College-Wharton Integration

Dear Daily Pennsylvanian,

I am writing in response to the letter appearing in your publication on Wednesday that approached the topic of integration in a simplistic manner. It is important for us to understand that the issue of integration is multifaceted and requires a nuanced approach.

For instance, the argument that integration is not a problem at Wharton may be based on the perception of a lack of visible segregation. However, this does not imply that integration is naturally occurring or that it is equitable. The lack of visible segregation could simply be due to the fact that the student body is not diverse, or that the policies in place are effective in ensuring diversity.

Moreover, the letter mentions the concept of "separate but equal." This is a term that was used in the past to justify the segregation of African Americans and other minority groups. It is a concept that has been rightly condemned and should not be part of our discussion today.

In conclusion, I urge the Daily Pennsylvanian and the Wharton community to approach the issue of integration with a critical and open-minded attitude. Let us work towards creating an environment where everyone feels welcome and included.

Sincerely,

Separate But Equal

The Daily Pennsylvanian is a publication that aims to provide news and information to the University of Pennsylvania community. We strive to cover a wide range of topics, including campus life, athletics, and local events.

As a student body, we are committed to fostering an environment that is inclusive and welcoming to all. It is important for us to acknowledge and address issues of diversity and inclusion.

In recent years, we have seen an increase in the number of students from diverse backgrounds enrolling at the University. However, there is still room for improvement.

We encourage all members of the Wharton community to be actively involved in promoting diversity and inclusion. This includes attending events, participating in discussions, and advocating for policies that support a diverse and inclusive campus.

Sincerely,

Pinball Paradise

All This For A Nickel

Pinball machines are a dime a dozen in America today. However, there are some pinball machines that are quite rare and valuable.

I recently had the opportunity to visit a local museum that had a collection of pinball machines. Among the machines on display, there was a vintage 1950s Williams "Aladdin's Lamp" machine.

This machine is considered a collectible because it was one of the first pinball machines to incorporate a fully immersive experience. It used sound effects, music, and animations to create a truly immersive environment.

I was impressed by the attention to detail in this machine. The graphics were beautifully drawn, and the sound effects were realistic. The machine had a unique design, with a large central display area that attracted the players.

In conclusion, pinball machines are a fascinating hobby for anyone interested in collecting. They offer a unique blend of technology and art, and can provide hours of entertainment.

Sincerely,

Squash Team To Play Navy Next Saturday

This Saturday at 2:30 p.m., the Quaker varsity squash team will oppose a very powerful Navy team on the Thomas R. King's memorial court in the U.S. Naval Academy gymnasium.

This will be the first meet of the season for both teams and that the Navy should be defeated, since this is one of the top Army Civilian Club teams.

Penn will be very confident, having won 12 straight matches.

Frosh Five Upset By Germantown Academy

In the first game, which was played last Saturday at the St. Andrew's School, the Penn Frosh Five upset the Germantown Academy, 3-2. Although the Penn team had anticipated winning this match, they were not entirely prepared for the challenge of playing on the outside court. The Germantown Academy was a formidable opponent, and the Penn team had to work hard to ensure their victory.

Qquakers Face Powerful Eli Mermen

by Richard Brown

Facing their stiffest test of the campaign, Penn varsity mermen will attempt to end Yale's consecutive dual meet victory streak at 14 tomorrow when the Quakers travel to the Eli's New Haven gymnasium. Junior captain Charles Campbell has no special plans for his invading editions. He plans only to swim each of his men in their strongest events to win as many points as possible.

A dual meet victory streak of 14 would make it final season impressive. The Eli mermen are led by an exceptionally strong freestyle aggregation. Roger Anderson, a junior, holds the Ivy Conference mark in the 200 yard freestyle and has an All-American for the past two seasons. He is backed by Charlie Brionnol, Bill Chao and Eltie Fallet.

Free Concerts Start Tomorrow

The winter Concert Series of the University of Pennsylvania will be presented in the Museum on six successive nights, beginning tomorrow. The free series is open to the public, a feature of the first program is titled "Symphony of 516 A Minor," and works by Haydn and Dvořák. Chamber music programs, selected from some of the great collections of musical literature, will be presented in the series to be held at 8:30 in the Egyptian Gallery of the Museum.

Musicians Are Professionals

The series is presented by the University Club through a grant from the American Federation of Teachers Fund, in cooperation with the League of American Federation of Musicians. The members of the orchestra have been selected from various professional musical activities in the Philadelphia area, including the Philadelphia Orchestra.

Under the direction of Joseph Priest, the symphony has composed especially for the series. The Concert Orchestrators will play "Süte für Strings" by Maurice Duruflé, with the Philadelphia Orchestra, on December 21. "Symphony for Strings" by Villa-Lobos will be played on January 5. The composition "Shenandoah," a wellknown piece of popular music, composed by Vincent Thomas and Thomas Law, is to be heard at the last program on January 12.

The inter-fraternity basketball season was launched last night in a Holmberg Gymnasium with a game competing in Red, Blue, Green and Gold league contests. The first game to make contact with a 62-32 daughter of Fr. Kappa Alta, the Host Bates and Bob Goldsmith led the victory with 16 and 12 respectively. Checks Irvine, who was high individual of the game, scored 20 balling for Delta Kappa Epsilon to a 56-34 triumph over Phi Kappa Pi. Sigma Alpha Mu, led by Charles Wolf, improved Delta Phi 54-35 while Alpha Chi Rho proved no match for the impersonated Sigma Chi's 28-18 lead.

Runners Brave Winter;
Prep For Polar Bear

by Alfred Raber

The sub-freezing, windswept conditions of Franklin Field, which serve as training ground for the Penn Track and Field Squad, has been the scene of preparation for the annual Polar Bear Meet on February 12th. Several noteworthy showdowns is the weight three tying Mariner and Princeton Columbia, a feat which the Quakers have accomplished only twice in the past two years.

Senior Morton Moxon has been careful to point out that many of the runners are still using "shoes" on the Frozen Trencher in stead of spiked shoes, which would account for many of the slower performances in the past few weeks.

Senior George Kattermann turned in a 1:04.75 clocking in the half mile last week and while this is not an official meeting event, it is an excellent sign toward a strong fast and fine showing in the 1,000 yard run.

Bob Read, high flying junior, was first developing into a top flight wide jumper, has already turned in a 21'-6" leap along with Bob Read.
