by Michael D. Barrett

The Billy May Orchestra, featuring singer Frankie Lester, and the Pennsylvania Six-Pence jazz band have been invited to the annual Interfraternity Ball, Friday, March 15, at the Broadwood Hotel.

The May aggregation is well known across the country for its popular music and interfraternity presentation, and has played at many top ballrooms and universities. It’s last appearance at the University was for the Ivy Ball last spring.

The Six-Pence, a dixieland jazz band comprised of University students, has become well known at the University and in the nation this year. The band has also appeared at other eastern colleges, as well as at Caragoule Jazz concerts.

The schedule of events for Interfraternity Week, March 9-14, has been announced by James Warner, I-F week chairman.

The week begins with the traditional Two Token Phil Pinto Relays, to be held on Franklin Field Sunday, afternoon, March 13, while the Tuesday evening will feature the traditional Chapel and the, and the annual Faculty-Of-Year Convocation.

On Friday, March 13, the week is climax ed by the traditional Interfraternity Dance, which will be held in the Main Ballroom of the Broad wood Hotel from 9 p.m. to 6 a.m.

The orchestration of Billy May and the Six-Pence will provide continuous music.

Penn Players Enter Phila. Arts Festival; Perform On TV

by Michael H. Zuckerman

The University’s National Drama Ensemble will perform a portion of "The Taming of the Shrew," this week-end, performing for the first time in the Philadelphia area, with performances at 2 and 6:30 p.m. Saturday afternoon, March 13, and 8 p.m. March 14, at the Academy of Music.

Performances will be held on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday evenings of the current week, at 8 p.m. and 11 a.m. These performances will be broadcast from the University’s radio station.

The Players will also participate in two other presentations of the arts festival, which began today and runs until February 28.

This morning the Players will perform, "The Taming of the Shrew," which they produced last year. The program, called "Exploring the Fine Arts," will be broadcast on WYES, TV Station, at 9 a.m. It is sponsored by the Board of Education of the University.

The Players will present scenes from their December production of "The Taming of the Shrew," Dec. 22.

Parking In Sight

The most noticeable and welcomed feature of the University’s current plans to alleviate the parking problem is that a large range of adequate parking facilities is being taken. This is tantamount to the growth and expansion of the rest of the University.

Alone in the inadequate parking facilities have been a contributing factor to traffic congestion, relations with the City, and the general appearance of the campus area. Large, new garages and lots will not completely fulfill existing needs in a section such as West Philadelphia. They will, however, go a long way in diminishing problems of space, problems that are bound to grow in the coming years.

Since plans call for operation of more lots within a short time, besides those already in use, perhaps some immediate parking problems will be solved. The important point is the projection of plans for the future—which might include increased use of underground facilities for which space is no problem.

Close-Up: ‘I Want To Live’

In The Penal Colony

It is difficult to take “I Want To Live” (Stanton T. Truax) very seriously for this Walter Wanger production for United Artists sheds most of its objectivity in the treatment of the story of San Francisco barbarous Barbara Graham. The thesis is carried by San Francisco Examiner reporter Ed Montgomery who is willing to admit that Graham might have been “totally insane and anti-social” but will ignore the biasing of a California writer for which she was executed.

In addition, the film, the Montgomery, fails to draw the greater conclusions from the weaker of the two stories. The system whereby stateless convicts can commit non-treason to facilitate political ends needs reappraising; and (2) The statement, at least in criminal cases, has a fundamental disregard for truth or justice. One of the new convicts never quite articulates his desire to “Live” thus he bodies the problem of capital punishment, though it devotes the bulk of its latter footage to a hollow, functional look at execution. Critics claim that it puts his speech, simple confession  execution of women who happen to be innocent. But this is much

Due to the increasing public awareness of the Cuban situation, and the conflicting ideas as to what action the United States government should take, the International Affairs Association felt it necessary to state its views on the matter.

The main reason for this difference of opinion is that the American concept of morality and American practicality are in opposition.

It seems only logical to state that Washington should supply as many tools as necessary to pursue the new Cuban government to stop the wholesale slaughter of human life. But this cannot be done. Cuba is a sovereign state, and therefore must handle its own internal problems. One must remember that we branded Russia an aggressor for interfering in the Hungarian Revolution of 1956.

Nevertheless, the fact still remains: the Cuban courts are making a farce out of justice, for they can not be expected to judge the crimes before them fairly and mercifully when the entire country is so emotionally distanced.

The last encounter in the Gloh league will have Kappa Sigmas opposing Beta Sigma Rho at 8:15. Sigma Alpha Mu faces Phi Kappa Psi in the opening Blue League 6A. At 7:15, Alpha Chi Rho plays Epsilon Alpha followed by contacts between Sigma Chi and Delta Psi and Delta Kappa Epilus and Phi Kappa Alpha.

Squashmen to Play

Action resumes today on the squash courts with the usual enthusiasm as spring's warming climate does its thing. The courts are back and the players are back.

The Quaker quintet will be playing against the various Ivy League schools including the number one man, Phil O'Neal, and Mike Adams, both having been mentioned for Brown Slot.

3 Mentioned for Brown Slot

by Alan White

John C. McLaughry, head football coach of Brown College, is reported to be the leading candidate for the position of Alva Kelby, who left Monday after a one-year period as head coach of the Tigers.

The McLaughry, son of ex-Dartmouth coach Tom McLaughry, graduated from Brown in 1942 and has been in his present position at Albright for the past nine years.

Also being mentioned for the position are Vic Fasula, backfield coach at Pitt, Paul Ruff, who held the same job at Brown and Yale, and Tom Davis, former backfield coach for the Bears.

The Bruins are also shopping around to replace Carl Schottke, who has resigned to the staff of ex-Penn backfield coach George Trelop with the St. Louis, Missouri, Western Canadian Interprovincial Football League.

Under Schottke's skilled hand, Brown's line play was outstanding during his three-year tenure, each year of which the Bears compiled winning record.

In 1957, the Bruins ranked 15th in the nation in rushing defense, and first in the Ivy League.

That year, Schottke took over the Brown for the last eight years, during which his squad compiled an overall record of 30-16-2. He had winning records for four of the last five years and last year the Bruins had a 6-4 log, including a 21-20 defeat at the hands of the Quakers.

This year Kelley had to rely on the noses of his seniors, including All Ivy linebacker Frank Miller, and the last two freshmna have yielded little on the field.

At Colgate, he will be replacing Fred Rice, who has compiled a 4-5 career record over the last two campaigns and last season the Red Raiders were able to top only Bucknell in nine contests.

WHO SAID IT FIRST?
A column of incidental intelligence
by Jockey brand

"WOLF IN SHEEP'S CLOTHING" Bible scholars know that this expression wasn't born with Red Riding Hood. It's from Matthew, VII, 15.

"MADE FELLOW WELLS MEF" We consider this description a compliment today, but it didn't start out that way at all. The original is in Jonathan Swift's "My Lady's Lamentation."

"MARY HAD A LITTLE LAMB" If you think this familiar poem is authentic Mother Goose, think again. Nobody knows who wrote Mother Goose, but your librarian will tell you that Sarah Josepha Hale composed the stanzas about Mary and her academic lamb way back in 1830.
