A Clarification In Re: That Certain Article

For those readers of The Daily Pennsylvania, who may have been alarmed by the article by Nicholas S. Clapp appearing in yesterday's paper, we feel obliged to restate certain facts that were omitted from a stream of claims and counter-claims.

The facts are these: Eight anonymous sources, namely A vrai, Delia Spanoulis, Karen K. Porter, Dr. C. C. B. Gannon, Delta, Philip J. Agostino, Gail F. B. and Lupe, all presented material evidence and contemporary experiences.

The Daily Pennsylvania cannot be responsible for what appears to be a careless segment of its reading. It might be a story they never bothered to finish.

The Fascists Among Us

Editor, Daily Pennsylvania:

I was pleased to hear of December 19, "Group Hated." I’m glad to see that you are not ignoring the question of fascism here in the country and at Pennsylvania. I think we should consider seriously the possibility that fascists are among us.

Your statement about the instability of fascism is true. However, I believe it is not enough to depend on basic economic factors. Fascists also have an emotional appeal, and this is something we should pay attention to. If we are not vigilant, we may find fascists among us.

Sincerely yours,

A Merry Christmas...

Times have changed since the days of Charles Dickens, and the spirit of Christmas has taken a different form. The glowing warmth of gas street lamps has been replaced by the pale glow of television screens. Yet, the spirit of Christmas has remained, and只要有 snow, there is still a chance to see a "white Christmas." An old woman who has no electric light in her home and who can only watch the snow falling outside. She too has a heart filled with love for the holiday season. And if we think about it, she is not alone.

A Happy New Year

As we begin a new year and a new decade, we should be grateful for the joyous occasion in which to look back on the past and think ahead to the future. The new year brings new opportunities and new beginnings, and we should be grateful for this chance.

The Old Man: A Holiday Story

The old man limped to the door, put on his thick coat, and headed for the streets. He had a routine he followed every Christmas, and he was determined to carry it out. He had a feeling that this would be his last Christmas, and he wanted to make it special.

He found a small group of children who were all dressed up in their pajamas. The children were excited and happy, and they were all singing Christmas carols. The old man joined in with them, and they all sang together. It was a beautiful sight.

The old man knew that he would not be able to stay for long, but he was determined to share the joy of Christmas with these children. He knew that it was never too late to give a little love.

The old man handed the children some money and walked away. He knew that he would not be able to stay for long, but he was determined to make a difference.

Quaker Mermen Crush Lafayette; Swimmers Set Two Pool Records

by Richard Kramer

Penn's varsity swimmers broke Lafayette pool records as they posted a third-place finish in the annual invitational swimming meet at Lafayette's Easton Pool.

The nine-yard relay team was one of the records in their event with John Hall, Larry O'Keefe, Bob Davis and Bob Arnold. The winning pool was 200 yard backstrokes by David Heden, who recorded a 1:52.4 for the winning team.

The Mermen also recorded a 1:02.7 for the winning team, and a 1:03.2 for the winning team. They also recorded a 1:01.6 for the winning team.
