Students To Participate In Model UN Assembly Today in Univ. Museum

Dr. Hotell Will Serve as Session Chairman; Each High School To Represent UN Nation

A model United Nations assembly will be held at the University Museum on Monday, 9 a.m., as a part of the University's bicentennial celebration. Dr. Athol Hotell, dean of women, will serve as chairman of the seventh annual model General Assembly session, which is sponsored by the United Nations Association in Philadelphi. Dr. Hotell is a member of the board of directors of the Council.

Six hundred senior high school students from 57 Philadelphi. area schools are attending the conference. Each school will represent one or more nations of the UN. The delegates will explore global cooperation and issues which are currently being discussed by the Assembly, including peace and security, disarmament, world economic and social development, de-industrialization, national liberation, human rights and self-government for the native peoples of the world.

Procedure Used

The organizational structure and procedures of the General Assembly will be followed by the conference. Each country will have its own delegation, which will present its views on specific topics. Three General Assembly sessions will be held in the conference: The Political Assembly, the Social and Economic Assembly, and the Committee on Human Rights and Cultural Affairs.

The opening meeting will be a plenary session. The secretary-general of the United Nations will address the students, outlining the resolutions of the conferences will be held.

Andrew W. Cordier, executive secretary of the United Nations Association in the U.S., will attend the opening session. He will address the students at the opening session. He will address the students on the UN's role in the world.

Newman Club Elections Set

Edward Bing, James Kilroy, and John Brownley are the candidates for the presidency of the Newman Club for the 1956-57 year.

The election of the new officers of the club will take place at the annual meeting of the Newman executive committee, to be held here today at 4 p.m. in the Student Union South Room.

Nomination Still Open

Newman Club members may now nominate any member of the club for the presidency of the Newman Club. However, only those who are members in good standing of the club and have been members for two years will be eligible for the presidency.

The club is also seeking new members, and any student who wishes to enter the Newman Club may do so by filling in the blank on page four of today's paper.

Wheaton To Begin Lecture Series at 1 P.M.

William L. C. Wheaton, dean of the Wheaton and Oakley residence halls, will give the first in a series of lectures on "The Modern City," from 1:30 to 2:30 in the Wheaton and Oakley residence halls.

Wheaton also announced that the university has received a grant from the Ford Foundation to support the lecture series.

Dr. Wheaton also said that most of the university's students are likely to stay in the dormitories on weekends.

Tickets for Skinner Day will be on sale continuously from now until Skimmer Day, the club's annual dinner and dance, on May 11.

Tickets will be available at the wheaton and Oakley residence halls, and at the club's headquarters in the Wheaton and Oakley residence halls.

The idea proved so successful that the club was able to purchase tickets for every student who wished to attend.

Drinking Violations

Failure to observe a school rule regarding the sale of alcoholic beverages has resulted in the suspension of nine members of the Harvard Drinking Club. The club was suspended last week.

The suspension resulted from a report by student council president Mary Ann Gardner. The club was suspended for violating the New England Athletic Conference rules, which prohibit the sale of alcoholic beverages on campus.

Drinking violations are a common problem on college campuses, and the Harvard Drinking Club is no exception. The club has a long history of violating the rules, and the suspension is expected to be the end of the club's activities for the year.

The suspension will be lifted when the club can prove that it is no longer a problem.

A special meeting will be held to determine whether the club will be allowed to resume its activities.

The meeting will be held on campus, and all members of the club will be present. The meeting will be open to the public,

The club will be allowed to resume its activities if it can prove that it is no longer a problem.

Mild Relief

Most universities located in large cities are faced with that almost characteristic American problem—the lack of parking facilities. To say that the University falls within this category is at best an understatement.

We appreciate the efforts that have been made by the University to alleviate this condition. It is met with a certain amount of success to the end that a number of parking areas have been opened to faculty members. These openings have made available more parking facilities in the main student parking area at the Pales-
tre. It is encouraging, however, that although more cars are being accommmodated, the situation is still acute and future prospects make it look worse.

The raft of parking violations that have been properly issued recently to cars in the University area, seem to us, to be more indicative of the lack of permitted parking area than it does a measure of the Philadelphia Police Department. It seems clear that visitors to the campus and residents, as well as students, must risk the possibility of a third dollar fine almost daily in order to park their cars.

It is only reasonable to expect that drivers should park their automobiles along Locust Street where there are the number of violations have been issued. This location is close to many of the buildings on the campus and is suited to overnight parking for resident students which is not available at the Palestre lot.

Since the trolley cars have finally made their way into the long-awaited complete subsoil, there were little reason why the city should continue to prohibit parking on either side of Locust Street. We ask, therefore, that the University petition the city to remove the ban on parking which is now in effect on Locust Street. Considering the seriousness of the need, our request should not be delayed. In addition to the safety aspect, it seems that the city would be more than willing to allow us this convenience now that the trolleys are underground as part of the plan for the complete convienience that has been caused during the long period of subway construction.

Immediate request is also important, so that the area may be legally utilized as soon as possible to eliminate the needless expense that is being incurred by many students who seem determined to park in this presently prohibited area, due to necessity or comvenience regardless of the awareness of summoners.

The already desperate situation will grow worse. The plan to close Woodland Avenue to through traffic at 14th Street when legislative permission is received and the awaited construction of the University Faculty Club on the site of what is now parking area will aggravate the problem. The income of Spruce Street parking has not helped.

Removal of the ban on Locust Street parking will be a small problem, but it is a logical one that must be moved, no matter how the University should be able to determine to obtain.

Sprint Haines Returns From African Excursion

By Bill Last

"If I had to do it again, I would return to the continent," said former Penn sprinter John Haines on returning from an eight-week trek to West Africa. The Department of good will tour in Africa.

The eight-man team, including Haines and N.Y.U.'s George Wang, who will accompany the Penn Relay next week, returned Tuesday from Paris, France, by plane and covered some 17,000 miles in the air. Exhibition meets and clinics were staged in Liberia, the Gold Coast, and Nigeria.

"It was most encouraging," said Haines, "for the interest and enthusiasm that the people have in track and field in Africa. They would listen intently to every word we said the after-noon we arrived and talk with us about the sports we were interested in."
