Carnival Hula-Hoop Contest Finds Penn Running Around In Circles

by Robert L. Fryer

It's safe to say the "hola hoop" has finally reached the University of Pennsylvania, since several observant observers have reported seeing students carrying on a rather unusual practice for the campus community in the vicinity of the Harkness Gym this morning.

Students can join March For Integrated Schools

by Michael A. Bartell

The afternoon in Houston Hall, Penn's public relations office, Thursday afternoon was an opportunity to sign up to take part in the March Against Segregation. The Penn School to be held October 27 in Houston Hall.

The march will be a part of the nationwide movement. Led by the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, the demonstration is an attempt to say "keep up the struggle for the civil rights of the children and of all the people of this nation, both white and black, through an organized national effort for the rights of all men.

Students and faculty members will be present at the demonstration, including University President Eric M. F. Pray, Students and faculty members of the University of Pennsylvania, the Pennsylvania Conference of the NAACP, and the Philadelphia office of the NAACP.

Schuman, second-year student; and Harold S. Waterman, second-year student.

Three Injured Bruin Starters May Miss Saturday's Game

by Edward M. Coplan

The injury list this week is the story for this Saturday's Brown-Penn game. Dave Waterman, the Bruin starting left guard and Bob Hare, who usually starts at the other guard slot, are both out with injuries. It isn't known what time they will be back in the starting lineup. It won't be known until the game week whether or not they will be in the starting lineup.

The Bruins had to do without starters against Columbia. Last year's captain Jack McTigue for the Northeastern team, but it is expected that McTigue, who has averaged 6.0 points per game, will be back in the starting lineup.

Close-Up

The ‘Barbarian’

John Hirst is an example of that American director who does an intuitive sense of music with a healthy respect for the parameters of the vocal world. He can be a conductor or a playwright, as the context requires. His direction is unerring, but he is clearly invariably in the amount of his work. His vision is an extraordinary one, and he has a remarkable range of talent. He can be a conductor or a playwright, as the context requires. Our Folk Singers

Vol. LXXII     OCTOBER 1958

Ehr Dalton alltumantau

In 1937, I really had the idea of creating a folk music organization. I had some friends who were interested in folk music, and I thought it would be a good idea to start a group. I contacted a few people and we began to meet regularly. We started with just a few members, but gradually the group grew. We began to perform at local clubs and events, and our reputation spread.

We also started to record our performances, and we eventually released an album. The album was well received, and it helped to increase our visibility. We continued to perform and record, and over the years our popularity grew. Today, our group is composed of many members, and we continue to perform and record folk music.

We are proud of our heritage and the music we share. We believe that folk music is a valuable part of our culture, and we are committed to preserving it for future generations. We invite you to join us in our journey of discovery and celebration of folk music.

I-F Track Meet Held Today

Delta Kappa Epsilon will put its title on the line in the annual Inter-Pan Hellenic Track and Field Championships, this afternoon at Franklin Field. The Vikes, which upset 36 points last year, have to beat the second place finisher Delta Theta by six points.

All entries must be turned into the track office before 5:00 p.m. today. The points team allotted by the officials will be used in determining the winner of the All-University Trophy.

The first event of the afternoon will be the 300 yard run. Other track events to be run during the afternoon are the 70 yard dash, 70 yard low hurdles, 100 yard run and four man 800 yard relay.

Field events run later will include the high jump, running broad jump and 15 yard shot put.

Certificates signed by the Athletic Director and Track Coach will be awarded to the first three place winners in individual meets.
