Air Force to Postpone Decision on Granting Recession of Projects

By WILLIAM MANDEL

Action on the University's request to rescind an agreement to renew Projects Summit and Spice Rack will not be taken for some time, an Air Force spokesman said yesterday.

W. A. Townsend, liaison between the University and the Air Force, said that the anticipated delay is due mainly to the University's "fancy footwork" in the past several weeks. A request to rescind a signed contract several weeks after the contract was signed is very unusual.

Townsend said that a request of this type must go through a great deal of work before any decision is reached. Townsend himself must decide whether to forward the University's request to the Pentagon with his approval.

Townsend was contacted by phone at Eigh A. F. Base, in Florida. His request was approved by Townsend. Pentagon officials must then pass on the request.

Townsend declined to estimate the time it would take to pass on the University's request, but said that several weeks "would not seem unusual.

President Harnwell said he agreed to extend Projects Summit and Spice Rack so that the funds allocated for those projects would not be diverted elsewhere.

The contracts are due for extension or reversion in March of 1968. The University says that it is trying to transfer the projects to the University City Science Center.

Shortly after the University agreed to extend the contracts, the Steering Committee of the University Council passed a resolution calling for a request by the Administration to rescind the agreement.

At a meeting committee, Harnwell voted to rescind the project, and as a result of the meeting committee's decision, a telegram to the Air Force requesting permission to rescind the agreement calling for a one year extension of the projects was drafted.

Harnwell said that a transfer of this kind would have to be made to the UCSC if it were desired to keep the projects from returning to non-restricted research.

The University City Science Center is a private organization, with stock held by 19 local colleges and other groups. The University owns the controlling stock in the corporation.

Before signing Harnwell had announced that the University would "definitely not" renew the Spice Rack and Summit contracts.

Speculation that the center would discontinue the projects was first voiced in late 1967, when UCSC Executive Vice-president Jean Mather suggested in a letter to Harnwell, that the center be given the contracts.

The Daily Pennsylvanian will review the controversy over the projects, the UCSC, and the UCSC in its weekly supplement Friday.

Circus Arrives in Black and White

PENSIVE ZEBRA, a newcomer to University City, mediated course selections, for next semester. The zebra is visiting the University in conjunction with the Ringling Brothers, Barnum and Bailey Circus now at Convention Hall.

University to Allow Sophomores
To Live in Apartments Next Fall

By STEVE MARMIN

A "reasonable number" of sophomores will be allowed to live in apartments next year, Director of Residence Gerald Robinson announced yesterday.

Robert Anyon, UPSG vice-president and president of the Men's Residence Board, estimated that approximately 150 members of the Class of 1970 will be permitted to live outside the dormitories or the fraternity houses.

The general fee bill provides for a suggested increase of "ap-

University administrators and fraternity leaders have expressed support of the Interfraternity Council's plan to reorganize residence halls.

If has called for abolishing "Hell Night," ending physically or mentally degrading pledging procedures, and restricting pre-initialization activities outside the chapter houses.

CRAFT BACKS PLAN

Dean of Men James P. Craft called the IFP plan replacing "Hell Night" with contribution to the appearance of the houses as "most desirable," and said the main emphasis of his program for fraternities is to "reduce the need for improvements."

He urged individual houses to take the specific steps needed in each situation.

DISMISS VICTIMED

Craft said "definitive evidence of pledging violations" was presented at a recent top-level meeting of administrators of residential halls. Testimony was heard from at least three pledges. Craft said actual details of the revelations "were secret.

Assistant Dean of Men Martin Fiehley has called the compliance problem "sociological patterns over a period of time." He cited the pledging program of Phi Epl- siden PIO as exemplary of reforms in many houses which are less "most desirable," and said the new emphasis of his program for fraternities is to "reduce the need for improvements."

He urged individual houses to take the specific steps needed in each situation.

VIOLATIONS CITED

Craft said "definitive evidence of pledging violations" was presented at a recent top-level meeting of administrators of residential halls. Testimony was heard from at least three pledges. Craft said actual details of the revelations "were secret.

Assistant Dean of Men Martin Fiehley has called the compliance problem "sociological patterns over a period of time." He cited the pledging program of Phi Ep- siden PIO as exemplary of reforms in many houses which are less "most desirable," and said the new emphasis of his program for fraternities is to "reduce the need for improvements."

He urged individual houses to take the specific steps needed in each situation.

