South African Defends Apartheid

By JERRY BLAKELEY III

William Grobler, speaking in defense of the apartheid policy in the union of South Africa, yesterday denounced those who present only one side of his nation's racial policy and attempt "to solve our problems with solutions they have used on their own problems."

In the speech sponsored by the Philomathite Society, Mr. Grobler, presently the Information Counselor for the Union of South Africa in Washington, built up his argument on the premise of Toynbee and Walter Lippman

...And Don't Forget The New ERA

BETTER STUDENT PARTY DISQUALIFIED APPEAL

The Men's Student Government Committee on Elections last night disqualified the Better Student party from the 11 MSG election.

The Committee acted after learning of two "irregularities" on the part of the newly-formed student party. Richard Cowan, Better Student party chairman, said that he would appeal the decision of the Elections Committee to the MSG student judiciary and the Dean of Men.

Cowan called the decision of the Elections Committee "poltically-inspired." Told of this charge, Ron Hunter, the decision was "not politically-inspired."

The two violations, according to a statement by the Elections Committee are: 1) violation of section 4(b) which states that the suggested slate be drawn up by the council of a party and the time and place of the party nominating convention shall be published in the student newspaper at least one week before the convention. 2) presentation of the two candidates on the suggested slate without their consent, one of whom had not signed a party petition as required by section 4(e) of Article XII of the MSG constitution.

Cowan called the Election Committee's decision "entirely political." In response to the charges, noting that N Daily Pennsylvanian was immediately corrected and the correction made when this was discovered, that the candidates on the slate without their consent although it was too late for the type to be changed. The MSG does not require that the Elections Committee be given a copy of the un-approved slate.

Cowan also said that the Better Student Party understood that the person to whom the Election's Committee referred Cowan decided not to have a party petition was approached by his roommate, acting on a go-between for the Better Student party. "But even this follow-up misses the point," Cowan said.

"We have to deal with realities," Mr. Grobler continued, "such as those which we were always mentally in the past," referring to the situation in the Congo.

Another of the realities that South Africans are confronted with is that there is no common language among the eleven million people in South Africa. Besides the problem of communication there is a real conflict between the whites and blacks, the whites and blacks, and the blacks of the blacks and Indians.

He continued that "we have not a few individuals, rather, we must educate nations."

(Continued on page 5)

WILLIAM GROBLER Information Officer

of Toynbee and Walter Lippman that some people apparently are unable to live together, and, thus, it may be better to sort them out and let them live separately.

"We have to deal with realities," Mr. Grobler continued, "such as those which we were always mentally in the past," referring to the situation in the Congo.

Another of the realities that South Africans are confronted with is that there is no common language among the eleven million people in South Africa. Besides the problem of communication there is a real conflict between the whites and whites, the whites and blacks, the blacks and blacks, and between the blacks and Indians.

He continued that "we have not a few individuals, rather, we must educate nations."

(Continued on page 5)

Students Question MSG NASA Congress Delegation

The Men's Student Government Committee on Elections last night disqualified the Better Student party from the 11 MSG election.

The Committee acted after learning of two "irregularities" on the part of the newly-formed student party. Richard Cowan, Better Student party chairman, said that he would appeal the decision of the Elections Committee to the MSG student judiciary and the Dean of Men.

Cowan called the decision of the Elections Committee "poltically-inspired." Told of this charge, Ron Hunter, the decision was "not politically-inspired."

The two violations, according to a statement by the Elections Committee are: 1) violation of section 4(b) which states that the suggested slate be drawn up by the council of a party and the time and place of the party nominating convention shall be published in the student newspaper at least one week before the convention. 2) presentation of the two candidates on the suggested slate without their consent, one of whom had not signed a party petition as required by section 4(e) of Article XII of the MSG constitution.

Cowan called the Election Committee's decision "entirely political." In response to the charges, noting that N Daily Pennsylvanian was immediately corrected and the correction made when this was discovered, that the candidates on the slate without their consent although it was too late for the type to be changed. The MSG does not require that the Elections Committee be given a copy of the un-approved slate.

Cowan also said that the Better Student Party understood that the person to whom the Election's Committee referred Cowan decided not to have a party petition was approached by his roommate, acting on a go-between for the Better Student party. "But even this follow-up misses the point," Cowan said.

"We have to deal with realities," Mr. Grobler continued, "such as those which we were always mentally in the past," referring to the situation in the Congo.

