Lawyers To Defend Miss. Rights Group

The Lawyers Committee for Civil Rights Under Law, co-chaired by University Trustee Bernard G. Segal, announced plans yesterday to recruit 350 volunteers from leading law firms across the nation to represent civil rights workers in Mississippi.

The committee, formed in June, 1963, at the request of President Kennedy, will establish a law office in Jackson, Miss., early in the summer to facilitate the expected arrival of many civil rights workers.

Experienced lawyers from the nation’s leading law firms will be available for service in Mississippi throughout the year, although they will mostly be housed during the summer. Each of the 350 lawyers will be on duty for a minimum of one month.

"Once Upon A Time..."

"Once Upon A Time..."

Dr. Whitney To Talk On Population Trends

By ELLEN KRAFTSON

The International Affairs Association will present its second Annual Intercollegiate Conference on "World Population: New Policies for New Problems" Friday and Saturday at various buildings on campus.

The four lectures open to the University Community without an admission fee, will attempt to put the population explosion into perspective.

His Excellency B. K. Nehru, Indian ambassador to the United States, will deliver the keynote address Friday at 8:30 p.m. in the Christian Association. A dinner at the Christian Association will precede the economic and political expert’s speech.

Dr. Vincent W. Smith, chairman of the University’s sociology department, will discuss "Broad Trends in Population Growth," an outline of historical trends in population growth for background and perspective, at 10 a.m., Saturday in the Annenberg Auditorium.

Following a luncheon at a conference in the Smith-Penniman Room of Houses, the University Rules and Regulations Committee will meet in the Annenberg Auditorium to present its report on the responsibilities of the University Rules and Regulations Committee to Fraternity members. The fourth Vice-President announced that the Fraternity Overhead Program, termed "liberal capitalism" by Dr. Heilbroner, feels that "liberal capitalism" will be "a moral decay in American youth, a breakdown in the family and a crisis in the democratic ideal". The fourth Vice-President also announced that the fourth Vice-President has been lecturing on the Responsibilities of the University Rules and Regulations Committee to Fraternity members. The fourth Vice-President announced that the fourth Vice-President has been lecturing on the Responsibilities of the University Rules and Regulations Committee to the University Community. This view expressed by the fourth Vice-President is not necessarily endorsed by the University Community. This view expressed by the fourth Vice-President is not necessarily endorsed by the University Community. This view expressed by the fourth Vice-President is not necessarily endorsed by the University Community.

"Once Upon A Time..."

"Once Upon A Time..."

Kohn Satisfactory Following Attack

Dr. Hans Kohn, visiting lecturer in political science, was listed in "satisfactory" condition yesterday in University Hospital after having suffered a heart attack today.

Dr. Kohn was admitted to the hospital at the request of the student government yesterday. He was taken to the hospital after suffering a "heart attack".

Dr. Kohn is a noted expert on problems of nationalism and has written numerous books on the subject. His works include "Relativistic and the World of History," "Nationalism, Its Meaning and Reality" and "The Idea of Nationalism."

Dr. Kohn is a noted expert on problems of nationalism and has written numerous books on the subject. His works include "Relativistic and the World of History," "Nationalism, Its Meaning and Reality" and "The Idea of Nationalism."

"Once Upon A Time..."
Theatre Presents "Tiger"

For the second production of the inaugural season, James Goldstein, theatrical director for the Theatre of the Living Arts, has chosen "The Tiger at the Gate," for a four-week run beginning November 30th at the 334 South Philadelphia playhouse building, previously home to the now-defunct "Theatre at 30th Street." The show which was originally presented in New York in 1939 was staged by Fry for the play "Le Guerre De Tete N'Auro Par Liara." The critics loved the play, and many people, men and women, are far from conducive to graceful movement on the stage. Roman costumes do not help much, for that is certainly not what Shakespeare had in mind, and an Elizabethan Taylor-type gets up for Cleopatra is not very conducive to the type of love scenes that Shakespeare wrote for (or we must remember that Shakespeare had to use young boys for the female parts, and thus physical love-making would not go over too well, very modern, day dream). Well, maybe Sir John Gielgud could do that for Hamlet, but Mr. Butman felt that someone as exotic as Cleopatra of Egypt deserved something more colorful than Saks Fifth Avenue.

