Senior Dance Planned At Local Country Club

A Senior Class Dinner Dance at a suburban country club will highlight the evening following Hey Day exercises, Friday, May 20, class vice-president Bernard E. Berlinger has announced.

The newly-constructed Warrington Country Club in Bucks County will be the site of the affair, modeled after the highly successful dinner dance given for the class of 1960. Bob Barry, his elevation orchestra and a vocal ensemble, when featured for your likes, will supply the music.

This year's Dinner Dance promises to be the finest social event sponsored by the Class of 1960," Berlinger said, "as well as being the final undergraduate event for class members. All in all, it will make a week-end affair to remember in combination with the Franklin Field Mardi Gras the following day.

Tickets for the Dinner Dance will go on sale shortly after Spring Vacation and will be priced at $1.00 per couple. This includes a duffy and dance charge.

Berlinger also used of the provisions made during the facilities during the club event.

The club will hold no new outdoor parties for the Dinner Dance, be held.

The Warrington Country Club's meeting room which will be open to class members during the afternoon at discounted fees, Berlinger stated.

Tickets may be bought from the Dance Committee, directed by John T. Jacob, class president; Allen F. Scott, class vice-president; and Richard Black, treasurer. 1961, who are not yet registered, their fees are requested to be as soon as possible. Fee statements may be dropped into the mail sacks in Bennett Hall, Pulaski Hall, and the Towers Building.

Endgame's Casting Continues Tonight

Auditions for Endgame, a play by Samuel Beckett, will continue tonight from 6 to 10 p.m. in the Main Auditorium.

Endgame will be presented in the Main Hall Auditorium on May 10, 11, 12, and 13. The assistant professor of English, will be the director of the play. Additional copies of the play are in the Science Library, 10510 Wood St., and the English Department.

Endgame is a dramatic presentation that deals with the suffering of human existence and the death and suffering of the man's mind. The play has four characters, three of which are condensed to a wheelchair, his companion, and the fourth, who has been left to live out their remaining days in a cellphone.

Academic Cheating Viewed By Hotel In Wash. Speech

by Philip S. Carich

Speaking before the White House Conference on Children and Youth last week, Dr. Albina K. Hetzel, former Department of Women at the University, said, "Academic cheating ... from the standpoint of too many students is in all right unless it is caught." She added, "I regret that a few faculty members apparently appear to believe in current newspaper reports.

In an interview with The Daily Pennsylvanians, Dr. Hetzel stated that she was not referring to members of the University faculty, but to the recent reports of the finest college on cheating at Columbia University. The problem of cheating is still a universal problem which must be dealt with.

Dr. Hetzel, appraising the values and ideals of young people, said, "We are interested in their [young people's] values and the dominant values of the American student and also their personal values. The things that matter most, the criteria by which they make their judgments and their responses are adapted from the great philosophical and great responses are adapted from the great philosophies of the present that are closest to their own."

In this university society the faculty would be the great change and the student change and cheating.

Undergrad Decrees Elections

by Richard L. Lebovich

Robert E. Menour, secretary of the Undergraduate Council, stated in an interview with The Daily Pennsylvanians, yesterday that he would like to see the end of party-run elections when students go to the polls to elect their class officers next month.

Speaking as an official candidate at chairman of the Council's Election Committee, Menour declared that although elections have been in the past been "two-party affairs," the constitution of the Undergraduate Council says that more under- graduate students may run for the various offices. Students, he stated, have not been aware of this fact.

Candidates File Petitions

To be eligible for election, a student must first submit a petition from the Dean of Men's Office, 117 Logan Hall. He must pay the petition signed by 50 members of his fraternity. A candidate must also secure a copy of election rules available from Mr. Merrow of Mr. Merrow, and agree to abide by them fully.

Merrow said that all petitions must be returned to 117 Logan Hall by May 10. Campaigning for the presidency and secretary-treasurer of each class, all persons who wish to run for office must declare the position they are interested in.