Another of the realities that South Africans are confronted with is that there is no common language among the eleven million people in South Africa. Besides the problem of communication there is a real conflict between the whites and whites, the whites and blacks, the blacks and blacks, and between the blacks and Indians.

He continued that "we have not a few individuals, rather, we must educate nations."

(Continued on page 5)

The Men's Student Government Committee on Elections last night disqualified the Better Student party from the 11 MSG election.

The Committee acted after learning of two "irregularities" on the part of the newly-formed student party. Richard Cowan, Better Student party chairman, said that he would appeal the decision of the Elections Committee to the MSG student judiciary and the Dean of Men.

Cowan called the decision of the Elections Committee "poltically-inspired." Told of this charge, Ron Hunter, the decision was "not politically-inspired."

The two violations, according to a statement by the Elections Committee are: 1) violation of section 4(b) which states that the suggested slate be drawn up by the council of a party and the time and place of the party nominating convention shall be published in the student newspaper at least one week before the convention. 2) presentation of the two candidates on the suggested slate without their consent, one of whom had not signed a party petition as required by section 4(e) of Article XII of the MSG constitution.

Cowan called the Election Committee's decision "entirely political." In response to the charges, noting that N Daily Pennsylvanian was immediately corrected and the correction made when this was discovered, that the candidates on the slate without their consent although it was too late for the type to be changed. The MSG does not require that the Elections Committee be given a copy of the un-approved slate.

Cowan also said that the Better Student Party understood that the person to whom the Election's Committee referred Cowan decided not to have a party petition was approached by his roommate, acting on a go-between for the Better Student party. "But even this follow-up misses the point," Cowan said.

"We have to deal with realities," Mr. Grobler continued, "such as those which we were always mentally in the past," referring to the situation in the Congo.

Another of the realities that South Africans are confronted with is that there is no common language among the eleven million people in South Africa. Besides the problem of communication there is a real conflict between the whites and whites, the whites and blacks, the blacks and blacks, and between the blacks and Indians.

He continued that "we have not a few individuals, rather, we must educate nations."

(Continued on page 5)

Students Question MSG NASA Congress Delegation

The Men's Student Government Committee on Elections last night disqualified the Better Student party from the 11 MSG election.

The Committee acted after learning of two "irregularities" on the part of the newly-formed student party. Richard Cowan, Better Student party chairman, said that he would appeal the decision of the Elections Committee to the MSG student judiciary and the Dean of Men.

Cowan called the decision of the Elections Committee "poltically-inspired." Told of this charge, Ron Hunter, the decision was "not politically-inspired."

The two violations, according to a statement by the Elections Committee are: 1) violation of section 4(b) which states that the suggested slate be drawn up by the council of a party and the time and place of the party nominating convention shall be published in the student newspaper at least one week before the convention. 2) presentation of the two candidates on the suggested slate without their consent, one of whom had not signed a party petition as required by section 4(e) of Article XII of the MSG constitution.

Cowan called the Election Committee's decision "entirely political." In response to the charges, noting that N Daily Pennsylvanian was immediately corrected and the correction made when this was discovered, that the candidates on the slate without their consent although it was too late for the type to be changed. The MSG does not require that the Elections Committee be given a copy of the un-approved slate.

Cowan also said that the Better Student Party understood that the person to whom the Election's Committee referred Cowan decided not to have a party petition was approached by his roommate, acting on a go-between for the Better Student party. "But even this follow-up misses the point," Cowan said.

"We have to deal with realities," Mr. Grobler continued, "such as those which we were always mentally in the past," referring to the situation in the Congo.

Another of the realities that South Africans are confronted with is that there is no common language among the eleven million people in South Africa. Besides the problem of communication there is a real conflict between the whites and whites, the whites and blacks, the blacks and blacks, and between the blacks and Indians.

He continued that "we have not a few individuals, rather, we must educate nations."

(Continued on page 5)

Deak To Lecture On Internat'l Law Today

Francis Deak of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace and Visiting Professor at Rutgers University, Law School, will speak today at 3:00 p.m. in room 213 of the Law School.

The professor will speak on the attitude of neutral, belligerent, and developing countries toward international law.

The lecture will be given on a ten month study he recently made in several countries on four continents. The object of the tour was to survey the status of the teaching of international law and the activities of international lawyers in countries, including Poland, the USSR and Yugoslavia but concentrated mainly on the newly independent African and developing countries of Africa, Asia and Latin America.

