Hetherston Outlines New Construction At Planning Forum

John C. Hetherston, Vice-President for Co-ordinated Planning at the University, announced plans last night that, "No more soundly conceived program has been developed in any other university in this country, than the development plan at Pennsylvania." Speaking at a Development Forum at Houston Hall co-sponsored by the Men's and Women's Student Governments, Hetherston outlined the recent history of the University's Integrated Development Plan and discussed the future of Coordinated Planning at the University.

Hetherston commented that, "Just a few years ago the University found itself in an area of deterioration, so we undertook to physically and socially rehabilitate the campus or actually, all of West Philadelphia." According to Hetherston, during the past decade about $75 million has been spent on the Development Plan.

Presently under construction are six new additions to the University, costing about $13 million. Included in the construction are a Social Sciences Center, a new psychology building, a joint classroom structure, a home of education, an addition to the library, and a sub-surface parking area and student lounge. In addition, roughly $2 million has been spent in new structures, portions of 36th, 37th, 38th, and Locust Streets will be shuttled closed to traffic in an attempt to create a "pedestrian campus."

Within the next four months, Hetherston foresees new construction in several other areas. In addition to the much publicized Fine Arts Building, which will be held in two months, a new gymnasium at 37th and Walnut and a home for graduate Wharton students and a Science and Economics building have been planned as future projects. In the area of housing, two units of the House Plan, probably one for men and one for women will be erected near the present Women's Residence Hall. A combination of low rise and high rise buildings, suitable for upperclassmen undergraduates is also being planned in the vicinity of Walnut and 44th Streets.

In conclusion, Hetherston emphasized that the $35 million which is being spent on construction in the near future should be consistent with the Development goal of "both enlargening the University campus and creating more open space."

Chad Mitchell Trio Loses $2000

On Chad Mitchell Trio Spectacular

The Houston Hall Board lost about $2,000 on their Spectacular last Friday night featuring the Chad Mitchell Trio.

Mike Hardin, outgoing chairman of the Houston Hall Board, said that in an effort to bring a big name singing group to the campus, they spent $4500 to $5000, an amount which was not matched by the than selling audience. 1000 to 1200 people showed up and, although they responded well to the Trio's performance, their number did not reach the 2000 needed for an even break. The prices of tickets which ranged from $2 to $3.75, corresponded to the amount which the Houston Hall Board needed to pay for the Spectacular.

Hardin blamed the unexpectedly small turnout on the closeness of the two big spring weekends. Many students do not attend both.

The second Spectacular of this year's events did not include the reading period before final examinations.

In an effort to keep the weekend before exams free, the Houston Hall Board scheduled its Spectacular for last weekend instead of this weekend along with the crew races. In the future they will schedule the Spectacular for the same weekend as the crew races, or work with the Men's Student Government to plan one spring weekend.

MSG Will Consider Separation Of Executive And Legislature

Tom Lang, president of Men's Student Government, announced plans, last night, to change the constitution in order to separate the legislative and executive branches of government. This proposal, to be voted upon next week, would provide for the election of the president by a plurality of the male students voting in a popular election and for the president to be responsible to the male student body.

A member of the rules committee, Barry Walker, stated that, "This bill will make the committee chairmen responsible to the speaker rather than the president, but the president would have a veto over anything the assembly passed. This veto could be overridden by a 2/3 vote of the assembly."

Men's Residence Board

Also a new committee for the Men's Residence Board, MHRB, was passed. Under this new constitution the Vice-President of MSG will become president of the Board and preside over meetings. The number of representatives in MHRB was also increased.

In response of forming next year's board, Chip Block, Vice President of MSG, assured that upperclassmen interested in serving on next year's board contact him. The MHRB, in speaking to Lee Hymerting put it, "provides a social program for freshmen and represents the Dormitories in its particular problems."

Commuter Board

A bill establishing a temporary Commuter Board was enacted by the assembly. It will have the following powers:

1. Power to attack problems deemed important and immediate.

2. Power to solicit help from additional non-voting members of the Board.

3. Power to replace any member of the Board for lack of interest or participation after approval of the President of the Board.

The action was taken on the petition of a group of commuters filled by commuters. In the question of the proposed desire for mailboxes, interest in sports events, need for a commuter board, and large participation in extra-curricular activities.

Newspulxcisa Singer Offers Personal Credo

Novelist Isaac Singer Offers Personal Credo

Isaac Babelish Singer, Yiddish author, last night enthralled a capacity crowd at Hillen with an account of his private philosophy as a Jewish writer.