Senate Three-Vote Combined

Another change in class elections will be the elimination of the separate offices of secretary and treasurer. These positions will be combined into a single position of class officer. Therefore, the June elections will be solely for the issue of the Junior Class, of which there is President, President-elect, and Secretary-elect. The latter has the power to make it quite clear that any male undergraduate who is 20 years of age as of May 3 and 4; the Wagman, sophomore, and junior classes, respectively.

In past elections there have only been a few general candidates for the offices of each race. The candidate receiving the most votes becomes president of his class; the candidate with the second highest number of votes was vice president, and so on. Under the present system of offices, the candidate with the second highest number is junior president and secretary-treasurer of each class. All persons who wish to run for office must state the position they are interested in.

Student Union Decrees Elections

As in the past, the Student Union will take place on May 3, 4 and 5 in the Union, sophomore, and junior classes, respectively.

In past elections there have only been a few general candidates for the offices of each race. The candidate receiving the most votes becomes president of his class; the candidate with the second highest number of votes is vice president, and so on. Under the present system of offices, the candidate with the little "tale" will be the junior president and secretary-treasurer of each class. All persons who wish to run for office must state the position they are interested in.

Remapping Report

Editor, The Daily Pennsylvanian:

I was very much interested in the article on remapping the city for the sake of its students. Such a plan would definitely bring about a positive change in the city. I hope that the city officials will take this suggestion into consideration.

Yours sincerely,

Editorial

For an organization that has taken great pride in its contributions to the city, the Daily Pennsylvanian's recent editorial is disappointing. The article on remapping the city is a step in the right direction, but it does not address the core issues that affect the city's residents. I hope that the Daily Pennsylvanian will continue to publish articles that address these issues.

The University's School of Social Work sponsored a panel discussion on "Why Social Work Education? Who Profits? Who Pays?" Sunday night at a dinner meeting in the Staley Hotel.

Professor Gaylord F. Kantrow, in his brief introductory address, stated that the significance of the meeting was that "educators and practitioners are being joined by lay members of the community who give their time and energies to the myriad of social welfare agencies serving the Philadelphia area.

Dr. R. E. Boyer, dean of the University's School of Social Work, told executives and board members of field work agencies that the specific purpose of education for social work is "to prepare students for the immediate use of their knowledge and themselves in the professional practice of social work.

She then gave the 100 distinguished listeners attending the dinner a full explanation of the purpose and theory of field work, and also explained how social work education equips the worker for practical field work, by giving the student a thorough knowledge of: (1) the processes of growth and behavior; (2) social institutions; (3) social work's own distinctive methods, whose essence is the use of human relationships toward the release of human power for social good." Dr. Santley affirmed her belief in the basic worth of social work in her statement: "... if it does its job, all of society and every individual within it profits.

Mary Richardson Dilworth, the second speaker on the panel, spoke about the "Significance to the Community of Professionally Qualified Staff in Social Welfare Agencies.

Attorney Robert Landis, president of the board of the Children's Aid Society of Pennsylvania, considered the "Significance of Professionally Qualified Staff to the Operating Agency."

The executive director of the Jewish Family Service of Philadelphia, Benjamin S. Sprafkin, concluded the evening's discussion by defining the problems, problems, and values of "Being a Field Work Agency for the School of Social Work."

Exhibit Opens
"Earth and Man", the central theme of a geological exhibit sponsored by the Bennett Union Board, opens today in the Bennett Lounges. It will be shown from 9 a.m. to 10 p.m. until April 5th.

What does the internal structure of the earth look like? What use has man made of these natural gifts? These and other questions that will be answered at the exhibit.

Specimens of the earth's different layers, unusual minerals and the raw forms of many birthstones will be included in the display.

Dr. Goodwin of the Geology Department and Mr. Martinich of the Bennett Union Board are in charge of the exhibit.

Art Talk Is Today
The second of the Bi-monthly Bumper Lectures series sponsored by the School of Fine Arts will be given by Dr. Vincent J. Reilly, Jr., of Yale University in Auditorium A of the Physical Science Building.

