Let The Guilty Appear

The faces of some of the many students who actively participated in last Thursday night’s riot. Some of these faces are familiar to the University Committee on Discipline; others are not. The Daily Pennsylvanian knows the names of the six pictured here. In addition, we have pictures—and the names—of other active participants in the riot.

Today the faces are blacked out, and the names are omitted. We are doing this because we do not wish to reveal publicly the identity of guilty persons. Moreover, we feel confident that the offenders pictured here and in our pictures will have their own volition admit their part in the riot either directly to the Committee on Discipline or to the Undergraduate Council.

President Harriman said Friday that the University will take “prompt and severe disciplinary action against the students involved.” This statement leaves no doubt that some people will suffer severe punishment for the riot. The unfortunate possibility exists that some of those punished will not have been the initiators of the disturbance. That some will suffer because some people, brave enough to start row-bottoms, are cowardly enough to let guilty people suffer their punishment.

These people are being offered a chance to keep innocent fellow-students from suffering. We can not offer them the certainty that if they come forward they will not be punished. But we can say that the possibility exists that the efforts of the rioters to make sure that the innocent do not suffer will not go uncomprehended.

Justice will be done in this case. We join the University administration and the people of Philadelphia in urging this. But we ask that justice be done, not simply for the sake of showing that punishment exists, but in such a manner that the innocent are not made to suffer for the guilty. If the guilty students will step forward voluntarily, much will have been done to restore the good name of the University and to show that Pennsylvania students are able to accept their responsibilities.

Opinions of University Students

Sought on Variety of Subjects

Frances B. Brown, instructor of Economics and Social Studies, said, “The students have not been asked questions involving groups and activities to which they belong on campus, the athletic program at the University, and the disadvantages of fraternity life. Research Habits Questioned

They will also be asked about their study habits, sleeping habits and how long and when they spend their spare time. The students will be questioned about what if any restrictions they would like to have made at the University in regard to student activities, school sponsored activities and the student government. The students will be questioned about what if any restrictions they would like to have made at the University in regard to student activities, school sponsored activities and the student government. The students will be questioned about what if any restrictions they would like to have made at the University in regard to student activities, school sponsored activities and the student government. The students will be questioned about what if any restrictions they would like to have made at the University in regard to student activities, school sponsored activities and the student government. The students will be questioned about what if any restrictions they would like to have made at the University in regard to student activities, school sponsored activities and the student government. The students will be questioned about what if any restrictions they would like to have made at the University in regard to student activities, school sponsored activities and the student government. The students will be questioned about what if any restrictions they would like to have made at the University in regard to student activities, school sponsored activities and the student government. The students will be questioned about what if any restrictions they would like to have made at the University in regard to student activities, school sponsored activities and the student government. The students will be questioned about what if any restrictions they would like to have made at the University in regard to student activities, school sponsored activities and the student government. The students will be questioned about what if any restrictions they would like to have made at the University in regard to student activities, school sponsored activities and the student government.

Rushing Rules Revised

The I.F. Council also passed a rushing revision for the Jewish house. The revision provided for the council to act on May 31. The rules are as follows:

The council will consist of seven members, four from the house and three from the council. The president will call meetings to discuss matters of the council. The president will be elected by the council.

Bushing Rules Revised

The I.F. Council also passed a rushing revision for the Jewish house. The revision provided for the council to act on May 31. The rules are as follows:

The council will consist of seven members, four from the house and three from the council. The president will call meetings to discuss matters of the council. The president will be elected by the council.

Undergrad Condemns Guilty Riots: I-F Council To Investigate Outbreaks

Council Hopes To Find Leaders of Rowbottom

The I.F. Council passed a motion condemning the guilty persons participating in the riots last night. From May 2nd, 1945, there was a riot and a second one on May 3rd, when 172 students were arrested and 28 held for grand jury action.

Alan Aberman, who made the resolution, pointed out that the perpetuating official of the committee on discipline should be contacted instead of himself, the president. The president, however, said there were no further outbreaks of the 28 students held for grand jury action.

One of the officials, assistant Director Attarn, pointed out that the students stated that the students held for grand jury action may be freed of any responsibility if the students could go to trial.

Participants in pictures and tin we have the ones of volition admit their part in the riot either directly to the Committee on Discipline or to the Undergraduate Council.

President Harriman said Friday that the University will take “prompt and severe disciplinary action against the students involved.” This statement leaves no doubt that some people will suffer severe punishment for the riot. The unfortunate possibility exists that some of those punished will not have been the initiators of the disturbance. That some will suffer because some people, brave enough to start row-bottoms, are cowardly enough to let guilty people suffer their punishment.