The logical solution, then, was to use costumes from the Napoleonic period, for, so flows But- man's line of reasoning, that was a time when the French invasion of Egypt was bringing all sorts of Egyptian influences and other goods into Western Europe, including the long, smoothly flowing lines of the dress of that period. Therefore, such costumes would be a style most appropriate for a brand new production of Shakespeare. As last year's production of Hamlet, Butman will use an extremely simple set; even props and furniture are kept to a bare minimum, and the one structure and props will serve throughout the play. The effect of a constant set on a play with such rapid and frequent changes of locale should prove interesting, and in doing so, last for Arthur M. Shapiro's, for he too is a Philadelphia (yes, Mr. Bobrow, there is an Arthur M. Shapiro), as are most of the other characters.

In the next installment: other challenges.

Letters To The Editor

To the Students at the D. P. P. Library:     A New A & C

(Continued from page 1) average was a 2.0701 (over the 2.0 minimum required), and the highest average among the individual houses was 2.642. This year, the most advanced students at the University (and some new ones of our own), The Interfraternity Council has set as its goal a raising of the combined house averages to a level at least of the entire graduate under-

May not want and may not

ter included last year, along with the Scholar's Tower Society, Graduate Forum School, I-F Debate, Faculty Advisory Board (to work with individual houses), and the I-F Week Pan-Hellenic Scholastic Forum. In addition, the present Scholastic Chairmen have facilities to handle particular academic problems of freshmen through group sessions and through closer contact with course investigator and a great deal of scholarship activ-

ties. The Interfraternity Council of maintains that much work has been done along these lines.

Barret Melter, I-F Council President, listed the following efforts on the part of the fraterity system: The I-F Scholastic Bowl, Delphos Society (83 men with averages of 3.3 or bet-

For the second production of the inaugural season, James Goldstein, theatrical director for the Theatre of the Living Arts, has chosen "The Tiger at the Gate," for a four-week run beginning November 30th at the 334 South Philadelphia playhouse building, previously home to the now-defunct "Theatre at 30th Street." The show which was originally presented in New York in 1939 was staged by Fry for the play "Le Guerre De Tete N'Auro Par Liara." The critics loved the play, and many people, men and women, are far from conducive to graceful movement on the stage. Roman costumes do not help much, for that is certainly not what Shakespeare had in mind, and an Elizabethan Taylor-type gets up for Cleopatra is not very conducive to the type of love scenes that Shakespeare wrote for (or we must remember that Shakespeare had to use young boys for the female parts, and thus physical love-making would not go over too well, very modern, day dream). Well, maybe Sir John Gielgud could do that for Hamlet, but Mr. Butman felt that someone as exotic as Cleopatra of Egypt deserved something more colorful than Saks Fifth Avenue.

The logical solution, then, was to use costumes from the Napoleonic period, for, so flows Butman's line of reasoning, that was a time when the French invasion of Egypt was bringing all sorts of Egyptian influences and other goods into Western Europe, including the long, smoothly flowing lines of the dress of that period. Therefore, such costumes would be a style most appropriate for a brand new production of Shakespeare. As last year's production of Hamlet, Butman will use an extremely simple set; even props and furniture are kept to a bare minimum, and the one structure and props will serve throughout the play. The effect of a constant set on a play with such rapid and frequent changes of locale should prove interesting, and in doing so, last for Arthur M. Shapiro's, for he too is a Philadelphia (yes, Mr. Bobrow, there is an Arthur M. Shapiro), as are most of the other characters.

In the next installment: other challenges.

Letters To The Editor

To the Students at the D. P. P. Library:     A New A & C

(Continued from page 1) average was a 2.0701 (over the 2.0 minimum required), and the highest average among the individual houses was 2.642. This year, the most advanced students at the University (and some new ones of our own), The Interfraternity Council has set as its goal a raising of the combined house averages to a level at least of the entire graduate under-

May not want and may not

ter included last year, along with the Scholar's Tower Society, Graduate Forum School, I-F Debate, Faculty Advisory Board (to work with individual houses), and the I-F Week Pan-Hellenic Scholastic Forum. In addition, the present Scholastic Chairmen have facilities to handle particular academic problems of freshmen through group sessions and through closer contact with course investigator and a great deal of scholarship activities. The Interfraternity Council of maintains that much work has been done along these lines.

