Rabbi Doctor Decrees Soviet Anti-Semitism

By MARGARET A. GRIFFITH

Rabbi Aaron Doctor of Philadelphia revealed that the condition of the Jews in the Soviet Union is reminiscent of Nazi days in Germany, in a Hillel Foundation lecture yesterday.

Rabbi Doctor emphasized that although the Russian government would like the rest of the world to believe that the Jews in Russia possess equal rights, their condition is "dark and bitter."

"Unjust Policies"

The ultimate purpose of the Russian government is to "eliminate the influence of religion throughout the country," said Doctor.

He noted that the more than two million Jews in Russia have only 87 synagogues in which to worship. Unlike other religious groups in the Soviet Union, they are denied even the right of a burial in a central cemetery for organization and publication.

Cults Eliminated

Thus, said Doctor, "all instrumentalities of culture have been eliminated." All that is left,

(Continued on page 2)

AID Head David Bell
To Address Meeting

David E. Bell, administrator of the Agency for International Development, will deliver the featured address at a three-day conference on political development to be held today through Friday at the University.

Scholars who have made significant contributions to the study of political development will lecture on a variety of topics in morning sessions. The afternoon will be devoted to informal discussion groups.

The conference program will be divided into morning lecture sessions, which are open to University students, and afternoon discussion sessions. Texts of the lectures have been distributed to all conference participants.

Palm Is Chairman

Dr. Norman D. Palmer, a University professor of political science, will serve as chairman of the Wednesday morning session at which Professor Marion J. Levy, Jr., of Princeton University will speak on "Social Patterns and Pervasive Modernization" at 10 a.m. today in the Franklin Room of Budapest Hall.

The subject will be discussed by Professor K. K. Sliver of Dartmouth College and Professor Douglas Andford of Cornell University.

Discussions of the "Role and Effectiveness of the Various Patterns of Leadership in Political Development" will begin at 2:30 p.m. Wednesday in the Faculty Club, 26th and Walnut Sts.

Professor Arthur D. Smithells of Harvard University will speak on "Politics and Economic Development" at 8 a.m. Thursday in the Franklin Room of Houston Hall. The subject will be discussed by Dr. Howard Wrighens of the U.S. State Department and Dr. Wilfrid Maudans, professor of economics at the University.

Professor William W. Lockwood of Princeton University will serve as chairman of the Thursday morning session.

The "Role and Effectiveness of Ideology in Political Development" will be discussed in the Thursday afternoon session, beginning at 2:30 p.m. in the Faculty Club.

Discussion panels ranging from Columbia University will serve as mediators of the Friday morning session which will begin at 10 a.m. in the Franklin Room of

(Continued on page 2)

Debaters Argue Over Women's Education

The ultimate purpose of the Russian government is to "eliminate the influence of religion throughout the country," said Doctor.

The format of the debate is a compromise between the standard Indian style and the traditional American form. Thus the debaters, a foreign student and a debate council member on each team were given only a ball hour to prepare the topic.

The foreign member of the affirmative team, Leonard Matusow defended the proposition only for Western society, "Women in the West." The graduate history student contended that "gender is absolutely universal." The debaters, a foreign student and a debate council member on each team were given only a half hour to prepare the topic.

Cuban Student Blames Apathy For Castro

Harry Fajsd, a Cuban exile and a junior in Wharton, yesterday discussed "Cuba, Batista, et al." before a mixed audience of about thirty persons.

Fajsd, speaking emotionally in the Philomathian Hall, compared Cuba under Batista's rule to Cuba under present communist leadership.

"With a vast array of statistics and figures, he attempted to prove that communism in Cuba was not successful because of poverty and illiteracy which the communists alleged existed in Cuba, but rather because of the apathy of the middle class which was too busy in its affairs to see it coming. His solution to ending Castro's regime is the formation of a Cuban government in exile."

Fraternity Starts Drive To Create Allen Buder Fund

Pi Lambda Phi fraternity has created a memorial loan fund in honor of their brother, Alan P. Buder, who died Friday from injuries suffered in the Penn-Harvard JV football game.

The fraternity also announced that they would hold a memorial service for Buder and set up a trophy in his name.

The final Financial Aid Office of the University will administrate the fund. The first contributions will be made by members of the fraternity.

