Journalist Harold Feldman stated that "If Harvey Lee Oswald was guilty of John Kennedy's murder, there was no doubt that he was not alone, and I believe that he was actually innocent," in a lecture sponsored by the Student Alumni Council. He presented for inspection two copies of the October "Life" magazine, one of which showed a fallen President without blood and another in which the exact same picture showed Kennedy being slain by a bullet from the right front seat. The Dallas book depository is the site of the murder location and Oswald's wagon was insufficient, according to or in support of the Warren Commission's report. A statement that Earl Warren regretted making: "You may never know the whole truth of this (the murder) in your lifetime for reasons of national security."

FACTS, of dubious tenor in the State Dept., were shot forth by Feldman. Revealing disdain for their regulations, Moscow lent 500 dollars to Oswald, whose passport listed him as "without status." Further pointed out was that he repaid about 400 dollars during a month's unemployment - he never made more than $1.25 an hour, but supported such political activities as a whole mob "Hands off Cuba" organization. "In his successful attempt to bring his wish into the world, he was twice rejected by the Immigration and Naturalization Service. A decision reversed by a source in the upper echelons of the State Dept."

In brief, Feldman said that Oswald was a lone weapon, came from right wing circles, had no political direction for platforms, and was an American agent, and there is no reason to expect the revelation of anything less than the Dreyfus case.

City Campus Has Advantages Says Harnwell In Message

Citizens have become the great "laboratories" of higher education, both sitting and challenging the urban university, Dr. Gaylord P. Harnwell, President of the University said in his annual message to alumni and friends.

Dr. Harnwell cited the advantages of a metropolitan campus, but called for closer faculty-student relations and more liaison between the classroom and campus life in order to pass the full benefits on to the students, especially undergraduates.

Advising Services

He said the University is seeking to provide those conditions through better advising services, a new pattern for future student counseling, and more attention to the problems of undergraduate life.

The theme of Dr. Harnwell's message, appearing in the November issue of The Pennsylvania Gazette, alumni magazine, is the changing nature of university education.

"Citizens have assumed a new role as the teachers of men," he said. "The University of Pennsylvania and others like it, situated in the hearts of great cities, have unparalleled laboratories for research about all them. Their faculties are deeply immersed in the intellectual, ethical, economic, political, social, and individual human problems that abound in this laboratory and the resources of their institutions are being brought to bear upon them."

He noted that the University of Pennsylvania had "beaten" its old record in escaping the physical sprawl over separated campuses in hampering some urban universities. "Almost uniquely," he said, "all our faculties are geographically united on a single campus."

SOS Sits In At Library Today

University President Gaylord P. Harnwell revealed Thursday that students and faculty members of the new Fine Arts Building have prompted the reactivation of a dormitory Faculty Advisory Committee on Development. However, he indicated, today's demonstration, whatever its form, will not deter the "The project," he declared, reconsideration.

The SOS Committee has announced that, on account of the heavy rains, its demonstration will take the form of a sit-in in the lobby and near the elevators of the Van Pelt Library from 11:15 to 1:00 today. The principal activity is scheduled to proceed from noon to 12:30 when participants in Dr. Harnwell's luncheon - press conference - will be arriving at the library. The conference, which will begin in the Rare Book room of Van Pelt at 12:15, is being held to present the Development Plan to the mass media. SOS leaders state that they expect a heavy turnout of demonstrators. The protest will be silent but placards and posters are to be used.

Dr. Harnwell explained that the "surprising amount of opposition" to the new building, while "curiously motivated," had prompted the investigation of the feasibility of revising the Faculty Advisory Committee. He said that organization had only to function on account of "dificulties in scheduling meetings to the convenience of the membership."

Regarding on the subject of the new building, the President stated that "the site was to be" (Continued on page 4).

New Parties Contend For MSG Political Control

Two newly-formed political parties, Change and the Better Student, will contest for offices and general assembly seats in the Men's Student Government election on December 11. Party conventions, at which, time slates of candidates and platforms will be decided, will take place in the next ten days, concluding with the Action Party meeting early next week.

Announcing the formation of the Change party, Richard Zachari, a Wharton senior, launched this party's campaign with a broad attack on the present student government's effectiveness.

In a statement, he claimed: "For too long, the student government has been an ineffective organ on the campus. Over the last few years we have seen a parade of many students shouting at each other and accomplishing very little. One needs only a minimum of common sense to grasp the fact that it is time for a CHANGE."

The Better Student party, according to acting chairman Richard Cowan, a Wharton senior, has been formed so that better and more responsible students will become members of the Men's Student Government.

