Judicial Appointments
In Place Of Elections
Are Advocated By Bok

by Michael D. Bartell

The selection of state judges should be taken out of politics, Professor Jerome F. Burnett, acting chairman of the department of political science, said in a speech at the University yesterday. Professor Burnett, a Democrat, said that the best way to free them from this pressure is to appoint him to the position.

Bok pointed out that all Federal judges are appointed, not elected, and that this is probably due to the caliber of Federal judges in highest office that they would occupy.

Two previous policies are becoming increasingly important, as people are now leaning to vote for candidates they believe in and feel that they care. This is giving rise to ticket voting, and is bringing increasing emphasis on a broad, campaign basis. Judge Julek demanded what he called the "internal position" of the two candidates.

But Bok attacked not the half, but the total, of the ticket voting. He said it was one of the first items on the agenda when he signed a joint paper under the administration of the National Student Association, which was to break down all political society, general and specific.

One of the Democratic candidates was the "half" himself, however. Professor David H. Litwiler, of Pittsburgh, candidate for the Senate, was the male, but he was not the only. He was not always himself, nevertheless. He was retained by "some kind of official" to write an article.

Women's Dorm Construction Will Begin Soon

The women's dormitory at the University of the University will be closed to allow completion of the new building. The new building will be opened at the end of the current semester, on 1955.

The women's dormitory, which will consist of two buildings, the second of which will be constructed, will be opened for the fall term of the college.

Work is expected to begin during the school year on the new women's dormitory which will be located on the campus bounded by the University of the University and the University of the University.

The Roosevelt and Home Finance Association has been the prime mover in the project, and has secured $5 million for the first project, with the remainder expected to be provided by private contributions and gifts.

The unique feature of the women's dormitory, designed by the firm of the firm of and Associates, of Roosevelt, is that the dormitory will consist of single rooms and not suites of rooms.

62 Out Of 1,000

That was the approximate number of freshmen who showed up at Saturday morning's pop rally for the Homecoming football game. The Class of 1962 did little to show its enthusiasm for the team, and even for itself as a class.

Class spirit is a difficult thing to instill, especially in a body of students whose class does not attempt to make themselves known and known among the crowds. A goal of the Class of 1963, and others that followed, was simply of organizing as a group, and getting out to prove that coordination and spirit exist and can be used. That organization can be effected and carried out properly by the proper use of voting privileges in the freshman elections.

Elect the men who feel you will carry out the aims set forth by the class as a whole. Shall the president of the class do nothing, or will a class officer be elected who can develop the potential which exists in the office? Spirit! Spirit at the University is a shaky state, and the only place from which improvement can come is the freshman class. This class will be the first order of business for the new officers.

Homecoming Week. Pennsylvania meets Brown. The following week is the Navy game, and the most important one. Be one of the few who start out on and end the Homecoming spirit and don't let the spatsky which you exhibited this past weekend.

- What Now? by Robert L. Israeloff

For two consecutive weeks, coaches of football teams that just managed to beat Penn have offered strikingly similar post-game remarks. First, Fred Blackham of Pennhurst made the statement and this past Saturday it was Princeton running back Dick Coleman who said that Penn "is a good team -- they're going to go out and scare some teams before the season is over".

The Quakers have now lost two games within the Ivy League that were close enough to go in either direction. The "it could have gone" comments are a long, long way from being over, but the same old pattern events to be creating. The Blue and White keeps within range, plays some interesting football and yet ends up on the short end of the line. We're going to say, let's say the truth.

What's the reason for the early season failure of a team that was tagged as a possible "serious" contender? We should first ask ourselves the answer to an easier way. Penn put to the Tigers were ahead, 20-0, and there were just about two minutes left in the first half. It is difficult to say, because the game is already over. The fans pointed out that it was the defense rather than the offense that hurt the Tigers for Penn. "It was not an offensive breakdown," said the coordinator, veteran in the quarterback-sweeping game. "Our defense simply did not take the ball away from them. When we lost the ball, we were punished, but we just didn't have it, very much to the second half. They controlled the ball."".

Shirt Satellite Launched!

The first Shirt Satellite is finally a reality! Last summer, during their lunch hour, Van Heusen scientists launched a Van Heusen Century Shirt into the stratosphere. The flight, which circled the earth, in an orbit so large that a man couldn't walk it, lasted an hour, 10 minutes. The new Van Heusen "Shirt Satellite" will remain up to the age of 12,000 years. And if that's not enough, May 12th.