It is expected to pay the expenses for one student each year at the University.

By BERTON MOCHFELD

The resources spent on women's education should be drastically reduced. This proved to be the overwhelming consensus of opinion last night in a debate sponsored by the University Debate Council and the Foreign Students Organization before a sparse crowd in the Houston Hall Lounge last evening.

The format of the debate was a compromise between the standard Indian style and the traditional American form. Thus the debaters, a foreign student and a debate council member on each team were given only a half hour to prepare the topic.

The foreign member of the affirmative team, Leonard Matusow defended the proposition only for Western society, "Women in the West." The graduate history student challenged the proposition only for Western society, stating that "gender is absolutely universal." The debaters, a foreign student and a debate council member on each team were given only a half hour to prepare the topic.

The debate enlivened towards its end when a few people in the audience challenged the speaker's assertions that the communists run Cuba completely at their will and that poverty and illiteracy which existed in Cuba under Batista's rule was not the main reason for the communist revolution.

At this point, heated argument arose between live or six Cuban exiles in the audience and the moderator, a University professor of political science.

The debate enlivened towards its end when a few people in the audience challenged the speaker's assertions that the communists run Cuba completely at their will and that poverty and illiteracy which existed in Cuba under Batista's rule was not the main reason for the communist revolution.

At this point, heated argument arose between live or six Cuban exiles in the audience and the moderator, a University professor of political science.

Fajsd started his talk by denouncing Cuba's high level of life under Batista. Basing his argument on statistics, he pictured Batista's Cuba as ranking among the highest nations in communication, education, and health care in the world and in Latin America.

He also argued against the communists' claim that "yakuano exploitation" existed because the Cuban economy was not self-supporting. He maintained the Cuban economy was still self-supporting, and that the constant need for foreign trade has been created since 1933.

(Continued on page 3)
With the election over, there are observations and speculations that dreams to be shattered. The election was not a rejection of racism, extremism, or conservativism. It was a rejection of Goldwater's misadventures and tragic effort to offer the individual freedom and capitalism to Protestant Christian morality.

A number of people, perhaps, twenty-four million, sympathized with Goldwater's foreign policy of peace through strength and vigilance against communism. Others agreed with the Senator that government expenditures in and government control of areas essentially outside the nation's sphere of influence were more ready for a strong though necessarily grass roots nationalism.

But with or without Goldwater, the task of outlining and proliferating a consistent conservative philosophy is vital. John-son's "policies" and the current left-wing trend among those who speak to make sense for society are portents of a horrible future. A future where the statesmen are the same form of government, not for real freedom, but for lack of interest in anything else. A future where public ownership of industry competes against private regulation of industry. A future where a number of the ruling clique are, automatically the opposition of the major organs of the mass media.

This is the problem we face. As students, we must decide for the future we want, to make the effort to be free. To insure that no one, no one, will have the opportunity to lie on our opinions or course of action on others. This is a future of a choice — we can go along with a stupid "status quo" leading to a second dark ages or make the fight for freedom and chance for an individual right and pursuit of happiness.

Fanjul (Continued from page 1)

Before we can go through the Cuban general election of 1958, Cuban-owned sugar revenues increased from 53 to 127 percent while American-owned sugar revenues increased by 42 percent. Elizardo pointed out that the same thing was in the same form of government, not for real freedom, but for lack of interest in anything else.

Afterwards, when challenged on his apparent support of Castro, Fanjul's father, a Cuban who had been the high middle class, he emphasized that a revolution in Cuba could have been justified on political but not economical grounds, as Castro's supporters claim. The second point which Fanjul brought up was the lack of support for Castro by the majority of the Cubans. Out of a population of over six million, a half million are presently exiles. Besides, about 350,000 U.S. war veterans and half a million Cuban-Americans have been forced to leave Cuba to earn dollars.

The Cuban exiles speaker, in conclusion, asserted that Cuba is today a country which lacks the support of almost all the people and those friends and shalun who wish to attend.

The decision to create the fund and award and to hold the service was reached last night at a special meeting of the lower leg of the game. When marrow from the broken bone encrusted in the area, a "shameful" bedfellows his bed side.
A Vicious Attack

A freshman in the College was seriously injured Saturday night when a tear-gas bomb fired by campus security officers exploded near him. At the moment the full extent of the damage to his vision is not known, medical authorities are uncertain whether serious permanent injuries will be suffered. The second point is that in the past violence has occurred in response to incidents of this sort.