"Opposition to administration which comes automatically, a statement by Cowan reads, is not conducive to student welfare."

And, it continues, "so-called government is the same as no government."

Students Stimulated

Dr. Harnwell also said the University's students, when he rated as "14 years ahead of their parents a generation ago" in educational preparation when they entered as freshmen, welcomed cultural stimulation in their life outside the classroom.

"It becomes more apparent with each success that the Pennsylvania undergraduate of the '60's wants to share in the intellectual awakening that is taking place around him, on and beyond the campus," he said.

At Pennsylvania, he added, proposed new student residences with provisions for resident faculty members, dining, and recreation facilities will multiply opportunities for student-faculty contacts.

Disconsolate Join New Party

Flocking to the house of the Change party are a group of discontents from the Action and Blue parties. In reference to these people, Zachari said: "From their experience they (Continued on page 5)

U.S. IS WILLING TO TALK WITH CONGO REBELS

WASHINGTON - The United States sent a new message to Congolese rebel leader Christopher Gbene who today asked him to "name the place and time" for talks on the status of captive U.S. citizens including condemned medical missionary Paul Carlos.

The United States earlier this week obtained the intervention of Prime Minister Jomo Kenyatta of Kenya, chairman of a committee of Africans seeking to end the Congo civil war. Kenyatta asked Gbene to spare Carlos's life on humanitarian grounds.

WTKWY, still claiming the medical missionary is a U.S. Army major, said the execution was being postponed but would be carried out next Monday if no basis was found for negotiations on "his prisoners of war" by then.

PRESIDENT SETS NOV. 22 AS DAY OF 'REDEDICATION'

WASHINGTON - President Johnson today proclaimed Sunday, Nov. 22, the first anniversary of the assassination of President John F. Kennedy, "a day of national reedication" to the late President's ideals.

Mr. Johnson read the proclamation at a ceremony in the Cabinet Room at the White House. He accepted on behalf of Mrs. John F. Kennedy, a bronze bust of the late President done by a Washington sculptor, Felix Deweld.

It was a gift of the military, naval and air force aides of the former President. It is placed in the Cabinet Room pending its transfer to the Kennedy Memorial Library, to be built in Boston. Mrs. Eunice Shriver, the late President's sister, represented the Kennedy family.

GUERRILLAS KILL MAYOR IN VENEZUELA TOWN

MARACAIBO, Venezuela - Eight pro-Communist guerrillas attacked the Anzoategui city hall with machine guns last night and killed Mayor Felix Ramon Fures Rodriguez. They fled in a stolen jeep. Venezuelan soldiers pursued but lost them. Anzoategui is in Lara State.

ROME REBUNS FROM CAFE STRIKE

ROME - The Eternal City snapped back to its normal hustle today, freed from the boredom and inconvenience produced by a 24-hour strike of shops, bars, restaurants and cafes.

The proprietors staged their strike to dramatize demands for an overhaul of taxes which they say are too many and too high.

TALKS AT FORD RETURN TO THE 'BIG TABLE'

DETROIT - Top officials of the Ford Motor Co. and the United Auto Workers yesterday met today in an attempt to settle the last three of nine local strikes which Ford blames for reducing its new car output to a trickle.

Ken Binson, the UAW's Ford department director, and M.M. Cummins, Ford's labor relations director, headed the two teams - the first time they had returned to the 'big bargaining table' since Ford and the union agreed to a national three-year contract Sept. 18.

Cummins said if the three strikes continue, they will knock Ford completely out of automobile assembly next week.

TORNADO STRIKES MISSISSIPPI TOWNS

CLARKSDALE, Miss. - A tornado dipped down on two northwest Mississippi communities today causing widespread property damage. No injuries were reported.

The twister struck first just south of the Clarksdale city limits, then hit Lambert. Later it was sighted passing over Batesville.

NORMANGEE, Tex. - A tornado raced nine blocks down Main St. today. No one was injured, but power was disrupted, large trees were uprooted, buildings were unroofed and plate glass windows were smashed.

MORE PLANES AND MEN SENT TO VIET NAM

WASHINGTON - The United States sent another 1,200 military men into South Viet Nam this month, officials disclosed today. More American air transport units also have been thrown into the struggle.

The additional manpower brings U.S. military strength to the troubled area to about 21,000 - up 5,000 since midsummer, sources said.

Some of the reinforcements have been assigned to the U.S. Special Forces, an elite unit specially trained for guerrilla warfare.

Other U.S. forces have been assigned to beef up the teams of American advisers who are working in the field with South Viet Nam troops at the battalion and district levels.