Dr. Goodwin will discuss "Modern Plastic Art and Its Influence on Today's World."

Campus Events
Rogers To Speak
Professor Neville Rogers of Birmingham University, England, will present a lecture entitled "Shelley Today" this afternoon at 4, in the Bennett Hall Lounge.

Professor Rogers has published many magazine articles on his subject, Shelley. His book "Shelley at Work," was published in 1930. Last fall, he was a visiting professor at the University of Michigan, and this spring will conduct lectures at Washington University in St. Louis.

The year spent in this country has interrupted his latest work, the reprinting of the Oxford University Press' edition of Shelley's works, which is the official edition of Shelley.

Soft' Youths Chided By Ike
by Lester Shafro
In a recent news conference President Eisenhower commented that American youth has grown "soft and hollistered" by the desire for comfort handed down by their parents.

The comments were made in the light of Congressional investigations and conferences on the American adolescent. They seem to express the feelings of hundreds of parents who responded to a Ripoff-Howard editorial discussing the situation of youth in our country.

The President pointed out that most young people go to school in buses and in automobiles if they have to walk more than four or five blocks. Meanwhile, the President added, children in Europe not only walk to school, but take frequent bicycling trips throughout the countryside.

The key to the President's concern was his reference to a physical fitness test given a few years ago to 15,000 students in the U.S. and 5,000 European youths. The results of this test were in the President's words "very depressing and alarming."

The exhibit opens Thursday, April 21, at 8:00 P.M.

Penn Lacrossmen Bow To Beavers

In Opening Match

By Lawrence Lazarus

The exciting 50-minute first-half event was won by Illi with a 20-20 tie. Prescott Hattfman and Bill Donnel came in the fourth with one point each, respectively.

The composite scores of the individual undisclosed cylinders were tallied, and Delta Kappa Epsilon was the unexpected winner by a 10 point margin with a 10 point lead, followed by Delta Upsilon just behind with 9 points, and Delta Psi and Phi Delta Eta tied for third place with six points.

In the 50-point first-half, Owen Burton finished first with a 20-20 tie, Prescott Hattfman and Bill Donnel came in in the fourth with one point each, respectively.

James Rosenzweig finished first in the 50-point breaststroke at a 2:30. The score was held by the Illinois and Rutger secured the third and fourth points.

Playing first in the 200-yard freestyle was Larry Greenwall with an astonishing 1:46.19, followed by Dave Regan and Bob Reisenberg.

The exhausting 50-yard butterfly event was won by Bill Tracy with a 20-20 tie, followed by Donal J. Winn who captured the second and third positions respectively. Pocketed in the 100-yard backstroke was Frank Green and Ben Gale.

The 50-yard backstroke was first place in the 50-yard backstroke with a 31.03 time, closely followed by Bill Bradley and Bill Green with a 31.05. (Continued on page five)

Reisinger Forakes Togetherness

By Robert A. Bakhmian

Boy Reisinger returned to the Quaker track scene Saturday and seemed to develop an aura toward the future as one of the leading competitors, as he solidified his place in the one and two-mile ranks, while leading the Quakers to a 7:14-1:55-1:56 victory over West Chester State College.

The Quakers, who have now won the Quaker by a minute to first place, Bandy, here-anop to the throne of new graduated Carol Price, put the 50 point lead in the two-mile and tied the dual meet on the way to a 177:7:4 best.

With teammates Ernie Transue unable to participate in the distance events the Quaker eyes turn towards tomorrow's meet as they hope to offer some point requests for tomorrow's meet, led by a 177:7:4 best. The test as it a five 3-30 placing the mile event, and a 10-12-2 in the two-mile, each scoring 10 points.

Two Of Top-Notch Half-Milers Sign To Run In Penn Relays

By Michael S. Brown

Tom Murphy, the United States' most promising Olympic prize, in the 800 meter run, has agreed to enter the Penn Relays in a special invitational half-mile race Saturday, April 10, as part of the 50th annual Penn Relays.

