* It's Up To You

The evaluation forms appearing on this page are an experiment. We hope to arrive at a definite report which can be presented to the students as an aid to their scheduling for the Spring semester.

We realize that the factors which will be presented concerning the courses and instructors will not be conclusive. Indeed, they should not. Each student must analyze his own requirements to determine which courses will most benefit him. However, there is a need for such a study to allow the student to make a choice, for instance, between equally unknown electives.

The value in such an evaluation as we are conducting comes from the fact that a large number of opinions are collected and consolidated into a consensus. Thus it is of the utmost importance that every undergraduate complete the forms. If anyone fails to do so under the belief that it will not help his own future scheduling to tell about a course he has already taken, he is mistaken, because if the total response is not large enough, none of the results will be printed.

Answer the questions about your last Spring's courses as completely as possible. The more data that can be acquired, the more accurate will be the results. Grades will not be reported, but will merely be used to aid us in evaluating the information. Do not devote excessive discussion to either the instructor or the course, but treat both equally. Particularly in multi-section courses, instructor information is of lesser value.

We have devoted considerable effort to this course evaluation. The success or failure is up to you.

Directions For Course Guide Blanks

Please fill the adjacent blank forms with your critical report regarding the courses and instructors of your last Spring term's curriculum. All pertinent judgments should be expressed. Any supplementary sheets with additional comments must be initialed by the student.

When the blanks are completed, place this page in the Return Boxes which will be located in Houston, Betsie, Drexel and Calhoun Halls next to the DP distribution stands. With student cooperation, The Daily Pennsylvania will publish a Guide to Courses in time for pre-registration.