Two Deserving Causes

The demand on the funds of students is constant and intense. We hesitate to join the claims made on our meagre resources; there are two causes of such exceptional merit that we feel justified in adding our name to the list: the University community and the martyred president.

The letter by Larry Burke, former Penn student, about his experiences in the Mississippi Flood. Freelon Project might convince us of the desperate conditions in that state and its areas of the South. Contributions to the Student Non-Violence Coordinating Committee will see immediate service in all those who are engaged in the vital work of the civil rights movement.

Another goal called Operation Freedom is supplying funds to families where the wage earners have lost their jobs as a result of participation in the Movement. These are urgent and admirable efforts well deserving of our financial support.

The Opening Concert

Hard on the heels of the highly successful Shakespeare Festival the University Orchestra and Choral Society will open its series of performances tonight at 8 p.m. in the Music Building. The performances are planned to stress the range of musical life on campus.

The Orchestra will feature a suite from part of the activities of the University's Music Department, which under the chairmanship of distinguished composer George Rochberg has from time to time sponsored concert series during the past few years. This past year saw the presence on campus of Karl-Heinz Stockhausen, the noted German composer of electronic music, and another series of concerts by the Philadelphia String Quartet. Among the musical activities for students one of the most interesting is the group being formed by the Baroque music exclusively. The interest generated by this activity has considerably increased the enrolment in the department's courses.

The Ensemble of Neville S. Strauss, who begins his life as conductor of the University Orchestra, will be featured in the concert tonight. Strauss has been associated with the Baroque music exclusively. The interest generated by this activity has considerably increased the enrolment in the department's courses.

The existence of this body seems more important than it is. There is a tendency to consider it if not numbers by the Administration, it is difficult to be less than maximally important in what happens. Has the time arrived when the members are aware of the agenda of the next meeting. There are a number of active committees, as maintenance goes on, but the committee recommends who the Council is, because the Council has no legislative power in the corporation. The individual Council member is often reluctant to express himself, and if a frank attitude, if not in a debate, with the Administration is by no means a healthy situation. There is considerable alienation from the Administration. Such departmental hearings on particular issues are quite unexpected. As for voicing a "no confidence" in an Administration decision - they do not occur.

Needed Reforms

Certain reforms are needed: this body is to function as it should. The President should not be the Chairman, nor should Administration members have voting rights in the advisory panel. The President, as ex-officio chairmen, should have the right to call meetings to request advice on a problem. The actual chairmen should have these rights as well as a certain number of functions (say 1/2 for convenience).

Administration proposals should be far in advance of any decision. Development, for example, should have the suggestions before, not after, the expense has been incurred. Suggestions should be elicited before expenses and commitments are made.

Consultation

When a question concerns a given school of the University, the entire sector should be consulted. Open hearings should be held under the supervision of the University Council committee, which is designed to put forth and questions, suggestions, and ideas into the Council.

The recommendations of the Council are not binding. We believe that they should be given greater weight, either by making it clear that going with a certain policy connotes voting one way (at 70 per cent), or by increasing the prestige of the Council to the point where its decisions would carry the force of a mandate or an injunction. The latter is a fantastic task without implementing the former, or so it might seem.

So much for the Faculty lines of communication.

Student Affairs

The Division of Student Affairs is the agency for governmental administration - student administration. At present it functions essentially as the disciplinary office and as the body responsible for the BSA - MSG - WSCA budget allocations. There is virtually no attempt to inform the student body of what is going on; the exhibition of a model of the new development plan in Houston Hall is a feeble effort at best, a token move that the tenets of the occupied offices can point to as an opposition to an ill-publicized coup that has occurred.

The student body cannot and should not be expected to understand all the details of the President or Office to find out what is going on. This is not a job for paper, the subject of this discussion paper has so far, frankly, harrassed me since the daylights out of certain people. I believe that it is misleading to find out what is going on. The "news releases" from the University News Bureau are a bunch of lies.

The students and such-and-such a Faculty member getting the Wadsworth Award, the old solution, or the University, it is unfair. The "news releases" are designed to provide a certain information, to show that we can get them only by force or lack.

Student Government

The agencies of student government have a vital role to play in communication. As the only broad-based representatives of student opinion, they should serve as the go-betweens with the Student Affairs Division. To accomplish this, an internal integration and a districting system of offices are an absolute necessity to give the Government the presidency and solidarity it needs to face up to and deal with the Administration.