In making the announcement of Murphy's acceptance, Relay 4, 25-year-old Kenneth Doherty stressed the keen competition which would be held.

In the double elimination last year, Seiferheld had already been enough to run the 800 meter mile while Gordon had run an 1:57.25 mile at the Penn Relays. Seiferheld on his own record.

Seiferheld Capture 1-M Squash Title

Dave Seiferheld defeated Gordon for the second straight year yesterday afternoon at the Thomas Kings Square Community Center's annual squash championship.

In the championship, the first-seeded Tom Seiferheld moved through the field with ease, establishing a victory margin of 15 points, and 10 points to the top seeded opponent, who would not win the first match until the third game, winning it 17-15, 17-15, 17-15, 17-15, 17-15.

Doubles Match Clinches Win
As Netmen Whip Nittany Lions

by Steve A. Lief

Penn continued to show its dominance over Penn State, at least on the tennis court, as they whipped the Nittany Lions for the eighth time this season by a margin of 1-4-3 at State College, Pa., Saturday afternoon.

Despite the win it was an uphill battle all the way for the Quakers, as the home team proved victorious in three of the first four singles matches. Thus, faced with a 3-1 deficit, the Quakers finally broke the logjam of themselves and scored back in the final two singles matches and the doubles contests to eek out the decision.

"Big Three" Forsaken

In a move that surprised almost everyone on the court, coach Al Molloy forskew his "Big Three", Bert Berkwich, Keny Lehman, and Bill Reynolds, to go with captain Joe Vinn Anderson in the number one match of the afternoon.

However, this strategic maneuver did not work out advantageously, as the blood youngster from Franklin, N. Y. could not contain his opposing number and was defeated 6-3, 6-2 by Jerry Carey.

The second match proved to be quite another story, as Reynolds was able to outclass Dick Ludwig 7-5, 6-3. With the score of the first set all even at five games apiece, Reynolds broke through Ludwig's service and held his own for the victory. The second set, as seen by the score, was a fairly easy win for the Penn sophomore.

Nittany Lion Wine Marathon

The next contest highlighted the afternoon's play with the longest and most heart rendering set of the day, which was played between Lehman and Jim Baker. The first set went to the Penn Stater, 6-7; however, Lehman came back strong in the second to win 7-6. The rubber set, however, was a dogfight all the way with Ludwig finally breaking through in the 26th game to win the marathon, 15-11.

In the final three singles matches Penn was triumphant in two of them, as Russ Cleveland and John Kent defeated John Kraft and Vance Max, respectively, while Dutch Knauer was topped by John Blank.

However, it was victory in the first two doubles contests that clinched the victory for the Quakers. Knauer-Lehman resuemed their dominating position in doubles competition from last year, when they were 5-1, as they decisively beat Russ and Garry Moore 6-3, 6-6.

Although they had somewhat more trouble with their opponents, Amerongen and Berkwich rolled to a 6-3, 6-4 win to punch the win for Penn. The final doubles match between the teams of Reynolds and Cleveland, and Carp and Baker was halted at the end of two sets with the count tied at one apiece between Darkness and Rain.

The Quakers next face Drexel on April 9.

and their chances clinched the title in fourth and fifth places.

The 300-yard freestyle was won by Boyton who previously placed first in the 90-yard freestyle. Fred Stiefel and Ken Strehlow followed in the second and third spots.

Delta Kappa Epsilon again started their campaign with a bang, taking the 200-yard freestyle in 1:53. Phi Gamma Delta finished second and Tau Delta third, Beta Theta Pi, and Phi Kappa Sigma next.

The students attempt to obtain material graduation is caused by social, economic pressures on youth, stated Dr. Hoffel. She added, "Only a minority escape the pressures."

Dr. Hoffel ended with saying, "That is a society which isolates its goals, with much of the individual and offer many not offer much in return, as expected, and encourage higher aspirations than any before it."
