K&K President's Day
To Dedicate New Walk

The second annual President's Day will be held Saturday morning in conjunction with the formal opening of the new Locust Street Walk.

The ceremonies will begin at 8:45 and will end with University Marching Band leading the crowd to Franklin Field for the Rutgers football game.

Sponsored 10 Anniversary

The Kite and Key Society sponsored last year's inaugural President's Day in honor of Gayton H. Hass, President of the University. Also honoring will be the presidents of the Interfraternity Council, the Varsity Alumni Club, the Kappa Sigma Society, and the Class of 1965. Vernon Miller, outstanding donor of the Class of 1939 will also receive an award.

Kalmbach in Charge

Kalmbach will be master of ceremonies, assisted by David Kirk. Following the Locust Street opening and the presentation of awards, a box luncheon will be served on the College Hall lawn. The Glee Club will entertain the guests there.

Socialist Candidate Speaks Here Mon.

Conspicuous will spotlight Eric Hass, Presidential candidate on the Socialist Labor Party ticket. The Socialist Labor Party recognizes America and excludes them from all other parties. The party, organized in 1890, has entered every national election since 1892.

Only Base Fide

They claim to be the "only bona fide Socialist party of America" and exclude themselves from all other parties under the Socialist or Communist label. The Socialist Labor Party also isolates itself from both the democratic and Republican parties, feeling that these two parties' politics show little difference and provide no help in dealing with vital American issues.

Penn Students Reveal Experiences As Mississipi Civil Rights Workers

Three Penn students who worked in the civil rights movement in Mississippi this summer engaged last night in a vivid and gory account of their dangerous experiences in that tumultuous area.

Two dramatically different approaches to national security summertime efforts especially at college campuses have been expressed there.

The Socialist Labor Party recognizes America and excludes them from all other parties. The party, organized in 1890, has entered every national election since 1892.

The removal of Nikita S. Khrushchev from his post as Premier of the Soviet Union was announced by the Associated Press on October 16, 1964. The official statement regarding Khrushchev's replacement by Leonid Brezhnev as First Secretary and Alexei Kosygin as premier was endorsed by foreign newspapers worldwide. The news was received with great interest by the world community, as Khrushchev's tenure as Premier had been marked by significant events in international relations.

The press release stated, "The Soviet government has announced the removal of Nikita S. Khrushchev from his post as Premier of the Soviet Union. The new Premier is Leonid Brezhnev, who has been appointed First Secretary of the Communist Party of the Soviet Union. Alexei Kosygin has been named Deputy Premier. The move is expected to mark a new era in Soviet foreign policy and domestic affairs."

In response to this news, various newspapers around the world published analyses and commentaries. The Daily Pennsylvanian, for instance, dedicated a special editorial to the issue, discussing the implications of Khrushchev's removal and the potential changes in Soviet policy.

The editorial begins with the headline: "Khrushchev: A Sobering Incident". It then states: "The removal of Nikita S. Khrushchev from his post as Premier of the Soviet Union and Alexei Kosygin as Premier is as portending little change in Soviet policy, the expectation that the move come as a conclusive move toward the Chinese People's Republic has much to recommend it. The removal of Alexei Khrushchev from his position as editor of the Soviet government newspaper "Truth" poses a new problem. The standing association of Khrushchev with a "soft posture" toward the West and an easing of authoritarianism within the revolutionary era. The anti-Semitism tract, "Judaism Without Embellishment", a "scholarly" work published by the Foreign Policy Research Institute here, and recently brought to the pressures on the Jewish community into foreign relations. The publicity given reponsibility in foreign affairs, who will benefit the Oriental countries."

The editorial concludes with a prediction that the change in leadership will likely bring a shift in Soviet foreign policy, with China and the United States possibly moving closer in their stance on the issues. It also mentions the potential impact on the American election, noting that the move could influence the political climate of the upcoming presidential race.

