125,000 Mobilize Against War; King Calls to Peace, Wants Unity

BY PHILIP ARKOW

NEW YORK — More than 125,000 anti-war protesters jammed Central Park, the United Nations plaza and some thirty square blocks around Union Square on Saturday, saw at least 80 men burn their draft cards, and heard Dr. Martin Luther King call for a consolidation of anti-war and civil rights movements.

Unofficial estimates by coordinating leaders and marchers said the police estimate was conservative, and perhaps as many as 300,000 demonstrators participated. An additional 8,000 marched in San Francisco as part of the Spontaneous Mobilization to End the War in Vietnam.

Dr. King, stressing protesters' duties to both peace and racial movements, said, "I oppose the war in Vietnam because I love America. We can't have two sets of sources to be an American power; a European power and an Asian power. We should be a Moral Power."

WITHDRAW, DON'T NEGOTIATE

Stokely Carmichael, chairman of Student Non-Violent Coordination Committee, called U.S. involvement in Vietnam "International Supremacy" and said, "the U.S. has built on genocide, and keeps waging it on the people of all the corners of the earth."

"When you're being raped," he said, "you can't sit in your bedroom and say, 'What can I do?' You have a right to pick up a gun and say, 'I won't let you rape me.'"

The American tax system works because the taxpayer thinks the law is fair. Sheldon Cohen, commissioner of the Internal Revenue Service, told a large audience at the Law School yesterday.

The United States is unique because 100 million taxpayers trust the tax collector, and the 60,000 collectors trust the taxpayer in turn, Cohen said.

"The problem in collecting taxes is one of perspective. The system must at once be fair to the mass and to the individual. The difficulty with his concept," according to Cohen, "is that the law must be complex, covering all cases, and unending to expection in cases of equity."

REFUNDS UNIQUE

Refunds are virtually unheard of in other countries, he said. Cohen said that under most other tax systems the individual has the last of his money when he gives it to the government. "In the United States, however, $1.5 billion is returned to over 40 million claimants yearly," he said.

More than $19 billion is collected yearly. The cost of maintaining the Internal Revenue Service is less than one-half of one percent of this figure, Cohen said. Stressing the efficiency of the system, Cohen added only two of the IRS employees are political appointees, and the rest are Civil Service employees.

100 MILLION TAXPAYERS

In 1959 there were only six million taxpayers, he said. Today over 100 million people pay in income tax.

Cohen joined the Internal Revenue Service in 1952 immediately after graduation from law school and rose to the position of Commissioner by 1964, after a seven-year tenure in the law practice with the Washington firm of Arnold, Fortas, and Porter.

GOOD COOKING

"I must be the best child cook this side of the border," Cohen said. He plans to interview applicants for marriage. "I just have to get a husband," he said. "I plan to stay that way." It's the only way to get a husband, he said.

The resolution, proposed by Dr. Robert Rutman, head of the University Committee on Problems of War and Peace, read: "Resolved, That University sponsorship of Projects Space, Rack and Summit, either directly or through the Science Center, or any other affiliated organization should be completely terminated by March 1969."

Earlier in the meeting, Rutman, an associate professor of chemistry, proposed a similar resolution which asked the termination of any C-B research projects. Wishner said that resolution has not been voted upon because of a Senate decision in 1965 to consider itself only with the publishability of projects and not their contents.

Dr. Albert Mildvan, the organizer of the proposed gas mask protest against C-B research, then tried to appeal the overruling, but was defeated 37-27.

The revised version of Rutman's resolution was then presented: that new business, but the quorum of 100 needed to consider it was short by four and the meeting was adjourned.

INTIMATE MEETING

After the adjournment, eight to 10 faculty members met and de-

(Continued on Page 5)

Faculty Senate Leader Orders Special Session
On Penn Ties to UCSC

By BERN SCHRITZ

The Faculty Senate will meet in a special session to consider the relationship of the University to the University City Science Center, according to outgoing Senate Chairman Julius Wisnher.

The meeting, to be held shortly, will focus specifically on the fate of Projects Summit and Spice Rack, either through the Science Center, or any other affiliated organization. The meeting today.