UPSG Approves Poll On Vietnam Next Month

By WILLIAM BURCHILL

The Student Government has made final the text of a referendum to be held before May 1 on the war in Vietnam.

At its meeting last Monday the Assembly also approved an increase in the general fee to allow distribution of student football tickets free of charge, and heard a report urging a full investigation of CIA activities by a joint House-Senate committee and establishment of a new watch-dog committee for Federal intelligence-gathering.

REFERENDUM PROPOSALS

The referendum seeks student approval of the proposition that "the United States Government should terminate its military presence in Vietnam. The referendum also discusses alternative military choices.

Complete termination of military and economic aid, termina- tion of the "peace talks," and withdrawal of all United States military and economic assistance, and declaration of war on North Vietnam.

MONEY FOR TICKETS

The general fee bill provides for a suggested increase of "ap-

PHILADELPHIA, PENNSYLVANIA

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 28, 1967—No. 7

How you gonna keep 'em down in the dorms after they see Area 37?

Universityents students protest

Search of Dormitory Rooms

MURPHYS, and others, conducted the search of dormitory rooms in House IV of Hill Hall yesterday afternoon.

The primary criminial of the search was that it was made by a University agent who refused to identify himself.

The primary criminial of the search was that it was made by a University agent who refused to identify himself.

The primary criminial of the search was that it was made by a University agent who refused to identify himself.
Invasion of Privacy

The recent disclosure that every room in House IV of Hill Residence Hall was searched over the spring vacation for “damage to University property” comes as no surprise to those who know the mentality of the University.

Of course, every lease for rooms in the dormitories contain a clause that allows authorized agents of the University to inspect the rooms. Legally, the University has every right to go through rooms when students are hundreds of miles away, unaware of what’s happening. But ethically, it is a somewhat different matter.

The University respects the people that live in its dormitories as human beings, it might have had the simple courtesy to tell students that it was going to infringe upon their privacy. Why, it might even have let the students watch while agents combed the walls for microscopic spots where the paint was gone.

I might also have told dorm counselors not to remove items from students’ rooms. University sanctioned students have not been different from any other, and University invasions of privacy have not been any different than those of the FBI.

Some have argued that a change in the dorm contracts would be the only way to regulate the University’s spying. A mere statement of policy would probably be sufficient, however.

After all, it’s still 15 years until 1984.

Conscience

Yesterday the Campus Chest and the University City Friends of the Committee of Responsibility began a drive to collect funds to aid in the treatment of Vietnamese children who have been burned, maimed, and mutilated by the war.

Yesterday, three booths were manned eight hours by volunteers. Yesterday, the campus was plastered with posters describing the drive. Yesterday, Time magazine listed the University as one of the top ten in the U.S. in alumni giving.

Yesterday, the students of the University contributed only 27 dollars to help these victims of another generation’s war.

It probably depends on one’s conscience. Obviously, conscience is something University students lack.

— Dennis Wilen

The SCUE Experience:

Bureaucracy Stalls Reform Proposals

BY MARVIN ISAAELOW

In fact, they are so aware of this unspoken structure that when SCUE issued constructive measures, for academic reform, a steering committee was initiated for the specific purpose of directing proposals to the specific members of that committee.

The steering committee is composed of three SCUE members, the chairman of the Committee of Undergraduate Affairs, and the chairman of the University Council committee on undergraduate affairs.

Ideally, under the guidance of such high level officials SCUE proposals should be acted upon with minimum delay. In most instances this unfortunately has not been the case.

Although the Marder is very thankful to be trusted by the administration, he has a problem. That will never happen.

The steering committee, on the one hand,deals with the bills we received Tuesday, March 14. She told us that this was the only way to regulate the University’s spying. A mere statement of policy would probably be sufficient, however.

The recent disclosure that every room in House IV of Hill Residence Hall was searched over the spring vacation for “damage to University property” comes as no surprise to those who know the mentality of the University.

Of course, every lease for rooms in the dormitories contain a clause that allows authorized agents of the University to inspect the rooms. Legally, the University has every right to go through rooms when students are hundreds of miles away, unaware of what’s happening. But ethically, it is a somewhat different matter.

The University respects the people that live in its dormitories as human beings, it might have had the simple courtesy to tell students that it was going to infringe upon their privacy. Why, it might even have let the students watch while agents combed the walls for microscopic spots where the paint was gone.

I might also have told dorm counselors not to remove items from students’ rooms. University sanctioned students have not been different from any other, and University invasions of privacy have not been any different than those of the FBI.