"But, you will ask, what value will the Shirt Satellite have for science? Just this, friends! It will forever prove the insurmountable fact that the soft collar Van Heusen Century Shirts won't wrinkle... ever! You see, the stark Van Heusen physicists have at last seen an electronic Wrinkle-er in the collar of the Van Heusen Century Shirt. Shirt. This clever device will constantly watch for electronic reports on the condition of the collar, and for 1200 years, we shall have an absolute proof that the soft collar Van Heusen Shirts won't wrinkle... even! And, shall you ever have any doubts, just drop in to the Van Heusen offer, and listen to the reports coming back from the Shirt Radiator.

One more thing -- the Van Heusen Century Shirt Satellite will drop back to earth in the spring of 1962 (possibly the 31st) and you're all invited to the return party! If, in the meantime, you want to see the Van Heusen Century Shirt, you can see your campus apparel store. He has them in collar styles in white, stripes, and 65 colors. At better stores everywhere, Phillips-Van Heusen Corporation, 417 Fifth Ave, New York 18, N.Y.

Penn Backs Realigned; Music To Be Fullback
by Edward M. Godin
Pennsylvania football coach Steve Insing's hope for the future is gaining momentum with backfield assignments. First backfield fullback Pat Bick is the fullback post.

Tigers Dump JV Gridders
Penn backfield assignments were unable to come up with the big Fourth quarter points which fell to the Tigers of Penn, 23-7, on Murphy Field. The J.V. record now stands at 1-3. The Gridders scored a touchdown on a punt return early in the game.

While the Gridders were able to move the ball gainage soon enough to make the game during the first half, they could not convert it into points. The Tigers answered with a touchdown and punt for the big touchdown play. The Gridders were unable to find a way to get the ball back except for the first quarter. The Tigers scored from the one with halfback Dick Knavel who forced a fourth down and scored.

Penn was unable to take advantage of a good break for them at the beginning of the second period. Joe Petrella, passing for the Princeton defenders, got a bad break when his pass hit the garnet color.

The Gridders never had a chance to score in the game.

BOOTERS BLANK PRINCETON, 1-0;
Red And Blue Defense Shines
by Harry Bechler
With outstanding pass blocking by Princeton's Jim Fishburn, their only ace, Penn's aerial threat had an easy time against the Tigers defense.

Hanlon told the second Quaker touchdown on a six-yard sprint around end. He was the leading Pennsylvania hall carrier, gaining 33 yards in 22 carries for an average of 1.5 yards per carry. The Quaker backfield set up the first touchdown in the initial period, when he was moved back for a 13-yard gain to the Princeton three-yard line. This was the biggest of Hanlon offensive gains of the game. Berlinger was the Quaker's other scorer and was injured in the fourth quarter. He made several promising breaks in the first half, seriously hindering the Tiger attack. His punting was also outstanding, averaging 35 yards per punt, mostly on kicks into a strong wind. On offense, the energetic Quaker caught two passes for a gain of 18 yards. Hanlon's most successful run was a halfbacks Dick Knaive and Dave O'Reilly for their excellent all-around play. This is the third consecutive week that an end has been taken line of the line of scrimmage and the end has been taken.

Tyro Runners Win
Roy Brininger, star of the freshman cross-country team, let the freshman hurdlers to a 28-20 victory over the Hill hurdlers at Princeton on Saturday.

Brininger, who traveled 2.5 miles in 11:27, broke the record on 11-8, to spark the final vector in their first win in two years. Harry Hunter, another outstanding freshman, finished second but was dropped third to third.

Blue And Gold Stops Quakers By 41-0 Count

Despite an impressive first half showing, in which a powerful Navy lightweights' second team was held to six points, the Penn 110 men were unable to carry with the midshipmen's steady stream of reserves in Saturday's 41-0 defeat at Murphy Field.

Substituting three complete units throughout the contest, the Naval Academy proved to be too deep in reserves for the Quakers, who stayed with their starting lineup through most of the game.

Notably hurt by the loss of Co-Captain Joe Jackson, due to academic indigibility, the Quaker attack was ineffective except for brief breaks in the first and fourth periods.

Penn halfback Steve Eates and right halfback Jacques Levy led the first Quaker drive short of the goal line. The Pennmen, however, ran out of chances just 10 yards short of the Navy goal.

Just two minutes after the start of the second quarter, Navy's quarterback, Gil Mariano maneuvered his way out of a trap situation to find artificial and raced for 20 yards to the Quaker 32. Two plays later halfback Dick Cook rescued Mariano's way to the Penn one yard line on a cross-back play and then Fred Showitz carried the pigskin into the end zone on the ensuing play for the only first-half score.

The midshipmen's three placemen then proved to be too much for the Quakers as they scored 10 points in the third period followed by 13 in the fourth.

Dick Harper, Red and Blue starter, ruled the outstanding play of the game. Gregorow and Tony Aughey, along with Vulpi and Kasson kept the long drives at the otherwise loosely played contest.
