Gaitskell Speaks In Irvine Today On Democracy

Hugh T. Gaitskell, chairman of the British Labor Party, will address the American Friends of the Hebrew University at a testimonial dinner to be held tonight at the Roosevelt Hotel to mark his recent visit to the United States.

Mr. Gaitskell is scheduled to speak at Princeton University on Saturday afternoon.

Pemberton, Nemeth Head

Henry S. Pemberton, financial vice president, who recently had an amended application for a $400,000 loan from the Federal Housing and Home Finance Agency, the Daily Pennsylvania, learned from a reliable source within the University that funds would be used by Pemberton to construct additional rooms to be located on the first floor of the Student Union. The building will also be available for meeting the demands of the University population, it is reported.

Construction of the building is expected to start on September 1st, and it is hoped that the new facility will be completed in time for the fall semester. The cost of the project is estimated at $400,000.

Refugee Hungarian Olympians Appear in Gala Exhibition

Philadelphia sports fans will have the opportunity to see the refugee Hungarian Olympians in a special benefit exhibition at the Palestra tonight.

The program, which is being sponsored by the Philadelphia Convention and Visitors Bureau, will feature various Olympic sports including wrestling, gymnastics, and field events.

Parking Lot Site; Bar To Be Built

The parking lot site for the proposed U. S. R. faculty hall will be constructed on the first floor of the Student Union, it is announced.

The building will also house a small dining room, the proposed dining facility for the faculty hall.

Zalesne Named Head Of Hey Day Exercises

Lynn Zalesne has been appointed chairman of the Hey Day exercises program by the Hey Day Undergraduate Council. Zalesne, a senior, will strive to make this year's program as exciting as possible, yet keep it within the framework of the many traditions that have made Hey Day one of the most memorable experiences of University undergraduate life.

"Every care will be taken," he assured the Council, "to make certain that the ceremony is as meaningful as possible for the Men of the Class of 1957, so that all members will have brought distinction to the University class, and themselves by virtue of their participation in behalf of the University."

Food for Thought

For the second time this semester, students insist that the administration is not doing anything about the issues they raise. The students are being repeat offenders. After more than two months of declarations that the cafeteria situation is unacceptable, students held a sit-in in the cafeteria and the number of times people are being asked to leave has increased. It is not possible for us not to stand on the quality of food in Sergent Hall, and we feel that the students themselves are at fault on this point. But we do not identify fully the students as responsible for the present rules for eating there are inadequate and ought to be changed.

The present eating plan, one that forces women residents to pay for seven dinners and seven breakfasts each week, displays an indifference that is shock ing. The $11.50 cost per person per week meals costs each week. Many students, however, do not eat breakfast and dinner at Sergent Hall. To expect them to do this is a form of paternalism which is not permitted by other members of the University. There are a number of obvious reasons why the women students do not want to go home for the weekend. Others may have plans or work during the week, or prefer not to go home on weekends. Most of these students do not eat in the dining room at least one or two nights a week. Those students who have alternative activities may find the 6 a.m. and 5 p.m. dinner time inconvenient.

This variety of the breakfast system is also quite apparent. Regardless of what is being eaten at Sergent Hall, there must appear in the dining room between 9 a.m. and 9:30 a.m. to be served. When a cold salad appears, perhaps a dinner roll or soup and roll, it is not due to the fact that the first class is not until mid-morning, but that others who are not up yet or do not plan on eating breakfast and who do not want to be late or make two trips, breakfast, a practice which is not conducive to good health. The only alternative would be to eat later and then buy breakfast, thereby placing these women in a breakfast situation only one day a week.

The question then arises what changes would effect the system? That change would be the establishment of a meal ticket plan which would be like the system in which the student could purchase a given number of meals, to be eaten at any time during the semester. If the woman used up the meals, of course, she could buy another ticket.

Other meal-ticket plans might be considered. For example, some have suggested that the woman be given a ticket for a semester's worth of meals, with a relative discount. But the thought of what might happen if a food shortage were to occur caused the committee to reserve that plan the most practical.

Such a plan would mean that a cool could eat out at Sergent Hall for as few as six meals on the meal plan. This, it is hoped, would ultimately result in a situation in which both the dining service and the costs would be reduced. However, the committee advises that the plan be put into effect as soon as possible.

Bobby Doll

by Charles H. MacNamara

In late November, a motion, picture called "Baby Doll," released a movie that was shot on the campus of Denison University. The film claimed that it was "the most without emotion in all subjects." The movie "filled with lust and violence,

'Starlet of the movie," stars Dorothy Dandridge, Billie Burke, and Lola Versace. The movie "Venus of the film," stars Dorothy Dandridge, Billie Burke, and Lola Versace. The movie "Venus of the film," stars Dorothy Dandridge, Billie Burke, and Lola Versace. The film is one of the finest we have seen in recent years, as it is, from the standpoint of the film's subject matter, a superb group effort. The film is not without its faults. However, it is a film which we believe should be made.

There is no question that the movie is a love story. It is a love story and not a love story. It is a love story and not a love story. It is a love story and not a love story. It is a love story and not a love story.

Coast Guard Five Rallies To Top JV Team, 85-75, in Palestine Battle

A brilliant one-man performance by Joe Gino powered the Coast Guard to an 85-75 victory over the JV team from the Palestine University.

The title (10 game) clinch started on nine field goals and seven free throws, for 23 points, 11 of them coming in a torrid, but often raucous, start.

The rally represented a fifth 20-point effort by Penn’s Al Schuberg, who tied his own mark for perfection and six fouls.

Schuberg paused in a sparkling first-half performance, consisting on longrange dunks and mighty dunks, to tally 20 points and give the Bears a 12-point advantage in the first half.

Several key players, including Joe Gino, were among the many who were honored in a special ceremony at halftime.

Penn’s Mike Flaherty rallied on a top-down despite the efforts of Earl Morrisey (13), Coast Guard Guard Jim Steiner (7), Bob Minut (17) and Tony Scott.

North Carolina State, Philadelphia’s other major team, ran into trouble with 10 wins and 4 losses.

The Bears had nine wins but some of them in matches to pace the White League.

The Daily Times Philadelphia Delta followed closely behind in second place with an 11-13 record, as ECU led the Bears in eight wins in twelve matches.

Charlie Gill is a student at the University of Pennsylvania, where he is a member of the Philadelphia basketball team.

"The only way to improve your game is to practice and work hard.

"You have to be prepared for the worst and never take anything for granted."

How often does Du Pont transfer technical men?

Edward H. Berg received his B.S. in Chemical Engineering from the University of Texas in January 1947. "Van" is a member of the Southwestern Basket Society, Casserley Club, and local Vice-President of A. I. Ch. E. Like all students interested in finding out about the best opportunities in his profession, he agreed to do an interview.

W've just completed a study on that subject, Van, so I can speak with some authority.

Using technical graduates who came with Du Pont in 1949 as a base, we found these men averaged 1.7 transfers of location in 7 years. We frequently shift men from one assignment to another at the same location, to broaden them professionally. It's interesting to note that 38% of those surveyed had not changed their location of employment at all.

Changes of work location depend a little on the type of work a man enters. For instance, there are likely to be more transfers in production and sales, fewer in research.

But one thing is certain. Du Pont is always purposeful. The majority are a nature of Du Pont's continued growth and expansion. They inevitably represent opportunity for further professional development.
