Dr. Haun Submits Resignation As Assistant Dean Of Men, Director Of Men's Residences
Teacher, Administrator To Assume New Position As Associate Dean Of Men At Cornell University

Dr. F. Eugent Haun, University student, teacher, administrator and confidant of thousands of male residents for the past 11 years has submitted his resignation as assistant dean of men, director of men's residences, effective September 1.

Dr. Haun will assume new duties as associate dean of men at Cornell University next fall.

In accepting Dr. Haun's letter of resignation, Gene D. Guise, University Glee Club, University for student affairs, called the resignation a "benevolent act on the part of the University family." Guise expressed complete confidence in Dr. Haun for his substantial contribution to the welfare of the University. Simultaneously, George B. Peters, dean of men, expressed regret, while conveying congratulations to Dr. Haun on his new appointment.

Relations Are Personal
Among those who expressed appreciation of Dr. Haun's relations with residents have been on a more personal basis than at most universities and colleges where resident directors deal exclusively with the problem of housing, divorced from student affairs.

Dr. Haun was appointed assistant dean of men as director of men's residences in 1929. At the time his support with residents gained him the respect and personal confidence of the University students.

In January of 1956, shortly after his appointment, Dr. Haun was the subject of severe criticism by University newspapers which reported his death to several local hospitals, and the appearance of an authentic

College Humor: Workshop of Wit

by Warren Link

The college humor magazine has changed over the years. Perfectly at home in the hip-flashedbonedness of the '20s, college humor was monuments of prose, columns of ra w and racy, published in the '50s and '60s, was a well-organized and quite different world from the one in which it had come to the world from the one in which it had come. A man named Warren Link has been able to put together a book of college humor that is both entertaining and informative, and which is a must-read for anyone interested in the history of college humor.

The book begins with a history of college humor in America, tracing its origins back to the early 19th century. It then goes on to describe the various forms of college humor that have been popular over the years, from the humor columns of the late 19th century to the college humor magazines of the 20th century.

One of the most interesting parts of the book is the section on the humor magazines of the 20th century. The book describes the various publishers and editors who have been involved in college humor publications, and the stories of their ventures into the world of college humor.

One of the most interesting aspects of the book is the way it captures the spirit of college humor and the people who have been involved in it. The book is a must-read for anyone interested in the history of college humor, and a testament to the enduring power of the college humor tradition.
The Warden

The Irish-covered brick of English College buildings sprang from 38th and Spruce to 39th and Woodland is due to lose a bit of its soul come the fall term. Dr. F. Eugene Haun, the able, social director of men's residence, will be leaving his duties at the Men's Dormitories and as if the George Whipple statute were to disappear overnight, the dorms just won't be the same.

We first got to know Dr. Haun in those summer days and frantic nights that were the fall of our freshman year. We freshmen were his main concern, I suppose, as he courageously endured Freshman Common food with us each night.

A man who would suffer this way for the freshmen must have integrity, and a selfless devotion to his work, he figured, and the more he saw of Dr. Haun, the more this was demonstrated in situations far more challenging.

Of course, Dr. Haun was our chief disciplinarian during our freshman and upperclass years. The quelling of an incipient rowbottom by a Haun-coached-and-led team of dorm advisors would always be a tour de force of organizational skill and we often speculated that Dr. Haun would be an exemplary prison warden as well as a dormitory head.

In the casual student-like attitude he sometimes wore, Dr. Haun could walk through the Big Quad, skirt around the outside of a huddle of freshmen and pass for just another student. At heart, he was just one more student living in the dorms, a buddy to whom nearly everyone could turn, an advisor of University discipline who could be seen when he had to be but who truly enjoyed having him around. We are sorry to see Dr. Haun leave the dormitories; he will be taking part of our undergraduate memories along with him.

Campus Politics

The "student body" has just elected next year's class officers. Although they are the product of a corrupt and decadent political structure, they now have within their power the means to correct the evils which have been so evident during the last few months.

As we see that each new slate of officers is always urged to improve upon the system which elected them, but nothing is ever done beyond paying lip service to the ideals of good government.

As members of next year's Undergraduate Council, the three new class presidents must find a solution to the problems of "dirty" politics. There should be no need to bring this matter to anyone's attention, for the evils are evident to those beholding to look behind the smoke screen of legitimacy manufactured for Election Day.

However, the system has now progressed to the point where it is robbing student government of what little respectability it appears to have left. How can we expect the administration to give responsibility to the products of a system which makes the old Tammany Hall look like the League of Women Voters?

We wish the new presidents luck. They are going to need it.

Strike Up The Band

Whether the student body knows it or not, a concert band and orchestra exist on campus. They struggle because they lack prestige. At one time the University Band was one of the best college bands in the East. When its allotment of funds to honor men, women, veterans, etc., was cut, the attractiveness of the band to good musicians (which Penn has plenty of) went up. Now the University has given the band funds to build itself up to the position it once held. But still the best musicians are not attracted by it.