Deak personally interviewed qualified individuals and groups, differing in age and occupation. He also visited universities, institutes and libraries and concluded that international studies in general and international law in particular have a very low priority as academic disciplines.

Since completing his study, Deak has been meeting with leading international jurists and representatives from developing countries. The Carnegie Endowment has held regional "round-table" conferences and is publishing teaching and research materials concentrating on the special needs of the countries.
The success of the University's book store can be attributed to several factors. First, the University has a large and diverse student body. Second, the store is well-stocked with a variety of books and supplies. Third, the store is conveniently located on campus. And finally, the store is run by dedicated and knowledgeable employees.

In conclusion, the University's book store is a valuable resource for students. It provides a wide range of products and services at reasonable prices. By supporting the book store, students can help ensure its success and availability for future generations of students.

Letters To The Editor

1. What's new in finance?
I think I found a real sleeper.

2. How about letting an old buddy in?
Don't spread it around, but a very dear friend of my Uncle Ed's comes to mind. This fellow had seen a banner that a department store in the area was running promoting "50% off all men's suits". The friend was a confirmed bachelor and thought it would be a good opportunity to get into the market. So he went into the store, showed the banner to the salesperson, and said he was interested in buying a suit. The salesperson was very helpful and showed him a wide variety of suits. The friend picked out a suit he liked and paid for it. The store gave him a receipt for the purchase.

3. Chippewa & Wabash? They just need a fresh inventory.
Uncle Ed didn't mention that.

4. What's more, the president's pension?
A typical pension that the company is reported to be on his way to Brazil.

5. Look, if you're going to be a securities analyst you have to know all the law, situations and get all the facts.
I thought your field was paleontology.

6. I just signed up for a terrific job in Equitable's Securities Management Division. With an M.B.A. in Finance, a guy like me can be a securities analyst and work up to a top investment management job. What could be bad in paleontology?

For information about living insurance, see The Man from Equitable. For complete information about career opportunities at Equitable, see The Man from Equitable. For information about Life Insurance, see The Man from Equitable.
Blueprint For Greatness

The University has prepared a program of expansion and development that has excited admiration throughout the Philadelphia area.

President Gaylord P. Harrwell released the plans for the project at the Tuesday meeting of the University Council. He announced that the project will include the construction of the new Fine Arts Building, the expansion of the Van Pelt Library, and the reorganization of the Student government.

In addition, there is some question about the resources that will be devoted to undergraduate development. The University would like to emphasize the graduate and professional schools at the expense of the undergraduate, particularly liberal arts schools. Certainly, it is the graduate and professional schools which, given a high state of competition, will contribute to the success of the government and industry for special projects.

The benefits of "community of scholars" is to be a reality, more than pluses must talk to it in its planning. In the past, the medical facilities will receive a tremendous proportion (nearly 45%) of the total funds. Society will emerge with some aspects that should be reconsidered. Overall, however, they are the blueprint of Penn's future greatness.

---

Organicism Reconsidered

ALLYN B. BRODSKY

"The Ethics of Selfishness, A New Concept of Egoism," by Ayn Rand with Nathaniel Branden, is the latest presentation of the philosophy of Objectivism. It is also the first attempt by Miss Rand to express her philosophy from the concept of her novels, and in as much things Miss Rand attempts, the book is a highly successful presentation of the philosophy of "Atlas Shrugged."

Why "Selfishness"

"The Virtue of Selfishness" is an interesting title, and in her introduction, Miss Rand explains why she uses the word selfishness.

"It is not a mere semantic issue, a matter of arbitrary choice. The meaning sacrificed in popular usage to the word 'selfishness' is not merely wrong: it represents doing intellectual 'package-deal,' which is irresponsible, more than any other single factor, for the retarded moral development of mankind."

"In popular usage, the word 'selfishness' is a synonym of evil: the image it conjures is of a murderous brute who tramples over piles of corpses to achieve his own ends, who cares for no living being and pities nothing but the gratification of mindless whims of any immediate moment."

"The exact meaning and dictionary definition of the word selfishness is 'concern with one's own interests.'"

"This concept does not include a moral evaluation; it does not tell us whether concern with one's own interests is good or evil; nor does it tell us what constitutes man's actual interests. It is the basis of ethical questions."

