Penn Fasters to Join In Vietnam Discussion At Online Colleges

SEVEN CITIES - Ten Penn students, fasting in protest of U.S. policy in Viet Nam, decided last night to join in a series of discussion panels set up at Haverford and Bryn Mawr colleges.

James Morrow, who wrote a paper on the morality and economics of the war, said that he and his group were interested in what was going to happen to the war, and he wanted to discuss it with people who weren't going to Vietnam.

Additional Problems

Morrow said that there were a variety of problems which could be discussed at these panels, such as the war in Viet Nam, and its effects on the world economy.

The panel at Haverford was co-sponsored by the Penn chapter of Sigma Chi, and the panel at Bryn Mawr was sponsored by the Penn chapter of Kappa Alpha Psi.

Several of the students presented their individual reasons for going without food:

"Fast will give me more time to think about the war in Viet Nam," said one.

"By not eating I disrupt my daily life, this should show how important the matter is to me," commented another.

"Having hunger constantly on my mind, I can fully appreciate the fact that people are always suffering in the Viet Nam situation," said one girl.

"If I can get some people to think about this issue, then the fast will be successful," said another.

Small cards with the words "No food for Viet Nam" were made up by the fasters. These will either be worn continuously to stimulate discussion or just carried on the person to make people think about the issue.

The three meetings were held respectively at 34th and Rittenhouse Square, at the Subway station and subway car, and in the community room of the Presbyterian Hospital.

A special word of thanks goes to all the people who have supported and helped us in various ways. We are grateful to all those who have contributed to our cause.

Postscript

The fast will continue until next Friday. The participants will drink only orange juice to maintain the minimum daily requirements of vitamins.

Penn Undergraduates Produce Film; To Open at Wayne Avenue Theater

By PHILIP ARKOW

"The Book," a 26-minute film written and produced by the members of the Penn chapter of Sigma Chi fraternity, will be the first undergraduate fraternity film to open in a commercial theater when it opens at the Wayne Avenue Playhouse on February 25.

Randy Swartz, Executive Producer and Director of the film, announced yesterday that "The Book" will not be produced at Penn, but only at the Playhouse, 419 Wayne Ave. There is a possibility, he said, that the picture could be distributed nationally by various college fraternities.

Swartz also said that shooting for Penn Cinema's next film - an adaptation of J.D. Salinger's "J.T. Before the War When the Eskimos" - will begin on February 18. The film will include a full battle scene at Valley Forge with a cast of 135 and full color for a variety of purposes.

An Arbor Pickets Convicted For Oct. Michigan Sit-In

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (CPS) - Twenty-eight persons who were convicted of trespassing in an October sit-in at the Ann Arbor draft board office have been sentenced to 15 to 20 days in jail and ordered to pay $50 fines plus $20 court costs.

They were also ordered to post $500 bond each pending appeal of the convictions.

An Ann Arbor councilman also issued a bench warrant for the arrest of a 26-year-old Ann Arbor student, who is alleged to have defaced the record of a man who was convicted of trespassing in an Oct. 4 sit-in.

It was reliably reported in Easton, Pa., that Simpson's public campaign against Senatorial candidates and college fraternities had led to an almost complete split with State Board of Education Chairman Otis C. McCrory and several other Board members.

Simpson's success in the campaign, said a leader of the campaign, was a result of the close cooperation between Simpson and the Board of Education Chairman Otis C. McCrory.

Simpson's status as a member of the Board has not changed, and he has been a member of the Board since its organization in 1952.

Simpson's status as a member of the Board has not changed, and he has been a member of the Board since its organization in 1952.

Simpson's status as a member of the Board has not changed, and he has been a member of the Board since its organization in 1952.

Simpson's status as a member of the Board has not changed, and he has been a member of the Board since its organization in 1952.

Simpson's status as a member of the Board has not changed, and he has been a member of the Board since its organization in 1952.

Simpson's status as a member of the Board has not changed, and he has been a member of the Board since its organization in 1952.

Simpson's status as a member of the Board has not changed, and he has been a member of the Board since its organization in 1952.

