Chaplain Harris Speaks
In Irving Tomorrow at 10
On Topic, ‘Alive to God’

Chapel Talk Reviews Bible as Power Source
in Man’s Desire To Overcome Inner Hostilities

‘Alive to God’ will be the topic of the talk to be given by the Reverend Edward G. Harris, Chaplain, at the annual Military Weekend Chapel to be held tomorrow at 10 a.m. in Irvine Auditorium.

The chapel is sponsored by the Arnold Air Society, Pershing Rifles, Quartersack Society, Stabboard and Blade and the Taylor Air Society.

In his talk, Chaplain Harris will discuss the primary being “the basic source of reviving the spiritual hostilities between God and man and shows how we can turn our hearts to the Lord.”

Boy’s Club To Hold
Election of Officers

By Harry Schiffer

Election for the officers of the Boy’s Club will be held Thursday, April 26, in Houston Hall, according to David King, acting chairman of the club.

The posts to be filled are director, assistant director, secretary, and treasurer. Four junior nominees have been nominated to fill the posts of director and assistant director.

They are: Philip Redc, David Redf, Robert Beall and Thomas Wilbur.

Six sophomore names have been placed in nomination for the posts of secretary and treasurer. They are: Robert Bradfield, Dan Drey, Edwin Epstein, Robert Beall, Robert Kado and Gilbert Vishlitz.

Nominations from the floor will be accepted at the election meeting.

Hunt Starts Soon
For Best Attired Of Campus Men

Underpinnings of discriminating taste in clothes will have an opportunity to display their prowess in the forthcoming Mr. Pennsylvanian contest, sponsored by The Daily Pennsylvanian.

The Mr. Pennsylvanian contest promises to be an exciting event for all who are interested in campus fashion. The contest will be held in Houston Hall, beginning at 3:30 p.m. on the day of the event.

The winners will be chosen based on a combination of physical appearance, originality of clothing, and overall presentation. The contest will be judged by a panel of judges including representatives from various student organizations.

Winners will be awarded certificates and prizes, including a year’s subscription to The Daily Pennsylvanian and recognition as the best-dressed male student on campus.

The contest is open to all male students on campus, and all are encouraged to participate. So get ready to present your best attire and show off your style at the Mr. Pennsylvanian contest!
Ten Candidates Are Nominated To Senior Posts

In addition to John C. T. Alexander, Kirby Fitzpatrick, David Kline, Frank A. Weidnacht, and Hugh Vaughn, the following men were nominated for permanent president, vice-president, secretary, and treasurer of the Class of 1956: Bruce Cons, John Strickland, Robert E. Lebengood, John W. Alexander, Jr., Kirby Fitzpatrick, John B. Alexander, Jr., John C. T. Alexander, David G. Kline, and Robert E. Lebengood.

Nine Men Nominated For Annual Hey Day Senior Honor Awards

Editorial

Credit Where...

Tomorrow the senior class will have the opportunity to select its honor men. That is, if they want to.

In the past the turn-out has not been too bad. That's been too bad, because it shows something is lacking.

The men who have been nominated should receive the recognition they deserve. Being an "honors" man does not mean that a man has sat in a chair during his four years of college and taken it easy. On the contrary, as Peter said, the men have been chosen on the basis of contribution to the class and to the University. That means that they have worked, and they have worked hard. Surely the "superior" men of the senior class of this Ivy League institution are willing to give credit where credit is due. Take time out to vote.

Golfers Extend Streak; Register Third Victory

Continuing its winning ways, Pennsylvania's Varsity golf team registered its third win of the season, 6-1, over Franklin and Marshall, yesterday afternoon.

Captain Al McQuiston staked at what he described as a "tremendous team effort." All the Quakers broke 80, although unofficially be-cause the competition was match play.

They shook up their lineup—somewhat by inserting L. E. Frankel in the number four spot. Frankel came through in fine form by winning his first varsity match one up over Richard Zunker in twelve holes.

Frankly Poore, number two man, who last Friday extended L. E. Norton's Mid Atlantic Championship to twenty holes, again came through in impressive form with a four and three victory over Bob Bostic. Poore posted low medal score for the day with a 74.

Captain Al McQuiston remained undefeated with a 7 and one up over Bob Dunnell in the number one match. The third number three spot, Bob Bailey took a convincing win over Fred Durnon by a four and three match.

The Red and Blue's two unde-feated sophomores again displayed their fine form. Ralph Benetich closed out the sixth slot.

Garnet Battles Yearling Nine
To 8-8 Draw

Pennsylvania's freshman base-ball team was stung in its at-tempt for its second win in as many starts by a stubborn New Jersey V.F. nine yesterday by virtue of an 8-8 deadlock.

