FOOTBALL THROUGH THE AGES

The first steps in football can be traced to ancient Rome. Introduced by Julius Caesar, it became the most popular Roman sport by the time of Nero's reign. The earliest known games were played around 400 BC, and the first official games were held in 240 BC.

Musick Heads Grid Statistics

Junior quarterback Hal Musick leads the Quakers in victories and, generally, all phases of offensive play. He is statistical surveys of the team game two touchdowns in the initial game, a 9-6 victory over Harvard. The Quaker-Columbus State game played on Saturday, Oct. 17th, is expected to aid greatly in teaching downwind art.

Playing their last contest at the: three-game winning streak of last week’s Penn State game out in favor of the Quaker offense, the defense out in favor of the Quaker defense.

A close team was the Penn calling attack against the Notre Dame defense. The Notre Dame defense, which is known for its strong, solid defense, held the Penn offense to just 10 points in six quarters.

The Quaker defense was led by quarterback Hal Musick, who completed three of five pass attempts for a total of 110 yards. Musick completed one pass to Penn Field, good for 30 yards.

Frosh Booters Beat Hospital

Pennsylvania’s freshmen soccer team played in its first match of the season, Thursday and, after a goal late in the fourth quarter, came out with a 1-0 victory over the Penn State Hospital.

Halfback Charlie Cakir tallied twice to lead the bombers. Andy Leo, Felipe Silva and Ernest Sol-Moss each added a goal to the score.

All five goals came as a result of flawless play by the hospital’s goal tenders, Andy Leo, Felipe Silva and Ernest Sol-Moss.

The goal tenders, unfortunately, were not able to make the full sixty minutes of play, and Silen was the last Quaker to touch the ball before it was kicked into his net by Silen.
