The Young Republicans on campus will present the five Philadelphia Congressional Republican candidates at 6 p.m. today in the West Lounge of Houston Hall.

Although the format is up to the candidates, the Young Republicans feel that each may deliver a short speech and participate in an open discussion.

Bells A Candidate

Alvin J. Bello, lawyer, is the Republican candidate from the first district. A graduate of Temple University and the law school of that university, Mr. Bello is a member of the Knights of Columbus and the Sons of Italy. Formerly he was assistant city solicitor, special assistant state attorney general, and regional attorney for urban renewal.

Second district candidate is Melvin C. Howell, president of the West Philadelphia Young Republicans Club. Having been graduated from Virginia University and Temple University School of Pharmacaries, Mr. Howell is now a member of the American Pharmaceutical Association.

Possession Of 3d District

John J. Posserina, Jr., also a lawyer, is running for Congress in the third district. He is a graduate of Temple University and Temple University Law School, where he was president of the Temple Law Quarterly and vice-president of his class. Presently, he is a member of several philanthropic organizations, including the Philadelphia Community Council, the Prisoners Family Welfare Association, and the National Association of Claimants Counsel.

Another member of the bar, James R. Cavanaugh wants to represent the fourth district. An attorney-examiner in the State Insurance Department, he is a vice-president of his class.

LBJ Barker Conversation

According to Barker, Johnson gave the impression that "there was a great amount of sincerity behind his desire to know what makes students 'tick.' President Johnson gave an overwhelming image of warmth and interest when he talked to you personally." When Johnson asked Barker what he thought the majority of students felt about the present administration, Barker said that "the present Democratic government is following in the course of American social and political history since the 1930's." Barker stated that the way Johnson responded, he assumes that this response was fairly typical of those made by the representatives of other Eastern universities. Barker also stated that he was surprised that the affair turned out to be fairly non-political as he had earlier expected Johnson to ask the various representatives, whom most were heads of student governments, to endorse him in his re-election campaign. However, no appeals for support were made throughout the evening.

Johnson Announces Fellows Program

The affair began in the early evening with a short address by President Johnson at which he announced the formation of the White House Fellows Program, a program whereby 15 men between the ages of 28 and 35, will be selected to participate in the administration for a period of 15 months.

Police Arrest Two Students For Vandalism

Two University students were arrested early Friday morning on a charge of malicious mischief and released on $500 bail, according to Dean of Men Robert P. Longley.

The two men, whose names were not disclosed, were reported breaking antennas and mirrors on cars along Locust Street, at about 5:20 a.m. Friday.

Dean Longley said he would take no action in the case until after the trial.

Police at the 1st Precinct, 30th and Pine Streets, said the case went from the Magistrates Court to the hands of the District Attorney's Office, with the trial set for the future. This might not take place for two to six months, they said.

Police radio dispatcher T. S. Glass and Tommie Johnson, a member of the University's football team, were also arrested early Friday on charges of malicious mischief.

Richardson Dilworth, former Mayor of Philadelphia, will not address the Connaissance meeting tomorrow night. Richard E. Hainer, director of Connaissance, announced that Dilworth canceled because he has been called to Washington by President Johnson and "we cannot compete with the President of the United States."

BLATT'S FARM PROGRAM BLASTED

READING, Pa. - Sen. Hugh Scott said Monday night that his "apparent opponent, Democrat Genevieve Blatt, supports a farm policy that "taxes bread, punishes Pennsylvania farmers, and provides one federal employee for every 30 farms in America."

The Republican candidate for re-election, in remarks prepared for the Berks County GOP rally here said:

"Throughout my 22 years in Congress I have consistently voted the high-parity, high-tax, high-surplus farm proposals of every national administration. I voted to save billions of our tax dollars which government bureaucrats wanted to spend for more overloaded warehouses.

"But my apparent opponent is not interested either in reducing government expenditures or in saving our tax money. She supports the national administration's farm policy that is oriented toward western and southern farm states and that is so hurtful to our Commonwealth."

Scott's reference to Miss Blatt as an "apparent opponent" was the continuing court fight waged by her opponent for the Democratic nomination, state Supreme Court Justice Michael A. Musmanno.

VATICAN PASSES UNITY MEASURE

VATICAN CITY - By an overwhelming vote, the Vatican Ecumenical Council approved Monday part of a draft decree aimed at unifying Christians.

The worldwide assembly of Roman Catholic prelates in St. Peter's Basilica agreed the Church must share with others guilt for discords that split Christianity over the ages. The prelates also acted to exhort all Catholics to take an active personal part in healing differences by bettering their own relations with other Christians.