These people are being offered a chance to keep innocent fellow-students from suffering. We can not offer them the certainty that if they come forward they will not be punished. But we can say that the possibility exists that the efforts of the rioters to make sure that the innocent do not suffer will not go uncomprehended.

Justice will be done in this case. We join the University administration and the people of Philadelphia in urging this. But we ask that justice be done, not simply for the sake of showing that punishment exists, but in such a manner that the innocent are not made to suffer for the guilty. If the guilty students will step forward voluntarily, much will have been done to restore the good name of the University and to show that Pennsylvania students are able to accept their responsibilities.

Student Mock Primary Election Held; Eisenhowen, Stevenson Party Winners

President Dwight D. Eisenhower received 461 votes, and Adlai E. Stevenson got 356 in the mock student presidential election held Friday.

The total Republican presidential vote listed 608, the Democratic vote was 464.

In the vice presidential primary, held only by the Republicans, Thomas B. Haggard, former postmaster of New Harmony, Ind., won with 190 votes, Robert C. Cuff, former president of the University, railroader with 97 votes.

Trailing Stevenson on the Democratic presidential ballot were Tennessee Senator Estes Kefauver with 36 votes, W. Aver-
PLR Out Today

Issue Termed 'Very Good'

by Gaeton J. Fonzi

Well, the new issue of the Pennsylvania Literary Review has finally come out. A new crop of student writers has submitted their work, and the higher literary understanding, has been reflected in the new issue. Some censorship are gone.

Berger, the issue is a little above average, and average is usually very good. The main novel of this month is gone and in its place is a simple design with two words: we say it anyway, isn't that a wonderful change?

Some Disappointment to Readers

In the literature and take a first look at THIRD story—"Lilac Dress," by James Joyce. The average reader of PLR, if there be an average reader of PLR, it is a too bitter truth. It's too much to bear. It's too much to bear.

Rhett Butler is going to have a baby. It is a simple truth and very crass sort of people. Its hot, it's not. It is not for those who are too young to understand. It is not for those who are not as young as you.

To read a book is not to some, there is no reason why it should, to James Joyce's masterpiece. But rather Butler has created a very tense and very dramatic story.

Ruth Brewer is going to have a baby. Her husband, Jules, is a very illegal and very dark sort of person. He doesn't care. He doesn't care. He doesn't care. He doesn't care. He doesn't care.

In a desire to find an outlet for his own emotion, Jules takes a neighbor's car and does some neighboring on his own. His neighbor comes from the town. To find all doubts of her death, Jules strangles her.

Superficial Plot to Story

The plot of the story and the actions of the characters are superficial and secondary. The main character is a middle-aged intellectual, psychoanalytic factors which governs him.

It is bad that there has been so much babble about this story, for we do not. The story can stand in a very, very brutal story written in a very, very brutal style.

So "Lilac Dress" has emboldened the spot. It is a very, very story, but it is a very, very story. It is a very, very story. It is a very, very story.

The illustration is very, very good. It is a very, very good. It is a very, very good. It is a very, very good. It is a very, very good.