The third is that, since the violence in Woodland and Baldered by 33rd, 40th, Spruce, and Market Streets is not infrequent, the House of Representatives may consider the matter of violence in College Parking within this context.

The fourth is that the violence has occurred in response to the failure of people to register in the University parking system. The University parking officials have expressed concern about the consequences of non-registration, and have threatened to revoke the parking privileges of students who fail to register them with the University. In addition, many parents and students have threatened to impose parking restrictions if their children are not able to provide off-street parking for their cars as required by the University. Thus, the University parking officials have expressed concern about the consequences of non-registration, and have threatened to revoke the parking privileges of students who fail to register them with the University. In addition, many parents and students have threatened to impose parking restrictions if their children are not able to provide off-street parking for their cars as required by the University.
Sex Is Fun, Natural
Says Goucher Minister

BALTIMORE - Human sex-uality should be considered as an inherently good and as a result sex is fun, funny, and natural, the society for the prevention of cruelty to children, told at their annual dinner last night.

Wood said students tend to take sexual expression far too seriously and that they should not feel guilty doing so. It is separated from the rest of one’s activities and “assumed to be fraught with all kinds of special meaning and mystical signification,” he said.

“Sexuality itself is good,” he said, “from the structure of the human organism as male and female to every conceivable act of sexual self-expression. There is nothing bad or dirty or perverted about it.”

The Reverend said he hadn’t told the students “whether you should or shouldn’t, or even how far you should go,” because to do so would be to violate irre- reasonably individual freedom.

He said the primary impli- cation from a religious stand- point is that sexuality is good are good that sex is fun and natural. “Because sex is fun, it is freely chosen,” he said.

“She said sex in fun is not understood as something which we owe to anyone, whether that obligation is under- stood in terms of a debt to be paid after a certain number of sexual acts, or as conformity to the group.”

By “funny” Wood said he was referring not only to the humor attached to sex, but to its play- ful, creative aspects. “And this means that there are no laws attached to sex,” he said. “I repeatedly hear, ‘You must be joking. Anyone who tells you there are may be guilty of mistaking social and cultural custom for divine sanc- tion.’

The fact that sex in nature does not regulate it to the position of being merely a functional function which has one specific purpose and no others, Wood said. “Eating, for example, is also natural, and has the natural function of the nourishment unprec-

Sex Is Fun, Natural
Says Goucher Minister

BALTIMORE - Human sex-uality should be considered as an inherently good and as a result sex is fun, funny, and natural, the society for the prevention of cruelty to children, told at their annual dinner last night.

Wood said students tend to take sexual expression far too seriously and that they should not feel guilty doing so. It is separated from the rest of one’s activities and “assumed to be fraught with all kinds of special meaning and mystical signification,” he said.

“Sexuality itself is good,” he said, “from the structure of the human organism as male and female to every conceivable act of sexual self-expression. There is nothing bad or dirty or perverted about it.”

The Reverend said he hadn’t told the students “whether you should or shouldn’t, or even how far you should go,” because to do so would be to violate irre- reasonably individual freedom.

He said the primary impli- cation from a religious stand- point is that sexuality is good are good that sex is fun and natural. “Because sex is fun, it is freely chosen,” he said.

“She said sex in fun is not understood as something which we owe to anyone, whether that obligation is under-stood in terms of a debt to be paid after a certain number of sexual acts, or as conformity to the group.”

By “funny” Wood said he was referring not only to the humor attached to sex, but to its play-ful, creative aspects. “And this means that there are no laws attached to sex,” he said. “I repeatedly hear, ‘You must be joking. Anyone who tells you there are may be guilty of mistaking social and cultural custom for divine sanc-tion.’