Barret Melter, I-F Council President, listed the following efforts on the part of the frat-

erity system: The I-F Scholastic Bowl, Delphos Society (83 men with averages of 3.3 or bet-

For the second production of the inaugural season, James Goldstein, theatrical director for the Theatre of the Living Arts, has chosen "The Tiger at the Gate," for a four-week run beginning November 30th at the 334 South Philadelphia playhouse building, previously home to the now-defunct "Theatre at 30th Street." The show which was originally presented in New York in 1939 was staged by Fry for the play "Le Guerre De Tete N'Auro Par Liara." The critics loved the play, and many people, men and women, are far from conducive to graceful movement on the stage. Roman costumes do not help much, for that is certainly not what Shakespeare had in mind, and an Elizabethan Taylor-type gets up for Cleopatra is not very conducive to the type of love scenes that Shakespeare wrote for (or we must remember that Shakespeare had to use young boys for the female parts, and thus physical love-making would not go over too well, very modern, day dream). Well, maybe Sir John Gielgud could do that for Hamlet, but Mr. Butman felt that someone as exotic as Cleopatra of Egypt deserved something more colorful than Saks Fifth Avenue.

The logical solution, then, was to use costumes from the Napoleonic period, for, so flows Butman's line of reasoning, that was a time when the French invasion of Egypt was bringing all sorts of Egyptian influences and other goods into Western Europe, including the long, smoothly flowing lines of the dress of that period. Therefore, such costumes would be a style most appropriate for a brand new production of Shakespeare. As last year's production of Hamlet, Butman will use an extremely simple set; even props and furniture are kept to a bare minimum, and the one structure and props will serve throughout the play. The effect of a constant set on a play with such rapid and frequent changes of locale should prove interesting, and in doing so, last for Arthur M. Shapiro's, for he too is a Philadelphia (yes, Mr. Bobrow, there is an Arthur M. Shapiro), as are most of the other characters.

In the next installment: other challenges.

Letters To The Editor

To the Students at the D. P. P. Library:     A New A & C

(Continued from page 1) average was a 2.0701 (over the 2.0 minimum required), and the highest average among the individual houses was 2.642. This year, the most advanced students at the University (and some new ones of our own), The Interfraternity Council has set as its goal a raising of the combined house averages to a level at least of the entire graduate under-

May not want and may not

ter included last year, along with the Scholar's Tower Society, Graduate Forum School, I-F Debate, Faculty Advisory Board (to work with individual houses), and the I-F Week Pan-Hellenic Scholastic Forum. In addition, the present Scholastic Chairmen have facilities to handle particular academic problems of freshmen through group sessions and through closer contact with course investigator and a great deal of scholarship activities. The Interfraternity Council of maintains that much work has been done along these lines.

Barret Melter, I-F Council President, listed the following efforts on the part of the frat-

erity system: The I-F Scholastic Bowl, Delphos Society (83 men with averages of 3.3 or bet-
Curious Malaise

The All-University Lecture Series made a strong and lasting contribution to the disputes by economist Robert Heilbroner of the first of two lectures on "The Outlook for American Capitalism." The talk confirmed the expectations of readers of Dr. Heilbroner's forcefully written, graceful book that they would hear one of the outstanding lectures of recent years. Yet, because the depth of analysis and good which the speaker endowed, there were traces, particularly at the conclusion, of what the late C. Wright Mills termed "the conservative norm," but which better term the "conservative malaise."

Centering on the "challenges" which the American people are told they must face and meet, Heilbroner noted a curious quiet about the limits of personal freedom within the context of national life, for example, through the medium of advertising. Heilbroner noted that these institutions of which he is speaking as liberal capitalism that will cooperate with governments to develop more desirable forms of society. There are, however, he believes, certain trends that cannot change the form of our system—namely, classes, personal distortions in people caught up in the personality distortions in people caught up in the social trend in the advertising industry, which is quite a way for a corporate alias to be known, with more different names to be found than there are pages in the Sears Roebuck catalog. There is certainly nothing new about many of the social institutions that we are, and there's been something to do but feel like Pennsylvania's answer to Oscar Levant, as it has come to be known.

We had not trusted ourselves to Student Health, and our experience has taught us that it gives us everything we'd like to see in the medical field. Our own experience has taught us that the paper did not fold at the first notice of administrative hypocrisy. The battle with the Secretary of State, the Governor of Pennsylvania, and the Secretary of Defense has not been as stupid as WE are.

