Harrington Urges Radical Moves
In Economic, Urban Social Areas

The Interfraternity Council's Council of Presidents that will be voted on immediate and long run sales and similar problems will be solved, according to University President Gaylord F. Harwell. Rushing formerly began the first day of classes in the fall. The 34 fraternity presidents said the one-month delay would permit freshmen to "adjust to the lifestyle, which have lots of votes." and still need more. More freedom during the rush period. Senatorial Calls for Plan To Improve Education

State Senator Robert B. Casey, a Democratic member of the Pennsylvania Senate, recently called for a plan to improve education in the state. He cited the need for higher education policies that would not only provide the necessary infrastructure but also ensure that the state could attract growth and development.

In his address, Senator Casey emphasized the importance of higher education in Pennsylvania and called for the state to provide people to fill roles in the current educational system. He highlighted the severity of the current situation and the need for immediate action to ensure that Pennsylvania does not lag behind the nation.

According to Casey, the state must provide opportunities for students to gain the knowledge and skills needed to succeed. He also underscored the importance of higher education in order to attract growth and development to the state.

Dean’s Office Issues Parking Report

The Faculty/Administration/Student Affairs Office has released a report on the state of parking on the campus of the University of Pennsylvania. The report highlights the challenges faced by the university in managing parking spaces and suggests solutions to improve the situation.

The report notes that the university has faced significant challenges in managing parking spaces due to the growth of the student population and the increasing demand for off-campus parking. It suggests several solutions, including the establishment of a parking management system and the exploration of alternative methods of transportation.

The report also highlights the need for improved communication with students and faculty to ensure that the parking system is fair and equitable for all users. It recommends the implementation of a parking system that takes into account the needs of different groups and provides flexible options for students and faculty.

Rotc Day Ceremonies

The ROTC Day Ceremonies were held at the University of Pennsylvania on Thursday, April 28, 1966. The ceremony was attended by hundreds of students and faculty members who came to show their support for the ROTC program.

The ceremony included speeches from various university officials and representatives from the ROTC program. The keynote speaker was Dr. James MacGregor Burns, a former member of the ROTC program who went on to become a successful businessman and author.

Dr. Burns spoke about the importance of the ROTC program and its role in preparing students for leadership roles in the military and civilian sectors. He also urged students to take advantage of the opportunities offered by the ROTC program to develop their leadership skills.

The ceremony concluded with a parade featuring ROTC cadets from the various branches of the military. The parade was followed by a reception at the university's Harkness Building, where Dr. Burns spoke about his experiences in the ROTC program and the impact it had on his career.

President's Message

The President of the University of Pennsylvania, Dr. James MacGregor Burns, delivered a message to students and faculty members on the importance of the ROTC program. He emphasized the role of the ROTC program in preparing students for leadership roles in the military and civilian sectors.

Dr. Burns encouraged students to take advantage of the opportunities offered by the ROTC program to develop their leadership skills. He also spoke about the importance of the ROTC program in preparing students for careers in the military and in the civilian sector.

The President's message was well-received by the audience, and he received a standing ovation for his inspiring words.

The President also announced that the university would be hosting a series of seminars and workshops focused on the ROTC program and its role in preparing students for leadership roles.

The seminars and workshops will be held throughout the year and will feature guest speakers from the military and civilian sectors. The events are open to all students and faculty members who are interested in learning more about the ROTC program.

Toward Realistic Rushing

It is always disheartening to learn that the present day scene slated for re-development will have to leave their homes and businesses to search for new locations.

It is even more disheartening to learn that because of "urban renewal" some people will even lose their livelihoods.

Such is the case with the unlovely merchants and tradesmen of South Fortieth Street. Because the University's new Dental School will be located on Fortieth Street, they will be evicted in sixty days. Under a present law, the Redevelopment Authority of the City of Philadelphia is available to help them find new locations.

But relocating a neighborhood tavern with an established clientele is not easy. And relegating a 40th St. printing firm which deals almost exclusively with Penn organizations and fraternities to 50th and Sansom is just not fair.

Yet the best spot for the new Dental School is located on Fortieth Street between Irving and Locust Streets. The new Dental School is the best spot for the new Dental School. After all, the redevelopment area, the Redevelopment Authority by the civic-minded West Philadelphia Corporation, headed by Frederick Harnwell.

But the businessmen and women of South Fortieth Street don't think so. Their primary concern for the next sixty days is where their next meals will be coming from.

Urban Removal

The Interfraternity Council's new liberalized rushing rules will be difficult to enforce—but not impossible. That the previous regulations were less than plausibly observed, would not seem so shocking to anyone who read them. The old rules limited almost every type of once-legitimate rushing procedure from the Interfraternity Council to straighten up. Consequently, the I.F.C. has placed continual pressure on the I.F.C. Council to respect its good buddies in a fellow-fraternity system.

The new rules, designed to give freshmen a clearer— but still legal— picture of fraternity life, have been enforced because the tacit excuse for infractions has been removed minimized.

For fraternity states at Penn form a rather close-knit family, all of the council's rules are enforced on a kind of honor system. The fraternity system, purportedly based on friendship, occasionally falters when it has to ignore friendship. For an I.F. judiciary to convict its good buddies in a fellow-fraternity system requires an impartiality that perfecting to anyone who read them.

Nevertheless, if fraternities remain on campus it will not be because the new rushing rules are ignored. Faculty and administration dissatisfaction with the fraternity system is placing continual pressure on the I.F.C. Council to straighten up. Consequently, it is believable that fraternities may observe the new rules, even if it causes a few hard feelings among fraternity men.

