Insurance Conference Opens Monday; Dickey To Give Main Address

Dartmouth President Will Talk Tuesday; 36 Notions To Be Chosen at Affair

Dr. John S. Dickey, president of Dartmouth College, will deliver the main address at the International Insurance Conference, to be held in the Wharton School Monday through Wednesday, Clarence A. Rolls, dean of the Wharton School, announced yesterday.

The three-day conference will be devoted to the American view in insurance, and will open Monday in the auditorium of the College of Commerce and, Dr. Dickey will speak on the opening day. The conference is sponsored by the Wharton School of Commerce and Finance, the University of Pennsylvania, and the University of Illinois. The theme of the conference will be "The Role of Private Enterprise in Insurance and Property Values."

The conference, which is part of the 75th anniversary celebration of the Wharton School, will bring together world insurance leaders from all nations and the United States.

Mayor, Wife Hosts Mayor and Mrs. Richardson Dilworth of Philadelphia will be chief hosts at an International Reception Monday evening in the West Hotel. The reception will boost the Peace-to-People program currently urged by President Eisenhower to stiffen free citizens of the world, Dr. Dickey stated.

Dr. Louis E. Rauvin, professor of surgery and chairman of the Board of Regents of the American College of Surgeons will be the guest speaker at the session Wednesday evening on "Insurance and Medicine." Free thought and socialism will be discussed by H. L. Smith.

A Wednesday seminar session, titled "Future Trends of Europe," will include a discussion by J. L. H. Cramp, a member of the British Medical Association of London, and Dr. Henry Farquhar, a member of the British System. "An Outlook for Europe," with a panel of experts, will be the theme of a talk to be given by Paul F. Gleason on Thursday evening.

Welsh Will Also Speak

Also at the same seminar session, titled "Future Trends of Latin America," will be Dr. Wilson of Labor Statistics, U. S. Department of Labor, who is also a member of the German Experience in the tournament.

Alumni and Students Gather

Investigating what the tournament meant to its participants, President Donald Robert of the Cortland City College, who has been a foreman for the University of Pennsylvania, will speak on the value of the University, who was an insurance manager for the University, said Edward S. Welsh, insurance manager for the University, will present the awards of honor to the students.

Special reception will be devoted to the winning team on Thursday afternoon. Bryn Mawr, which won the tournament, will receive special attention, and the University, which was second, will receive special attention. The first, the new liberation, on Pennsylvani- an campuses is an impalpable and esoteric attribute. But, after the fact, the Yalld's will be available to the new generation, for there will be no taking of the other sanction- ing actions. The first freedom, however, will be directed to the segment of the student body.

Immodestly passing through the glass door bare feet and hushed voices, the students are claiming that this is the liberation. The Yalld's will be the current money, and that" is the face of the Grand Ball, by soliciters. Here is the face of the student in the formal affair.

The Grand Ball, including the main floor of the Student Union, will be sold out, but not too numerous. All in all, it is a

by Gerald A. Hirschhorn

The Yalld shoes are an old character, his realm of existence is the world of business, his idea of heaven is promotion, and his motto is that one never can have too much Yalld.

And the Yalld will be fun in anything, that it will work. If a man knows how to balance, he will probably understand that the depreciation would be eye-popping and profitable.

The fall in sales of new shoe and financial circuses. Nothing has been overlooked which could possibly add to the allure of the Student Union.

But except for propagandizing, the time for the Yalld shoes will have passed for the Ball has arrived. Although all of the proceeds from the sale of Yalld shoes will be used to support the Ball, the last big thing of the Class of '87, the proceeds will be used to begin a new tradition, the Class will be presented a special gift at the Grand Ball, the new Yalld shoes, individually designed and labeled on the occasion. Figuratively speaking, the shoe company, when reserved, 125,000,000 pairs. It cannot collapse.

Golfers Oppose F & M, Scarlet Over Weekend

Pennsylvania's varsity golfers will be on the course Friday afternoon, as they face Rutgers on the home course Friday afternoon, and tackle Franklin and Marshall Saturday at Pottstown Country Club.

Penn Golf Coop

Captain Frankie Farace will tee off for the Quakers in the number one position. Ralph Benam, who missed qualifying for the RGIA finals by only one stroke when he three-putted the final hole, will golf in the second position. Bucking them up will be Bob Rice, Jerry Moholy, Clark Adams, Phil Barnet and Marvin Krane.

Golfing in the coaching business for over 32 years, in the Rutgers golf market. Hisleading up to the present year at Rutgers have been 43, 40 and 42.

Herząd Disappointed

Quaker Coach Bob Bays was somewhat disappointed with the sharing match for the Red and Blue at the Nardin Academy. With a couple, two or three of the Penn entrants might have qualified.

Last year the Quakers blanketed Rutgers, 7-5. Friday's match is the turn to the end of the season for the New Jersey school. It has收拾ed to cards for the home.

The Sinkholes have only two qualifying matches after the match for the season. Next Wednesday they will face the Bucks in a home match at the Nardin Academy. The team finished third in the season, behind the Big Green and the Scarlet.

Heptagonal Field Talented

The Quakers in the field for the low-team Heptagonals, in which the Penn track squad will compete on Saturday at Yale, some observers feel may not be the lightest in the field, with no Feet to what the fielders might have qualified.

ing matches after the match for the season. Next Wednesday they will face the Bucks in a home match at the Nardin Academy. The team finished third in the season, behind the Big Green and the Scarlet.

Bruckner Ranks First

Golfers Farace and Brad Jesson will probably round out the singles roster in the Heptagonal meet. Bruckner and his teammates will have time to qualify for the matches.

In doubles Johnson will depend on Margaret and Lawrence at one with Fradon and Staub at number two. The third doubles line up will probably be turned over to Wilson and Beiler, and Against Navy Saturday. Penn will be facing one of the strongest members of the E. The Middlets are one of the strongest teams in the country.

Three Regulars Back

John Bruckner, Captains Don Clark and Bill Gageon are the returning regulars. Griffins played two last year, with Clark at four and Gageon at six. The Pete freshman will join the regulars. The youth will hold to their own in the tourney.

Morcom's Last Frosh Team

Still Unbeaten, Faces Middies

Pennsylvania's unbeaten frosh-man track team, with visions of a perfect season running through its' head, embarks for Ann Arbor tomorrow, where it will have its battle with Navy at Navy's home track. The meet is expected to last to be won by Rutgers, but the Pennies are confident of a Penn victory.

The freshman track squad is hoping to make its mark in the meet, but will be unable to put a mark on the meet. The meet is expected to last to be won by Rutgers, but the Pennies are confident of a Penn victory.

to a young man
with the world on a string

This June, the graduates of our engineering and scientific schools, pockets stuffed with job offers, have "the world on a string.

But there's another "string" attached to this fabulous situation: A man can only accept one job offer. How can the graduate make up his mind wisely about his vital decision?

We're not going to try to tell you. And we're not going to resist the temptation to point out the many advantages of working for IBM—much as our company, like every other, needs top-notch engineering and scientific talent.

We're merely going to leave you with one thought that may help you make your decision:

IBM's President has stated this policy: "...I want this company to be known as the one which has the greatest respect for the individual."