Anyway, it's great to have received recognition in print at last, as our astute colleagues Mr. Bobrow (Yes, Virginia, that's Mr. N. A. Bobrow) gives us. We noted with dismay that the paper did not fold at the first notice of administrative hypocrisy. We're afraid. The battle with the Secretary of State, the Governor of Pennsylvania, and the Secretary of Defense has not been as stupid as WE are.

We really can't get emotionally involved in this fray-sets business because we don't consider either side good or evil. We have feelings about free and we'll be hearing them very soon, here, but in the meantime the whole battle impresses us as a tempest in a teapot. You can figure out what kind.

VICTOR FILI  Editor-in-Chief
MARY SELMAN Managing Editor
MARTHA W. KEENE News Editor
ANTHONY Y. MULLER Sports Editor
MICHAEL W. BROIOO Photography Editor

The Daily Pennsylvania is published by the undergraduate of the University of Pennsylvania under the authority of the Trustees of the University of Pennsylvania, a Pennsylvania corporation.

Circulation 5500 copies, daily Monday through Friday.
5200 Student Subscriptions
225 Mail Subscriptions
15 Eye Distribution.
Nehru

(Continued from page 1)

HIS Excellency Dr. Jawaharlal Nehru, Indian Ambassador to the United Nations, will analyze underlying elements of the population explosion in both Communist and non-Communist Asia. He will also discuss theoyer in the Christian Association.

Nehru was educated at a home university in Allahabad, at the London School of Economics, Balliol College, Oxford, and at the Inner Temple, London. Before his present position in September 1941, Ambassador Nehru was on the Secretariat of the Commission-General for Economic Affairs.

A distinguished member of the Indian Civil Service and described often as his country’s “strenuous economist ambassador,” Nehru started his official career upon joining the Indian Civil Service in 1934 as Assistant Commissioner in the Government of the Punjab. In 1939, Mr. Nehru was posted at the Union Government’s Headquarters as Under Secretary to the Department of Education, Health and Lands. He joined the Department of Food in 1939.

Ambassador Nehru was appointed Secretary to the Government of India in the Department of Economic Affairs in 1947. During his tenure from 1949 to 1954, the Ambassador was stationed in Washington as Executive Director, International Bank for Reconstruction and Development. He also served as Minister of the Embassy in Washington.

Ambassador Nehru has been connected very closely with the formulation and execution of plans for the economic development of India and has immediately afterwards been intimately associated with international affairs. He represented India at the Reparations Conference in 1945 and at various Commonwealth Finance Ministers’ Conferences. Nehru also represented India at the U.N. General Assembly from 1949, 1952 and 1960, and at the Bandung Conference of Asia and Africa in 1955.

Nehru was a member of the National Advisory Committee on Administrative and Budgetary Reforms from 1932 to 1933 and is at present a member of the U.N. Investment Committee.

Van Nort To Speak On Growth & Policy

Leighton van Nort, Officer in Charge of Population Affairs in the Department of State, Washington, will deliver the concluding speech, “Policy Implications of Population Growth,” at 4 p.m. in Annenberg Auditorium.

In 1961-62 he was Special Assistant for Sociological and Demographic Intelligence, Department of State, and from 1962 to the present he has had his present title in that same department.

Mr. van Nort was the Alternate U.S. Representative to the United Nations Population Commission in 1963.

The University of Pennsylvania graduate was a member of United States Delegations to Asian Population Conference (New Delhi, India, 1963), to Food and Agriculture Organisation (Rome 1963-64), and to World Food Program (Rome and Geneva, 1963-64).

After receiving his A.M. in Sociology and Demography from Princeton University, 1952-54, Mr. van Nort was an instructor in Sociology, at Bowdoin College until 1957, and an Assistant Professor in the same department until 1960.

He was a Visiting Lecturer in Sociology at Princeton University, 1959-60, at Dartmouth College, 1960-61, and at University of California (Berkeley, 1963).

The author of articles on population in American Sociological Review, Milbank Memorial Fund Quarterly, and Eugenics Quarterly, he is also a member of the American Sociological Association, the American Statistical Association, the Population Association of America, and the National Union for the Scientific Study of Population.

Population Explosion

Topic Of Conference

Dr. Whitney To Lecture

Dr. Thomas H. Wood Dept. of Pol. Science E-12

The University of Pennsylvania graduate was a member of United States Delegations to Asian Population Conference (New Delhi, India, 1963), to Food and Agriculture Organisation (Rome 1963-64), and to World Food Program (Rome and Geneva, 1963-64).

