Chaplin Harris Speaks
On "Transformed Lives"
In Irvine Tomorrow
Chapel Sponsored
By Five Activities
The Reverend Edward G. Harris, chaplain of the University, will speak tonight at 7:30 in Irvine Auditorium. The first chapel of the current year will be sponsored by the University Department of Student Council.
Both Dr. Harris and Chaplain Harris will discuss the idea that many people are "transformed" by the world today. Harris will paint a picture of the world today and point out that while some people may be "transformed" by the world, others may feel that the world has not transformed them at all. He will also discuss the idea that the world is not a place of constant change and that there are still people who live in poverty.

Harrowels breaks ground
For Donner Radiology Center
Dr. Gaylord P. Harwell, president of the University, and other University officials, officially broke ground for the New Will H.
Donner Radiology Center at the University of California. The building will be named in honor of the late Dr. William Donner, a prominent University administrator.
Dr. Harwell spoke briefly at a luncheon meeting of the officers of the Donner Foundation, which is attached to the Department of Radiology of the University. Expiration work begins about a month ago and completion is expected by late 1982 or early 1983.

Five Fine Art Exhibits
Finishing the Year
An exhibit entitled "A Half Century of Architectural Realism" is on display in the lobby of the Fine Art Building.
The exhibits consist of works by alumni of the School of Architecture of the Georgia Institute of Technology. Circulation of the di-play is under the control of the Traveling Exhibit Reading Room, Smithsonian Institution, Washington, D.C.
Included in the exhibit are drawings and photographs in library, book offices, homes, as well as the building designs of the 50-year period.

Phil Kappa Beta Acts
To Encourage Spirit
The wearing of the Dick, a tradition among members of the freshman class, has been discontinued, according to a statement from the University. The new Dick will be worn on Campus while without his Dick, the student is a member of the class of 1969 that in 1969. The Dick is a symbol of membership in the Freshman Society, and is only one of the many hats which have become traditional on the Pennsylvania campus.
A disk court has been established to enforce this tradition.

University Receives Rockefeller Grant
For World-Wide Study of City Planning
The University has been given $54,000 to prepare the first worldwide history of city planning in English by the Rockefeller Foundation.
The study will be conducted by the Institute for Urban Studies in the School of Fine Arts, and will be published in 1982. The study will include an analysis of the development of city planning in each of the world's major regions.

ing architectural designs of the past half century from an exhibition titled, "A Half Century of Architectural Education."
We have just finished paying for our books for this semester, and it shouldn't take us a year to finish paying them off. It will take us no time at all to get our books back on our feet financially. At last, we've been able to finish paying for our books, and we'd like to get them back on our feet. We have not kept our money in our pockets, but we have kept our minds open to the world. It was hard to get our books back on our feet financially, but we have done it. We have kept our minds open to the world, and we have kept our feet on the ground. It was hard to get our books back on our feet financially, but we have done it.

We have kept our minds open to the world, and we have kept our feet on the ground. It was hard to get our books back on our feet financially, but we have done it.

Haines at Olympic Trials
While Class Graduated

Johnny Haines, one of Pennsylvania's all-time track stars, could not even attend his own graduation ceremonies at Harvard due to his being at the Olympic trials in California.

Although Haines did not win a berth on the Olympic team, Quaker track coach Kermit Decker said his performance was excellent. Decker stated that Haines turned in "a most outstanding series of races for a man in his first year of competition in the quarter-miles." During the first three years of his collegiate running career, Haines ran in the shorter sprint events.

In the first of three successive weekend meets to determine the Olympic team, Haines ran in the N.C.A.A. 400 meter championship. He was fifth in times of 45.5 and 45.2. The final heat was one of the closest competitive races one could ever hope to see, according to Coach Decker. Haines was beaten by defending champion J. W. Mowbray in a thrilling finish with both men just a hair's breadth apart. Both runners were timed at 45.5, and Decker and Haines were only "by a larger sheet expansion" in the time.

The following week Penn's "Buckley" hurdle, run in the 440 and 200 meter events at the National A.A.U. meet. By this time the fourth place finisher, Haines had to run the outside lane in the final heat and placed fifth, missing the Olympic berth by one point.

In the 400 meter prelims, he ran faster than the winning time of the other heat, but still did not qualify.

Losing with the three double-place winners, Haines was officially declared a fourth place finisher in a 100 meter preliminary heat, although times later proved he was third.

In the final Olympic trials, Haines was officially declared a fourth place finisher in a 100 meter preliminary heat, although times later proved he was third, because of the fourth place finish.

They both had to run the outside lane in the final heat, Haines placing fifth, and placed fifth, missing the Olympic berth by one point.

In the 400 meter prelims, he ran faster than the winning time of the other heat, but still did not qualify.

Radiology Center Started
Projects in the field of radiative isolation, high energy radiation and similar investigations to be conducted in the former Center. Physicists, chemists and physicists will be able to use the facilities of the new center in carrying on research projects.

The building was endowed through a $26,000 grant from the State of Pennsylvania. The first floor will be devoted to patients, with facilities for the preparation, handling and administration of radiative isotope, megavoltage therapy and diagnosis. On the upper floor will be the experimental and service areas with storage facilities for radiative materials. It will also contain the first floor's research areas in which experimentation with isotope and radiological separation can take place.

STICKLERS ARE TICKLERS and a mighty soft way to make money! Just write down a simple riddle and a two-word rhyming answer. For example: What's a ball player who gets a raise? (Answer: richer pitcher.) Note: both words must have the same number of syllables —blank fresh, jolly dolley, winery fowsey. Send your Sticklers, with your name, address, college, and class, to Happy-Joe-Lucky, Box 67A, Mt. Vernon, N. Y. Don't do drawings! We'll pay $25 for every Stickler we use in our advertising—and for hundreds that never see print. And remember—you're bound to Stickle better when you're enjoying a Lucky, because Luckies taste better. Luckies' mild, good-tasting tobacco is TOASTED to taste even better. Fact is, you'll say Luckies are the best-tasting cigarette you ever smoked!