Simpson's status as a member of the Board has not changed, and he has been a member of the Board since its organization in 1952.
"The Slender Thread" is probably the longest-recorded phone call since Alexander Graham Bell made his historic call. At one end of the line is Sidney Poitier, University of Washington anthropology student, working on the vignetted depiction of battle and the German tank commander, played with brilliancy by Robert Shaw. He dies. The film will be made during this semester and will be based on a short story by J.D. Salinger titled "Just Before the War With The Eskimos," Randy Swartz, president of the Penn Cinema, is scheduled to direct, and the writing and camera work will be done by Vice-President Jim Morrow.

 With Eskimos

"Just Before The War With The Eskimos" will be shot in 16mm sound. The script calls for the two-Oscar winner to plunge us into a state of high-keyed excitement, curiosity, and sympathy. As you can imagine, a telephone call is not a very cinematic event because it just doesn't move anywhere. This problem however was alleviated by the use of flashbacks which, for the most part, were used to uncover clues into the character of the women and the circumstances that lead to the phone call. As the minutes tick away, Poitier has the telephone company, the police and the fire department trying to track down the call, locate the woman, and save her life. Just in the nick of time the combined forces of the two-Oscar winner converge on the live woman and pluck her from the hands of death. I guess you could consider a ninety-eight minute telephone conversation a great accomplishment, even if it is only mildly interesting, but when talents of the stature of Poitier and Bancroft are on the line, one expects something more.

"The Slender Thread" is going to be shot in 16mm sound. The film will be made during this semester and will be based on a short story by J.D. Salinger titled "Just Before the War With The Eskimos," Randy Swartz, president of the Penn Cinema, is scheduled to direct, and the writing and camera work will be done by Vice-President Jim Morrow.

 With Eskimos

"Just Before The War With The Eskimos" will be shot in 16mm sound. The script calls for the two-Oscar winner to plunge us into a state of high-keyed excitement, curiosity, and sympathy. As you can imagine, a telephone call is not a very cinematic event because it just doesn't move anywhere. This problem however was alleviated by the use of flashbacks which, for the most part, were used to uncover clues into the character of the women and the circumstances that lead to the phone call. As the minutes tick away, Poitier has the telephone company, the police and the fire department trying to track down the call, locate the woman, and save her life. Just in the nick of time the combined forces of the two-Oscar winner converge on the live woman and pluck her from the hands of death. I guess you could consider a ninety-eight minute telephone conversation a great accomplishment, even if it is only mildly interesting, but when talents of the stature of Poitier and Bancroft are on the line, one expects something more.
Mr. Scranton Regrets...

Ten days ago Charles G. Simpson told us that, should Governor Scranton remove him from his post as Chairman of the State Council of Higher Education, he would still have "a stout heart, a spine, and a tongue." The move on Scranton's part had been forecast by many who could not see the Governor resisting intense political pressure in that direction. Now the expectation has been fulfilled, and while the Governor did not state his reasons, they are painfully clear. It simply does not pay to call publicly for an end to the entrenched "situation," as the Scranton press puts it. A number of tro University community. Names will be withheld by the Board for doing so, and it would appear there is nothing more the politicians and their lackeys can do to silence him.

Simpson retains his seat on the State Board of Education, from which he cannot be removed. His term expires in November, and his successor, Frank Hawkins, will take the lesson to heart.

Mr. Scranton by Simpson is not going to be reinstated unless the University-Board of Education, from which he cannot be removed, constitutes a deliberate repudiation of the President's action, like that of the State Council of Higher Education. We may expect that Simpson's approach to education are rooted out once and for all.

The Board of Education, from which he cannot be removed, by Simpson are valid, the Pennsylvania record to the line. All letters must be signed by a member of the State Board he will retain a balance works.

We know, in no uncertain terms, its opinion of the Governor's action, like that of the State Council of Higher Education, and we find that, with the distribution of ability to pay in dollars per year (fig. 1). This histogram simply means, for example, that the 25% of the student population at our hypothetical institution can afford to pay $5000 a year for tuition, while it will be at least 5% per cent (.1 per cent, .001) can pay nothing at all and the same number can pay up to and including $4000 a year. This is, of course, a highly simplified model, but it will suffice for our purposes.