The book is composed of nineteen essays (five by Mr. Branden), of which all but one were originally printed as "The Objectivist Newsletter." The edition includes "The Objectivist Ethics" -- originally presented in 1961 as a Speech at the University of Wisconsin Symposium, "Ethics of Our Times," the other articles deal with further ethical questions: the concept of man's rights, the proper functioning and financing of a government, in a free society, the problem of compromise and moral egoism, racism, the argument from individualism: the philosophy of psychology, the opposition of mental health and a doctrine of mysticism and selfishness."

Miss Rand expresses the purpose of her book as follows: "This collection is not a systematic discussion of ethics, but a series of essays on those ethical subjects which need clarification in today's contest, or which had been most confused by altruism's influence."

Opinion

To sum up, "The Virtue of Selfishness" is a concise, well-written treatment of some of the most significant moral issues of our times. It completely destroys the vicious dichotomy of a self-sacrificial, moral labelled 'egoist.' It offers a strong basis for the natural rights of man. It establishes the necessity for a government which function is limited to the protection of those rights: deals with the all-important and often neglected individual aspect: the relationship between philosophy and psychology."

"The Virtue of Selfishness," published by Signet Books for sixty cents, is now available in local book stores or, if you order, in quantity, to the University."

---

A Time For Decision: II

ARTHUR W. SHAPIRO

There has never been a time on this campus when student politics meant anything beyond the satisfaction of social and partisan ambitions -- until now.

There has never been a time when Men's Student Government was a potential force in the reshaping of this campus -- until now.

There has never been a pressing need for students to unify and act on their own behalf through political pressures -- until now.

The coming MIG election is something extraordinary. It is more than a contest between two student factions for control of a "Mickey Mouse" organization.

It is more than what has been in the past, but this year it is something more: it is a very real test of whether the University is to move forward and whether the student is to be recognized for the being that he is.

There were signs recently of a reorganization of the election system; it was definitely not a "package-deal" and canvassing efforts on the part of the proponents as compared with intensive propagandizing by those who opposed it. Had the proposal been accepted there would be little reason for alarm in the current election. It is of interest that many students, especially freshmen, are still unalloyed with the reality of politics and this is in a word, dangerous -- not to any particular political organization but to the whole concept of improving student-administration relations. A yes vote in this point could mean a postponement, for perhaps longer than any of our readers will be here, of the much-needed revolution in Student Affairs.

The opponents of the referendum were frailly right. They have asserted that the formation of a districting system would be to break the hold of the fraternities on the student government -- a hold that cannot be broken except through the victory of an "independent" party. Most of those houses are organized in the apparatus of the Red and Blue parties and the leadership of many "progressive" houses and many of its leaders have come to be known as the "independent" party.

The fact is that the only result of fraternity domination of MIG is the lack of independent representation. If the government were completely staffed by Greek letter men, it could not do anything to stop the trend against the fraternity system. The fraternity men are a lazy, apathetic and are outstanding practitioners of raw power, but they have not understood negotiation, ever.

They have never understood that the interests of fraternity men and independents are not mutually exclusive, but can be united by adapting themselves to the changing times that they face. They are as willing to have the weight to carry the day, titles notwithstanding.

Student government has to be broad-based. It cannot represent the special interest of any group in the University. The Student Council exists to protect and coordinate the frat interests, just as the new commuter organization represents all of the students in relations with the Student government. The Inter-fraternity Council exists to protect and coordinate the frat interests, just as the new commuter organization represents all of the students in relations with the Student government. The Inter-fraternity Council exists to protect and coordinate the frat interests, just as the new commuter organization represents all of the students in relations with the Student government. If the government were completely staffed by Greek letter men, it could not do anything to stop the trend against the fraternity system. The fraternity men are a lazy, apathetic and are outstanding practitioners of raw power, but they have not understood negotiation, ever.

They have never understood that the interests of fraternity men and independents are not mutually exclusive, but can be united by adapting themselves to the changing times that they face. They are as willing to have the weight to carry the day, titles notwithstanding.

The role of student government must be to include and represent all of these interests, just as the government of the United States includes and represents all the local interests in the contest of national unity. Just as the U.S. government represents all of the people in international relations, so the student government must represent all of the students in relations with the Administration. It cannot do this if its special interest dominates its membership and functions.
Speaker

(Continued from page 1)

to-be to Boston megalopolis."1"

Dr. Harwell noted that the development plan, which is the result of a five-year educational survey that began in 1954, is the answer to the educational and physical needs of the University. The survey first indicated the concentration of needs which the University has for which it stands from all others as an example of its location in Philadelphia, its proximity to Washington and New York, its geographic unity, and the concentration of faculty talents in many important fields.

