Wharton Convocation Held Today in Irvine
Martin Gives Address
Federal Reserve Chairman to Discuss Monetary Policy of GOP Administration
William McC. Martin, Jr., chairman of the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System, will speak at the Wharton School's 37th anniversary Convocation at 3 p.m. today on "The 1957 Trend in the Business Cycle." He is expected to discuss the policy followed by the Federal Reserve System and will probably defend the "tight money" administration.

Martin will be one of eight representatives from the fields of government, education, business and labor receiving honorary doctorate of laws degrees at tonight's ceremony and will confer the degree. In addition to Martin, he is chairman of the Board of Directors of Bell Telephone Laboratories, Inc., chairman of the General Motors Corporation, president of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, and president of the International Telephone and Telegraph Corporation.

Fall Rosters Available
All sports teams, with the exception of football, have released their fall rosters. The football team will release its roster next week.

Barone Will Direct Symphony, Choirs in Cantata Tonight
Carolina Barone, a cantata by James C. Carman, composer, will be presented by the University Symphony, Church Choir, and a Cantata Choir tonight in the University Auditorium. Dr. Joseph Barone will direct the three groups. Featured soloists for the cantata will be Samuel, M., Ellen, Louise, Lillian and Janice Hartfell, and William F. Hartfell.

The concert will be in the Audimax at 8:15 p.m. as part of Martin's address. A reception for the faculty, students and guests will be held in the Commons.

Research Institute To Release First Issue of New Quarterly
The first issue of "Orchis," a new quarterly journal on international relations published by the Foreign Policy Research Institute, will be released at a dinner tomorrow evening, announced yesterday.

The publication is the result of joint efforts by both American and foreign contributors, as well as editorial comment by institute members. It will be published in January, April, July and October. The editor of the first issue will be Dr. Robert Strahan-Hope, chairman of the International Relations Group Committee and director of the Institute, who will be the editor of "Orchis." Serving on the magazine's editorial board will be Dr. Arthur Schlesinger, Jr., chairman of the group of historians; Dr. Natan Schram, senior fellow of the Institute; and Dr. Louis H. Bauer, professor of political science at the University of Pennsylvania.

Touring the World
The first issue of "Orchis," which is only part of the year-long celebration of the foundation of the foreign policy institute in 1951, is the principal event of the celebration. Activities throughout the year include information on "Orchis," to be held in May.

Final Examination Schedule
The College, College for Women, School of Education
May 27 to June 8, 1957
The examinations are scheduled by the block of hours at which the classes are meeting in the regular course.
It was a panic-stricken woman, slamming, slapping, shouting, screaming. She was a hysterical, distraught,而且 was the last thing she expected to find herself doing in a crowded high school hallway. She had just received word that her husband had been killed in a car accident, and her world was shattering.

“Tearful hundreds of people have gathered in the gym at Penn to watch the funeral service for Boris P. T. Kowalski, 32, who was killed in a tragic accident on the campus. The service was conducted by the Rev. J. W. Smith, pastor of the university's chapel.

Kowalski, a member of the Penn wrestling team, was killed when his car collided with a car driven by a student from another university. The accident occurred on a rural road near the campus.

The funeral service was attended by hundreds of students, faculty, and guests, who stood in the aisle and on the benches as the service was conducted by the Rev. J. W. Smith, pastor of the university's chapel.

The Rev. J. W. Smith, pastor of the university's chapel, delivered the eulogy, speaking of Kowalski's dedication to his studies and his love for wrestling.

The service was followed by a procession to the cemetery, where Kowalski was buried with full honors.

The accident that claimed Kowalski's life has震动了整个校园, with students expressing their grief and sorrow. The university has scheduled a week of mourning, with classes cancelled for the rest of the week. The university community is holding each other close, offering support and comfort to those who have lost a friend, a classmate, or a teammate. Kowalski's death is a reminder of the fragility of life and the importance of cherishing every moment. Let us all remember to love and support each other, and to cherish the relationships we have built.
Penn Defends Heptagonal Mile Title; Quaker Crew Rows for Childs Cup

Host School Strong In Shot, Pole Vault

Penn refugee Joe Burk has the necessary draft for the important Childs Cup regatta to be held today at the Old Pool.

Burk thought the crew turned in satisfactory performances against Rutgers when the Quaker won by 18 lengths over the New Brunswick school. Several of the rowing schools will return against the Penn, but the Old Pool will remain an obstacle. Combination Finals, Series, and the challenge of William Penn and Grey Flail for the Central Pennsylvanian Cup will be the final events of interest in the meal.

Burk, a freshman, was moved to number three seat, Hart Parry at number two, and overall, the Delaware Blue Rowers hold the number one boat.

The Princeton crew will be seeking first place of the series after being up to 19th of a second out in the preliminary heat on Lake Carnegie, after observing the tympanic action, stated that they are out rowing. Their losing effort was only one and a half-tied from the course records. William Penn, the previous boat, will have the remaining fire of the outeams on the series. The quaker rower's four man novice crew is the same, which averages 6 feet 2 inches in height.

The program calls for Penn rowing to begin ten seconds, and the two freshman heavyweight four-man crew. The Middlesex boat will be at the Princeton, and the Delaware Blue Rowers will be in the number two boat.

Quaker Golf Team To Oppose Harvard

Pennsylvania's varsity, between from a 1923 tournament of Rutgers at South Jersey, head for New England today and Ivy League- opening contests with Yale, Princeton, and Franklin University.

The Quakers intend to use the home courts in the hands of the programs of the University's strong in Shot, Pole Vault.

FREE! INVISIBLE SHIRTS!

It is a little known fact that Van Heusen, in addition to its regular merchandise, also makes a grand line of invisible shirts. Also, they have never proved very popular. People line them up only. Laundries are confined by them. And people wearing these invisible shirts aren't just washed over, they're sometimes washed through.

So, we're stuck with thousands of them, and we've just decided to give them away. To you! Just write Van Heusen. We will send you a free, pure, undiluted package of invisible shirts. Not just one or two! But us! We'll send you hundred dozens of them. In every style! Every size! Every collar fashion! All handsome! All invisible. Probably the finest you've never seen.

As for visible shirts—and shorts, sport shirts, sweaters, pajamas, haberdashery and all—we, you know Van Heusen. We have most of the new styles before anybody else, and we handle traditional favorites in a way that explains their latest styles last a long, long time. Your local haberdasher carries a large Van Heusen selection. See him soon.
