From The Sublime...

It would seem that no sooner does the University take a fresh step forward than it moves back two. A classic example of this is in the recent controversy over the construction of Xanthia Long's Hall, McClelland Hall.

The bungalow, meant to serve all dormitory residents including freshmen and upperclassmen. Upperclassmen residents who are members of fraternities are included in those who are permitted to use its facilities. However, the Interfraternity Council rushing regulations forbid contact between fraternity men and women-in-the-dormitory.

We aren't sure how this is going to be resolved. Obviously it would not be possible to exclude fraternity men who are permitted to stay in dormitories. The men who are not staying in dormitories are not as likely to go into the lounge in the middle of a television program or a ping-pong match.

With mixture permitted, we cannot imagine why the lounge of a building that is not to be a women's dorm should be in the wrong class.

The sitter will prove to be an interesting one. We wonder how many members of the L-F-D Disciplinary Committee will be willing to tolerate the lounge during finals.

Construeive Criticism

By Robert L. Israe1off

After viewing every athletic contest in which a varsity or freshman team has been performed on the home ground this past week-end, a few remarks on the situation of the athletic teams and the athletic program must be made.

To put it mildly, Quaker athletes are no longer up to par. As a matter of fact, Philadelphian newspaper offices which were filled with reports of the exploits of the various Quaker teams and their opponents a few years ago during the fall months are now empty.

In addition, Saturday's Fels-Saint Joseph game was a rather sad sight. It was a game that would have been in the news in former times and which may well make available a pamphlet on this confusing subject.

Tall Story

The Pennsylvania Falmouth holds a unique distinction known as the University's annual intercollegiate contest. The contest was held on Saturday afternoon in the Philadelphia Theatre, formerly the University's site of the annual collegiate contest.

It seems only to be a matter of luck to have had such an opportunity. But it is a matter of much importance to have realized the potential of the opportunity. To have been able to take advantage of the opportunity only by the grace of Tall Story's administration is a grace.

Quakers Outscore Bulldogs; Schmidt Star Of The Week

by Arlen Ditt

Co-captain George Schmidt led the Quaker basketball team to a 70-59 victory over the Yale Bulldogs at the Palestra on Saturday night. The win gives the Red and Blue a 2-3 slate for the year and an overall 13-9 record.

Schmidt scored 11 points and landed down 13 rebounds in the tournament. He has hit on eight of nine free throws.

A key factor in the victory was Penn's scoring from the foul line. They hit 26 of 32 compared with seven of 13 for the Danes. This difference was enough to overcome Yale's advantages from the field, 26 to 17.

Yale outscored the Quakers, 8-11 in the first half of the game. A major reason for this was the presence of Yale's guard Gene Stahl who scored 16 points for the Bulldogs.

The biggest break for the Red and Blue came when nine points left in the game when Yale took a 32-23 halftime lead. Before this, he had scored nine points of the team's first 11 points in the opening minutes.

The second half was the Quaker's day as they ran away with the game. Yale, who was down 41-34 at the half, ended up losing 70-59. With this victory, the Quakers moved up two places in the eastern conference standings. At all, Schmidt had two other games with over 13 rebounds.

The second half saw the Quaker play after a strong performance at the first half when they well beaten Yale, 20-2. The Red and Blue fell behind in the beginning when they were behind 15-11 in the first 20 minutes of play.

If the game is anything to go by, the Whirlies will have a tough time in scoring their first eleven points when the point guard, Chris Schmidt, is back in the lineup.

St. Joseph's Hosts St. John's To Highlight Paleostra Action

by Mary Hurlin

St. Joseph's bid to regain the national championship that it lost in 1957 is expected to catch this week's action in the Paleostra. The team's opening game will be against St. John's in the finals of the ECAC East playoffs.

John's is the favorite in the East and is expected to roll over the Whirlies as it has been all year.

The Whirlies have been in the finals of the ECAC East playoffs for the past two years. They lost to St. John's in 1956 and 1957.

Norbury Tops Best Golfers

by William F. Booth

Norbury is the new king of the local golfing world. His victory in the annual tournament held on the St. Paul Golf Club last week has earned him the title of "Best Golfer of the Year." His score of 73 in the final round tied him with his closest competitor, Mike O'Connell, who also scored 73. The tie was broken by Norbury's superior putting, which was notably better than O'Connell's. The win has assured him a spot in the national golfing circuit and he will be representing his team in the upcoming World Golf Championship.