Dr. Albert Mildvan, the organizer of the proposed gas mask protest against C-B research, then tried to appeal the overruling, but was defeated 37-27.

The revised version of Rutman's resolution was then presented: that new business, but the quorum of 100 needed to consider it was short by four and the meeting was adjourned.

RUTMAN'S RESOLUTION

The resolution, proposed by Dr. Robert Rutman, head of the University Committee on Problems of War and Peace, read: "Resolved, That University sponsorship of Projects Space, Rack and Summit, either directly or through the Science Center, or any other affiliated organization should be completely terminated by March 1969."

Earlier in the meeting, Rutman, an associate professor of chemistry, proposed a similar resolution which asked the termination of any C-B research projects. Wishner said that resolution has not been voted upon because of a Senate decision in 1965 to consider itself only with the publishability of projects and not their contents.

Dr. Albert Mildvan, the organizer of the proposed gas mask protest against C-B research, then tried to appeal the overruling, but was defeated 37-27.

The revised version of Rutman's resolution was then presented: that new business, but the quorum of 100 needed to consider it was short by four and the meeting was adjourned.

INTIMATE MEETING

After the adjournment, eight to 10 faculty members met and de-

(Continued on Page 5)
James Barber Endorsed as Candidate Speaks to Campus Young Democrats

Barber announced that he was "unequivocally on record for popular election of ward leaders (they are now elected by committeemen), greater roles for committeemen in party policy, the formation of ward policy committees to advise the city councilmen in this district, and, above all, the removal of Frank Smith as Chairman of the Democratic City Committee."

His "prime concern is education or, more to the point, the lack of concern by City Council for giving education whatever support it needs. We must support quality integrated education, educational parks, and all the concepts which will bring a school system marked by thirty years of total neglect to its proper and necessary position as one of the best in the nation. And I believe the leadership of former Mayor Dilworth will give us this if we give him the support he deserves."

Barber, a Negro, took a firm stand on civil rights, urging a "break with the conservative tradition of the local Democratic Party." He attacked Negro politicians who ignore the problems of their people "for narrow political advantage."

"The future of the American city depends upon the ability of all races to live together. Any loss of a goal will be an admission of defeat. Thus a strengthened Human Rights Commission, a tight open-housing ordinance, and the re-establishment of the Police Advisory Board will be among my immediate goals if elected."

46th ST. MOTORS, INC.
Financing Available 100% Guarantee
150 CARS TO CHOOSE AT ALL TIMES
ALL MAKES AND MODELS

1965-66 MUSTANGS — 10 TO CHOOSE
1957-67 CADILLACS COUPES, CONV., SDNS.
CALL OR COME IN
GR 6-1600 — ASK FOR HARRY, AL, JACK

Budweiser
KING OF BEERS • ANHEUSER-BUSCH, INC. • ST. LOUIS
ALL MAKES AND MODELS

Should you sip beer?
We'd rather you wouldn't. Sipping is for keeping the delicate taste of a fine vintage.
But not beer. Especially Budweiser. Buds is a hearty drink brewed with lots of character, and the best way to enjoy it is to drink it. (Not chug-a-lug... just good healthy beer-drinker's swallow.)
Give it a try. Open a Budweiser and pour it into a glass... smack-dab down the middle to get a healthy head of foam. Now... take a big drink. No sips.
Good? You hot. This is how beer should taste. As we keep saying, Budweiser is brewed with exclusive Beechwood Aging to give you a taste, a smoothness and a drinkability you will find in no other beer at any price.
So pour your beer with a flourish. Drink it with a flourish. (And maybe a pretzel.)

Budweiser:
RCL Members 50c

Tuesday Night
7:00 p.m.
Admission $1.00

French Dialogue In Color Tuesday Night 7:00 p.m.
English Subtitles 35 mm Irvine Auditorium 9:00 p.m.
B-52's Bomb Ho Chi Minh Trail

(Editors' note: The following is a report by Howard Moffett, the Vietnamese correspondent for the Christian Association.)