These measures were approved in voting on a decree spelling out a profoundly new Roman Catholic approach to achieving closer ties with Orthodox, Protestants and Anglicans.

The measures were part of the first chapter in the crucial Schema "de Occumenismo" or ecumenism - or unit which Popes John XXIII and Paul VI declared "an ultimate aim of the council."

NATIONAL

SCARON TOURS FOR BARBY

HARRISBURG - Gov. Scranton begins his third out-of-state campaign tour Tuesday on behalf of the national Goldwater-Miller Republican ticket.

Scranton's itinerary takes him to Rhode Island and Connecticut Tuesday, Ohio and Maryland Wednesday, and Chicago Thursday.

The Chicago schedule was not firm yet.

NO BAKER HEARING

WASHINGTON - Chances faded Monday for pre-election hearings on a Republican senator's charge of a political payoff in the Bobby Baker case.

Only Chairman B. Everett Jordan, D-N.C., and Sen. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., showed up for a meeting of the Senate Rules Committee, directed by the Senate last month to reopen its Baker investigation.

Cooper had planned to offer a motion to have Baker, resigned secretary to the Senate's Democratic majority; former Ambassador Matthew McCloskey, and other key figures called to testify later this week or the first of next week.

No business could be transacted however, in the absence of a quorum of five of the committee's nine members. The absentees will be checked to see if a meeting can be arranged for next week.

PHONE BAD SPELARS

LONDON - A dictionary for people who can't spell is out now.

It is called - The Awful Spellers' Dictionary. By arranging several thousand commonly misspelled words according to their wrong spelling, the new dictionary claims it has eliminated a big stumbling block from the path of poor spellers.

It goes on the theory that if you can't spell a word, it's doubly difficult to look it up in a regular dictionary. So, look it up the way it sounds, and there will be the correct spelling.

For instance:

If you think it's Rinocerus, look it up under that spelling and you'll find correct spelling - rhinoceros.

Here are some other examples:

Fenominal - Phenomenal.

Spanyer - Spaniard.

Cookoo - Cuckoo.

Grewsum - Gruesome.
The Second Man

One very important superiority that President Lyndon Johnson has over Senator Barry Goldwater is the fact that he has served under Presidents Hubert Humphrey as his running mate.

The position of second place on a national ticket has always been a potentially dangerous one, and President Humphrey has demonstrated this in every area of governmental activity. Concerned with questions of labor and welfare, or with the plight of the rural, or with urban problems, Humphrey has excelled in the introduction of enlightened legislation and the practical maneuvering of getting it through the Congress. A leader in the fight for revisions of the tax-base treaty and, like Senator J. William Fulbright, a knowledgeable and liberal thinker in foreign affairs, Humphrey has been, as one of the oldest and most sensitive observers of the political process says, the soul of the transition-making powers in the formation of executive policy. It is not, as one has observed, because Humphrey has been from the Chief's position, that there are few men in public life better qualified for this office than Senator Humphrey. As the former mayor of Minneapolis, as the veteran of t...
Band Plays N.Y. Fair

The University of Pennsylvania Bands played two concerts Saturday, October 4, before crowds totaling about 4,500 persons.

The bands marched in the opening day parade at The Fair late in the afternoon, but since their scheduled concert was rained out, they returned to the area for an encore at their convenience.

A core of about 3,000 persons listened to an afternoon concert outside The General Motors Pavilion, Ben Franklin, the University’s new mascot, joined with a Quakerette while the crowd played “Sing, Sing, Sing.” At the same concert the bands played a first, the General Motors Festival, special arrangement of General Motors motoring emblems.

That evening the bands played for an estimated 1,500 in the Stadium Bandshell.

The University’s band was featured in Salem, New Jersey’s centenary parade September 12. A week later they played at the Atlantic City convention.

They also performed at the high game and will march at the rest of the University’s home and away football games.

Eleutherians To Sponsor Review Writer

Under the sponsorship of the Eleutherians, a student group Kuehnelt-Leddihn will speak this evening on “National Conservatism and Neo-Liberalism” at 8:00 in the Room of Assembly, Main Building.

Leddihn, European correspondent for the “Conservative” Journal of Opinion, “National Review,” is author of “Liberty or Equality?” a political treatise, in addition to a number of novels and historical studies.

An Austrian by birth, he speaks eight languages and can read sixteen. To gain first-hand information and impressions outside of Europe and the United States, he has made annual trips abroad, both of his own as well as to the Austrian Hemispheric since 1956.