Some have argued that a change in the dorm contracts would be the only way to regulate the University’s spying. A mere statement of policy would probably be sufficient, however.

After all, it’s still 15 years until 1984.

Conscience

Yesterday the Campus Chest and the University City Friends of the Committee of Responsibility began a drive to collect funds to aid in the treatment of Vietnamese children who have been burned, maimed, and mutilated by the war.

Yesterday, three booths were manned eight hours by volunteers. Yesterday, the campus was plastered with posters describing the drive. Yesterday, Time magazine listed the University as one of the top ten in the U.S. in alumni giving.

Yesterday, the students of the University contributed only 27 dollars to help these victims of another generation’s war.

It probably depends on one’s conscience. Obviously, conscience is something University students lack.

— Dennis Wilen

The SCUE Experience:

Bureaucracy Stalls Reform Proposals

BY MARVIN ISAAELOW

In fact, they are so aware of this unspoken structure that when SCUE issued constructive measures, for academic reform, a steering committee was initiated for the specific purpose of directing proposals to the specific members of that committee.

The steering committee is composed of three SCUE members, the chairman of the Committee of Undergraduate Affairs, and the chairman of the University Council committee on undergraduate affairs.

Ideally, under the guidance of such high level officials SCUE proposals should be acted upon with minimum delay. In most instances this unfortunately has not been the case.

Although the Marder is very thankful to be trusted by the administration, he has a problem. That will never happen.

The steering committee, on the one hand,deals with the bills we received Tuesday, March 14. She told us that this was the only way to regulate the University’s spying. A mere statement of policy would probably be sufficient, however.

The recent disclosure that every room in House IV of Hill Residence Hall was searched over the spring vacation for “damage to University property” comes as no surprise to those who know the mentality of the University.

Of course, every lease for rooms in the dormitories contain a clause that allows authorized agents of the University to inspect the rooms. Legally, the University has every right to go through rooms when students are hundreds of miles away, unaware of what’s happening. But ethically, it is a somewhat different matter.

The University respects the people that live in its dormitories as human beings, it might have had the simple courtesy to tell students that it was going to infringe upon their privacy. Why, it might even have let the students watch while agents combed the walls for microscopic spots where the paint was gone.

I might also have told dorm counselors not to remove items from students’ rooms. University sanctioned students have not been different from any other, and University invasions of privacy have not been any different than those of the FBI.

Some have argued that a change in the dorm contracts would be the only way to regulate the University’s spying. A mere statement of policy would probably be sufficient, however.

After all, it’s still 15 years until 1984.
CLASSIFIED

MALE HELP WANTED

MALE HELP WANTED - Positions available for counselor, counselor supervisor, driver, maid, janitors, housekeeper, verifiers, etc. For information call or write: Dick Polis, 19177 Palomino Drive, Warrington, Pa. DI 3-6352.

HELP WANTED

SUMMER CAMP positions available for specialists in art, dance, music, water safety instructors, riflery, canoeing, sailing — Camp Hadar. Conn. Contact: Alan Kleiman, 23 Speakman, 37th & Spruce, EV 2-1772.

INTERESTING WORK is now available with a prestige company in stereo music and sound systems, part-time or full time. Must have car. Call Mr. Spectre, CH 2-3530.

IT'S A BIRD!
NO -- IS IT McBIRD?

WORLD THE SKIES

THE N.Y. TIMES WROTE:

If six top American Artists "took to singing poems by Edgar Allen Poe and Norman Mailer, the result would be a crude version of Paris Rive Gauche."

See and hear this famous French Cabaret Troupe on Romance Languages Club's Pre-Skimmer Weekend SATURDAY, APRIL 15, 8:30 P.M.

HALF FARE AIRLINE TICKETS

WE SELL THEM

A D Travel Service
40th at Sansom

SHAPIR STUDIOS

Quality Portraiture
Applications & Passports
On the campus at 3907 WALNUT ST.
BA 2-7866

APARTMENT TO SHARE

STUDENT from U. of Mich seeks apt. to share in Phila. for May-Aug. Write T. Robinson, 1021 Vaughn St., Ann Arbor, Mich, or call Radcliffe at EV 2-0644.