Singer, who had earlier directed himself to a friendly audience at the Faculty Club, spoke of his role as a creative writer, the inhabitants of this earth as his readers and his book "Life" the name of the novel. He reflected that people are unable to understand the full meaning of life because the book is a million or so words long, and far so they have only been able to read half a line. Singer explained that man's analysis of human history is as similar to that of a critic attempting to review Toletrya's "Why And Peace" from one phrase.
The members of the University faculty are able to inform the Administration of their opinions on administrative matters through two representatives appointed by the University Council and the University Senate.

The Senate is the less active of the two; however, its duties are general and are empowered to deal with any matter which the members deem of general interest to the University. The Senate consists of all fully affiliated Faculty members holding the rank of assistant professor, associate professor, or full professor.

The Council is more intimately involved in the actual operation of the University, and it has several specific duties which are laid down in its bylaws. Represents Faculty, Administration.

The Council consists of eight members representing Faculty and Administration. Thirty-nine member faculty elected by their collegues. For this purpose the entire Faculty is divided into constituencies based upon discipline. Thus, there is a constituency made up of the faculty of physical sciences, the faculty of the English language, one in history, one in law, one in medicine, etc.

COUNCIL CHAIRMAN

GAYLORD P. HARNWELL

The Council has seven committees representing the Faculty and Administration. These committees have been formed in an attempt to make priority decisions in the University's executive policy of the Board of Trustees. The Council is more intimate with the records and achievements of the University than the Senate.

The proposals to change Men's Student Government election procedures by creating a separate and popularly elected executive council that would be responsible for the same functions as the present council, as well as adding a special council to deal with the immediate problems of the student body, have been accepted by the Administration and the Senate. The action was taken in response to the demands of the students for greater representation and participation in the decision-making process of the University.

The proposals to improve the University's athletic programs, particularly in football, have been received with much enthusiasm. The administration has agreed to explore the possibility of establishing a new athletic center and to increase the budget for sports programs. The Student Council has also been asked to consider the establishment of a new athletic department and to work with the administration on the development of a comprehensive athletic program.

The proposals to strengthen the University's academic programs, particularly in the sciences and social sciences, have been met with mixed reactions. Some faculty members have expressed concern that the proposals might lead to a dilution of the teaching load and a decrease in the quality of instruction. Others have welcomed the proposals as a means of improving the University's reputation and attracting more students.

The proposals to improve the University's student housing facilities, particularly in the dormitories, have been received with mixed reactions. Some students have expressed concern that the proposals might lead to an increase in the cost of living and a decrease in the quality of life for students. Others have welcomed the proposals as a means of improving the living conditions for students.

The proposals to improve the University's financial aid programs, particularly in the form of scholarships, have been met with enthusiasm. The administration has agreed to increase the budget for financial aid and to explore the possibility of establishing new scholarship programs.

DO HOW DID THIS HAPPEN?

The Far Left Makes the College Scene

From Berkeley to Brooklyn, students are joining in the noise and fire of new radical groups. The current issue of The Saturday Evening Post has the inside story of the trend's rise of the Far Left since the 1960's.

Read how some groups are almost peaceful; others are to militant that even the American Communist Party disowns them. How young leaders of the "existential radicals" view the Cuban Revolution as a blue-print for America. Find out about new plans for protest and underground colleges.

Crimmins Named To Head New Penn Comment Board

Edward J. Crimmins Jr., a junior in the College, was named next year's Editor-in-Chief of Penn Comment at a Senior Board meeting held last week.

He had served previously as Assignments Editor and had worked with the layout staff. A member of Alpha Tau Omega fraternity, where he is serving as treasurer, he was recently selected to Friars Senior Honor Society.

Also elected was Barry Freedman as Senior Editor. Barry is a chemistry major in the College, and is active in Alpha Chi Sigma, Pi Mu Epsilon, and is a member of the American Chemical Society. He helps to compose the lab manual now used in Chem. 1 Laboratory sections. He is also a National Science Foundation Fellow.

Steve Blumberg, a sophomore in the College, was named Managing Editor. Steve is a member of Phi Sigma Delta and bowled for Penn's championship team.

Howard Teich, also a junior in the College, was elected to serve as Business Manager. Howard previously served on the business staff.

Juliet Lang, a freshman in the College for Women, will serve as Executive Secretary. Eric Ross will head the Art department, and Diane Adonell was selected to head the Photography staff. Jerry Raskin will continue to serve as Activities Editor, a post he held this semester.

Penn Comment is published monthly, appearing eight times during the school year. The last issue for the spring semester will appear tomorrow, Wednesday, April 27th.

library, if no one knows about it, and a guy sneaks a smoke or a drink, once or twice, it won't hurt the team. But when it gets to the point that the entire team seems to be giving sub-par performances, action such as Columbia's coach Carl Ullrich took must be taken.

The immediate result is disaster, as no team, especially a crew, can easily absorb the loss of nine of its members. But, as Coach Ullrich said, the benefits will be in the long run for the team will be stripped of its corruptive elements.

