Judicial Experience Not Requirement

For High Court, Frankfurter Asserts

pel Frankfurter, associate justice of the Supreme Court of the United States, last night told more than 100 persons at the Sheraton Philadelphia Hotel that President Eisenhower's order that lower court experience is not necessary for the Supreme Court is incorrect.

The statement was in direct contradiction to the president's recent statement that prior court experience was vital for a justice seeking a "qualifying" job as a Supreme Court judge.

Mr. Frankfurter's address came less than 48 hours after the two Eisenhower nominations in favor of William J. Brennan Jr. and John M. Harlan, both of the Supreme Court, had been dropped by the same president.

In the address, sponsored by The Pennsylvania Society for Crippled Children and Adults, which is also known as the American Society for Crippled Children and Adults, Mr. Frankfurter stated: "It would be. . . . two of the most remarkable appointments of the Eisenhower administration that the appointment of the two candidates for the Supreme Court proposed by the President last week . . ."

The Pennsylvania Society for Crippled Children and Adults is a non-profit organization which is dedicated to helping crippled children and their families. It has been in existence since 1901 and is one of the oldest organizations of its kind in the United States.

The society's primary goal is to improve the quality of life for children with physical disabilities through research, education, and advocacy. It provides support and resources to families of children with disabilities, advocates for policies that improve access to services and supports, and promotes inclusion and equal opportunities for all children with disabilities.

It has a special focus on addressing the needs of children with developmental disabilities, including cerebral palsy, Down syndrome, autism spectrum disorder, and other conditions that affect learning and development.

The society's work is guided by a belief in the dignity and worth of every child, and a commitment to empowering families to make informed choices about the care and supports their children need.

The Pennsylvania Society for Crippled Children and Adults is headquartered in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, and has chapters throughout the state. It is supported by individual and corporate donations, as well as grants from foundations and government agencies.
Who's Shoe

It was wonderful to learn that Rockefeller owns the banks of the Schuylkill. It's almost a certainty that he earns ten million dollars a year. And yet this is a picture of what's happening in the real world. In just five short years, Rockefeller's wealth has grown from $800 million to $1.5 billion.

But it must be remembered that it is the crudest form of capitalism. Often, we talk about how the little athlete department can't keep up with the big league, but few realize, however, that the athletic department cannot possibly support itself. It needs our support, and it receives revenues approximately $10,000,000 a year.

It is estimated that the average cost to the athletic department for the entire university is approximately $40,000,000. This is a significant amount of money, and it is the most important benefit to the University. The benefits of the athletic department, and the cost of the intercollegiate program, have been a subject for some time, but the problem always seems to be the problem of the benefits of the athletic department. The Letters to the Editor...

Last year's Skinner Day along the banks of the St. Lawrence River was a great success. The students were enthusiastic about the football. The cost of the athletic department is in the region of about three million dollars a year. How could we be expected to have $10,000,000 a year if we spend $3,000,000 a year in payroll expenses, $2,000,000 in scholarships, and $1,000,000 in travel, $1,000,000 in supplies, $1,000,000 in equipment, $1,000,000 in travel, and $1,000,000 in travel...

The theme of Skinners centers around the--

I was pretty ticked off right there, but I shot something out at my shoe. It was a little red shoe on about 12 or 13.

Let's get back to the main point. There's a lot of material being bought by the student in the scholastic year. Any columnist seems to be on the right track. He's not.
