Northerners Must Set Example in Integration, Judge Flood Declares

Southern Should Be Made To Feel ‘Ashamed of Themselves,’ Jurist Says

Northerners should not call Southerners names but demonstrate their love for Southern people, it was suggested yesterday in a lecture on ‘Religious, Law and Integration’ before a select audience at the University of Pennsylvania.

Judge Flood spoke on the topic, "Religion, Law and Integration," in the second of a series of talks sponsored jointly by the Christian Association, the Hillel Foundation, and the Newman Club. He discussed the role played by the religious idea in ending prejudice.

"Judge Flood stated that in order for the law to be enforced it must be supported by a majority of the citizens. For this reason almost nothing will be done if the Southern states do not work in along with the Pennsylvania courts in segregation. Reconciliation is the only way to the problem of integration.

"Religious Motivation"

"It is only a religion notion," he continued, "which will bring about a majority of the citizens. The only way the law can be effective is if it is supported by a majority of the people."

"We must believe that all men are alike, and that God is judge, who is also a trustee of the United States."

People believe that law is right in itself, but its enforcement is followed by prejudice, Judge Flood stated. He has always opposed any organization which has been in open opposition to the idea, "the Civil Law," are not right.

The speaker said that the two great features of the states in the second half of the nineteenth century, has been the development of law and tolerance at home. At present, "through this," he said, "the land is only to the surface of the land that is commented.

Permanent President

Judge Flood has been a member of the Class of 1929 from the College of Law. He is permanent president of the board of the Institute of Law and has been a member of the Law School. He has served as president of the University of Pennsylvania, and College Alumni societies, and the writer of the Law School on Pennsylvania's Pennsylvania Supreme Court President. After his speech, which was received with enthusiasm, the speaker was several questions from the audience.

PN, DP Compete In Radio Quiz On WKPN at 7:30

The Pennsylvania News and The Daily Pennsylvania will face each other at 9:00 and 9:30 a.m. respectively for 10 days on WKPN.

Michael J. H. Baker, president of WKPN, announced the program.

Northerners Must Set Example in Integration, Judge Flood Declares

Southern Should Be Made To Feel ‘Ashamed of Themselves,’ Jurist Says

Northerners must set an example in integration, it was suggested yesterday in a lecture on ‘Religious, Law and Integration’ before a select audience at the University of Pennsylvania.

Judge Flood spoke on the topic, "Religion, Law and Integration," in the second of a series of talks sponsored jointly by the Christian Association, the Hillel Foundation, and the Newman Club. He discussed the role played by the religious idea in ending prejudice.

"Judge Flood stated that in order for the law to be enforced it must be supported by a majority of the citizens. For this reason almost nothing will be done if the Southern states do not work in along with the Pennsylvania courts in segregation. Reconciliation is the only way to the problem of integration.

"Religious Motivation"

"It is only a religion notion," he continued, "which will bring about a majority of the citizens. The only way the law can be effective is if it is supported by a majority of the people."

"We must believe that all men are alike, and that God is judge, who is also a trustee of the United States."

People believe that law is right in itself, but its enforcement is followed by prejudice, Judge Flood stated. He has always opposed any organization which has been in open opposition to the idea, "the Civil Law," are not right.

The speaker said that the two great features of the states in the second half of the nineteenth century, has been the development of law and tolerance at home. At present, "through this," he said, "the land is only to the surface of the land that is commented.

Permanent President

Judge Flood has been a member of the Class of 1929 from the College of Law. He is permanent president of the board of the Institute of Law and has been a member of the Law School. He has served as president of the University of Pennsylvania, and College Alumni societies, and the writer of the Law School on Pennsylvania's Pennsylvania Supreme Court President. After his speech, which was received with enthusiasm, the speaker was several questions from the audience.

PN, DP Compete In Radio Quiz On WKPN at 7:30

The Pennsylvania News and The Daily Pennsylvania will face each other at 9:00 and 9:30 a.m. respectively for 10 days on WKPN.

Michael J. H. Baker, president of WKPN, announced the program.

Northerners Must Set Example in Integration, Judge Flood Declares

Southern Should Be Made To Feel ‘Ashamed of Themselves,’ Jurist Says

Northerners must set an example in integration, it was suggested yesterday in a lecture on ‘Religious, Law and Integration’ before a select audience at the University of Pennsylvania.

Judge Flood spoke on the topic, "Religion, Law and Integration," in the second of a series of talks sponsored jointly by the Christian Association, the Hillel Foundation, and the Newman Club. He discussed the role played by the religious idea in ending prejudice.