There is also some very fine poetry in this issue of the Pennsylvania Literary Review. Charles Guenther has a very delicate piece on the American poet, John Anderson. There is also some very fine poetry in this issue of the Pennsylvania Literary Review. Charles Guenther has a very delicate piece on the American poet, John Anderson. There is also some very fine poetry in this issue of the Pennsylvania Literary Review. Charles Guenther has a very delicate piece on the American poet, John Anderson. There is also some very fine poetry in this issue of the Pennsylvania Literary Review. Charles Guenther has a very delicate piece on the American poet, John Anderson. There is also some very fine poetry in this issue of the Pennsylvania Literary Review. Charles Guenther has a very delicate piece on the American poet, John Anderson. There is also some very fine poetry in this issue of the Pennsylvania Literary Review. Charles Guenther has a very delicate piece on the American poet, John Anderson. There is also some very fine poetry in this issue of the Pennsylvania Literary Review. Charles Guenther has a very delicate piece on the American poet, John Anderson. There is also some very fine poetry in this issue of the Pennsylvania Literary Review. Charles Guenther has a very delicate piece on the American poet, John Anderson. There is also some very fine poetry in this issue of the Pennsylvania Literary Review. Charles Guenther has a very delicate piece on the American poet, John Anderson. There is also some very fine poetry in this issue of the Pennsylvania Literary Review. Charles Guenther has a very delicate piece on the American poet, John Anderson. There is also some very fine poetry in this issue of the Pennsylvania Literary Review. Charles Guenther has a very delicate piece on the American poet, John Anderson. There is also some very fine poetry in this issue of the Pennsylvania Literary Review. Charles Guenther has a very delicate piece on the American poet, John Anderson. There is also some very fine poetry in this issue of the Pennsylvania Literary Review. Charles Guenther has a very delicate piece on the American poet, John Anderson. There is also some very fine poetry in this issue of the Pennsylvania Literary Review. Charles Guenther has a very delicate piece on the American poet, John Anderson. There is also some very fine poetry in this issue of the Pennsylvania Literary Review. Charles Guenther has a very delicate piece on the American poet, John Anderson. There is also some very fine poetry in this issue of the Pennsylvania Literary Review. Charles Guenther has a very delicate piece on the American poet, John Anderson. There is also some very fine poetry in this issue of the Pennsylvania Literary Review. Charles Guenther has a very delicate piece on the American poet, John Anderson. There is also some very fine poetry in this issue of the Pennsylvania Literary Review. Charles Guenther has a very delicate piece on the American poet, John Anderson. There is also some very fine poetry in this issue of the Pennsylvania Literary Review. Charles Guenther has a very delicate piece on the American poet, John Anderson. There is also some very fine poetry in this issue of the Pennsylvania Literary Review. Charles Guenther has a very delicate piece on the American poet, John Anderson. There is also some very fine poetry in this issue of the Pennsylvania Literary Review. Charles Guenther has a very delicate piece on the American poet, John Anderson. There is also some very fine poetry in this issue of the Pennsylvania Literary Review. Charles Guenther has a very delicate piece on the American poet, John Anderson. There is also some very fine poetry in this issue of the Pennsylvania Literary Review. Charles Guenther has a very delicate piece on the American poet, John Anderson. There is also some very fine poetry in this issue of the Pennsylvania Literary Review. Charles Guenther has a very delicate piece on the American poet, John Anderson. There is also some very fine poetry in this issue of the Pennsylvania Literary Review. Charles Guenther has a very delicate piece on the American poet, John Anderson. There is also some very fine poetry in this issue of the Pennsylvania Literary Review. Charles Guenther has a very delicate piece on the American poet, John Anderson. There is also some very fine poetry in this issue of the Pennsylvania Literary Review. Charles Guenther has a very delicate piece on the American poet, John Anderson. There is also some very fine poetry in this issue of the Pennsylvania Literary Review. Charles Guenther has a very delicate piece on the American poet, John Anderson. There is also some very fine poetry in this issue of the Pennsylvania Literary Review. Charles Guenther has a very delicate piece on the American poet, John Anderson. There is also some very fine poetry in this issue of the Pennsylvania Literary Review. Charles Guenther has a very delicate piece on the American poet, John Anderson. There is also some very fine poetry in this issue of the Pennsylvania Literary Review. Charles Guenther has a very delicate piece on the American poet, John Anderson. There is also some very fine poetry in this issue of the Pennsylvania Literary Review. Charles Guenther has a very delicate piece on the American poet, John Anderson. There is also some very fine poetry in this issue of the Pennsylvania Literary Review. Charles Guenther has a very delicate piece on the American poet, John Anderson. There is also some very fine poetry in this issue of the Pennsylvania Literary Review. Charles Guenther has a very delicate piece on the American poet, John Anderson. There is also some very fine poetry in this issue of the Pennsylvania Literary Review. Charles Guenther has a very delicate piece on the American poet, John Anderson. There is also some very fine poetry in this issue of the Pennsylvania Literary Review. Charles Guenther has a very delicate piece on the American poet, John Anderson. There is also some very fine poetry in this issue of the Pennsylvania Literary Review. Charles Guenther has a very delicate piece on the American poet, John Anderson. There is also some very fine poetry in this issue of the Pennsylvania Literary Review. Charles Guenther has a very delicate piece on the American poet, John Anderson. There is also some very fine poetry in this issue of the Pennsylvania Literary Review. Charles Guenther has a very delicate piece on the American poet, John Anderson. There is also some very fine poetry in this issue of the Pennsylvania Literary Review. Charles Guenther has a very delicate piece on the American poet, John Anderson. There is also some very fine poetry in this issue of the Pennsylvania Literary Review. Charles Guenther has a very delicate piece on the American poet, John Anderson. There is also some very fine poetry in this issue of the Pennsylvania Literary Review. Charles Guenther has a very delicate piece on the American poet, John Anderson. There is also some very fine poetry in this issue of the Pennsylvania Literary Review. Charles Guenther has a very delicate piece on the American poet, John Anderson. There is also some very fine poetry in this issue of the Pennsylvania Literary Review. Charles Guenther has a very delicate piece on the American poet, John Anderson. There is also some very fine poetry in this issue of the Pennsylvania Literary Review. Charles Guenther has a very delicate piece on the American poet, John Anderson. There is also some very fine poetry in this issue of the Pennsylvania Literary Review. Charles Guenther has a very delicate piece on the American poet, John Anderson. There is also some very fine poetry in this issue of the Pennsylvania Literary Review. Charles Guenther has a very delicate piece on the American poet, John Anderson. There is also some very fine poetry in this issue of the Pennsylvania Literary Review. Charles Guenther has a very delicate piece on the American poet, John Anderson. There is also some very fine poetry in this issue of the Pennsylvania Literary Review. Charles Guenther has a very delicate piece on the American poet, John Anderson. There is also some very fine poetry in this issue of the Pennsylvania Literary Review. Charles Guenther has a very delicate piece on the American poet, John Anderson. There is also some very fine poetry in this issue of the Pennsylvania Literary Review. Charles Guenther has a very delicate piece on the American poet, John Anderson. There is also some very fine poetry in this issue of the Pennsylvania Literary Review. Charles Guenther has a very delicate piece on the American poet, John Anderson. There is also some very fine poetry in this issue of the Pennsylvania Literary Review. Charles Guenther has a very delicate piece on the American poet, John Anderson. There is also some very fine poetry in this issue of the Pennsylvania Literary Review. Charles Guenther has a very delicate piece on the American poet, John Anderson. There is also some very fine poetry in this issue of the Pennsylvania Literary Review. Charles Guenther has a very delicate piece on the American poet, John Anderson. There is also some very fine poetry in this issue of the Pennsylvania Literary Review. Charles Guenther has a very delicate piece on the American poet, John Anderson. There is also some very fine poetry in this issue of the Pennsylvania Literary Review. Charles Guenther has a very delicate piece on the American poet, John Anderson. There is also some very fine poetry in this issue of the Pennsylvania Literary Review. Charles Guenther has a very delicate piece on the American poet, John Anderson. There is also some very f