The fact that sex in nature does not regulate it to the position of being merely a functional function which has one specific purpose and no others, Wood said. “Eating, for example, is also natural, and has the natural function of the nourishment unpre-
CAMPUS EVENTS

University Agenda

- Tickets for the upcoming production of "Thieves Carnival" are now on sale. Tickets may be purchased for performances on the evening of November 17, 18, 19, 20, 21 in Houston Hall and the Penn Players' Office between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. There are only a limited number of tickets available. They cost $1.50.
- Pi Mu Epsilon Math Honor Society lecture Friday night at 8 p.m. in PSB A-4. The society will show the solution to a problem in the famous Kakuro problem. All interested are invited to the lecture and to join the informal coffee hour following the meeting.
- There will be a regular meeting of the study group on the Zionist idea today at 1 p.m. The class is just beginning and new members are welcome.
- "A City Called Ellat", an exciting color movie of a young raw city, a new frontier, and the harbor which has become Israel's gateway to the Far East, will be shown tomorrow at 6:00 p.m. at the Bibl Foundation. All are welcome.

Activity Announcements

American Chemical Soc.-TYP STUDENT AFFILIATES Meeting Monday, November 11, at 7:15 p.m. in room 117 of Chemistry building. Mr. Arthur T. Polischuk of Sunoco will speak on "Jeta, Rockets, Guided Missiles, and Space Satellites."

ALPHA PHI OMEGA GAMMA SICMA SIGMA - Important meeting tonight in the Franklin room of Houston Hall. Officers and committee chairmen at 7 p.m. General membership at 7:30. Registration for D.L.P. Course Guides Questionnaire distribution, Student Directory distribution, and formal recognition for sorority division by Committee on Student Affairs.

Bridge Club - Monts Parks tomorrow night right first of two sessions. Site game also, 7 p.m. in West Lounge. Class meets 7:30 outside lounge.

Campus Chest Heelers - Compulsory meeting for all Campus Chest Heelers. Thursday 8:15 p.m. in the Campus Chest office.

Hillel - There will be a showing of "The Price of Silence" today at 4 p.m. at the foundation. All members and interested people are invited.

IF Council - No meeting this week. Meeting postponed to Wed. Nov. 16.

Mortarboard - Lunch today at the Board Room from 12 o'clock. Pennsylvania Literary Society meeting Thursday 8:45 p.m. in the Campus Chest office.

SIGMA SIGMA - Important meeting tonight in the Franklin room of Houston Hall. All alumni and graduate students are invited to attend.

Student Zionist Organization - There will be a meeting of the executive committee on Wed. evening at 6:30 p.m. at 3601 Walnut St. Apt 4-B. We plan will the next meeting. All members are requested to attend.

WOMEN STUDENTS - At 7:30 p.m. today the CW alumnas and Resident Women's government will present the first in a series of career discussions featuring Dr. Alexine Atherton, Pol. Sci. Dept., Mrs. Ruth Weir Miller, World Affairs Council, and Dr. R. Jean Brownlee, CW Dean. All women students are invited to attend.

Yacht Club - Meeting tonight for all members at 7:30 p.m. in Houston Hall.

Walnut Shows Slade Comedy

The Walnut Street Theatre is now presenting the new comedy, "Ready when you are, C. B." starring Julie Harris in a pre-Broadway engagement last spring, and under the direction of Josh Logan, Miss Harris's leading man at the time. The star portrays a young artist who cannot pay his rent and sub-leases her apartment than from acting roles. Under the direction of Josh Logan, Miss Harris is now in the lead role in a series of career discussions featuring Dr. Alexine Atherton, Pol. Sci. Dept., Mrs. Ruth Weir Miller, World Affairs Council, and Dr. R. Jean Brownlee, CW Dean. All women students are invited to attend.

MOMMA'S LUNCHEONETTE

3727 Spruce Street

DINNERS

- Veal Cutlet
- Pork Chop
- Club Steak
- T-Bone Steak
- Chopped Steak
- Cold Sandwiches
- Hot Sandwiches

7AM-12 Midnight
Rabbi Deplores Soviet Persecution Of Jews

(Continued from page 1)

is the synagogue and even this has been severely limited by the refusal to allow the teaching of Yiddish and Jewish culture and history, and the absence of publication of Hebrew books.

The Russian government also refused to allow the re-establishment of the Central Jewish Council of the country, added Rabbi Dector.

The government has used severe methods to deprive Jews of the use of Hebrew teachers and rabbis.

Congressman Seeks Help

WASHINGTON—Congressman William Moorhead (D-Pa.) has asked the nation's academic community for help in revising his bill to create a National Humanities Foundation.

