The news of the day: Six feet four inches, two shoveling what was once a hockey rink and then turning into the rink itself went into the minds of the disputants. Quakers last night, 36-29.

Dick Connery was named the Philadelphia Basketball Writers Associationʼs Player of the Week. He had a marvelous week. It was the first time ever that an outdoor game has been played without incident in the city.

The Quakers opened the season by losing to the West Virginia Mountaineers 75-49 in a game of great interest.

Conneryʼs performance was outstanding, and his teamʼs was disappointing. The Quakers took the game to the Mountaineers, 11-7, but were unable to gain the lead.

The Quakers did a good job of scoring opportunities but were unable to capitalize on them.

The Fabulous Invalid

by Lewis Merklin, Jr.

Going to the theater is always a varied experience, not only for the different degrees of artistic excellence but also for the moods and the机遇 of the evening. The same play, the same scene, the same performance, might elicit different emotions in the audience at different times.

The Fabulous Invalid is a play about the life of a wealthy invalid, who is at the same time a play about the strength of the human spirit. The play is set in the late 19th century, and the character of the invalid, a man named Mr. Black, is played by a brilliant actor, Mr. Brown. The play is directed by Mr. White, and the sets and costumes are designed by Mr. Grey.

The play opens with a scene in which Mr. Black is lying in bed, weak and ill. He is visited by his doctor, who tells him that he has only a few months to live. Mr. Black is devastated, but he is determined to make the most of his remaining time. He asks his doctor to help him find a way to live as long as possible.

The doctor suggests that Mr. Black should start a new life, one in which he is more active and engaged with the world. Mr. Black agrees, and he begins to take up new hobbies and interests. He starts reading, he goes out to see the theater, he meets new people, and he even goes on a trip to the mountains. In this way, Mr. Black is able to extend his life by several years, and he is able to enjoy the world in a new way.

The play is a powerful reminder of the strength of the human spirit, and of the importance of finding new ways to live and to experience the world. It is a touching story, one that will leave a lasting impression on its audience.
Tigers Win 9th in Row In Polar Bear Track

In December, Tiger fans may be able to double their fun as the Polar Bear Track and the Lafayette College track meet on the same day. The Tigers will host the Polar Bears for the first of two meets, the second to be held in late January. This doubleheader will provide fans with an opportunity to see two of the finest track teams in the country.

Tigers Mermen Beat Varsity In ESL Meet; Frosh Lose

The Mermen captured the ESL Meet, defeating the Varsity team by a score of 4-0. The meet was held in the University Fieldhouse and was held to test the skills of the younger members of the Mermen.

Wildcats Beat Frosh Cagers

The PA College basketball team came within three bounces of beating undefeated Villanova last night at the Palestra, but fell far short, 69-42.

Pin Schedule Set

The pin schedule for Pennsylvania's newly formed basketball team will be announced soon. Tickets for the games are available at the box office of the Palestra.

WHY DOES SAMMY RUN???

Yes! Why does Sammy run to the VARSITY SHOP?!

Throughout the Hot and Rainy Months, Sammy kept his hair short and his face clean. He was known as a hard worker and a loyal employee.

In the spring of 1943, Sammy decided to run for president of the Student Council. He knew it would be a difficult campaign, but he was determined to win.

On election night, Sammy was elated. He had won the election with a majority of votes. He knew it was a victory for all electric power employees.

So why does Sammy run to the VARSITY SHOP?!

1. He wants to support the school's athletic teams.
2. He wants to show his respect for the traditions of the university.
3. He wants to be a part of the community.

There's a bright future in the electric power industry for YOU! The Pennsylvania electric power companies are preparing to face the challenges of the future. The need is for qualified young men to help them NOW.

For more information, write to Pennsylvania Electric Association, State Street Building, Harrisburg, Pa., or to your placement counselor.
