Lounge Has Failed To Justify Expense Since Women Permitted in Houston Hall

The Bennett Hall Lounge will close February 21 because of a lack of sufficient business, Ralph M. Engle, director of the University’s Student Union, announced yesterday.

There have been so many complaints about the lounge that the Student Union has decided to make a big move on the problem. Engle was quoted as saying, “I have received a lot of complaints about the lounge, and I think it’s time to make a change.”

Today’s Issue To Be Published By New Printer in Trial Run

Today’s Pennsylvania News was printed by the Rhoda Street printing Co., as a trial to determine whether it would be more feasible for the student newspaper to go into general printing as well.

The reasons for a possible change would be strictly financial, Gita Keiserman stated. Business Manager Myra Smith said that with very little national advertising the paper has not been able to keep costs down.

Resolution Passed Commending Ruler

The Women’s Student Government Association passed a resolution last night urging President Arthur N. Schwantes to make the University of Pennylvania’s rules more lenient for the new women’s group.

The motion, as it was referred by some WSGA members as “very important,” and by others as “one that passed at the last meeting of the Women’s group before Christmas.”

Jean O’Neil, a member of the WSGA, presented the resolution, saying, “It is an obvious fact that the women of this University are treated with a great deal of care, and we should not allow any disorder into our group, but we should be allowed to have it also.”

The opposition of the motion was made by the women’s group, and the motion passed by 10 to 1, as the group members must be 20 before they can vote, under the new law, and that the average life expectancy of the women is only 50.

The new code will be less liberal than in the past. When she learned that The Pennsylvania News was one of the regulations, Dean of Women Altha K. Hall, one of the co-chairmen of the committee, said, “I hope that students will not use up all the laxity that has been granted during the past year.”

The liberalization of the rules, she added, “is not an experiment. The students have had the rules for five years and that this is the first time that we have had a survey of all the residence halls.”

The new rules are not yet available, but students have been consulted with by the committee. She pointed out that one of the regulations will be that students will not be allowed to use any more alcohol in the residence halls.

Pencils Should Be Purchased!

This must stop! Never does a day go by when women students do not run into the school office in Bennett Hall to report that one or more of their pencils has been stolen. This practice of pocketing Bennett Hall has been going on for several months and it must stop!

We cannot tolerate the thought that pencils, purchased with the hard-earned money of students, should be taken away from them by fellow students. This is an unfair, unbusinesslike practice.

Although there is no law against such theft, we think it is only fair for the school authorities to have this matter brought to the attention of the students so that a solution may be found. We hope the students will be more considerate in the future.

Yuletide Presents Demonstrate Decline of Western Literature

by Sandra Starke

For Christmas I received a ball of yarn. I liked the yarn so much that I decided to knit a sweater for my mother. I started knitting the sweater and my mother was very pleased with the progress I was making. She encouraged me to continue and I was very happy to see her enjoy the sweater I was making.

However, as the weeks went by, I noticed that the yarn was becoming shorter and shorter. I was getting close to finishing the sweater, but I still had a lot of work to do. My mother would call me every day and ask how it was coming along. I would tell her that I was almost done and that I would have it ready for Christmas.

Finally, after nine weeks of hard work, I finished the sweater. My mother was very happy with the final result and said it was the best Christmas present she had ever received. I was also very pleased with the sweater and felt like it was a great accomplishment.

Pennguinettes Tour Bermuda For Aquashow This Spring

by Rosalie Hamba

The Pennguinettes have done it again. After amassing the 100 signatures at the "Best of Broadway" musical in Hazelton Hotel, people were asking, "Where can they go from here?"

The answer is Bermuda. Yes, we did Bermuda. The Pennguinettes will perform twice daily at the St. George Hotel in Bermuda during the spring vacation. "It's a culmination to our season," Jean Schaefer, director of the Pennguinettes, said.

"In the beginning, it was just a group of high-kicking dancers with one non-conformist, which decorated the far wall of the pool," Jean Schaefer said. "They were wonderful at putting on scenes of practice for the show."

The Pennguinettes performed a scene of "La Bamba" from "I Musicales," the show they designed to introduce a new generation of Pennguinettes to the Aquashow. "It's a scene where the Pennguine..." Jean Schaefer said, "...and the Pennguinettes turned out to be the entire cast of the show to the "Beverly of the Sugar Plum Fairy," from "The Nutcracker Suite.""

Doris Murray, manager of the Bermuda Aquashow, and Doris Murray, director of the hotel's entertainment program, witnessed the Pennguinettes' performance. "Brilliant performance," Murray said. "This is the best they have ever done in Bermuda."

The Pennguinettes' performance was a hit. "We've been looking for an outlet for our customers during the winter," Jean Schaefer said. "The Pennguinettes are looking to fill that gap."

The Pennguinettes' performance was so good that they were invited back to perform. "They wanted to see us perform again," Jean Schaefer said. "We were thrilled."
Valuable Book Collection Left To Education Library in Will

Mrs. Rose E. Eisenberg, former Penn field and long-time teacher and expert on literature in Athens, Delaware, has left the Education Library of the University a collection of rare and unusual books, in her will filed Monday.

The collection, valued at over $314,896, includes many very old books and manuscripts as well as some more recent writings. Among the books is an early twentieth century translation of "Caesar's Gorilla War," several pamphlets by Tom Paine and a letter by Columbus after his second voyage to the New World.

Of special note in the collection, is a series of original manuscripts by early modern poets of the world. Included in this group are such selections as "Two Letters" by Henri de Britto and "The Lighthouse" by Charles Briton.

One of the members of the Education Library staff said that the will "simply thrilled over this unexpected but wonderful bequest."

"We have heard that the Rare Book Division of the University Library is trying to get control of the collection but we are prepared to fight them in every possible way," she added.

The books will be formally presented to the University by the law firm of Bethlehem, Davis, and Hargis as soon as the will is closed. It is not expected that anyone will try to contest the will.

Also included in the bequest is an early copy of the English Constitution. It is estimated to have been made by a monk named Cecil six months after the original had been drawn up and signed.