What about a band concert in front of College Hall one night? Soon a week in the spring? This would certainly put the band before the student body. If the administration, D.P., W.T.P., positively advertise the concert, and the band members themselves put forth a concerted effort to publicize the concert, instrumental music at Penn might once again enjoy the prestige it once had. Let's bring music back to the Penn campus.

We feel that the above, which was received as a Letter to the Editor, is deserving of considerable support. This would be an excellent method in which students could use their new-found campus which has been slowly restored through the combined efforts of administration and City.

We hope that someone will make a concrete effort to establish band concerts and, of course, we pledge our resources to the cause.

Spirited Frosh Nine Beats Valley Forge To Take Fifth Win

After a number of compelling opportunities in the early innings, the impressive Princeton Frosh, sneaking over the Valley Forge baseball squad broke through for four runs in the seventh and two in the eighth to swamp Valley Forge by a 9-2 score yesterday afternoon at Murphy Field.

Third baseman Doug McKay and right fielder Mike Tolan knocked four runs apiece to pace the Penn attack. An error by the Heymann bolstered the middle three innings to pick up the first two runs of the game. Jimmy Grady suffered the loss for Valley Forge.

Favored by a whirl-pitch and an error, Valley Forge hung in to a 2-2 tie through three beforeDoug McKay and Mike Tolan knocked a run-producing single for two runs in the top of the first. An error by Heymann opened the scoring. In the top of the second, Phil Green pitched Dave Powell, along with Heymann and third baseman Mike Paschke, blanked the Academy the rest of the way.

In the decisive seventh, with the Quakers leading 5-2, Mike Binger opened the bottom half of the inning with a hit, he was placed down the third base line and was bunted to second. On the next play, Tommy Bidelman was out at first, and Heymann was caught in a rundown. Stiffened up by the hit, Pinky Biegel opened the middle three innings to pick up the first two runs of the game. Jimmy Grady suffered the loss for Valley Forge.

The Frosh Eleven, supported by 3,500 fans, broke through for four runs in the seventh and two in the eighth to swamp Valley Forge by a 9-2 score yesterday afternoon at Murphy Field.

Nine Nips Swarthmore, 7-6: Meets Villanova Tomorrow

by Harvey Stein

Although Penn pitcher Jerry Washington from Weirton, West Virginia, has been a consistent pitcher for the Quakers, the play on the second half of their team's season's winning streak of seven games going on by the beard. The late victory dropped a close one over Swarthmore, 7-6, on Saturday.

The Quakers took the second half of their home and

Novice Netmen Fail

Princeton University's freshman tennis team upset the Quaker freshmen, 7-2, in a match played yesterday afternoon.

Perry's number one man, Bill Reynolds, was defeated for the first time this season. Dave Powell, 6-3, 6-2, to the Quaker's number one man, Doyon Nemer.

The Red and Blue scored its first victory of the afternoon in the six singles, when Asher won a hard-fought match over the Orange and Black's Jeff McLean, 4-6, 7-5, 6-4.

The other Princeton players in the double, John Kent and Roger Schrauer, knocked off a team of Al Way and Zahn Trimming in straight sets, 6-4, 6-2.

Tyro Stickmen Battle Dragans For Fourth Win

Don Gullaghe, Princeton's freshman squash player, scored a victory over Swarthmore's fourth editor, 3-2, in a match played yesterday afternoon.

The Lion's number one man, Bill Reynolds, was defeated for the first time this season. Dave Powell, 6-3, 6-2, to the Quaker's number one man, Doyon Nemer.

The Red and Blue scored its first victory of the afternoon in the six singles, when Asher won a hard-fought match over the Orange and Black's Jeff McLean, 4-6, 7-5, 6-4.

The other Princeton players in the double, John Kent and Roger Schrauer, knocked off a team of Al Way and Zahn Trimming in straight sets, 6-4, 6-2.

Gordy Acilices

Went off to a shaky start when the first barrel batter reached first on Bubonic's error. After two singles loaded the bases, a passed ball by Shawn enabled the runner to score but Wood loaded there again with a walk to Swarthmore's cleanup batter. Hank Staut for two unloaded the bases with triple and scored on a sacrifice fly for the Garnet's 6th run of the inning.

Shane batted in what turned out to be the winning run in the sixth inning. With one out, Achilles led off with a single of the afternoon and advanced to second on a pickoff of Shane. Shane then hit Achilles home for his third run of the game and tied it quite a welcome to the 8-run Quakers.

Other good signs were: three hits, their high of the season and only 3 Bed and Blue batters returned to the bench by way of strikes.

Wood (5-9) walked two Swarthmore batters and gave up 12 hits while striking out six. If McLean can continue to pitch the combination of offense and defense, the Garnet's Win next start will be Tuesday against Temple.