In the United States he has taught at Fordham and George-town University, visited all fifty states, lived on a Nevada reservation, and worked on a factory assembly line. He is the author or the treatise, “America’s Founding Fathers.”

Leddihn received his bachelor degree at the Theological Academy of Vienna where he transferred to the University of Budapest.

Penn Gets 10 Million In Gifts

The University received $30,243,982 in gifts and bequests during its 1963-64 academic year. Contributions for the past decade amount to $857,765,274.

Capital Projects

Nearly two-thirds of the total contributed last year was earmarked for capital projects—building or endowment.

Alumni gave $19,329,765, or 64 per cent of the 1963-64 gifts to the University. Foundations contributed 17 per cent, 25 per cent came from other individual gifts and 12 per cent was provided by corporations.

Giving Paign Pennsylvania’s Alumni Association’s fund raising program met goals in both dollars and donors. Providing funds for current operations, gifts from 26,474 alumni and friends totaled $1,368,477 during 1963-64. This placed Pennsylvania for the fourth year in a row among the handful of American universities which have topped the million dollar mark in an annual alumni appeal.
Letters To The Editor

How Dry I Am

Edwin D. Price
The Daily Pennsylvanian

Once before I was forced to take pen in hand, in order that I may liberate men and women alike from another poor situation. I may liberate men and women that most unholy situation.

Today, I again am forced to take pen in hand, in order that I may liberate men and women alike from another poor situation.

How Dry I Am

Are students to be subjected to the humility of lapsing water like dogs? I say no! And I hope the university will say "no" also.

Dr. Coon did indeed sign the UNESCO statement refuting a biological basis for Racism. That this "marks a major reversal from his former position" is a false statement. Dr. Coon has not altered his opinion. The slanted interpretation given by those thixting by uninformed elements of our society has simply been refuted by this gesture, Coon is not a Racist. To his professionally competent peers no such gesture was required.

That "Dr. Coon's position was seized upon by southern segregationists as justification for their beliefs that the negro is inferior to the white" is a false statement. Segregationists made acetic use of this theory, picking what they could use in support of their warped cause.

Big Red Next Grid foe: Ithacans Are Rebuilding

By JOHN JAFFE

For the 10th time since 1953, a Penn football team takes on its Cornell counterpart this weekend in the Quaker Bowl, traditionally played on Thanksgiving Day. While the Penn men have not beaten the Big Red since 1960, the 17-0 defeat the Ithacans inflicted last year is still fresh in the minds of many Red and Blue rooters.

Wood Goes

Probably most responsible for this vivid memory, as was actually the case in most memorable Cornell games over the past three years, is 220-pound linebacker John Reese, Cornell’s most valuable player. Reese was named to the Quaker Bowl first team backfield for his ability to get through tight corners on defense. He led the Big Red in tackles with 90 and only once got through the line to make a tackle on the end zone.

Choose Golfers

Senior Lee Glick was named yesterday as the fourth member of the Penn golf squad that will be competing at Penn State this Saturday. Glick has been the only consistent member of the team throughout the season.

Princeton Downs Lions Sparked By Iacavazzi

Princeton and Brown opened up their Ivy League season by successfully defeating Columbia and Pennsylvania respectively. The Tigers, behind the grinding rushing of Cosmo Iacavazzi, won Columbia 23-15. In the subsequent, however, Archie Roberts, the Lion’s brilliant quarterback, continued to be impressive by setting several Columbia and Ivy League records. Brown, on the other hand, did not have things so easy, as the Bruins just managed to squeeze by Penn on a field goal late in the fourth period.

ATO Defeats ‘63 Champs In Close 14-12 Victory

Yesterday’s IF Football act saw the 1963 IF champions Delta Tau Delta, lose to the trừness of Alpha Kappa Omega. In a 14-12 victory, which left ATO and KAM, as the only teams with two victories and no defeats, the winning points were scored by Howard Coonley who, after winning the first two matches he played, the sophomore star came up against Lee Robbins.

Here & There

Three out of four Penn teams were shut out this weekend, the football team losing 2-0, the soccer squad being defeated 2-0, and the tennis team losing 6-3, 6-1, 6-1, 6-1. Neither side displayed the skill and fitness which had made the team the favorites in the competition. The Tigers, behind the grinding rushing of Cosmo Iacavazzi, won Columbia 23-15. In the subsequent, however, Archie Roberts, the Lion’s brilliant quarterback, continued to be impressive by setting several Columbia and Ivy League records. Brown, on the other hand, did not have things so easy, as the Bruins just managed to squeeze by Penn on a field goal late in the fourth period.