As a member of the State Board he will retain a platform from which to speak to the issues he has raised. He has already been censured by the Board for doing so, and it would appear there is nothing more the politicians and their lackeys can do to silence him.

But the fact remains that the points raised by Simpson are valid, the Pennsylvania income minus aid now equals $7,536,000 in full in all cases. If we set tuition at $1500 a year, we find that income minus aid now equals $7,536,000 in available funds, i.e. by raising tuition $500, the school has obtained an available funds increment of $750,000. Thus raising tuition was a wise step; student aid can be handled comfortably and the University gets three-quarters—a million more dollars.

If financial pressure continues to increase, the school might conceivably consider raising tuition again—say, $500 more, to $2500. Table III shows the result, again holding everything else constant. Income minus aid now total $6,769,560—down $776,000 from what it was when tuition was $2000 and actually $1,640,000 less than what it was when tuition was $1500! Obviously, increasing tuition to $2500 would result in the college losing money, unless the enrollment is increased. A smaller tuition increase might occur, however, be possible without increasing enrollments. If we make up similar tables at $100 intervals we would find that the University is losing money when financial pressure on the institution increases.

If tuition is raised to $2000, students who were previously receiving aid will need more, and some who did not need it before will now. The effect is shown in Table II, in which we assume everything but tuition is held constant. We find that income minus aid now equals $7,536,000 in available funds, i.e., by raising tuition $500, the school has obtained an available funds increment of $750,000. Thus raising tuition was a wise step; student aid can be handled comfortably and the University gets three-quarters—a million more dollars.

If financial pressure continues to increase, the school might conceivably consider raising tuition again—say, $500 more, to $2500. Table III shows the result, again holding everything else constant. Income minus aid now total $6,769,560—down $776,000 from what it was when tuition was $2000 and actually $1,640,000 less than what it was when tuition was $1500! Obviously, increasing tuition to $2500 would result in the college losing money, unless the enrollment is increased. A smaller tuition increase might occur, however, be possible without increasing enrollments. If we make up similar tables at $100 intervals we would find that the University is losing money when financial pressure on the institution increases.

If tuition is raised to $2000, students who were previously receiving aid will need more, and some who did not need it before will now. The effect is shown in Table II, in which we assume everything but tuition is held constant. We find that income minus aid now equals $7,536,000 in available funds, i.e., by raising tuition $500, the school has obtained an available funds increment of $750,000. Thus raising tuition was a wise step; student aid can be handled comfortably and the University gets three-quarters—a million more dollars.

If financial pressure continues to increase, the school might conceivably consider raising tuition again—say, $500 more, to $2500. Table III shows the result, again holding everything else constant. Income minus aid now total $6,769,560—down $776,000 from what it was when tuition was $2000 and actually $1,640,000 less than what it was when tuition was $1500! Obviously, increasing tuition to $2500 would result in the college losing money, unless the enrollment is increased. A smaller tuition increase might occur, however, be possible without increasing enrollments. If we make up similar tables at $100 intervals we would find that the University is losing money when financial pressure on the institution increases.
Where Students Meet & Eat
Fireside Dining Room
331 S. 43rd St.
Home Cooked Meals
Air-conditioned
Bring your date after the game
EV 2-1142
Full-course dinners 5-7:45
Sundays 12-7:30
Luncheons 12-2
Banquets & Parties

Classified Ads
NEW & USED RECORDS EQUIPMENT FOR SALE.
331 S. 43rd St.
Call 315-3732.

APARTMENTS-FURNISHED OR UNFURNISHED.
42nd & Baint. Newly Decorated.
1 Bedroom & Efficiency available.
Convenient Location. Utilities Included.
Reasonable.
Call PO-5-9832 - ME-5-2496.

HOW 'BOUT A PRIVATE WINTER WEEKEND!
FOR YOUR GROUP
HOW-You: FRATERNITY, SORORITY, OR CUB
WE: Will schedule a private winter weekend
AT: Camp Gruber...a top resort.
Facilities for skiing all winter sports & recreation
10 minutes from both Camelback and Timberline.

