Insurance Talk To Be Given By H. H. Power

Dr. Solomon S. Rushmer, the "Man of the Century," and professor emeritus of English at Princeton University, will give an address before the Pennsylvania State College of Education and the Pennsylvania State Teachers Association at 2:30 p.m. today at the College of Education building in State College.

Insurance is underwritten as an economic activity, the speaker will explain. He will point out that insurance is a "paradox," because it is both a need and a luxury.

Red and Blue Cagers Travel; Penn Fells Seeks Ninth Win

Pennsylvania's hot and cold engines (4-6) travel in University Park for a date with the Blue and Gold (1-1-1) tonight. In a two-game series, the Cross-Bisters are currently sporting a 4-5 slate.

"The finest moment of the game is when the player realizes that the score is final," says coach of the Cross-Bisters. Last season the Cross-Bisters won their season opener by the same score.

"The key to the Red and Blue win is a center-field thriller at the Penn-F祷 Penn dual. The game was delayed because the sun was shining on the field and the players were too busy to pay attention.

Military Ball Will Be Held at Univ., Colonel Evans States

The crowning of a queen will be one of the featured events at the annual Military Ball this Friday evening, according to Lt. Col. R. B. Lincoln, instructor of Physical Education for Women, who is in charge of the affair, announced by Colonel Evans.

The ball, which will be held in the Philadelphia Quakerist Center at 9:30 p.m., is being sponsored by the Army, Navy and Air Force ROTC units at the University and features the ten piece band of Carl Simpson, Lt. Burkhardt.

Mask and Wig objects. "Free for All!" isn't the sort of title that grabs attention, but the projects and ideas that are mentioned in the brochure are certainly worth looking into. The brochure lists a variety of activities and events that are planned for the coming weeks and months. There are weekly meetings, special events, and even a chance to win a prize. The mask and wig are just one of the many projects that are being advertised. The brochure is well-organized and easy to read, with clear instructions and dates for each event. Overall, it's a great resource for anyone interested in getting involved with Mask and Wig.

Csencsitz Holds Third Place
In Ivy League Scoring Race

Dick Connolly, Penn's high scoring forward, stands third in the Ivy Basketball League's individual scoring race according to the official tabulations released today.

Connolly, who leads People's and Johnley Lee of Yale Yard's, average for the game in 3.67.
Lee is averaging 29.5 points per game for first place, while Csen-citz' five-game average is 18.4.

Larry Dowler, Lee's 'trailing' 637 teammate, is in fourth place.
Penn's shooting guard Joe Wall,
holds down the sixth spot.

Joe Bowman, in 15th place,
the only other Quaker on the list.
Connolly, with 10 field goals and 18 free throws, leads Lee in actual scoring 62-52. However, the Penn captain has played in one more game (64) than Lee.

Bryant Danner of Harvard, who scored 31 points in the Centennial Vic-ory over Yale last weekend, holds the highest scoring single game of the season in league competition.

Freshman Fencers Seek Second Win At Valley Forge

With their 1-4 record on the tour, Penn's freshman fencers travel to Valley Forge this afternoon where they will meet Valley Forge Military Academy.

The Maroons, hampered by a fire which destroyed their gym and a shot putter, were defeated by Girard College, 7-11, in their team's opening match.

The Quakers faced hotter-handed Girard when they defeated the "Hawks" 18-11, and the same element which turned the trick against Girard will start for the fresh for play.

In the ope it will be Robert Howe Meyers, and Steve Libo-wha, Chuck Finn, Hugh MacMillan and Sandy Smith will see action in the saber, and Penn's foilist will be Ralph Zel, Mel Rockich
and Cliff Oster.

Penn Loses Net Ace; Mangan Leaves School

Junior John Mangan, number-one tennis player and a member of the heavyweight class, has told classmates this term.

Mangan was a star of the not med and tennis coach William Johnson stated, "I am very disappointed in John's leaving. Any social could be dissipated if it number one star left school."

Johnson further, move centered on the number one position.

Mangan stated he was going out in the West or Northeast to get in a job. Asked about his intention to play tennis on the Coast, he stated
"I will, if I have time."

According to Johnson, Charlie Browne, assistant athletic director, and he is sure whether Mangan will be able to participate under ECAC rules in tennis competition when he returns. He returns.

Mangan will play in the East or Western conference after the next fall or at the beginning of the Spring term.

NRC Holds Meeting

Presented in 16 cities each year by a team of Army, Navy, Marine, and Air Force officers, the Conference lasts for ten weeks, four hours a day. The program of the conference is arranged so that prior preparation is required of the students. An attempt is made to present a ten-day capsule of the two-month mission course given to the cadets.

A complete time schedule of the conference, as well as the procedures for registering for the entire series of lectures at which attendance is included, can be announced in about two weeks, Colonel Evans stated.

However, it is expected that the University ROTC, which will, whenever possible and feasible, attend the discussions, Colonel Evans continued. He also expressed the belief that other departments of instruction at the University—such as the political science—may desire to co-ordinate class meetings with the presentation of some of the lectures.

"The details as to three and co-ordination with University classes are being worked out," Colonel Evans stated. "However, this program is entirely voluntary for the students who desire to attend as well as those in these cases where particular professors state otherwise."