After receiving his A.M. in Sociology and Demography from Princeton University, 1952-54, Mr. van Nort was an instructor in Sociology, at Bowdoin College until 1957, and an Assistant Professor in the same department until 1960.

He was a Visiting Lecturer in Sociology at Princeton University, 1959-60, at Dartmouth College, 1960-61, and at University of California (Berkeley, 1963).

The author of articles on population in American Sociological Review, Milbank Memorial Fund Quarterly, and Eugenics Quarterly, he is also a member of the American Sociological Association, the American Statistical Association, the Population Association of America, and the National Union for the Scientific Study of Population.

Population Explosion

Topic Of Conference

Dr. Whitney To Lecture

Dr. Thomas H. Wood Dept. of Pol. Science E-12

The University of Pennsylvania graduate was a member of United States Delegations to Asian Population Conference (New Delhi, India, 1963), to Food and Agriculture Organisation (Rome 1963-64), and to World Food Program (Rome and Geneva, 1963-64).

After receiving his A.M. in Sociology and Demography from Princeton University, 1952-54, Mr. van Nort was an instructor in Sociology, at Bowdoin College until 1957, and an Assistant Professor in the same department until 1960.

He was a Visiting Lecturer in Sociology at Princeton University, 1959-60, at Dartmouth College, 1960-61, and at University of California (Berkeley, 1963).

The author of articles on population in American Sociological Review, Milbank Memorial Fund Quarterly, and Eugenics Quarterly, he is also a member of the American Sociological Association, the American Statistical Association, the Population Association of America, and the National Union for the Scientific Study of Population.

Population Explosion

Topic Of Conference

Dr. Whitney To Lecture

Dr. Thomas H. Wood Dept. of Pol. Science E-12

The University of Pennsylvania graduate was a member of United States Delegations to Asian Population Conference (New Delhi, India, 1963), to Food and Agriculture Organisation (Rome 1963-64), and to World Food Program (Rome and Geneva, 1963-64).

After receiving his A.M. in Sociology and Demography from Princeton University, 1952-54, Mr. van Nort was an instructor in Sociology, at Bowdoin College until 1957, and an Assistant Professor in the same department until 1960.

He was a Visiting Lecturer in Sociology at Princeton University, 1959-60, at Dartmouth College, 1960-61, and at University of California (Berkeley, 1963).

The author of articles on population in American Sociological Review, Milbank Memorial Fund Quarterly, and Eugenics Quarterly, he is also a member of the American Sociological Association, the American Statistical Association, the Population Association of America, and the National Union for the Scientific Study of Population.

Population Explosion

Topic Of Conference

Dr. Whitney To Lecture

Dr. Thomas H. Wood Dept. of Pol. Science E-12

The University of Pennsylvania graduate was a member of United States Delegations to Asian Population Conference (New Delhi, India, 1963), to Food and Agriculture Organisation (Rome 1963-64), and to World Food Program (Rome and Geneva, 1963-64).

After receiving his A.M. in Sociology and Demography from Princeton University, 1952-54, Mr. van Nort was an instructor in Sociology, at Bowdoin College until 1957, and an Assistant Professor in the same department until 1960.

He was a Visiting Lecturer in Sociology at Princeton University, 1959-60, at Dartmouth College, 1960-61, and at University of California (Berkeley, 1963).

The author of articles on population in American Sociological Review, Milbank Memorial Fund Quarterly, and Eugenics Quarterly, he is also a member of the American Sociological Association, the American Statistical Association, the Population Association of America, and the National Union for the Scientific Study of Population.
Avoid a guilt complex
Phone home tonight—before you find that you can no longer live with your self. Your parents miss you and you know it. Comfort them with a call.

The Bell Telephone Company of Pennsylvania University Agenda

- Today 4:00 p.m., the annual Norman M. Bogart Memorial Lecture on Jewish Ethics, Mr. Charles H. Barou, Instructor, University of Pennsylvania Law School will speak on “Problems of Civil Service.”

- A limited number of tickets are available at Houston Hall Information Desk for a University Sweetheart Dance conducted in the West Lounge of Houston Hall tomorrow night at 11:00. If you have not received your tickets, you may purchase them tomorrow night at the All Golden 500 are, you'll meet more women today at 11 a.m. and Saturday, February 25th, at Houston Hall for $1.50. A limited number of tickets are available at the Business office of Wm. White training, on Monday, Thursday and Saturday, March 2, 4 and 5 at 7:30 p.m. in the Red Room of WRH.