"Judge Flood stated that in order for the law to be enforced it must be supported by a majority of the citizens. For this reason almost nothing will be done if the Southern states do not work in along with the Pennsylvania courts in segregation. Reconciliation is the only way to the problem of integration.

"Religious Motivation"

"It is only a religion notion," he continued, "which will bring about a majority of the citizens. The only way the law can be effective is if it is supported by a majority of the people."

"We must believe that all men are alike, and that God is judge, who is also a trustee of the United States."

People believe that law is right in itself, but its enforcement is followed by prejudice, Judge Flood stated. He has always opposed any organization which has been in open opposition to the idea, "the Civil Law," are not right.

The speaker said that the two great features of the states in the second half of the nineteenth century, has been the development of law and tolerance at home. At present, "through this," he said, "the land is only to the surface of the land that is commented.

Permanent President

Judge Flood has been a member of the Class of 1929 from the College of Law. He is permanent president of the board of the Institute of Law and has been a member of the Law School. He has served as president of the University of Pennsylvania, and College Alumni societies, and the writer of the Law School on Pennsylvania's Pennsylvania Supreme Court President. After his speech, which was received with enthusiasm, the speaker was several questions from the audience.
Campus Beat

Penn Journalism Trends
by Gerald A. Hirschhorn

Journalism has come a long way since the days of the pony express and bottle of gin. The once rough and tumble world of the news reporter has been transformed into the respected member of society. Writing communiqué has extended from the four-square Sunday story to the American Express Travel Bureau. And now, recent minutes, a new generation of technological wizardry has come to journalism.

Because of this trend in the types of communique that reporters are faced with, the writer has been forced to change his techniques and adapt to the new format. As an example of the new type of reporting, I have been following the progress of the news writers and reporters.

In the past, journalists have used all the tools at their disposal, such as interviews, articles, and picture stories, to report news. But today, with the advent of television, new techniques have had to be developed to keep the public informed.

The present issue of the Journalism Bulletin, it is hoped that a new Communications Bulletin will be constructed in the near future.

'Oedipus Rex'

It has been quite a few since Sophocles' "Oedipus Rex" first appeared in Athens. Nearly in the centuries since the original production has been known. The story of Oedipus, like the current film version at the Lane, is something that has been told and retold. Using a completely bare stage and facial makeup in the Greek tradition, director Tyrone Guthrie created a production which is at once emotionally intense and visually disturbing. First, the masks give each character a grotesque appearance, which taken alone, is frightening. But as the drama progresses, each mask becomes more natural and a perfect expression of each personality. The visual effect is simple but stunning. By means of deftly colored lighting and strikingly timed noises, the entire film version comes to life.

With an adaptation by William Butler Yeats, "Oedipus" is anything but complete. Using a completely bare stage and facial makeup in the Greek tradition, director Tyrone Guthrie created a production which is at once emotionally intense and visually disturbing. First, the masks give each character a grotesque appearance, which taken alone, is frightening. But as the drama progresses, each mask becomes more natural and a perfect expression of each personality. The visual effect is simple but stunning. By means of deftly colored lighting and strikingly timed noises, the entire film version comes to life.

In the company of the Rodgers and Hart team, which has been killed as the one who gave him the gift. This is the problem that faces the Oedipus, the terrible knowledge that he has not only killed his father and married his mother, but that he is being watched by the goddesses. The story is a Greek tragedy, and is one of the most important in classical literature. The play, written in the classical Greek manner, is a tragic tale of a man who is being watched by the gods.

In the company of the Rodgers and Hart team, which has been killed as the one who gave him the gift. This is the problem that faces the Oedipus, the terrible knowledge that he has not only killed his father and married his mother, but that he is being watched by the goddesses. The story is a Greek tragedy, and is one of the most important in classical literature. The play, written in the classical Greek manner, is a tragic tale of a man who is being watched by the gods.

Timeless Grecian Tragedy
by Lewis Merkin

"Oedipus Rex" is a Greek tragedy written by Sophocles. It is set in ancient Corinth and tells the story of Oedipus, a king who is unaware of his true identity. Oedipus is forced to flee from his homeland after committing a hideous crime. He is later discovered by the god Hermes and brought to Thebes, where he is welcomed as a hero. However, Oedipus discovers that he is responsible for the death of his father, King Laius, and the marriage of his mother, Jocasta. He is later exiled from Thebes and forced to wander the world, eventually ending up in Corinth. In the meantime, Oedipus has a son named Eteocles, who is named after the brother of Creon, the king of Corinth. Oedipus is forced to choose between his two sons, and eventually chooses to kill Eteocles. This leads to the tragic end of Oedipus, who is blinded by the god Apollo as punishment for his crimes.

