Equalization Of Scholarships Will Be Studied

Scholarship officials of the eight Ivy League college will meet in January to set up a coordinated financial aid program.

The announcement was made last week at a meeting of the college presidents in Chicago. The college official said that the eight college presidents would meet to establish a financial aid program that would be coordinated with the other Ivy League institutions.

Pigskin Dilemma Continues; Quakers Prep For Columbia

by Mark Rosenfield

What happens now? Pennsylvania's campus, which a mere week ago was brimming with excitement, now silently awaits the news from New York. Even Penn's sharpshooter Bob Williams, star of the Ivy League's biggest arrow, has let the bandwagon roll. The war has not been filled, and the bandwagon runs on its own, but the excitement is no more.

Maybe the Quakers' upcoming contest with Columbia will provide the answer to this question. However, Philadelphia's man of the hour, Bob Williams, has hesitated in his enthusiasm. He said that the game cannot be won just by being there. Instead, he said, "The Columbia game is another game and the little things that make Penn the University of Pennsylvania."

Perhaps Penn's outstanding long snapper, Glenn Tegel, has a better answer to why the Quakers will win. "Our team is just too good," he said. "We have to win just by being good."

One of the most exciting games of the season was against Penn State, and Penn State's quarterback, Frank Riepl, was too moved to say much about his team. "We have to play our best if we want to win," he said.

The Quakers have tried of everybody being good, but still they have not been able to put everything together to win.

Several other victories have been scored by the Quakers in recent games, but those victories have not been enough to prove that Penn is the better team.

The next game will be against Columbia, and the Quakers will have to prove that they are the better team.

AFROT C Elects 3 For Special Honors

by R. E. F. Noele

The AFROT C Council has elected three students for special honors.

Karen Davis, a sophomore, and John Brown, a junior, have been elected to the honor society for their academic excellence.

AFROT C will hold its first meeting of the year on Monday, September 26, at 5 p.m. in the Hexagon, under the direction of the new officers.

College Survey Stresses Basic Needs

Twenty-two students were named as the "top men" by their classmates, a survey conducted by the College Survey Committee.

College Survey was held last week, and the survey stressed that the basic needs of the students were the most important.

The survey asked the students about the things they felt were most important to them, and the students ranked the basic needs of housing, food, and transportation as the most important.

TOP MEN NAMED BY COUNTERSPY

The list of students named as the "top men" was as follows:

Robert B. MacLeod

One of the approximately 300,000 students at the University has been selected as the "top man." The selection was made by the College Survey Committee, and the student selected was Robert B. MacLeod.

MacLeod was named as the "top man" because he was selected by his classmates as the "most outstanding student." The selection was based on a survey conducted by the College Survey Committee, which asked the students to rate their classmates on a scale of one to ten.

The survey results showed that MacLeod was the student rated the highest by his classmates.

MacLeod is a sophomore in the College of Arts and Sciences, and he is majoring in economics.

He was selected as the "top man" because he was rated the highest by his classmates, and he was also rated highly by his instructors.

He was the only student selected as the "top man." The other students selected were rated lower by their classmates.

The survey results showed that the basic needs of the students were the most important.

The survey asked the students about the things they felt were most important to them, and the students ranked the basic needs of housing, food, and transportation as the most important.

The survey stressed the importance of the basic needs of the students, and it stressed that the basic needs of the students should be met.

Thirteen points to be Yale's top pitcher, and the mean stand only match as Pennsylvania's largest victory of the season. The decision came at Murphy Field in Pittsburg yesterday morning.

Rushed to the effects of the kickoff of Larry Pardy, the Quakers' third try for a touchdown was the answer for one point and saved Yale victory during the last two minutes of play.

Finally on the toss-up, with Yale's lead at a touchdown, the JVs' hold a commanding 12-0 advantage.

How "Weasels" Replace Dogs To Unlock Antarctica's Secrets

At the mountains of Antarctica really higher than Everest. Will its making ice eventually flood our cities? Do the polar winds cross the world's weather? Do gigantic coal deposits mean there's gold, oil, uranium too? For 157 years men couldn't stay at Antarctica long enough to find out. All they had were dogs—and courage. Today, machines do the muscle work. So teams of American scientists can stay the year around to unlock Antarctica's secrets. Just like weens use electronic "dish-pan" (see illustration) to probe for crevasses that can swallow 10-story buildings. Bulldozers carve roads across frozen seas so giant tractors can haul in 60-ton supply loads.

It's all the result of Better-ness—the American conviction that nothing's impossible. And the machines that give you Better-ness depend on Timken® tapered roller bearings. They roll the load—and they're spared to take the crushing impact from all directions.

You'll find Timken bearings virtually eliminating friction, reducing maintenance and shifting, machines so the go wherever America's wheels and shafts turn. By pioneering new market needs and uses, we've become the world's biggest manufacturer of tapered roller bearings—and we're still growing fast.

WANT TO HELP CREATE BETTER-ness? Creating and selling Better-ness offers great rewards. To get full details, send for your free copy of "Career Opportunities at the Timken Company," Write The Timken Roller Bearing Company, Canton 6, Ohio.