We disagree with the Columbia Spectator, called the penalty too severe, although understandable. Any action short of the one take by Ullrich would not have done any good in any way. It is the duty of every student to take it upon himself to exercise restraint in his personal conduct in the library.

Library Extends Hours During Final Exam Period

As the semester draws to a close, it is normal to expect that the library will become increasingly jammed with students who are preparing for their final examinations. In view of these pressures, preparations are now being made to accommodate the students. However, in consequence, the necessary elimination of the goals of these preparations depends upon the cooperation of each and every student who uses the library.

It is expected that the use of the library will result in a reasonable amount of noise; however, this noise must not be allowed to become excessive. The expression of the majority should be the guiding principle.

To meet the increased demands for study space during final exam time, the library has extended its hours as follows:

<thead>
<tr>
<th>Day</th>
<th>Hours</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Monday-Wednesday</td>
<td>8:45 a.m.-12:00 midnight</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Thursday-Monday</td>
<td>8:45 a.m.-12:00 noon</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Saturday</td>
<td>8:45 a.m.-11:00 p.m.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sunday</td>
<td>12:00 noon-11:00 p.m.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

It is the duty of every student to take it upon himself to exercise restraint in the library.

Lawrence D. Bass, Chairman

The immediate result is disaster, as no team, especially a crew, can easily absorb the loss of nine of its members. But, as Coach Ullrich said, the benefits will be in the long run for the team will be stripped of its corruptive elements.

We disagree with the Columbia Spectator, called the penalty too severe, although understandable. Any action short of the one take by Ullrich would not have done any good in any way. It is the duty of every student to take it upon himself to exercise restraint in his personal conduct in the library.

Library Extends Hours During Final Exam Period

As the semester draws to a close, it is normal to expect that the library will become increasingly jammed with students who are preparing for their final examinations. In view of these pressures, preparations are now being made to accommodate the students. However, in consequence, the necessary elimination of the goals of these preparations depends upon the cooperation of each and every student who uses the library.

It is expected that the use of the library will result in a reasonable amount of noise; however, this noise must not be allowed to become excessive. The expression of the majority should be the guiding principle.

To meet the increased demands for study space during final exam time, the library has extended its hours as follows:

<thead>
<tr>
<th>Day</th>
<th>Hours</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Monday-Wednesday</td>
<td>8:45 a.m.-12:00 midnight</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Thursday-Monday</td>
<td>8:45 a.m.-12:00 noon</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Saturday</td>
<td>8:45 a.m.-11:00 p.m.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sunday</td>
<td>12:00 noon-11:00 p.m.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

It is the duty of every student to take it upon himself to exercise restraint in the library.

SevenColumbia Crew MembersDropped For Training Violations

Seven members of Columbia's varsity crew team, which challenged Yale next Saturday for the Blackwell Cup, have been dismissed from the squad for "serious infractions of the training rules". Two other members of the team refused to return to the squad next year "with a clean record," according to the coach Ullrich.

Columbia Coach Carl Ullrich announced that anyone who was dismissed from this squad would not be on the varsity squad next year. Dick Zacharia, current American Civilization major in the College, was appointed Head Coach for next year. The member who refused to return was the frosh Captain, who has been appointed to the same position for next year. The remaining members have been assigned to the frosh crew team.

The seven rowers were dismissed from the varsity boat which will be entered in the annual inter-intervarsity regatta at Harvard. Coach Ullrich said that all of the cases of violation involved failing to follow the rules. Seven admitted they were guilty of violating the training rules. Two have been dismissed from the team. The remaining members were disciplined according to the severity of violations.

The seven rowers also failed to attend the opening day's practice and to meet the representatives of Oxford and Cambridge Universities in a dual meet that will have a hand in determining the team for the annual inter-intervarsity regatta.

Held to keep spectators (and athletes, also) informed of the program, the scoreboard (which is usually one or two events behind) and the public address system, which keeps everyone up-to-date with the seeming chaos which prevails as trackmen are constantly competing, being organized, or being shuttled off the field, all at the same time.

Above all this confusion which rules on the field, however, the spectator may immediately familiarize himself with what's going on through any one of three means: the printed program and schedule of events, the press, and general popularity throughout the East.

Anyone attending the Carnival is immediately made aware of the seeming chaos which prevails as trackmen are constantly competing, being organized, or being shuttled off the field, all at the same time.

The Ann al of the suspension of nine members of Columbia's Varsity Crew brings with it the mixed feelings that accompany any such event. The basic problem is understand-able, but not the making of it. Everyone accepts the fact that Crew is one of the most demanding of sports, on any level. The manager every day of the week from early September through the fall.

The Penn Relays, which occupied Franklin Field this past weekend, were marked by the usual good publicity and coverage in the press, and general popularity throughout the East.