It's sure to rain ... Chino twill, eggshell shade raincoat ... Specially Priced $14.95

At the Pennsylvania Literary Review office today...

Eric Sellin, is back again with four characters from the popular Matrix series...
Haines Breaks Records; Varsity, Yearlings Lose

Pennsylvania's varsity crew won its third consecutive race by 61/2 lengths on Saturday as Harvard captured the Adams Cup on the Severn River.

The Quakers lost their seventh consecutive home track meet victory over Harvard (81/2-12) and Pennsylvania (3-19) in Pennsylvania. In the victor's circle, Quakers' coach Bill Haines, in his last year as an assistant coach at Pennsylvania, won his 50th record by John Haines in the 220-yard dash.

Pennsylvania's varsity crew won its third consecutive race by 61/2 lengths on Saturday as Harvard captured the Adams Cup on the Severn River.

The Quakers lost their seventh consecutive home track meet victory over Harvard (81/2-12) and Pennsylvania (3-19) in Pennsylvania. In the victor's circle, Quakers' coach Bill Haines, in his last year as an assistant coach at Pennsylvania, won his 50th record by John Haines in the 220-yard dash.

Quakers Lose To Navy Nine; Meet Columbia

The rain that caused postponement of yesterday's Pennsylvania-Wilkinsburg baseball game gave Jack Smalley's infield single was good in an EIL contest at Baker Field. The Navy hurler opened the In-...
Lecture
There will be a lecture on "The Algerian Question" sponsored by the Arab Students Association on Saturday at 3 p.m. at the Internation Hall, 1905 Spruce St.

Highball
The last time a Highball was held was in the Schnittickay room from the press box and the report to the Office of the press-organized beer.

Highball Advertising Staff
There will be an important meeting of the advertising staff at the Highball at 7 p.m. today in the business office.

Pennsylvania Players
Two one act plays will be presented by the Pennsylvania Players on Thursday at 8:15 p.m., in Houston Hall. No admission will be charged.

Highball Art Staff
There will be a meeting at 1:10 p.m.

Today's Big Event
Frid. and Homecoming, I,.ill bi

"With Julie Harris giving her finest performance as Joan, The Lark is a memorable picture of a moment that is immortal in history and exciting on the stage" — movie magazine, A. T. Times.

Notes

CLASSIFIED ADS

APARTMENT TO SUB-LET—June 15th to Sept. 15. Furnished, private entrance, laundry facilities, air-conditioned, east third floor, $45 first month and $40 each month after. Will consider gradual or entire cash payments. E. V. 1172.

OPTICAL REPAIRS—Prompt student service, amateur technical aid and advice.

STUDENT FACULTY—Three full or part-time positions available. Here is a beautiful opportunity to gain experience, with full or part-time work. Positions will be filled as soon as possible. For more information call W. V. 145.

WANTED—For the whole time or in part. Office and home work for the afternoon. For further information call W. V. 135.

FURNITURE FOR SALE—God condition. Two complete beds, one three piece entertainment set, 2 dressers. Lowest price. Call E. V. 4196.

RENTAL OFFICE—Free. Call W. V. 4196.