"I am introducing this bill (November 9) to graduate school directors in Universities and Land Grant College," Moorhead said he introduced the bill "knowing that there are many in the humanities in the 89th Congress," he said, "but with the hope it would be used by the friends of the humanities in a way for discussion and debate."

Moorhead added that "since the academic community of the 89th Congress I will receive criticisms and suggestions so that an improved bill can be introduced on the opening day of the 90th Congress," he said.

Moorhead added that before now and the opening of Congress he intends "to solicit bi-partisan support for both the House and the Senate" for a humanities foundation bill.

"It would be of great help if members of the academic community would communicate with their own Senators and their own Representatives to enjoin their support for a National Humanities Foundation," he continued.

As originally introduced, Moorhead's bill embodied the recommendations of a report issued in June by the National Commission on the Humanities.

The Commission was formed in the spring of 1963 under the auspices of the American Council of Learned Societies (ACLS) the Council of Graduate Schools in the United States, and the United Chapters of Phi Beta Kappa.

The 20-member Commission concluded that the humanities in America -- as the arts as well as the related academic disciplines -- are in need of additional mas-tive support, coming largely from the federal government.

The Commission recommended that an independent National Humanities Foundation similar to the National Science Foundation be created to administer federal programs for the humanities.

At the American Council on Education's fall conference, Frederick Burchard, President of the ACLS, described the enthusiastic response that the report received.

D'Oyly Carte At Forest

Gilbert and Sullivan, in the person of the celebrated D'Oyly Carte Opera Company - direct from its home at the Savoy Theater in London - opened a one-week engagement at Philadelphia's Forrest Theatre on Monday, November 9th.

The famed "Savoyards," who will make a twenty-one-week tour of the United States and Canada in the wake of the success of "HMS Pinafore" at 89th. Work, will present five of their most notable productions: "The Mikado," "The Pirates of Pen-

Musical Director is Frederick Godfrey, now and the opening of Congress he intends "to solicit bi-partisan support for both the House and the Senate" for a humanities foundation bill.

"It would be of great help if members of the academic community would communicate with their own Senators and their own Representatives to enjoin their support for a National Humanities Foundation," he continued.

As originally introduced, Moorhead's bill embodied the recommendations of a report issued in June by the National Commission on the Humanities.

The Commission was formed in the spring of 1963 under the auspices of the American Council of Learned Societies (ACLS) the Council of Graduate Schools in the United States, and the United Chapters of Phi Beta Kappa.

The 20-member Commission concluded that the humanities in America -- as the arts as well as the related academic disciplines -- are in need of additional mas-
tive support, coming largely from the federal government.

The Commission recommended that an independent National Humanities Foundation similar to the National Science Foundation be created to administer federal programs for the humanities.

At the American Council on Education's fall conference, Frederick Burchard, President of the ACLS, described the enthusiastic response that the report received.

D'Oyly Carte At Forrest

Gilbert and Sullivan, in the person of the celebrated D'Oyly Carte Opera Company - direct from its home at the Savoy Theater in London - opened a one-week engagement at Philadelphia's Forrest Theatre on Monday, November 9th.

The famed "Savoyards," who will make a twenty-one-week tour of the United States and Canada in the wake of the success of "HMS Pinafore" at 89th. Work, will present five of their most notable productions: "The Mikado," "The Pirates of Pen-

Musical Director is Frederick Godfrey, now and the opening of Congress he intends "to solicit bi-partisan support for both the House and the Senate" for a humanities foundation bill.

"It would be of great help if members of the academic community would communicate with their own Senators and their own Representatives to enjoin their support for a National Humanities Foundation," he continued.

As originally introduced, Moorhead's bill embodied the recommendations of a report issued in June by the National Commission on the Humanities.

The Commission was formed in the spring of 1963 under the auspices of the American Council of Learned Societies (ACLS) the Council of Graduate Schools in the United States, and the United Chapters of Phi Beta Kappa.

The 20-member Commission concluded that the humanities in America -- as the arts as well as the related academic disciplines -- are in need of additional mas-
tive support, coming largely from the federal government.

The Commission recommended that an independent National Humanities Foundation similar to the National Science Foundation be created to administer federal programs for the humanities.

At the American Council on Education's fall conference, Frederick Burchard, President of the ACLS, described the enthusiastic response that the report received.