The Student Affairs Division needs a full-time student affairs staff. I know that it is not the nature of the position, but it would be nice if we had a common perspective could be lost. I believe that it is misleading to find out what is going on. The "news releases" from the University News Bureau are a bunch of lies. The students and such-and-such a Faculty member getting the Wadsworth Award, the old solution, or the University, it is unfair. The "news releases" are designed to provide a certain information, to show that we can get them only by force or lack.

Letters To The Editor

Sober thought has been said to be unknown to many students. It is this sober thought that the administration has been missing over the years. We, the students, have not been providing the sober thought that is necessary for the direction of the university.

Jonny Erics

The current campaign being waged to save the precious open space on campus is one of the most important efforts of this campus year. It shows that enough people care about the campus to be interested in the campus thing which is unusual here. I have noted with dismay the ineffecutive, ill-planned, and disastrous protests which have occurred in the past. In particular, I am referring to the coverage which has received in the campus paper's article is any indication of the rationality of the newspaper's protest. In short, the campus is in serious danger. I suggest we join the Republic of South Africa Police Force, or the United States Special Forces if he has such a passion for peace.

The purpose of the protests should be to exert sufficient pressure on President Harnwell to force him to understand the construction plans. Organized demonstrations have their place here, but to put real pressure on the Administration requires different tactics. I would like to suggest that each apparatus, and alarmed where he could be contacted to request a white 3 x 5 card to be distributed.

If the proposed construction of the Fine Arts Building is completed, I will be unable to contribute to the Alumni Development Fund during the year 1965. If enough students, such as the Benjamin Franklin Associates, could be organized for this purpose, our contributions could be made to an open space in the form of a space charge. I urge the formation of such a movement.

John Wetherhold

People To People
Holds Open Party

This evening People to People will hold its first party of the year in the Christian Association, located at the corner of 30th and Locust Walk, from 8 to 12 p.m. The gala affair will be open to all foreign and American students of the University and will feature dancing, folk-singing and various international survivals.

Tonight's party ends a week which has included many activities sponsored by the newly formed and already active People to People chapter at the University. On Wednesday evening fifteen foreign students and American students attended a performance of the Penn Women's College Drama Club's production of "Thieves Carnival." Following the show the entire group went over to Granda, where they had a midnight tea.

Next Monday a meeting will be held of all People to People members interested in the "Student Abroad" program. The meeting will be in the East Alumni Room, located at the corner of 34th and Walnut, and weekly teas will be held.

used for something anyway in conformity with the overall plan for enclosing blocks of open space with buildings. The present Graduate Fine Arts building, opposite Towne, will be appropriated by the Engineering School and the Geology Department if the new structure is completed. Dr. Hartwell claimed that, while alternate sites were considered, the "availability" of the new structure is completed.

Columbia University raised its tuition $240 in most university divisions for the 1965-66 academic year.

The tuition hike from $1,790 to $1,930, makes Columbia the most expensive school in the Ivy League.

The tuition in Columbia graduate schools will also go up next fall; the law school to $1,900, makes Columbia the seventeenth in 1962.

Columbia officials attributed the increases to the sharply rising living costs.

High School Students Attend Symposium Here

A Junior Science and Humanities Symposium for southeastern Pennsylvania high school students is being held today and tomorrow (Thursday and Friday, November 18 and 19) at the university.

"Research in Progress - Science is Making," in the theme of the two-day program sponsored by the university, the U.S. Army Research Office of Durham, N.C., and the Franklin Arsenal.

One hundred fifty boys and girls are expected to register between 8 and 10 a.m. today in the lobby of the Sheraton Motor Inn. Thirty-nine teachers also will participate in the symposium.

The opening session will be held from 9 to 10:15 a.m. to noon in the auditorium of Dietrich Hall, 325 Locust Walk. Dr. George E. Rass, assistant professor of psychiatry at the university, will speak on "Men in Space." Dr. Frederick C, Girdner, professor of education at Pennsylvania, in chairman of the session at which Dr. Hayford H. Canner, president of the University, and George S. Purnell, U.S. Army Research Office Director of the Junior Science and Humanities Symposiums, will extend greetings to the students.

After lunch and campus tours, students will meet from 1:30 to 4:30 p.m. with University scientists and scholars. A colloquium for teachers will be held from 5:30 to 5 p.m. in the Tea Room of the Faculty Club, 39th and Walnut Sts.

A banquet session will be held from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. in the ballroom of the Sheraton Motor Inn.

ZBT Tackles KKG Today On WRH Field

The third annual football game between Kappa Kappa Gamma Sorority and Zeta Beta Tau Fraternity will be played this afternoon at 2:00 p.m. at Franklin Field. Zeta Beta Tau will be aiming for an unprecedented third straight triumph.