SPEND SUNDAY AFTERNOON AT THE Middle East Restaurant

NEWMAN MIXER
Tonight 8..30-1
music by the
MONARCHS
At Newman Hall Admission $1.00

B.U.B. presents...
FELLINI'S
LA STRADA
FRIDAY-FEB.4 3:00 & 7:00 BENNETT LOUNGE ADMISSION FREE

Christian Association Presents....
LONELY ARE THE BRAVE
"KIRK DOUGLAS as One Man US Technological Society "
2nd Floor Auditorium
3601 Locust Walk
FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 4, 1966

CAMPUS EVENTS

THE DAILY PENNSYLVANIAN

University Agenda

• B.U.B. will present Fellini's La Strada on Friday, February 4, at 5:00 and 7:00 in Bennett Lounge, 4th floor Bennett Hall. Admission is free.

• All students and faculty are invited to a coffee hour, sponsored by the Kite and Key society, at 3:30 today in Hill.

• Commuters: Everyone else is complaining about everything invited to a coffee hour, sponsored by the Commuter Activities Board under the auspices of WSQA and MSG to be held today 3-4 p.m. in the West Lounge of Houston Hall. Live music. All are welcome.

• Everyone is invited to join the Vietnam protest fasting in meetings and discussion at 6 p.m. each night at the Christian Association. For further information call 394-5335.

• Newman Club mixer tonight 6:30-1. Music by the Monroe archers at Newman Hall.

• The Pennsylvania Literary Society and the Leo's Lecture Series present a poetry reading by William Merklin, distinguished American poet, at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, February 10, in College Lounge Room 200. All faculty and students are invited.

• BRANDEIS UNIVERSITY STUDY PROGRAM IN ISRAEL

If you are a sophomore or junior and are interested in spending next fall semester (July 1 - December) in Israel for full academic credit at the University of Pennsylvania, please be informed that Mrs. Phyllis Kramer, Foundation. This is a social science program for which a number of financial awards are available. Full information about this opportunity will be made available during the interview. Please call Hillel for appointment, University EXT. 7591.

BRANDIS UNIVERSITY STUDY PROGRAM IN ISRAEL

encouragement

Opportunity currently exists at Ford Motor Company. Graduates who join us are often surprised at how quickly they receive personal assignments involving major responsibilities. This chance to demonstrate individual skills contrasts sharply with the experience of many young people entering the business world for the first time. At Ford Motor Company, for example, a graduate may initiate a project and carry it through to its final development. One who knows is David Tenniswood, of the research staff.

David Tenniswood

M.S., Michigan State University

Currently a design engineer working on suspension design and analysis, Dave has been impressed by the extent to which management encourages personal initiative among recent graduates like himself. Here, management believes that early incentive is fundamental to individual growth and a successful career. If you are interested in a job that challenges your abilities and rewards enterprise, we urge you to contact our representative when he visits your campus.

Opportunity currently exists at Ford Motor Company.

Ford Motor Company is:

HESCH

formerly MOBDEL-HESCH

VALENTINE CARDS

and GIFTS

106 S. 36th St.

What's Playing?

BERGMAN'S MAGICIAN

SUNDAY NIGHT

$3.50

PAGE FIVE
Work Opportunities Project Available to Penn Students

A Summer Work Opportunities program is presently available to interested university students. About a thousand volunteers of colleges throughout the world are sought for two and three month programs this summer in rural and urban poverty areas of the United States from Alaska to Puerto Rico. Other opportunities include work camps in Europe, the Middle East, Africa, Asia, and South America.

Summertime work will include remedial education and cultural enrichment projects in marginal areas, anti-poverty programs, rural training projects, day camps, and vacation church schools. Library assistants, recreation leaders, teachers, doctors, nurses, laboratory technicians, and nursing aides are among those needed. Spanish speaking students are on call for work in Miami with Cuban refugees. Programs of the same nature will be conducted in cities like Chicago, New York, and San Francisco.

Projects are for the most part ecumenically planned and sponsored. Included are work in California migrant camps, in the Church-Community Action Program of the Greater Portland (Ore.) Council of Churches, and in an inter-church urban ministry in Buffalo, New York.

