The Development Office of the University Athletic Department

The University athletic department will publish a monthly magazine, "The Varsity Fan," the first issue of which is set for distribution on April 16.

The purpose of the publication, according to a department spokes-

The idea of a magazine was the product of a joint attempt to improve intervarsity athletics demon-strations by the department, the Alumni Association, athletic teams, and the University Athletic Board.

Development Office Names Wayne Barr To Publicity Section

Wayne B. Hutton, has resigned as publicity director of the Development Office, and will be replaced by Dr. James H. Schoch, a writer for the Development Office, in preparing publicity for the department.

Dr. Schoch, who has been with the Department for 11 years, will work in the publicity section. He will assist Dr. James H. Schoch, a writer for the Development Office, in preparing publicity for the department.

The Development Office of the University Athletic Department will announce its new responsibilities to the public at the University Athletic Board meeting on Monday, April 16.

Letters to the Editor

Editor, The Daily Pennsylvania:

As a writer of the brief obscenities between the sexes, I am interested in any new aspect that might lend themselves as another form of sexual expression. (As an artist, I am interested in the physical aspects of the nude, as well.)

The issue of nudity in the arts is a complex one, but one that has been widely discussed in recent years. The debate revolves around the question of whether nudity should be considered obscene or not.

In my opinion, nudity in the arts should be considered a form of expression that can convey powerful emotions and ideas. It is a medium that can allow artists to explore the human body in all its complexity and beauty.

However, it is important to note that nudity should not be used as a means of exploiting individuals or promoting gratuitous violence. It should be used with care and consideration for the well-being of those involved.

I hope that this brief explanation of my perspective on the issue of nudity in the arts will be helpful to you and to any others who may be interested in this topic.

Sincerely yours,

"South Pacific" POI AND GIRL

by Lewis Merklin, Jr.

One would think that Rodgers and Hammer- lton would have said by now that the end of the road has been reached and that the final curtain has been drawn. However, "South Pacific" proved otherwise. They started their Ainslee run with "Irving Berlin's" music and songs and went on to even better musical achievements. "The Flower Drum Song" was new by November.

The first of the shows has now come full circle. After the success of "Irving Berlin's" music and songs, they again start their Ainslee run with "Irving Berlin's" music and songs. The show is loved by everyone, from the audience to the critics. "Irving Berlin's" music and songs have always been a hit with the audience. "Irving Berlin's" music and songs have always been a hit with the critics as well.

The second show of the day is "Betsy Ross" and "Oklahoma!" It is loved by everyone, from the audience to the critics. "Betsy Ross" and "Oklahoma!" have always been a hit with the audience. "Betsy Ross" and "Oklahoma!" have always been a hit with the critics as well.

In conclusion, "Letters to the Editor" is a great way to express your views on the issue of nudity in the arts.
Penn Nettemen
Minus Courts
Penn's tennis team received another in the series of spring joys when they learned that they have the place to practice because the Law School courts are not ready for use.

Coach Wallace Johnson has been trying to find a place for his men's team, but to no avail. This week, he feels that the Practice floor will not give adequate preparation for their extremely tough schedule this year. The Quakers open against Harvard Monday, the first match of four in the first week.

The netmen were also hurt immensely by the loss of John Mann, last year's number one man, between semesters.