TYPING SERVICE

THE WXPN JAZZ DEPT. PRESENTS

A JAZZ CONCERT BY
THE PAUL BLEY TRIO
(Formerly With Charles Mingus & Sonny Rollins)
FRI., MARCH 31 at 8:30 P.M.
at IRVINE AUDITORIUM
TICKETS $2.00 and $1.50 AVAILABLE AT THE DOOR
Also Advance Sales at The Logan Hall Book Store, All Three Record Mart Stores & The Last Way Out (22nd & Walnut Sts.)

PROF. JEAN MAYER
HARVARD UNIVERSITY
SCHOOL OF PUBLIC HEALTH
CONSULTANT ON NUTRITION
for UN, UNESCO, FAO
ON
"THE HUMAN CONSEQUENCES OF CHEMICAL AND BIOLOGICAL WARFARE"

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 19
7:30 P.M.
MED. ALUMNI HALL
MALONEY BLDG., U. of P.

Chairman:
REV. JOHN W. SCOTT
Christian Association

Sponsors:
UNIV. COMM. PROBLEMS WAR/PEACE
MED. COMM. HUMAN RIGHTS

NEED TRANSPORTATION?
Rent a Yamaha
JOHN H. SHAIN, Inc.,* PO 9-1213

THE WXPN JAZZ DEPT. PRESENTS

A JAZZ CONCERT BY
THE PAUL BLEY TRIO
(Formerly With Charles Mingus & Sonny Rollins)
FRI., MARCH 31 at 8:30 P.M.
at IRVINE AUDITORIUM
TICKETS $2.00 and $1.50 AVAILABLE AT THE DOOR
Also Advance Sales at The Logan Hall Book Store, All Three Record Mart Stores & The Last Way Out (22nd & Walnut Sts.)

PROF. JEAN MAYER
HARVARD UNIVERSITY
SCHOOL OF PUBLIC HEALTH
CONSULTANT ON NUTRITION
for UN, UNESCO, FAO
ON
"THE HUMAN CONSEQUENCES OF CHEMICAL AND BIOLOGICAL WARFARE"

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 19
7:30 P.M.
MED. ALUMNI HALL
MALONEY BLDG., U. of P.

Chairman:
REV. JOHN W. SCOTT
Christian Association

Sponsors:
UNIV. COMM. PROBLEMS WAR/PEACE
MED. COMM. HUMAN RIGHTS

NEED TRANSPORTATION?
Rent a Yamaha
JOHN H. SHAIN, Inc.,* PO 9-1213
The team effort, unfortunately, has been so overworked that their cumulative effect has resulted in some slip-ups. Almost every man on the squad fenced at or near his best in the Cambridge competition; indeed, the Quakers could not have over-taken the Harvard boys in any other manner.

Because only three men, not a full team, compete in the Nationals, and because America's fencing talent is concentrated in the East, the win over the three-woman crown is considered the best in the country. And Penn now enjoys that recognition.

Even a nationally ranked swordsman like Todd Makler has the right of a team on a touch saber. Ron McMahan, for instance, had not told me he had been ill until after his great showing.

Cohen lost all five of his bouts in the individual competition, but no one was more disappointed with his failure to win than Cohen himself. He may have foregone an opportunity for individual glory, but it is his outstanding effort as a team member, of course, that proved his real worth as a fencer.

Ron McMahan was a marked man during the entire season and because America's fencing talent is concentrated in the East, the win over the three-woman crown is considered the best in the country. And Penn now enjoys that recognition.

Because only three men, not a full team, compete in the Nationals, and because America's fencing talent is concentrated in the East, the win over the three-woman crown is considered the best in the country. And Penn now enjoys that recognition.

Even a nationally ranked swordsman like Todd Makler has the right of a team on a touch saber. Ron McMahan, for instance, had not told me he had been ill until after his great showing.

Cohen lost all five of his bouts in the individual competition, but no one was more disappointed with his failure to win than Cohen himself. He may have foregone an opportunity for individual glory, but it is his outstanding effort as a team member, of course, that proved his real worth as a fencer.

Ron McMahan was a marked man during the entire season and because America's fencing talent is concentrated in the East, the win over the three-woman crown is considered the best in the country. And Penn now enjoys that recognition.

Even a nationally ranked swordsman like Todd Makler has the right of a team on a touch saber. Ron McMahan, for instance, had not told me he had been ill until after his great showing.

Cohen lost all five of his bouts in the individual competition, but no one was more disappointed with his failure to win than Cohen himself. He may have foregone an opportunity for individual glory, but it is his outstanding effort as a team member, of course, that proved his real worth as a fencer.