- As a result of the change in the election procedure that this will speed the voting process, a voting booth will be set up in the Clinton from 4-6 p.m. on Wednesday and other booths will be set up in Bennett Hall from 7-9 p.m. All candidates are invited to remain in the voting in the form of a pamphlet called "Election Preview" or on the postmer near the voting booths. The platform of the president of WSGA, yesterday announced a free admission to the election campaign was designed to speed voting. The platform of the president of WSGA, yesterday announced a free admission to the election campaign was designed to speed voting.

Plastic Matrix Cards Now Needed To Vote

Mary Gabrielle, President of WSGA, yesterday announced a free admission to the election campaign was designed to speed voting. The platform of the president of WSGA, yesterday announced a free admission to the election campaign was designed to speed voting. The platform of the president of WSGA, yesterday announced a free admission to the election campaign was designed to speed voting.

The following amendment to the Constitution is also being presented to the voting body. Section Three - Term of Office - All officers and senators shall as- session, in order to facilitate the transition of governments which have been in office for the past has led to weeks of inaction.

This compares the provisions of a new amending section to take office at the sec- } below in the election. No questions concerning the amendment may be addressed to the president of WSGA, EV2- 8697.

A Call to Action

It has become difficult lately to read a magazine or watch a movie without thinking about something called the "leisure problem." For those of you who are unsure of its nature, and require a definition of this phrase, it is used most often by those who are concerned with less free time, and 21, they use this term as a slur. It is this modern myth that Sebastian de Gracia de- molides in Of Time, Work, and Leisure. "Amber, and a yoke of flesh, a yoke of bone, a yoke of teth were the distincting between "work time." "Free time," and "leisure," the last of which he denies to exist. The latter being in activity which is purely for its own sake and its own end," in a New York Times, he writes: "This book is actually a plea for withdrawal, against thesicking. Under this key-like life, he describes leisure as a winning against such entrenched fees as advertising, madness, the Protestant work ethic, and".

If you look hard enough, you might find these same mass alternatives in the words of a widely respected social critic, as archly and melancholy - (Dolphin, 56) - don Marquis introduced the idea of "the free time" which is the same, and melancholy, the world-wide ally evil in his newspaper column in 1916 with the very same title. His book is actually a plea for withdrawal, against thesicking. Under this key-like life, he describes leisure as a winning against such entrenched fees as advertising, madness, the Protestant work ethic, and".

VALENTINE CARDS and Gifts

THE CATACOMBS

FABULOUSLY

fried:

THE CATACOMBS

CARDS and

VALENTINE

3409 Walnut St.

THE DAILY PENNSYLVANIAN

TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 9, 1965

A publisher's survey

Plastic Matrix Cards Now Needed To Vote

Mary Gabrielle, President of WSGA, yesterday announced a free admission to the election campaign was designed to speed voting. The platform of the president of WSGA, yesterday announced a free admission to the election campaign was designed to speed voting. The platform of the president of WSGA, yesterday announced a free admission to the election campaign was designed to speed voting.

Plastic Matrix Cards Now Needed To Vote

Mary Gabrielle, President of WSGA, yesterday announced a free admission to the election campaign was designed to speed voting. The platform of the president of WSGA, yesterday announced a free admission to the election campaign was designed to speed voting. The platform of the president of WSGA, yesterday announced a free admission to the election campaign was designed to speed voting. The platform of the president of WSGA, yesterday announced a free admission to the election campaign was designed to speed voting. The platform of the president of WSGA, yesterday announced a free admission to the election campaign was designed to speed voting.
TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 9, 1965

The Daily Pennsylvania

Page Seven

Camp Counselor Openings

Undergraduate Students

Graduate Students and Faculty Members

The Association of Private Camps

Register now!

of Economics, Princeton University, and Leighton Van Nort, from Venezuela, India, Colombia, Mexico, Israel, population, February 12 and 13.

Counselors, Group Leaders, General Counselors.

Write, Phone, or Call in Person

Association of Private Camps — Dept. C

355 West 42nd Street  OX 5-2656, New York 36, N.Y.

Philadelphia 4, Pa.

Philadelphia 4, Pa.

Cousins

Restaurant and Bar

Italian and American Food

3441-43 Walnut Street

NOW!

NOW!

NOW!

NOW!

NOW!

NOW!