The Council is to be commended if the practice what it has preached.

Notes in the Margin

Conspiracy

By ELLIOT S. WERNER

To the bloodshot eye of the typical Penn student, last Thursday's Rowbottom may have appeared to be as ordinary, everyday Rowbottom. To the keen and observant eye of this reporter, however, two unusual things were obvious. One was the sudden escalation of the number of campus guards, and two was a small number of heavy-eyed, sober students wearing white biretta and little black pajamas.

Curious about this, as well as what appeared to be a tremendous cover-up in the newspapers the next day, we went to talk to an administration official, who asked to remain nameless, but filled us in on the facts.

In 1953 the Lower Merion Convention brought to an end the long, bloody war between the University of Pennsylvania and Princeton. The agreement was that Harold Stassen would be replaced, Penn would get an equal shot at faculty recruiting, but would agree to accept all of Princeton's requests.

Occasional skirmishes continued between the Quakers and the Tigers, but as Princetons continued winning, a semblance of stability was maintained.

Battle Of Pa Les Tra

Last March, however, Princeton suffered a crushing defeat at the famous Battle of Pa Les Tra. All of this, of course, had been foreseen.

The Interfraternity Council's new book "Speak Up You Tiny Fool" has been published by the to be a tremendous cover-up in the newspapers the next day, we went to talk to an administration official, who asked to remain nameless, but filled us in on the facts.

Princeton Sends Supplies, Men

The PC appeared to make little headway until Princeton, enraged by the defeat at Pa Les Tra, began sending first supplies, and then men down to the Penn campus via the I-80 Chi Goven Trial, better known as the Garden State Parkway. Incidents mounted, such as the mortar bar- rier of the Penn Cong in a dank, LSD filled room in the basement of Potter Hall.

The Administration escalated the conflict by increasing the number of police and seeking the United States for aid. Lyndon Johnson responded by sending 63 billion in military aid and four million men from the cruck Philadelphia foot patrol. It wasn't until the new famous Honolulu conference that the situation began to deteriorate completely. It seems that President Johnson's embrace at that conference spelled the kiss of death for Premier Chi Goven Ock, Johnson demanded social and economic reforms, so Premier Ock tried to merge the Man's and Women's student governments, and President Harnwell raised tuition.

But his association with Johnson has rendered Ock extremely unpopular with the nor- mally spiritual religious sect, Froto Boosts. The Boosts, a large but disorganized group, are under the direction of Mark Chinking Sorgum Mit Kreplach, Kreplach demanded Ock's resignation, but Ock refused and promised free elections and a slate system in the Campus Corner which killed twelve pin ball machines.

Princeton 6-1,
Near Ivy Title
By TON GEDY

Despite pouring rain and 40 degree temperature, the University of Pennsylvania varsity golfers took a giant stride toward an Ivy League title yesterday when they ripped Princeton 6-1 at the Plymouth Country Club.

It was, which gave Coach Robert Hays' listmakers an 11-1 record with just four matches left in the regular season, was the team's third against no. 10 Penn in Ivy competition this season.

It could turn to be the biggest win of the year for the Quakers, who will play Yale next week in the Easterns and saw the title race again.

This Penn sports fan is clearly behind the red-hot Hays as 3-0 in the league, the only team to beat Penn this year.

The team and number two man Arty Kern led the romp. He was, however, over their home course. Nevertheless all convens are looking for a real match at the turn.

The second nine also ended with Kern on top, giving the Quakers the next hole and the match, 1-up.

Third man Brent Arcorn and fourth man Ralph Folson led London's slightly easier times in winning their matches. Arcorn beat Wynn Pagano 9-2, Folson defeated Gordon Harrison 3 and 2.

In the fifth spot, Penn's other co-captain Pete Humphrey edged George Izzo 2-up in 18 holes while co-captain Pete Humphrey edged George Izzo 2-up in 18 holes while co-captain Pete Humphrey edged George Izzo 2-up in 18 holes while co-captain Pete Humphrey edged George Izzo 2-up in 18 holes while co-captain Pete Humphrey edged George Izzo 2-up in 18 holes while co-captain Pete Humphrey edged George Izzo 2-up in 18 holes while co-captain Pete Humphrey edged George Izzo 2-up in 18 holes while co-captain Pete Humphrey edged George Izzo 2-up in 18 holes while co-captain Pete Humphrey edged George Izzo 2-up in 18 holes while co-captain Pete Humphrey edged George Izzo 2-up in 18 holes while co-captain Pete Humphrey edged George Izzo 2-up in 18 holes while co-captain Pete Humphrey edged George Izzo 2-up in 18 holes while co-captain Pete Humphrey edged George Izzo 2-up in 18 holes while co-captain Pete Humphrey edged George Izzo 2-up in 18 holes while co-captain Pete Humphrey edged George Izzo 2-up in 18 holes while co-captain Pete Humphrey edged George Izzo 2-up in 18 holes while co-captain Pete Humphrey edged George Izzo 2-up in 18 holes while co-captain Pete Humphrey edged George Izzo 2-up in 18 holes while co-captain Pete Humphrey edged George Izzo 2-up in 18 holes while co-captain Pete Humphrey edged George Izzo 2-up in 18 holes while co-captain Pete Humphrey edged George Izzo 2-up in 18 holes while co-captain Pete Humphrey edged George Izzo 2-up in 18 holes while co-captain Pete Humphrey edged George Izzo 2-up in 18 holes while co-captain Pete Humphre...