D'Oyly Carte At Forrest

Gilbert and Sullivan, in the person of the celebrated D'Oyly Carte Opera Company - direct from its home at the Savoy Theater in London - opened a one-week engagement at Philadelphia's Forrest Theatre on Monday, November 9th.

The famed "Savoyards," who will make a twenty-one-week tour of the United States and Canada in the wake of the success of "HMS Pinafore" at 89th. Work, will present five of their most notable productions: "The Mikado," "The Pirates of Pen-

Musical Director is Frederick Godfrey, now and the opening of Congress he intends "to solicit bi-partisan support for both the House and the Senate" for a humanities foundation bill.

"It would be of great help if members of the academic community would communicate with their own Senators and their own Representatives to enjoin their support for a National Humanities Foundation," he continued.

As originally introduced, Moorhead's bill embodied the recommendations of a report issued in June by the National Commission on the Humanities.

The Commission was formed in the spring of 1963 under the auspices of the American Council of Learned Societies (ACLS) the Council of Graduate Schools in the United States, and the United Chapters of Phi Beta Kappa.

The 20-member Commission concluded that the humanities in America -- as the arts as well as the related academic disciplines -- are in need of additional mas-
tive support, coming largely from the federal government.

The Commission recommended that an independent National Humanities Foundation similar to the National Science Foundation be created to administer federal programs for the humanities.

At the American Council on Education's fall conference, Frederick Burchard, President of the ACLS, described the enthusiastic response that the report received.

D'Oyly Carte At Forrest

Gilbert and Sullivan, in the person of the celebrated D'Oyly Carte Opera Company - direct from its home at the Savoy Theater in London - opened a one-week engagement at Philadelphia's Forrest Theatre on Monday, November 9th.

The famed "Savoyards," who will make a twenty-one-week tour of the United States and Canada in the wake of the success of "HMS Pinafore" at 89th. Work, will present five of their most notable productions: "The Mikado," "The Pirates of Pen-

Musical Director is Frederick Godfrey, now and the opening of Congress he intends "to solicit bi-partisan support for both the House and the Senate" for a humanities foundation bill.

"It would be of great help if members of the academic community would communicate with their own Senators and their own Representatives to enjoin their support for a National Humanities Foundation," he continued.

As originally introduced, Moorhead's bill embodied the recommendations of a report issued in June by the National Commission on the Humanities.

The Commission was formed in the spring of 1963 under the auspices of the American Council of Learned Societies (ACLS) the Council of Graduate Schools in the United States, and the United Chapters of Phi Beta Kappa.

The 20-member Commission concluded that the humanities in America -- as the arts as well as the related academic disciplines -- are in need of additional mas-
tive support, coming largely from the federal government.

The Commission recommended that an independent National Humanities Foundation similar to the National Science Foundation be created to administer federal programs for the humanities.

At the American Council on Education's fall conference, Frederick Burchard, President of the ACLS, described the enthusiastic response that the report received.
Rudolf Serkin Guests As Orchestra Soloist

The celebrated pianist Rudolf Serkin will add two more appearances with Eugene Ormandy and the Philadelphia Orchestra to his recent success when he plays two Beethoven concertos at concert schedules concluded in the Academy on Monday, November 16th and for Carnegie Hall, New York, on the following evening, November 17th.

The programs, part of a special Beethoven cycle to be heard during the season at both halls, will open with the Symphony No. 8 in F major, Op. 93. Mr. Serkin will open the Concerto No. 2 in C minor, Op. 17, and the Concerto No. 4 in G major, Op. 58.

All five Beethoven concertos and a Rondo for Piano and Orchestra will be performed by Mr. Serkin with Mr. Ormandy and the Orchestra this season. The renowned pianist will return to the Academy on Tuesday, January 12th, to perform the Concerto No. 2 in F flat major, Op. 10, the Rondo in B flat major for Piano and Orchestra and the Concerto No. 1 in C major, Op. 15. The same program will be heard in Carnegie Hall on Tuesday, January 12th. The Orchestra's Beethoven cycle concludes in the Academy on April 2nd, 3rd, and 4th, and in Carnegie Hall on April 6th. At these final concerts, Mr. Serkin will offer the Concerto No. 5 in E flat major, Op. 73, "Emperor."