Back Home

(Continued from page 3)

Ball has an important place on the campus today. It does a lot for morale. It is something around which students can rally. It's healthy; it has a lot of carry-over value. I know of one person with whom I played who was a successful salesperson. "To give students an opportunity to play, right or wrong, football is a great service to people. Football can stimulate interest in students, administration, and alumni. And football can stimulate in the student body as a whole."

Bob Odelel

Coonley Tops Seixas In Five Games: Squashmen Prepare For Crimson

By STEVE SARKISH

Penn's Howard Coonley, preparing for an important squash contest against Harvard, defeated former United States Champion Capt. Vic Seixas in five games before losing in the semi-final round of the Atlantic Coast Squash Racquet Championships.

Coonley, trailing by two games, rebounded to win the next three games, 15-12, 15-12, Seixas, who was also former U.S. senior champion, had difficulty handling Coonley's fast corn- er shots during the quarterfinal round of the store tournament.

Top Mark Farm

"It was the fastest squash I've ever played," said the Penn junior after the match.

Coonley fell in the semi-final round, however, as Dick Matter

Frosh Fencers Gain Fourth Win: Makler And Team Still Unbeaten

The freshmen fencing team strengthened its winning streak, Saturday, by defeating the freshmen of Lehigh for the first time in five years.

In a meet which turned out to be such an anticlimax, it is difficult to point out highlights. The second of Hugh Melnick's three victories, however, was one of the most distinctly fought of the season. Melnick, intelligently thought out his opponent and scored an easy 5-0 victory.

In addition to Melnick, Mark Koplin, and Gary Preble also had three victories. As a result of the heavy substitution, however, four fencers won two tours. These were Bob Haldern, Steve Polgari, Bill Halpert, and Ed Kogan, and the team's undefeated captain, Todd Malday.

The freshmen blades will be preparing for what should be another easy meet next Saturday when they will face Girard College, a team of freshmen fencers, at Girard College.

Skaters Now 7-1-1:

Mackay Latest Star

By JIN ROTHCHILD

About two weeks ago, after his skaters had lost their seventh straight, Coach Jim Slavich predicted that the Penn hockey club would still have a winning season. A typical student reaction was: "B.S. Slavich is a good guy, but one of the best coaches we've had ever here, but he probably left his brains out on the rink." Today, with the risk and Blue six home games after winning the M.I.T. tournament and scoring a 15-5 victory, the year, everyone is sure where Slavich's brains are.

One of the main reasons for the hockey team's success has been senior right wing John Mackay. A former St. Paul's first-liner, tallied 19 points in the squad's three week-end wins to boost his total for the year to 22. An outstanding feature of Mackay's record is that most of his points - 16 to be exact - have come on goals, which are much tougher to come by than assists. Another big factor in the re-

A & C

(Continued from page 2)

Oh yes, final note: if you saw last year's Hamlet, you may recall that the sound quality was somewhat unimpressive. It seems that some- body goofed on the microphone placement, and this, combined with Irvine's remarkable vocal efforts, produced the inevitable dis- astrous results. Well, these bugs have been ironed out, and one should be able to hear every syllable even to the last row of the balcony, without more could one ask for?

Bailey Brown

Unbeaten Senior

won three straight games, 15-7, 15-10, 15-8, 15-10. Slavich, a professor of Economics, Princeton University, and Leighton Van Nort, from Venezuela, India, Colombia, Mexico, Israel, population, February 12 and 13.

Dr. Heilbroner predicted that liberal capitalism in the United States will be such an annihilation, it is possible that he would not get into such a situation. "There are people. Football can stimulate interest, faculty, and alumni. I don't think it was healthy."

Heilbroner

(Continued from page 3)

Dr. Heilbroner conceded that liberal capitalism in the American system could future will eliminate unemployment and institute control of wages but will not reduce the commercial flavor of American society.

Dr. Heilbroner predicted that there would be less of a concentration as a result of the growth of liberal capitalism. He pointed out that liberal capitalism will not be able to bring underdeveloped nations on the side of the United States. The underdeveloped nations will seek more radical economic structures such as socialism and possibly even communism.
The former Penn all-American reports also that the coaches who are remaining are doing a good job. Harry Gamblin, line coach under John Steinman, is responsible for southern New Jersey and Joe Stanczyk, former backfield coach covers New York, Long Island and northern New Jersey. Stanczyk, Penn's leading recruiter the past two years, is impressed by the new coach's vigor in recruiting. "You know, he insists on seeing every high school boy we have down here. He insists upon it."