Coach Steve Lockman of ZBT stated, "We will definitely bethe underdog in the game. Our scouts report that Kappa went out and got some really big Amazons in their pledge class of 25 girls. Furthermore, our backfield, piloted by Steve Herman, has always had trouble with girls, and we will need a good performance from him if we expect to break through the holes in their line."

Puss Draper of Kappa Kappa Gamma intimates that the Kappa offense will be a mobile, constantly shifting one. She says, "I play anywhere. All of us play anywhere, except Squeak Brown, the quarterback." She plays quarterback.

If the game is anything like it has been in the past, fans can look for a close high-scoring encounter, mainly caused by a large crowd is expected to see the game and the Kappas in their Eagle uniforms.

Instrumental sonatas will appear with the Orchestra and Choral Society in a presentation of Handel's Ode for St. Cecilia's Day.

The Orchestra also will play the 1947 version of Stravinsky's Symphonies of Wind Instruments. It will be joined by the Choral Society for a presentation of Bach's Motet No. 3; Jesu meine Freuda, orchestrated by Roman Pawlowsky.

The new director of the Orchestra and Choral Society has been active for many years as a conductor in the field of opera, symphony orchestra, oratorio and chamber ensemble. As assistant to Erich Lottinard at the Berkshire Music Center during the 1964 season, he was the first recipient of The Fromm Fellowship in Conducting at Tanglewood in 1963 and holds it again this year.

Strauss won a scholarship to the Leadership Training Program of the Opera Department of Tanglewood in 1967 and the Samuel Adler Prize for Conducting, awarded by the New Jersey Symphony Orchestra, in 1962.
The Dartmouth Game

ANOTHER LONG SEASON FINALLY ENDS

By BOB ROTTENBERG

The putative ineptitude of the 1964 edition of the Pennsylvania Valley football team is causing Penn alumni either to turn over in their graves for the good old days, or the present student body to clamor for a new coach. Yet one feels that there is really no good cause for all the fuss and indignation, for it can be shown scientifically that if Penn were to play Notre Dame, the Indians would beat them by the score of 21-14, so we would beat them by 21 points. Penn State is a serious contender for the championship. This is especially true because Brown's win over cellar-dwelling Columbia can almost be considered a sure thing.

It's up to Penn to dash Dartmouth's hopes for a single occurrence of the number one slot, and for an invitation to the NCAA championship playoffs. Mean-while, Dartmouth has already beaten Boston College by a 21-14 count, proving that 1st liners, Gerry Brown, is a serious contender for the championship. This is especially true because Brown's win over cellar-dwelling Columbia can almost be considered a sure thing.

The Ivy secret race is not yet set. Although Dartmouth with a 5-0-2 record has assured itself of at least a part of the three more to Penn tomorrow morning and a win for Brown over Columbia would result in a two way tie.

Soccer, unlike football, is run on a point basis, with two points for a win and one point for a tie. Thus Brown with a 4-1-2 record is a serious contender for the championship. This is especially true because Brown's win over cellar-dwelling Columbia can almost be considered a sure thing.

Grapplers Take On West Chester In Practice Meet

With only three weeks of wrestling practice under its belt and just about three more until the first match of the season, the Pennsylvania wrestling team took on the Rams of West Chester State in a pre-season scrimmage Wednesday afternoon.

For Coach Don Frey, it was his first chance to assess the relative strength of his squad which was hit by the graduation of six first stringers last May. In spite of the gradations, Bill Coercett, Richie Sofman and Bruce Jacobson forming the nucleus, the squad seems to be shaping up to the standards it has established for itself in the last few years.

Part of the reason for the bright outlook are the fine performances argued by new men like Barry Tipler of Long Beach, Calif., and Bill Morris. Coercett has looked impressive in the weight at 157 pounds, while Morris, the interfraternity Champion of a year ago, has been showing skill at 157. Both are being counted on heavily to fill in some of the front line gaps in the lineup.

"The scrimmage simulated match conditions and pointed to our need for more work on conditioning and moves," said Coach Frey, "Actually, I would rather have had this scrimmage about a week later but it was still valuable." He was alluding to the fact that first liners, Gerry Gates, Bill Coercett, Steve Sawyer have not been working out with the squad yet. Gates and Jordan are linemen on the football team while Sawyer is a member of the Club-wildcats, West Chester, which does not appear on Penn's schedule, provided an excellent test for the grapplers, and for an invitation to the NCAA championship. This is especially true because Brown's win over cellar-dwelling Columbia can almost be considered a sure thing.