The Daily Pennsylvanian also published an article on the election, titled "The Big Snow". The article discusses the political landscape of the 1964 presidential election, highlighting the candidates' strategies and the role of television debates. It mentions that the Johnson campaign had a stronger presence in the media, with a more rote and repetitive approach, while the Goldwater campaign relied on emotionalism. The article concludes with a prediction that the outcome of the election will be decided by the voters' reaction to the candidates' performances and their ability to connect with the electorate through the media.

In summary, the Daily Pennsylvanian's coverage of the Khrushchev removal and the election reflects the period's focus on international relations and the impact of political events on the domestic scene. The newspaper's analyses provide insights into the potential shifts in Soviet policy and the dynamics of the presidential election, offering readers a comprehensive understanding of the political landscape of the time.
Miss University Contest Attracts Feminie, Funds

The annual Miss University contest has always been a major source of funds as well as a prominent campus event. Any recognized campus organization or fraternity may sponsor a candidate for this contest run jointly by the Campus Chest Committee and the 1964 Record.

The deadline for applications is 3:30 p.m., Monday, October 16. Starting on Tuesday, all contestants will begin collecting for the Campus Chest drive. On Tuesday and Wednesday they will circulate throughout the campus with specially marked containers soliciting for Campus Chest.

On Wednesday night each candidate will be interviewed by a joint Campus Chest-Record committee. Based on this interview and the amount of money collected, finalists will be chosen.

The next elimination will follow on Thursday afternoon when the girls will be presented at a faculty tea. The faculty judging group will select ten semi-finalists.

Much Planning Needed For Successful Drive

Like every other charity drive, Campus Chest is planned on a month in advance by a small committee.

Supports Child

One of last year's projects was a contribution, through the Foster Parent's Plan, for the support of a Korean orphan.

This year the Campus Chest will again contribute for the support of this child through the same organization. Their goal is to contribute $25 to buy her a present.

The senior board of the Campus Chest Committee, which has new offices in the basement of Warwick Dormitory, will coordinate and carry out a drive for $18,000. This includes a Miss University Contest, a mixer, final Dance-Mixer and more important, door-to-door solicitations.

The senior board of the Committee are the ones who are responsible for overall planning and coordination both within the Campus Chest Committee and with the rest to the University. Robert Morse is the chairman of this group, Edward Fisch, vice chairman; John Loomis, treasurer; Stephen Iacono, vice chairman for special events; Theodore Kappler, vice chairman for the campus; Mark Wackoff, vice chairman for solicitations; Robert Lewis, vice chairman for publicity; Carol Ehrlich, in charge of commuter solicitations.

The lead project for last year's Campus Chest drive was to contribute towards library for the third largest higher educational institution in India.

Delhi University, which received the library, is made up of 25 colleges within a 25 mile radius of the Indian Capital. The University of Pennsylvania's contribution was matched by funds contributed by people in the Delhi area and a mobile library was built bearing the name of its benefactor, "University of Pennsylvania" on its side.

Delhi University is a teaching, research and examining body much like the State University of New York. its various branches are scattered throughout the state and offer training in agriculture, engineering, teacher training, business, medicine and many other courses.

Delhi University Library Benefits From Last Year's Drive

The campus chest will kick off their 1964 drive in a unique manner. The committee will sponsor a "All University Dance-Mixer" this Friday night, October 19 at 8:30 p.m. in Weightman Hall. In making this affair for the first time to initiate the annual drive, it is hoped that enough enthusiasm will be generated to help the drive get over its $18,000 goal.

To assure top-notch entertainment for the expected capacity crowd, the Campus Chest Committee has acquired the services of two of the East's finest bands, Sebastian and the House Rockers, and also the Sentries. While such lower lights as Gary Winds, Sam Cooke and Chuck Berry were available, the committee agreed on expense and reached right for the top with these two groups.

The House Rockers, hailing from Virginia, roam throughout the South as just that. Police are frequently needed when they have an engagement, as their wild, rhythmic style of playing has led to small riots on occasion.