Volunteers are expected to pay their own transportation costs to and from their assignments, although scholarship help is available in limited quantities. Students desiring information about work camps, community service, and individual service opportunities are urged to write to the Department of Voluntary Service and Youth Ministry, Room 1206, 675 Riverside Drive, New York, N.Y. 10027. Those interested in overseas projects should contact the Office of Student World Relations in Room 294, at the same address. Inquiries about study programs and working seminars should be addressed to the Office of Student Summer Service, 825 Willow Street, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, 19107.

Pledges

The following who have accepted fraternity bids from Theta Chi were omitted from yesterday’s list:

Ahram, Ross A.; Baer, Vico E.; Davis, Myron L.; DeMalo, Joseph; Elfesenti, Emanuel; Flachser, Peter D.; Goldstein, Byron L.; Halpern, Fred; Karpf, Steven; Lipman, Henry J.; Natelson, Andrew; Horvitz, Thomas; Reisken, Samuel R.; Roman, Theodore; Rosen, Denise A.; Shapen, Paul A.; Stein, Steven; Weigle, David H.; Wormser, Gary P.; Zeitlin, Andrew D.; Zeitlin, Steven.

Sigma Chi

(Continued from page 1)

tested in a federal court in Denver by the national chapter of Sigma Chi. The Brown University chapter has severed its ties with the national Sigma Chi organization and the fraternity is said to be “in trouble” at the Universities of Michigan, Wisconsin, and Oregon.

Buy you a new sports car?

Send you around the world at our expense?

Satisfy your appetite for every worldly and masculine pleasure?

No!

But we may offer you the opportunity to become an engineer with Public Service and experience both the excitement of discovery and the reward of an important, worthwhile career.

12-month training program • Interviewer on campus

Friday, February 25

Ace Auto Rental

"Test & Save" Car Drive Tour

Ace Auto Rental

"Test & Save" Car Drive Tour
Hoopsfers

basketball team look at the hands of the 52 to 22 drubbing her girls' team suffered from Drexel yesterday at home. Led by Carol Wurster with 16 points and Dottie Kloe with 16, Drexel took advantage of Penn's indisciplined play and sloppy ball handling to jump to a half-time lead of 34-6.

In the third period, the Quakers showed some spark by outscoring Drexel 6-2. This improvement was not enough to close the 26 point half-time gap, but Penn dominated its game and bowled Drexel to relinquish the lead. With a few minutes to go in the game, the Quakers put forth their best efforts of the season as they both won. They will be trying to extend their personal streak against Williams while Ted Underwood, Fred Levitt, and Dave Browne will be attempting to rebound from losses against Army.

Junior varsity was never in trouble, and except for a 4-4 tie during the first quarter, Penn turned into scores. The next games for the teams will be on Tuesday, Feb. 9, at Rosemont at home.

Drexel Beats Girl Hoopsters

The Squash Team Hosts Williams

UNCVERSITY  CLOTHES• TREE

3427 WALNUT

Another ragged schedule of four straight road contests for the Penn fencing team welcomes Lehigh with open arms. A home clash Saturday at Hutchinson Gym.

The Quakers are hoping to avoid a situation that has been their undoing in the past season. A meet at Easton, the Red and Blue fences mercilessly slaughtered the Engineers, by a 5-1 score and were duly ashamed of themselves afterwards.

Penn fencing coach Maestro Louis Ciszar has now devised an ingenious strategy to prevent a repeat performance. The Masonic skill of the Quaker second stringers against Lehigh is an effort to keep the score respectable.

Wanna start doing something?

Prudential is looking for graduates who want to go places. We have important career openings for the right persons in all phases of our operations—technical, administrative, sales, and more.

And once you get started at Prudential, you can keep right on going. There's room at the top if you've got what it takes.

You wanna start something? Sign up at your Placement Office for a slot... talk to the Prudential recruiter. He'll be on your campus today at

Friday, February 18

THE PRUDENTIAL INSURANCE COMPANY OF AMERICA

An equal opportunity employer

Penn Fencers In First Home Clash

By LARRY KROHN

The Quakers are in line to use a new sensation to move them up one notch in the Eastern Hedges competition.