Although the recruiting is to be concentrated more or less in the two states of New Jersey and Pennsylvania, lightweight football coach Bob "Smoky" Graham will assist with his contacts in the Washington, D.C. area and will help admit with the national recruiting. Odell himself will be going to the West Coast the first six days of March. Although primrose prospects such topics as "Alan Ameche and I at Wisconsin" and "Nine steps to an undefeated season" are advised to attend.

Be sure to see Penn has much to offer football players. We're not going to leave any stone unturned."

"What now our primary job is to get as many good students and football players in school as possible. We have a lot of new material if we expect to win. We have a lot of boys interested. It's a very difficult thing you have to do now about what a boy is thinking. It's a kind of nervous period, I think we get our share."

Odell estimates that recruiting high school ballplayers is to be 70 to 90 percent of a coaching job. He points out that all successful teams have a good recruiting program while forming a staff.

Lives At Training House

Odell is presently living in the X. X. White training house while his family remains in Lewisburg, approximately 150 miles from Philadelphia. "Iwan home the weekends from last, and I won't get home until the 13th. I've been looking for a place down here, but it's very hard. Nevertheless, the resourceful Mr. Odell has been able, in his own words, "to sneak home for the weekend."

On weekends, Penn's new coach has been sharing his training house residence with prospective football players and visitors.

"Our main objective in recruiting is to bring a boy on campus during the recruiting season and let him see how much about the school as possible. Our players are our best salesmen, although the coaches will have a lot of boys interested. "It's a kind of nervous period, I think we get our share," Odell estimates that recruiting high school ballplayers is to be 70 to 90 percent of a coaching job. He points out that all successful teams have a good recruiting program while forming a staff.

The job of attracting football prospects to Penn is keeping Odell and his assistants extremely busy, especially during the past seven years and since he has been coming from Lycoming to Penn, was "somewhere in the middle of the state," in the Scranton-Wilkes Barre area, and Jim Rex, who was unassigned Odell忙了year before becoming an assistant at William & Mary, was meeting students from high schools in eastern Pennsylvania and parts of New Jersey.

Bob Odell is presently living in the X. X. White training house while his family remains in Lewisburg, approximately 150 miles from Philadelphia. "Iwan home the weekends from last, and I won't get home until the 13th. I've been looking for a place down here, but it's very hard. Nevertheless, the resourceful Mr. Odell has been able, in his own words, "to sneak home for the weekend."

On weekends, Penn's new coach has been sharing his training house residence with prospective football players and visitors.

"Our main objective in recruiting is to bring a boy on campus during the recruiting season and let him see how much about the school as possible. Our players are our best salesmen, although the coaches will have a lot of boys interested. "It's a kind of nervous period, I think we get our share," Odell estimates that recruiting high school ballplayers is to be 70 to 90 percent of a coaching job. He points out that all successful teams have a good recruiting program while forming a staff.

The job of attracting football prospects to Penn is keeping Odell and his assistants extremely busy, especially during the past seven years and since he has been coming from Lycoming to Penn, was "somewhere in the middle of the state," in the Scranton-Wilkes Barre area, and Jim Rex, who was unassigned Odell忙了year before becoming an assistant at William & Mary, was meeting students from high schools in eastern Pennsylvania and parts of New Jersey.

"Iwan home the weekends from last, and I won't get home until the 13th. I've been looking for a place down here, but it's very hard. Nevertheless, the resourceful Mr. Odell has been able, in his own words, "to sneak home for the weekend."

On weekends, Penn's new coach has been sharing his training house residence with prospective football players and visitors.

"Our main objective in recruiting is to bring a boy on campus during the recruiting season and let him see how much about the school as possible. Our players are our best salesmen, although the coaches will have a lot of boys interested. "It's a kind of nervous period, I think we get our share," Odell estimates that recruiting high school ballplayers is to be 70 to 90 percent of a coaching job. He points out that all successful teams have a good recruiting program while forming a staff.

The job of attracting football prospects to Penn is keeping Odell and his assistants extremely busy, especially during the past seven years and since he has been coming from Lycoming to Penn, was "somewhere in the middle of the state," in the Scranton-Wilkes Barre area, and Jim Rex, who was unassigned Odell忙了year before becoming an assistant at William & Mary, was meeting students from high schools in eastern Pennsylvania and parts of New Jersey.