Indicates Weaknesses

It then pointed out the University's weaknesses including the lack of good student-faculty relationships and the danger that a too-high degree of specialization in the departments may depete its advantages.

To meet these challenges, the survey called for a degree of social unity which is uniquely possible at Pennsylvania because of its geographic unit. It envisioned a primarily residential university, with candle-clock opportunities for social and intellectual pre-and take between student and student, between teacher and student, and between the several academic specialties. It called for a community of scholars, rather than a band of scholarly communists.

The survey made several recommendations: (1) It urged the University to assure its undergraduate the full benefits of its plentiful resources. (2) It recommended that undergraduate years be devoted largely to general education, with most professional training being postponed to the graduate level. (3) It likewise encouraged the provision of facilities to bring graduate students together.

Many of the suggestions have been carried out since then like the transfer of undergraduate teacher training to the liberal arts colleges, the transformation of the School of Fine Arts into a graduate school, the organization of a Faculty Club, and the introduction of the General Honors Program.

Its location in Philadelphia, its physical needs of the University. Its development plan, which is the result of a five-year education survey that began in 1954, is the answer to the educational and physical needs of the University. The survey first indicated the concentration of needs which the University has for the University has which sets it apart from all others as an example of its location in Philadelphia, its proximity to Washington and New York, its geographic unity, and the concentration of faculty talents in many important fields.

Indicates Weaknesses

It then pointed out the University's weaknesses including the lack of good student-faculty relationships and the danger that a too-high degree of specialization in the departments may depete its advantages.

To meet these challenges, the survey called for a degree of social unity which is uniquely possible at Pennsylvania because of its geographic unit. It envisioned a primarily residential university, with candle-clock opportunities for social and intellectual pre-and take between student and student, between teacher and student, and between the several academic specialties. It called for a community of scholars, rather than a band of scholarly communists.

The survey made several recommendations: (1) It urged the University to assure its undergraduate the full benefits of its plentiful resources. (2) It recommended that undergraduate years be devoted largely to general education, with most professional training being postponed to the graduate level. (3) It likewise encouraged the provision of facilities to bring graduate students together.

Many of the suggestions have been carried out since then like the transfer of undergraduate teacher training to the liberal arts colleges, the transformation of the School of Fine Arts into a graduate school, the organization of a Faculty Club, and the introduction of the General Honors Program.

The development plan will carry on these improvements.

Classified Ads

A-2 TYPING, EXPERIENCED STAFF OF 20, Employing, Paying, Paid Corporate, Two-3000-W, 724-3897.

TYPING SERVICE TRUCK, 3000 WORDS

TYPING SERVICE TRUCK, 3000 WORDS, 724-3897.

TYPING SERVICE TRUCK, 3000 WORDS, 724-3897.

TYPING SERVICE TRUCK, 3000 WORDS, 724-3897.

TYPING SERVICE TRUCK, 3000 WORDS, 724-3897.

TYPING SERVICE TRUCK, 3000 WORDS, 724-3897.

WORLD 4A, 2221 DOORBELL, REPAIRS, replace wheels & axels, auto parts, tank parts, have been transferred, mail only BAL 3-3131.

TOP PRICE PAID FOR ANY MAKE OR MODEL 3-WAY, 2-SIDE, 3-SIDE, McCreed 210, 440.

PROFESSIONAL TYPING—ESTABLISHED

PROFESSIONAL TYPING—ESTABLISHED

PROFESSIONAL TYPING—ESTABLISHED

PROFESSIONAL TYPING—ESTABLISHED

PROFESSIONAL TYPING—ESTABLISHED

CONTACT LENS WASHERS, DOLLAR

CLASSIFIED ADS

Listed in this issue, Philadelphia's Only

DON'T WAIT TOO LATE

WINTERIZE SPECIAL

$895

STAN'S ESSE

BAZ-9519

38th & MARKET STS.

SKI SUPPLIES

SKI JACKETS-SKI SLAX

GLOVES-SHARFS-SWEATERS, etc.

VARITY SHOP

OPPOSITE MENS DORMS

ESSE

THE DAILY PENNSYLVANIAN

WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 2, 1964

Student Party

(Continued from page 1)

required by the constitution.