The City's Citadell, Penn, will try to drop Villanova into see the Irregulars in the Big Fire. After defeating Penn Monday, the Wildcat's Series record at 2 and 2 will also try to reverse the 5-0 loss on Monday.

In the Series to come, Gordy Acilices and Ed Shaw collected 77 of the Quaker’s 12 hits. Acilices made his start into a happy one as he drove home three of Penn's singles using a triple and a single run with a triple. Starting behind the plate in place of injured ace Bob Biegel, Shaw flew after flying out to center field hit his first time at bat, hit a two run triple in the fifth inning to tie the score and scored the lone run on "Tommy" Campbell's single.

Penn Racquetmen Beaten By Princeton 6-1 Match

Penn's variety tennis squad (5-4) received a surprising 6-1 yesterday afternoon, as upset Princeton contingent scored a 7-4 upset on the victorious home court.

The Quakers managed to earn only two singles victories as the Orange and Black Racquetmen roared over the Penn team. Ken Lehrman was new to top two spots for this encounter, defeated Princeton's Bob Anderson, 6-4, 6-2. Penn's Gretenwald was victorious in the number six singles, triumphed Ed Miller in straight sets, 6-1, 6-1.

Penn Win Two Singles

The Tiger's captain, Dave Brem- mer, who was moved up to the number one singles position, defeated John Mangen. Bremer dropped the first set, 6-4, and then came back to win the second, 6-2, to top Mangen, 6-2, 6-2. Bob Bohlin, playing in the two singles for the Quaker squad, received his worst defeat of the campaign to Tom Richardson, 6-1, 6-2. Babino was to meet for the third time, the younger brother of Hamilton Richardson, who was moved down to the two spot for this contest.

Tigers Take Doubles

Bremer and Anderson, in the two doubles post for the Tigers, defeated Maughan and Nelson, 6-4, 6-4. The Orange and Black's Sumble double beat Howell Frieder in the third singles, 7-5, 6-4.

In the remaining singles encounters, the Tiger's Bob Lown topped Bert Berkman in straight sets, 6-4, 6-4. Berkich was moved over to the忘记了 and Green due to the fact that he was defeated by Lehrman in a challenge match on Tuesday.

The second and third doubles en- counterers were taken by the Orange and Black in straight sets. Richardon and Hinkle topped League, 6-4, 6-3, for the third time in a row and Van Amsterga won without a contest, 6-3, 6-0.

Drexel Lacrosse Team Routs Quakers In Penn-Del Action
by Leonard Bogen

You can't win if you don't vote, and the Drexel lacrosse team has little trouble in outscoring the Red and Blue by a 5-2 count yesterday, under the hot sun at the Dragon's athletic field.

It was the same story as usual for the Quakers as they controlled the ball as much as the opposition, but failed to organize their attack and hit the Drexel nets. They pressed the Dragon's goalie, Ron Waltz, but the Penn stickmen didn't take the good shots needed to score.

Coach Monk Matthews warned his starting offense by inserting Jimmy Cane and John Bryson in the first attack along with Frank Mann in hopes of adding more strength to the Quakers' pointless offense. However, this line failed to produce and the entire game was done by the first line.

Drexel's lacrossemen easily gained their fourth Penn-Del League victory against a lone defeat at the Quakers. (3-4-6) for the second time in league action to go along with one victory, Penn's lacrosse team, which last season gained all four of its victories in

Penn Keglers Top State;

Outstanding performances by two Penn bowlers and a victory by the varisty team highlighted recent events in Quaker bowling.

Having missed the opening round of the Eastern Intercollegiate Bowling Tournament in New York because of an ankle injury, Mark Posnick was forced to bowl 52 games within eight hours to reach the semi-finals of a tournament of over 210 entries.

In spite of the heavy workload, Posnick just missed qualifying for the finals by the margin of three and average per game.

Another stellar pin-knocking job was credited to Nick Stuart, who averaged 240 per game in leading Penn to a 4-1 win over Penn State. His four consecutive strikes at the start of the first game helped send the Quakers into the second round with a 5-pin lead.

The second game with the Nittany Lions saw the Red and Blue total up its high score of the year, 1914 pins, with Posnick bowling the high game with 312.

Van Dyke sandwiched his first two markers around Glading's tally, which was set up by Phil Finn, to give the Dragons a 2-1 advantage at the end of the first half. Van Dyke and Ager matched goals in the second quarter to make the score 5-5 at half-time.

Drexel scored up the contest in the second half with four more scores, although at times the play was very sloppy on the part of both teams. Gary Braun, Dave Zimmermann twice and Al Rosenberg scored for the Engineers' bench-side goal-keepers, while Nick Palermo picked up three assists.

Van Dyke's Dave Van Dyke caused Penn goalie, Dave Butten, no end of trouble as he tallled three times and added two assists. Captain Bob Ager and Pete Glading accounted for the two Quaker goals, the fourth score for each midfielder on the season.