The Sentries, an R&B outfit from Baltimore, is also regarded as some of the top talent in the East. All University Dance-Mixer this Friday night, October 19 at 8:30 p.m. in Weightman Hall and have also made several appearances at Penn for some of the larger fraternities, where they were rousing successes. The group also features a singer-accompagnato named Breida, who has a reputation for putting on quite a show of her own.

All Penn students are cordially invited to the dance-mixer. Students from Temple, Moore, Bryn Mawr, Haverford, Rosemont, and even as far away as Ursinus and as far as Ursinus have also been invited. Reports from some of these schools have it that enthusiasm is high, both because of the attractions of the bands and the worthiness of the cause, since all proceeds go to charities, of course.
On Friday, Oct. 30, the annual Campus Chest Carnival will culminate that year's Campus Chest Drive. Carnival Chairman, Ted Kappler has stated, "From all indications, it would appear that this year's carnival will be more successful than any previous one." At the same time, Kaplan warned all to "expect the unexpected."

As in past years, the carnival will be held in Hutchinson Gymnasium and will feature booths set up and manned by fraternity and women's fraternities. There will also be a show by the Penguineers, those famous and glamorous nomads who do everything and anything to music — and all under water.

The site of the carnival is to raise as much money as possible for the Campus Chest charities. In past years it has added a final boost to the drive and the same is expected this year.

In the past, such booths as the Delta Tau Delta's Dunk-A-Doll, Sigma Nu's Wreck A Car, and ZBT's Tricycle Races were popular. In addition there are many booths where the game person may try his luck, skill or both.

As in past years, the fraternities enter into friendly competition to see which ones have the most popular and successful booths. And many of them spare no pains in setting up and running their games.

The carnival chairman stated that participation provides an "excellent opportunity for the many campus groups to show the University community what an excellent organization they have. Even more important, however, it gives Penn students as opportunity to work for worthy charities — something they would not ordinarily have students."

In general it is only one of the many ways in which the Campus Chest Committee attempts to raise money each year. Other highlights of the drive are the Miss University Contest and door-to-door solicitations by volunteers, and this year, for the first time, a mixer to be held in Wehrthman Hall this evening.

Through all of these, the committee hopes to raise at least $18,000. If they do so, they will contribute 25 percent of it to Recordings for the Blind, an organization that records high school and college texts for students who would otherwise be unable to use them.

The aim of the organization is to enable blind students to take their college courses. The recorded texts are given free of charge to students who would otherwise be limited in their ability to pursue high school and college courses.

Other major projects of this year's drive include a grant of $10,000 to the World University Services to library in Rangoon. These funds will be matched by local donations just as was done in India last year with Campus Chest funds.

Radio Free Europe will receive ten percent of the money for a special program to be produced at the University and broadcast in Europe. The program will be given in foreign languages.

The University Scholarship Fund, supported by Campus Chest, will also receive ten percent of the money collected.

Money will also be given to several local charity organizations. Some, like the University of Pennsylvania Scholarship Fund, will support Negro students, the University religious associations, a new West Philadelphia tutorial project, and to the Philadelphia Orchestra as token of student support for these groups.

Money will also be given to the University Camp for needy boys and girls, and to the American Friends Service Committee.

This year's lead project for the Campus Chest drive is a contribution of $4500 or 25% of the total money to a group known as Recordings For Blind.

Recordings For Blind has as its primary purpose the recording of textbooks for high school and college courses to enable blind students to take these courses at no disadvantage to themselves. Records are made of the texts and other pertinent material by a staff of 32 with assistance from more than 2400 volunteers. They record text- and other material on seven-inch disks, and give them to needy persons free of charge.

The group first records then checks the records against the texts for accuracy. Even with this painstaking work, there are now over 7,000 titles on records and the number is increasing by more than 3,500 a year. Such books as Berndt Niehle's Nature and Destiny of Man or an agricultural book on Modern Fruit Science show the great diversity of work done by the group. The use of records has many advantages over the use of Braille. The latter is much slower to read, and in addition, it is very much harder to translate a book into Braille than to record on a disk. Therefore, the University at present is giving $10,000 a year to this group, and will add $1,800 more if the goal of $18,000 is reached.