In the company of the Rodgers and Hart team, which has been killed as the one who gave him the gift. This is the problem that faces the Oedipus, the terrible knowledge that he has not only killed his father and married his mother, but that he is being watched by the goddesses. The story is a Greek tragedy, and is one of the most important in classical literature. The play, written in the classical Greek manner, is a tragic tale of a man who is being watched by the gods.

American Express Travel Service
6 Broadway, New York 6, N.Y.

You can't see it in Europe...

You have to LIVE it!

That's why American Express Student Tours are openly plotted to include a full measure of unlimited leisure—ample free time to discover your Europe—as well as the most comprehensive sight-seeing program available anywhere! Visit England, Scotland, Denmark, Norway, Sweden, Holland, Belgium, Germany, France, and Switzerland; then enjoy an Italian vacation by train, after which you'll enjoy a grand opening of the national journalism fraternity, Sigma Delta Chi; the journalism awards will have been carried to a new level.

For complete information, see your Campus Representative, American Express Travel Service, Education Department, or call the nearest office.

AMERICAN EXPRESS TRAVEL SERVICE
6 Broadway, New York 6, N.Y.

You can't see it in Europe...

You have to LIVE it!
Penn Coach Diagnoses Hockey Passing Errors

Pennsylvania's skaters won about their chores last night with a whole raft of professional advice swimming around in their young heads, and from the lack of things, it's going to prove mighty valuable came their clash with Columbia on Saturday at the Arena.

Former Montreal ace Herb Gardiner made his first official Arena appearance as Quaker coach, and in the one hour he handled the squad, he formulated some definite opinions about the bit and blue.

"They didn't lack two feet at all," in a statement, "and they certainly have a lot of potential." Gardiner, whose job at the Franklin Field Arena paid him up to 5:31 a.m. every day, called it quits at midnight (Penn was still skating at 1:31), but by then the enthusiastic 66-year-old hockey head had most of the Penn problems diagnosed.

Tea Mark Skating

"The fellows are varying the rank he, for dogs the Ivy Gardi ner effect," said, "and, consequently, they are along on the quick columns and not enough passing.

Gardiner, like any good coach, has the way to cure the situation. They're go to go down the key deeply, with their heads up, and pass immediately when they see open spaces," the Penn mentor added.

Last night the Quakers were limited to a light workout. But as on Thursday, the usual final practice before Saturday's 1st, Gardiner—along with tea coach—place in the Quakers through a stiff and strenuous workout with the three new lines which will see ac tion against Columbia.

Front Line

"Irish, "tacky" Parkers, and Frank Good will start the line. They are joined by Dick Larrick, the straight form shooting" defensive group—will be filled in by Dick Davidson, Bill Blumgarden and other John Torry names.

"In that way," Gruber pointed out, "we have always had at least two or our best players on the line."
NOTICES

BETA ALPHA PSI
There will be a meeting of the Deta Nu Chapter tomorrow at 3 p.m.
in Henry Hall.

PHOTO SOCIETY
There will be a meeting of the Phi Delta Epsilon tomorrow at 3 p.m.
in Henry Hall.

ETA ALPHA FBI
There will be a meeting of the FBI Sigma Community tomorrow at 3 p.m. in Henry Hall. A film will be shown.

PBOTO SOCIETY

SLAVIC CLUB

TURLEVA IA'IA

FiTTLA PLAYEKS

All

C11I1ARS  AID   BLADE

IOUITOM  HALL   VAR.IBTT  SHOW

TIMMXB

KAPPA DELTA EPSILON

•   7   p in

USE THE DP
CLASSIFIED SECTION

FINE GUITARS & BANJOS

Anything fine in the Musical Line at prices you can afford
Locker's-21 S. 18th St.
I0  7-7972

NIXON

Eld. & Harbor Sh.-0H-79110

Confessions from 2 P.M.

HELD OVER—2ND WEEK

Rock Hudson—Lauren Bacall
Robert Stack—Dorothy Malone

Written on the Wind

Tennis

Author-Dean—Marie North
Man From Del Rio

MADAM CARR

Gifted Reader and Adviser on All
Affairs of Life

•   FAST

•   PRESENT

•   FUTURE

OPEN 11 A.M.-8 P.M.
1433 W. GIRARD AVE.
PO 5-4197

ENGINEERS: GET THE ANSWERS
TO YOUR QUESTIONS ABOUT WHAT IT'S LIKE TO WORK AT FORD INSTRUMENT COMPANY

Arrange your interview today to learn about the exceptional opportunity to use your special abilities at Ford

See your placement bureau for appointments on March 14, 1957

FORD INSTRUMENT CO.
DIVISION OF SPERRY RAND CORPORATION
31-10 Thomson Avenue, Long Island City 1, New York