The Elections' Committee itself was not in total agreement with respect to the decision to disband the Better Student Party, in a statement, the Committee voiced its division this way: "The majority held that the strict adherence to the constitution was mandatory in order to preserve the integrity of the election. It was however the feeling of the minority of the committee that the Better Student Government Party tried to fulfill the responsibility of a political party as outlined in the constitution and while they did not uphold the letter of the law they upheld the spirit."
Grobler Defend his Apartheid

(Continued from page 1)

In defense of the policies of his government Mr. Grobler stated that "never has there been any attempt to make faster progress than at the moment. We hope to wipe out illiteracy with the decade...and we hope that within two years we will have no slums."

In his speech Mr. Grobler reviewed the history of his nation, stating that "perhap some of the measures we impose are temporary," however, he indicated in the end these measures will be justified.

University Agenda

- "Biblical Antisemitism in Israel?" The final Israeli Crisis" will be the topic of a lecture by Mr. Harel Shaked, doctor candidate at Penn Law School and former Justice of the Israeli Court of Military Appeal, sponsored by the Student Zionist Organization. The program will also include a special Channukah celebration of folk songs and Israeli folk dances. The meeting will take place on Sunday, December 6 at 4:00 p.m. at the Hillel Foundation. All are welcome.

- Pennsylvania Players Workshop presents "The Dock Brief" by John Mortimer and "The Stranger Kind of Homosexual" by Tennessee Williams, December 5th at 7:30 p.m. in McClelland Hall, rehearsal room, admission free.

- In the defense of the policies of his government Mr. Grobler stated that "never has there been any attempt to make faster progress than at the moment. We hope to wipe out illiteracy with the decade...and we hope that within two years we will have no slums."

The hungry need you...

Pitch in and Help!

You, your friends, your fellow Americans are the people the hungry must depend on to send CARE food packages to them.

Because world hunger is acute, our Government donates farm abundance as cans are the people the hungry must depend on to send CARE food packages to them.

Because world hunger is acute, our Government donates farm abundance as cans are the people the hungry must depend on to send CARE food packages to them.

Because world hunger is acute, our Government donates farm abundance as cans are the people the hungry must depend on to send CARE food packages to them.

 Because world hunger is acute, our Government donates farm abundance as cans are the people the hungry must depend on to send CARE food packages to them.

Because world hunger is acute, our Government donates farm abundance as cans are the people the hungry must depend on to send CARE food packages to them.

You are America to the people CARE food -- every dollar goes toward a big food package in your name.
Univ. Plans

Over 2000 Other Students Attended Our Las* Mixer!

NSA

over 2000 other students attended our las* mixer!

Cat Tears Stop Germs

Revolutionary facts about cat tears have been discovered over the past two years by Dr. Stella Y. Bokholo and Dr. Mitshuku Hida, university's 100,000 alumni and sources including the University at the time although one took a leave of absence this September.

Waller, who is finance chairman, denied any responsibility for allocating funds. "The funds were approved by the dean of men and disbursed by his office," explained Waller.

The CATACOMBS

requests those interested in performing or working on this new opera to call Dan Finney at EV 2-6604 or Bill Gibson at EV 0-1576.

WXPN Banquet Held Monday

WXPN held its annual banquet Monday evening, at which time the new executive board was announced.

present at the dinner were dean and Mrs. James Craft, dean of Women; Miss Joan Marshall, Mr. and Mrs. Robert T. Clapp, WXPN's Faculty Advisor, Mr. and Mrs. Francis M. Bette III, and Dr. and Mrs. William Kelley. Immediately following the dinner, the outgoing station manager, Henry Lott, announced the following members of the new Executive Board, Station Manager - Donald Cassady: Program Director - Michael Newton; Business Manager - Roger Powers; and Technical Director - Steve Demasian.

In addition to the new Executive Board members, two other sophomores were elected to membership in the Penn Mike Club. They are Miss Andrea Mitchell, CW '67, and Mr. Paul Kupperman, CW '67. In his speech on taking office, the new Station Manager set forth a basic goal for the year: "Improving our image and expanding our campus audience." He stated that, in response to student requests, the station will shortly start programming popular music on 5 M in the evenings.

WXPN broadcasts to the Men's and Women's Dorms on 730 AM and reaches the Delaware Valley at 81.9 meg. FM.

Over 2000 Other Students Attended Our Last Mixer!

HANNAH KAH Hootenanny

Thursday 4-5 PM

At The Hillie Foundation

All Graduate Mixer Friday Night December 4

Featuring The V.I.P.S.