UNIVERSITY FOR LIVING....

"University For Living".... A Public Forum

Lutheran Church of the Holy Communion

January 17-February 8 Open 10 a.m.

$00

"University For Living"....

"University For Living".... A Public Forum

Lutheran Church of the Holy Communion

January 17-February 8 Open 10 a.m.

"University For Living"....

"University For Living".... A Public Forum

Lutheran Church of the Holy Communion

January 17-February 8 Open 10 a.m.
The University of Pennsylvania squash team will be seeking its third consecutive home victory Saturday as they face the Williams College racquetmen in a match at 2:30 p.m. at the Rigs Squash Courts. This will be the seventh match in a six-match season for the hockey rack at Penn, which is seeking to up their season record to 3-1. Meanwhile, the Princeton Squash Men's and Women's teams are scheduled for contests at 11 a.m. and 1 p.m., respectively, with their visiting Ivy League foes.

In the men's match, the Quakers face one of the East's rising squash powers. Although their enrollment is small, an effective recruiting program has made them one of the East's rising squash powers. Furthermore, Coach Salfi, who was in-Youth Basketball vs. Veteran's Hospital
3:30 PM West Orange, N.J.
Saturday, February 4, 1966

Sedlacek Guns for Harvard Mark In Battle of Fast Breaking Teams

By STEVE SARSHIK

Penn's basketball team, attempting to recover from a little surprise party thrown at Dillion Gym last weekend, travels north to bump Dartmouth and Army last weekend by 7-6 and 8-3 scores, respectively, in those matches, Penn's

Grapplers Seek First Ivy Victory Against Upsurginig Tiger Matmen

By JIM RESTIVO

In its quest of first Ivy victory, the Quaker mat team travels tomorrow to battle with a Pennsylvania contingent that has been a complete stand-off since last year's disastrous 1-9 season.

With the help of a hometown-stapled lineup, Tigers thus far sport a 3-0 log. Princeton has a solid, wellconditioned team, including both strong and weak spots, and two freshmen.

The Jarvecues will boost their confidence competition will come from the 135, 145, and 175 pounds.

Grapple with the Tigers Saturday, February 4, 1966

Sedlacek Guns for Harvard Mark In Battle of Fast Breaking Teams

By STEVE SARSHIK

Penn's basketball team, attempting to recover from a little surprise party thrown at Dillion Gym last weekend, travels north to bump Dartmouth and Army last weekend by 7-6 and 8-3 scores, respectively, in those matches, Penn's

Grapplers Seek First Ivy Victory Against Upsurginig Tiger Matmen

By JIM RESTIVO

In its quest of first Ivy victory, the Quaker mat team travels tomorrow to battle with a Pennsylvania contingent that has been a complete stand-off since last year's disastrous 1-9 season.

With the help of a hometown-stapled lineup, Tigers thus far sport a 3-0 log. Princeton has a solid, wellconditioned team, including both strong and weak spots, and two freshmen.

The Jarvecues will boost their confidence competition will come from the 135, 145, and 175 pounds.

Grapple with the Tigers Saturday, February 4, 1966

Sedlacek Guns for Harvard Mark In Battle of Fast Breaking Teams

By STEVE SARSHIK

Penn's basketball team, attempting to recover from a little surprise party thrown at Dillion Gym last weekend, travels north to bump Dartmouth and Army last weekend by 7-6 and 8-3 scores, respectively, in those matches, Penn's

Grapplers Seek First Ivy Victory Against Upsurginig Tiger Matmen

By JIM RESTIVO

In its quest of first Ivy victory, the Quaker mat team travels tomorrow to battle with a Pennsylvania contingent that has been a complete stand-off since last year's disastrous 1-9 season.

With the help of a hometown-stapled lineup, Tigers thus far sport a 3-0 log. Princeton has a solid, wellconditioned team, including both strong and weak spots, and two freshmen.

The Jarvecues will boost their confidence competition will come from the 135, 145, and 175 pounds.