On 114 occasions in the past 27 years, Philadelphia Orchestra programs have listed Rudolf Serkin as guest soloist. Most recently, in May 1964, Mr. Serkin appeared with Mr. Ormandy and the Orchestra at a special World's Fair Festival concert in Philharmonic Hall, performing the Barcarolle in D minor by Richard Strauss. Last March he was heard in the Concerto in A minor, Op. 54, and the Konzertstück in G major, Op. 92, by Beethoven, at concerti in Philadelphia, Washington, New York and Baltimore.

Hospital Recognizes 25 For Volunteer Service

Twenty-four women and one man were honored on October 29 for their outstanding service as volunteers at the Graduate Hospital of the University of Pennsylvania, 19th and Lombard Streets.

The occasion was the third annual volunteer recognition luncheon, held at the hospital. The luncheon was arranged by Mrs. Robert C. Loff, director of the Volunteer Service Department, who was on duty that day.

Since 1961, since that time, some 50 volunteers have contributed nearly 12,000 hours to Graduate Hospital, serving as Gray Ladies, performing clerical duties, making surgical dressings, serving on patient floors and in clinics, and running the hospital's canteen service.

William B. Kent, assistant director of Graduate Hospital, presented the awards.

Receiving American Hospital Association volunteer service pins for 100 hours of service were: Mrs. John J. Flinnore, Park Towne Place, Phila.; Miss Frances Greenberg, Rittenhouse Clavidge, Phila.; Mrs. Marilyn Miller, 9041 Westmoreland Ave., Phila.; Mrs. Oscar Oppenheimer, Penn Center House, Phila.; Mrs. Evelyn Richou, 3351 N. Beechwood St., Phila.; Mrs. Stewart B. Thord, 2720 Thomas Ave., Phila.; Artur J. Wilkie, 1514 Homestead Ave., Glenwood, was honored as the sole male volunteer. Mr. Wilkie, a retired employee of Penn Mutual Life Insurance Company, serves in the hospital's credit office. He has given more than 200 hours of service to the Hospital in less than a year as a volunteer.
Up From The Depths

Strong enough to enter the Ivy League? Who knows what the future holds for the Quakers after last year's 4-12 record. But this team is strong enough to enter the Ivy League? A win over the Lions, who are clear favorites to win, would be the highlight of the season for the Quakers. The team has been prepared for this showdown and is ready to show what it's made of.

The Young Coach

The young coach is already looking towards a winning season. He has a strong defense, balanced with a potent offense. The coach believes his team can compete with some of the top teams in the league. With a solid defense and a capable offense, the coach is confident that his team can play with anyone.

Defensive Threat

The defense is well-balanced and possesses both strength on the ground and air. The coach has emphasized the importance of teamwork and communication, and the players have responded. The defense is led by veterans who have been playing together for years, and this experience has translated into success on the field.

Offensive Power

The offense is also strong, with a mix of experienced players and young talent. The quarterback, who has been a pivotal leader, has a strong supporting cast, including a reliable running back and a talented receiving corps. The coach believes in playing to the strengths of each player and has developed a diverse playbook to keep defenses off balance.

Aiming For Glory

The coach is looking forward to facing some of the top teams in the league and believes that his team has what it takes to compete. With a strong defense and potent offense, the coach is confident that his team can hold its own against the best. The season is shaping up to be exciting, and the coach is eager to see how his team performs.

---

Defensive Linebacker

Sophomore linebacker Jerry DiSalvo is emerging as a leader for the defense. He has taken charge of the line and is leading by example. The coach knows that DiSalvo is a key player, and the defensive line is looking to him to set the tone for the season.

Offensive Line

The offensive line is strong, with a mix of experienced players and young talent. The coach has emphasized the importance of communication and alignment, and the players have responded. The line is well-suited to protect the quarterback and open up holes for the running back.

Special Teams

The special teams have been a strength for the team, with a strong punter and a capable kick returner. The coach is looking to improve the field goals and kicking game, and he is confident that his team can be a force to be reckoned with on special teams.

---

Upcoming Games

The team will face some tough opponents in the coming weeks, including a game against the Lions. The coach knows that these games will be challenging, but he is confident that his team can rise to the occasion. The season is shaping up to be exciting, and the coach is eager to see how his team performs.