Faculty Club Construction Begins After Delay Caused by Bad Weather

Workmen started to work on a section of the 400 block of Walnut Street yesterday. The barriers went up at the corner of 40th and Walnut Street, making it possible for work to begin. The start of the construction was held over due to a rain, which washed Philadelphia almost clean.

The structures will cost $30,000, mostly for excavation work and not enough for the original estimate. The project will consist of three sections of brick, and in the basement there will be rooms for facilities and a room for a staff. The kitchen will also be located in the basement.

Dialogue in Disgust

by Justin W. Heeter

Publishing his book forward on his desk, God held out the open page. I was handed the magic number—EA-43-21363. But the nap on the line was there, saying that it was necessary for everyone to check their numbers.

"May I speak to Kenny Kepley please?" he asked.

"A current place, I'm sure it's open. I called Pitt the other day and I don't recall it was open.

"Hello! Mr. Kepley. This is God. We bought the plane you told us to buy. Now, how can you make sure we don't stay in the black state."

"In the group of ‘you people’ you called it? It’ll be up now.

"Well, get it right. Things have been going on one side and not the other.

I thought I’d call and see if there are any communications available for change. I’ve seen those three times.

"What’s that character’s name?

Penn Skaters Trounce Cats; Are Unbeaten

Penn's basketball team scored an unexpected victory, leaving the Quakers with only one win, while Penn pulled off a 100 record from their rivals. The win came as a surprise to many, as both teams were considered to be evenly matched. However, Penn's strategy and teamwork proved to be the deciding factors in the game.

Jack Follman Is Mellowest Of Basketball Juniors

Jack Follman, a freshman from the University of Pennsylvania, has been named the most "mellow" junior on the basketball team. According to his coach, Follman's calm demeanor and ability to handle pressure are what set him apart from his peers.

Frosh Hoopsters Rally,
Beat Hillers, 58-48

John Collens and Bob McElroy combined for 20 points in the second half to lead Penn's frosh basketball team to a 58-48 come-frombehind victory over the Hill felled yesterday at Fillmore.

The victory snapped a four-game losing streak for the frosh and brought the team's record to 6-9. Penn has two games remaining, with St. Joseph's and Princeton.

Playing without starters Bill McFadden and Steve Ganfield, both of whom are on thehort list, the Frosh fell behind early in the first quarter and trailed at the half, 17-10. In the second half Collens, who had come off the bench in the second quarter and scored four points, added 18 to the total and McElroy pumped in 13, to bring the game total to 16 and lead the quakers to the victory.

John Cacciatore, who had scored 22 points against Villanova the night before, chipped in with 11 points. The bench was led by Bill Lennon, who scored 17 points as the Hillers