NEW CAMPUS CLASSIC

THE PENGUIN BOOK OF AMERICAN FOLK SONGS

Compiled and edited with notes by ALAN LOMAX. Piano arrangements by EVELYN POSTON. With guitar chords and complete guitar tablature method for beginners and skilled players alike.

“The PENGUIN BOOK OF AMERICAN FOLK SONGS includes all your favorite songs - comic, sentimental, patriotic, ballads, folk and popular. It’s a perfect gift for all occasions!...

Here’s a fun-filled new extra-curricular course in folk singing. No music on campus exposes everyone!...

The PENGUIN BOOK OF AMERICAN FOLK SONGS includes all your favorite songs - comic, sentimental, patriotic ballads, folk and popular. It’s a perfect gift for all occasions!...

New York's greatest, newest hotel at Special College Rates

It's right in the heart of everything that New York has to offer. The theatre, supper clubs, Rockefellers Center, and just off exciting Broadway.

SPECIAL RATES

Students:

$6 each, 2 in room.

$5 each, 3 in room. $10 single.

Facility:

$6, $7.50, $9 each, 2 in room. $12 single.

NOW! For reservations, contact Mr. Kent

THE NEW YORK HILTON or Rockefeller Center 53rd & 54th Streets

Ave. of the Americas

New York, N. Y. 10019

Phone 212/6/7/9/000
MAKE YOUR CHRISTMAS RESERVATIONS NOW!

Penn Towne Travel, Inc.
411 S. 40th St.
Specialists In Group Travel
Telephone BA 2-7670

RENT
CUSTOM TOWN HOUSE
Tile Bath
Fireplaces
Centrally Air
All Formica Kitchen
Garbage Disposal
Hardwood Floors
WA 3-3373
TR 8-1914

Grid Banquet Honors Riblett

LONDON
$310.00
round trip
CALL: Joel DF-5104
Arrangements through:
Astro Travel Service

Fencers Meet NYU; Clash Between Giants
By DAVE SACHSBA

This talented Violet won the East- erns as a sophomore and finished fourth in the Nationals in both his sophomore and junior years. NYU was forced to move Ad- der back to foil because of the Violet's lack of depth in that divi- sion due to the graduation of Marvin Garavoy and Jerry Cer- rudo.

While this year's Violet squad seems noticeably weakened by losses, the Red and Blue seems stronger than ever. Last year's freshmen team was excellent and the Quakers' starting lineup boasts no less than five sophomores.

Captain Steve Netburn started the fencing career in foil, the lightest of the three swords used in competition. When he entered NYU he changed to the slightly heavier epee.

Violet's back to foil because of the Quaker" starting lineupboasts no less than five sophomores. New Fencers Meet NYU; Clash Between Giants

Steve Netburn calls Goodman, "the best colle- giate saberman in the country." This talented Violet won the East- erns as a sophomore and finished fourth in the Nationals in both his sophomore and junior years. NYU was forced to move Ad- der back to foil because of the Violet's lack of depth in that divi- sion due to the graduation of Marvin Garavoy and Jerry Cer- rudo.

While this year's Violet squad seems noticeably weakened by losses, the Red and Blue seems stronger than ever. Last year's freshmen team was excellent and the Quakers' starting lineup boasts no less than five sophomores. Captain Steve Netburn started the fencing career in foil, the lightest of the three swords used in competition. When he entered NYU he changed to the slightly heavier epee.

Steve Netburn calls Goodman, "the best colle- giate saberman in the country."
The forward positions will be handled by freshmen Jack Greene and sophomore Bill Lohmeyer. Greene has been impressive on defense and could be an effective rebounder for his 6'4" Lob. Lohmeyer, who suffered an injury, is more of a rebounder, but he should be ready for Rutgers.

The Quakers may be somewhat handicapped by their lack of experience and by the need to produce a team of the same quality and professionalism as they will have in the starting lineup. The team will have to prove that fact to Rutgers tonight.

Grid Bets for Honors Riblet and Hannum

Jock Hannum was elected captain of the Penn football team and Paul G. Riblet was presented as the Football Club’s Man of the Year at the Annual Dinner Banquet held last night at the Benjamin Franklin Hotel.

Hannum, a 6-0, 195 lb. center and halfback, stood out all year as a precise passer and tackler. He handled the kick-off chores, he succeeded center Jim Beipe, who stated after Saturday’s game, "The best thing about football was the thrill of my life."

Riblett, the only coach who has been consistently successful on the field, attracted many top high school prospects. Last year the Rutgers football club set the precedent for a 5000 seat crowd.

