, the first two scheduled to play today against the Jesters, is Tony Sadowski, after whom the plate, the big blow comes on a drop fly by Jimmy Curran.

Penn defeated a double-play double-header with Bucknell on Friday.

The EII, with two runners on third base, bunted and scored one run on one hit in last inning.

Tony Piskanski displayed fine form in the center of the plate, his man near invisible the next day, although Tom Smith, the Penn reliever, seemed to be effective in his role, managing a fine control, and Pete Morgan, the victim of being a ground-troubled, allowed only six hits while striking out seven.

Set on Mound

“We’re well off the set on the mound,” said the coach, “but we’re not too confident—the one and only thing we’ve got going is our superior college football pitchers.”

No better set on, with the only claim that this may qualify, is the one from Ed Vicini. Kelly is the only one from his past, as the opening game, he’ll be at short, with either Dick Taylor or Tom Smith sharing the latter slot.

If Kelly needs respite, he’ll be at second, and Smith will be at the plate.

Bob Ross, the team’s leading hitter, and every second line player has made a good head start behind Penn's slugging lineup.

He will be assisted by Joe Fleisher, without a doubt, the best manager position, and is a member of the Delta Kap pi fraternity, a member of the Phi Delta Eta fraternity and a member of the Whirley Who AME.

Art Spencer and his two brothers have been elected to fill the two remaining spots on the roster. Both are sophomores in the college and members of the Theta Epsilon Phi fraternity.

SPALDING

Make your pick the "pick of the pros" — SPALDING

You'll stop a lot of boredom with either of these fine Spalding gloves. These are the very same gloves used by two great names in baseball — Alvin Dark, shortstop of the New York Giants and Phil Rizzuto, veteran shortstop of the New York Yankees.

Both these gloves are made with the finest leather, deep green pocket and solid web in trap. You don’t have to break them in; Spalding does that for you. You can see the complete Spalding line of fine gloves at your Spalding dealer’s, too.
