In Donald J. Grossman

So far, no event has symbolized the accomplishments of the Junior Class as the Cane March, which represents in some ways the cul:
ishing of the academic year.

The Cane March has been a part of the tradition at the University for many years. It is a symbol of the achievement of the seniors, as well as the]<

The famous cane, made of wood and covered in leather, was carried by John James, a member of the Senior Class of 1912, during the first Cane March held in 1912. Since then, the cane has become a symbol of the Junior Class, representing their pride in being a part of this long tradition.

It is a Saturday, however, that some of the Hollywood-based techniques involved on film. This is partly due to financial constraints, but mainly because of the need to keep the budget as low as possible. The film is shot on location in California, with the actors and crew frequently changing settings to keep the storyline realistic. The location has a tropical climate, and the actors are often seen wearing light clothing, such as shorts and tank tops, to stay cool.

In another scene, there is a brief shot of a car driving through a jungle. The camera work is smooth and fluid, and the actors are able to convey the feeling of motion and speed. The background features lush vegetation, with tall trees and dense foliage, creating a sense of immersion.

The film also includes a number of musical numbers, which are shot in various locations, including a beach and a park. These sequences are well choreographed, and the actors are able to convey a sense of joy and excitement.

Overall, the film is a well-made production, with a strong sense of realism and a good grasp of the genre. It is a worthy addition to the Hollywood film canon.

HOW YOU GOT OUT FROM UNDER—Back in the old days you could hardly drive 100 miles before you had to "get out and get under". You sweated and fumed in the balky thing until it perked again.

Today you stop your car because you want to watch the sunset or catch a panic lunch. You are giving America a new way of life. More leisure and more places to enjoy it. That's what we call Better-ness—the American conviction that "good enough" isn't.

We know about Better-ness in cars because we help put it there. Timken® tapered roller bearings practically eliminate friction in wheels, pinion, differential and steering gear. And because they're tapered, Timken bearings take all the loads—up and down and sideways.

Timken bearings play a vital role wherever wheels and shafts turn. A role that has made us the world's largest manufacturer of tapered roller bearings.

Want to help create Better-ness—make the most of your skills and imagination? Find out about the opportunities the Timken Company offers college graduates. Write for our booklet, "Career Opportunities at the Timken Company." The Timken Roller Bearing Company, Canton, Ohio.