The University Scholarship Fund is supported by Campus Chest and will also receive ten percent of the money collected. This fund is for undergraduate students who find themselves in financial need. Such aid is not normally available through the other University Scholarship funds.

Money will be also be given to the University Camp for needy boys and girls, and to the American Friends Service Committee.

And as, Krushchev had difficulty showing successes to his fellow governmental leaders,

Communist Breach Wary Held

Another possible explanation of the change in Soviet leaders, Levine noted, was fear that pending congress of communications meeting would have so baffled the Sino-Soviet break it was understood that Krushchev was to call this in session to oversee such a break. Russian leaders saw possibly in a ouster of Krushchev an “opportunity to heal the schism existing between the two Communist power blocs, Russia and China.

Both Brezhnev and Kosygin have economic backgrounds, Levine said, and both are “realists” and not ideological economists, an obvious advantage in Soviet economics.

Announcement of the Krushchev ouster came at exactly 1 midnight Russian time, after wave of speculation swept through the Soviet Union. The details to replace the 70 year-old premier was reached at a meeting of the party’s Central Committee on Wednesday. The details were taken last night.

Gridders Meet Rutgers, Look For Second Win

BY JOHN JAFFE

A somewhat blooded but not bowed Penn football team takes the field against Rutgers tomorrow in a 1:30 p.m. home encounter. The Quakers, 1-2 on the season, will be attempting to rebound from last week's 33-0 loss to Cornell. Things will not be any easier for Coach John Stiegman's charges by the presence of more.

Frosh Soccer Defeats Hill

The freshman soccer team garnered its straight second 2-1 victory of the season Wednesdays by beating Hill School in an away encounter. The Frosh weathered the away and withstood a 2-0 record. The Quakers scored in severe fight Saturday at Law.

Wednesday's victory was far from a walkover for the Little Quakers, but their spirit and determination were enough. According to Coach Mayall, "Rustie is probably the determining factor."

Penn scored first as Roger Roesler rinsed the balls on a long cross to the far goal from his left position. The goal capped a first period dominated by the Red and Blue. The second Quaker was not as good for the Little Quakers, however, as Hill bounced back dominating play and tying the game 1-1.

A fired up Penn team came out and completely outplayed their opponents in the second half. The Red and Blue pressed the Hill School and scored in the third period as Ty Vining took the ball up field and fed off to John Dewey for the score. The momentum of this game was confined to Hill School's half of the field, but the Quakers came back from behind with four goals in the second half. The big one was scored by Vining, the right halfback, and Ty Vining. The third goal was scored by a mob of men, probably the two spark plugs in the Penn attack, Jock East and Stuart Greaves.

The Penn soccer team is unflagging and will continue to use these advantages. The Quakers were 2-1 against Penn.

Coach Stiegman reports no strategy changes are in store for Rutgers. The Quakers, 2-1-1 on the season, will tie attempting to rebound from last week's 33-0 loss to Cornell.

Gridders Meet Rutgers, Look For Second Win

BY JOHN JAFFE

A somewhat blooded but not bowed Penn football team takes the field against Rutgers tomorrow in a 1:30 p.m. home encounter. The Quakers, 1-2 on the season, will be attempting to rebound from last week's 33-0 loss to Cornell. Things will not be any easier for Coach John Stiegman's charges by the presence of more.

Frosh Soccer Defeats Hill

The freshman soccer team garnered its straight second 2-1 victory of the season Wednesdays by beating Hill School in an away encounter. The Frosh weathered the away and withstood a 2-0 record. The Quakers scored in severe fight Saturday at Law.

Wednesday's victory was far from a walkover for the Little Quakers, but their spirit and determination were enough. According to Coach Mayall, "Rustie is probably the determining factor."
