Debate on Continuing Civil-Law Jury Trials

Juries Called Slow, Expensive, Biased;
Tradition of Trial by Jury Supported

By Paul S. Weisberg

In a debate sponsored by the Pre-Law Society, Theodore Yorhans, Philadelphia, Maryland, argued for abolishing jury trials in civil cases, charging juries with being too expensive and too biased. Yorhans took the negative approach in the argument: Should the Fundamental Right of Trial by Jury Be Abolished?

Paul Levy, who is well known for his pro-secuting activities, argued positively, in the age of trial by jury is a deeply rooted part of American jurisprudence.

Dean of the Pennsylvania Law School, John H. Starks, was moderator of the debate. Starks commented Yorhans said, "at this time juries are in need of the interest of justice." He charged that the use of juries in today's courtroom is "too expensive and too biased."" Resources Conference

Schmidt, Bowman Chosen 1958-59 Cage Co-Captains

By Mark Rosenfield

Juniors George Schmidt and Charles Bowman have been named basketball cage co-captains for the 1958-59 season. The two were chosen by their teammates from among the 59 players comprising the Association of Pennsylvania College Football last evening.

The announcement of the two cage bosses was made by instructor Dick Conforti. Conforti was the recipient of the John J. MacDonnell award, given each year to the member of the Association with the most inspiring to the squad.

In addition to being named co-captains, Schmidt was honored with Missionary of the Cage Season award. Bowman was named Miss Arizona. Schmidt received the first award for a outstanding work in early season games against Mary and William and Mary. The second award was for the performance of the season in the win over Pennsylvania State.

Second in Scoring

Schmidt, 6.5, was named in scoring in points scored and rebounds. He collected a total of 292 points for an 11.3 average. He also added 57 rebounds. Schmidt is the only captain to have been chosen twice for this honor. The first time was in 1957-58.

Richard Bissell, "author of the best-selling novel 'The Ivy' and playwright, has recently moved to Pennsylvania to explore the local cultural scene. "I plan to write a new play about the university," he said. "I have a good idea in mind when he in the mind of my creative process." "The Ivy" was his first novel, published in 1958. He has since written several more novels and plays.

"Ivy" Takes a Dive
by Warren Link

"The Ivy I'm in the way on the way," says Frank A. Birmingham. "These geniuses Bissell, Bissell, that is, they're all cranking away in the Ivy stration. Birmingham, superbly equipped for the gathering of metaphors, functions as Fashion Director for "The Ivy."" Birmingham, a magazine in the respectful trade.

"I can't bear it! He can't bear it!" offered Mr. Bissell, who was the Editor of "The Ivy." He offered a traversal in the direction of "The Ivy," and his view was more than imperceptibly and fortuitously, and when a thought crosses my mind, I write it." He continued on formulating his views on a new book, something about the Middle West.

It took two weeks to write "The Ivy," plus an on and off about 1st, they signed agreements, and started working on the show. Birmingham joined them in July, and they have been working practically every day since. The agreements, signed on January 13th, and the agreements being signed from that date, have been in the dialogue and the show, "I have a lot of faith in my artists," he said. Penn Mentor Would Vote For 24-sec. Rule

by Harry Deitch

"We will eventually get to a time when it's just like it's a long way off," said Jack Mc Culloch, Penn's varsity baseball and basketball mentor, back time out from baseball practice yesterday to comment on the proposed 24-second rule which met with disfavor at the annual NCAA basketball coaches' meetings at Louisville, Kentucky. Mc Culloch went so far as to say that if the rule had come up to a vote he would have voted for it because...

MY CLOSEST SHAVE by Bill Bridgeman

"My closest shave was during the first try at a speed record in the Fantastic Douglas Skimmer," says Test Pilot Bill Bridgeman, author of "A Pilot's Tale." "A few seconds after the start, I turned on my rockets and climbed to 40,000 feet... when suddenly all power failed. Rocket power, cabin pressurization, everything—just everything went. And the window frosted over so I couldn't see. Finally I got the radio going on an emergency frequency and the window defrosted. The pilot in the lead B-29 dropped me like a bomb at 30,000 feet... but a few reservations still available. Written information at 305 N Y July 6. Personal contacts emphasized.