The game was postponed indefinitely when the teams were tied at the prearranged quitting time.

Ollie McKirry started for the Quakers yesterday and won 8 and 1/2 innings before retiring in favor of Frank Detweiler. The V.F. Yankees struck out a lot of it in while picking up losses to four.

Although the fresh linxse the Garnet squad and outscored them in earned runs, 10-7 and 8-4 respectively, they could not squall a last inning eight when they had men on base, which was good enough to throw the game into deadlock.

Roy Jackson, the Quaker sec-ond sacker had a perfect day both in the field and at the plate. He went 4-4, including a triple and three singles.

Quaker Varsity Tennis Team Opposes Strong Garnet Team

Hoping to post its first victory of the year after dropping its first two matches, Pennsylvania's varsity team journeyed to Swarthmore to take on the Garnet on the latter's home court this afternoon at 2:30.

Three of the Garnet's top singles players from last year return to give them the nucleus of a strong team. They have compiled a 3-1 record so far including a 9-4 crushing of Lafayette last Saturday.

Today the Quakers were defeated the Quakers by a one- and two-match spread. The three veterans returning to the Swarthmore squad are opponents Larry Shale and Carl Burger. Carl Burger, the number one man, picked up a comfortable victory today.

The two freshmen players with their singles partners in straight sets, Larry Shale, who now plays in the number one position, defeated Ben Brown, 6-2, 6-6, playing number three last season. For the Penn number one man, Carwyn should be a challenge to average that defeat today.

Couple plays in the number two and three positions after playing the last spring. Rusch, the Quaker player, won his second straight three set match.

Filling in the other three spots in the Garnet line-up are opponents Fred Katz and Mike Tredmore and Junior Gordon.

For Penn, Wallace Johnson is not due of the line-up, although Ben Brown, 6-2, 6-0, playing number two today.

Carl Weber at attack; John Mur-lan, Gerry Finerman and cap-tain Ted Mock the only Quaker losses in a match so far are expected to fill the first, four, and five spots respectively.

Three of the Garnet's top singles players from last year return to give them the nucleus of a strong team.

THE MANY LOVES OF THORWALD DOCKSTADER

When Thorwald Dockstader—sophomore, epicure, and sportsman—first took up smoking, he did not choose a brand of cigarettes that came to hand. No, indeed! He did what any good epicure would do. He first selected six or eight brands and then picked the gentliest, tastiest, most soothingly, deliciously, unfailingly pleasing of all—Philip Morris!

Similarly, when Thorwald Dockstader took up girls, he did not simply select the first one who came along. No, indeed! Thorwald sampled. He took out several likely girls and then he compared their charms and then he made his choice.

His first date was with an English lit major named Elizabeth Barret, a wisp of a girl with luminous eyes and a nose that shimmered with a pale, unearthly beauty. Trippingly, she walked with Thorwald upon the beach and sat with him behind a windward dune and listened to a sea shell that shimmered with a pale, unearthly beauty. Trippingly, she walked with Thorwald upon the beach and sat with him behind a windward dune and listened to a sea shell that shimmered with a pale, unearthly beauty. Trippingly, she walked with Thorwald upon the beach and sat with him behind a windward dune and listened to a sea shell that shimmered with a pale, unearthly beauty.

Thorwald’s second date was with a physical ed major named Frances Glovander, a breath of a girl with a ready smile and a size 18 neck. She took Thorwald down to the cinder track where they juggled around thirty or forty times to open up the pores.

Thorwald’s third date was with a golden-haired, creamy-brown, green-eyed, red-lipped, full-collared girl named Total McWay. Total was not majorsing in anything. As she often said, “Gas whithers, college’s for anyhow—to fill your head full of morbid old facts, or to discover the shining essence that is YOU?!”

They started the evening with Thorwald at a luxurious restaurant where she consumed her own weight in Cornish rock hen. From there they went to a dark movie theater where Total had popcorn with butter and a bag of chocolate covered raisins—also with butter. Then they went to a costly ballroom and cha-cha’d till dawn, tippeing the band wildly all the while. Then they went to a Chinese restaurant where Total, unable to decry the large and baffling menu, solved her problem by ordering one of everything. Then Thorwald took her to the women’s dorm, boosted her in the window, and went downtown to open the Morris Place office to open.

While waiting, Thorwald thought over all of his girls and came to a decision. “It is clear,” said Thorwald, “that I am not yet ready for girls.” He continued. “That a man needs a gentle companion, and who,” he asked, “will my gentle companion be?” He. PHILIP MORRIS!,” he answered. “Phillip Morris will be my tender concomitate, my solace and my strength, my friend in adversity, my shelter in virgule, my boon and bosom buddy,” and, so saying, Thorwald lit a PHILIP MORRIS and was content.