Riblett was one of the first coaches to realize the importance of De-Emphasis and started on his program immediately. The football club’s award was approved by the Intercollegiate Athletic Association.

Riblett was a member of the Club, also announced that he would be handling the kick-off chores. He succeeds center Jim Beipe, who stated after Saturday’s game, "The best thing about football was the thrill of my life."

Gophers Open Season Tonight Against Rutgers

By JOHN JAFFE

The Penn basketball team took off against the Scarlet Knights in the season opener against Rutgers. The game is scheduled for 11:30 a.m. as the second half of a Penn doubleheader which features Temple against Gettysburg in the first game.

While this will be the Scarlet Knights’ first game, Rutgers has already had one under its belt, having defeated Glassboro State 86-70 last night. While Penn easily handled the Scarlet Knights last year, 91-43, and hit the “center” consistently, the men from New Brunswick will probably evince some stifling competition tonight.

Expected to lead the Scarlet Knights’ hopes are the junior guard Bob Lloyd, an Upper Darby, Pa., boy brought by Penn but given scholarship money by Rutgers. Lloyd, who has averaged 20 points as a freshman and threw in a more than 53 against the Colgate Frosh.

While Lloyd will handle backcourt chores, Rutgers will have the more prolific scorer against one of the key returning men, nearly the entire team returning, five of the first starters returning from last year’s five-year line-up.

A big question for tonight’s game is exactly how much the Scarlet Knights will be able to do against one of the best teams in the nation.

Frosh Cagers Host Strong Scarlet Five

By HARC TURTLETAUB

Coach Dick Hartner’s frosh unit against the Scarlet Knights at the Palestra today at 1:30 p.m. is an attractive team of highly rated young men.

Two converted centers are expected to figure in the game. The year ago Quaker forwards against Rutgers, Dave Vanhorn, a 6'6" center from Central High School, the number three team in Philadelphia last year, will probably start at a guard position. Vanhorn was the outstanding freshman in the annual varsity-frosh game last year, despite the fact that he had not scored ten points. He did an excellent job guarding the varsity’s All-City forward Stan Paulek and handled the ball surprisingly well. His size and strength should be well utilized in the backcourt rate in the game.

Collison At Forward

The other converted high school center, Tom Mallison, is probably the tallest freshman forward that Penn has ever had and has scored 17 of the 21 points against St. Joe’s in the season opener.

In practice Mallison has displayed several attributes rarely seen in a Frosh 180-year-old center. He has had a very good shot, and in practice he has had a very good shot, he has to be careful not to be used at center, but instead to play forward. He has displayed an aggressive style of play, and taken on the role of a key player.

This year’s frosh team has an average of 4'8"-5'10", with the exception of a couple of players, who are expected to dominate the backcourt.

Bill Foster in an attempt to build a better team, despite the fact that he only had two his first year as coach at Rutgers, retired after last season. Bill Foster in an attempt to build a better team, despite the fact that he only had two his first year as coach at Rutgers, retired after last season. Bill Foster in an attempt to build a better team, despite the fact that he only had two his first year as coach at Rutgers, retired after last season. Bill Foster in an attempt to build a better team, despite the fact that he only had two his first year as coach at Rutgers, retired after last season.

Rutgers Squad Improved

Rutgers can no longer be underestimated, they have had a tough time rebounding against strong forwards.

The Scarlet Knights, who have a tough time rebounding against strong forwards, have been working on their game to improve their chances against the Penn team. The Scarlet Knights are expected to have a tough time against the Penn team, and should be ready for Rutgers.

Riblett, the coach of the upcoming season’s squad, and assistant coach Jack Greene have been working hard to build the team.

The forward positions will be handled by freshmen Jack Greene and sophomore Bill Lohmeyer. Greene has been impressive on defense and could be an effective rebounder for his 6'4" Lob. Lohmeyer, who suffered an injury, is more of a rebounder, but he should be ready for Rutgers.

The Quakers may be somewhat handicapped by their lack of experience and by the need to produce a team of the same quality and professionalism as they will have in the starting lineup. The team will have to prove that fact to Rutgers tonight.

Games Aired

WPKN, the student radio station of the University, has announced its broadcast schedule for the upcoming basketball season. The station will broadcast all Penn basketball games, including the Penn-Rutgers game on Saturday, January 1, 1965. WBNF, the public radio station, will broadcast a summary of the game after the broadcast.

(Continued on page 11)