SAIGON — A U.S. spokesman in Saigon yesterday confirmed that B-52 Stratofortresses, the largest bombers America has in Southeast Asia, have been pounding the Ho Chi Minh Trail in Laos for several weeks. Though isolationist outside the war zone, it is now known that B-52's were bombing Laos..."[Continued on Page Three"]

Be an Indian giver! HOW! Give Los Indios Tabajaras' new album to your squad. An exciting first from Los Indios Tabajaras. This new album features their excellent guitar techniques, framed for the first time in an orchestral setting of voices, strings and brass. Los Indios Tabajaras, who have been referred to as "The most trusted name in sound."
Veritas is a mimeographed magazine published bi-weekly by the campus Young Americans for Freedom. Edited by chapter president R. Thomas Lamond, Veritas calls itself "an attempt to enlighten the university community as to the conservative in important issues."

A sample of Veritas analysis follows. The reader is invited to judge for himself whether the editorials of Gabrel Kolko. Kolko "has admitted, though, that their logical proof is a testament to subversion and we've missed from a teaching job at Jefferson Medical school in Philadelphia for his communist activities." Rutman has refused to tell the House Committee on Un-American acitivities whether he had or had not been a communist after a certain period in his life.

Another colleague, Dr. Albert Mildvan, a researcher at the University has made many statements and written letters to the Daily Pennsylvanian supporting Dr. Rutman.

Dr. Edward Herman, a professor of finance here, has also written many "anti" letters supporting and authored an article in Viet Report. Stoughton Lynd is on the advisory board of Viet Report.

"So we're right back where we started, with the socialist scholars laying their plots against American freedom" in New York last September.

"Freedom of speech? Yes, everybody has the right to be heard. Academic freedom? Yes, it's still with us. Freedom to publish? Yes, unless the protection of the country demands otherwise. Why the sweat? One and one are two. Two and two are four. There is a pattern to subversion and we've seen it in university after university from one end of the globe to the other."

"So, how shall we color Penn today? And so, in a neat, logical progression, the editors of Veritas have proven, through guilt by association, half-truths, and generalizations that Dr. Albert Mildvan, Edward Herman, Robert Burton and Dr. Kolko are socialist scholars, intent on destroying American capitalism, fomenting moral-sexual revolution, and counselling LCD psychopathic perversions. Logical? Right!

Letters to the Editor

The Daily Pennsylvanian: TO MY AMERICAN GOOD FRIENDS

Editor, The Daily Pennsylvanian: I am at University of Pennsylvania since September 1961. I had many grievances in the past couple of years. I do not want that my action should be taken as that I am going to forget to think whatever is done is done. This year I found something which has heart my feelings very much. I am nobody so that people should consider it but I have full right to request that my American good friends would like to hear my feelings next year or in future.

This year the International Student week was very good and may be better than last year. I want to congratulate Mr. William Carr, director, and Mr. Steve Arum, assistant director of International Student Service and a great future diplomat Mr. Mike Gertrud who is a sophomore student planning to major in international affairs. The Girard Bank Trust also contributed to the world by displaying the currency of 44 major countries of the world in Main Library (ignoring Pakistan as one of the major country and considering "Haiti" instead of that). I don't know whom I should blame for the wrong world map which was pasted in with the currency in the beautiful frame. I have a polaroid picture of someone is interested to see it. Do you know how they have shown Pakistan in the map? West Pakistan is shown as Iraq, East Pakistan, where 60% of Pakistan population lives as a part of India. Kashmir was haord under akshin with India in September 1965 as a part of India and not disputed territory. I request to the University authorities that in future they should permit rice such a map to be displayed in main Library unless it is checked by a professor of Geography Department that it is according to U.N or U.S.A. Government. I will request all the people that they should write a letter to Mr. Arum, Assistant Director, stating that it is not a small matter and I am not making a joke out of it.

Thanks,

Syajid T. H. Zaidi
Graduate Student
Civil Engineering Department

The Toilet

Editor, The Daily Pennsylvanian: It's interesting to note that the most apt and negative comment on last night's wall incident was made by a passerby, a law major. The moral of this story: perhaps those in academia are aware of reperches reserve the right to edit subject to the Daily Pennsylvanian publishes letters to the editor, subject to the following limitations. Letters must be typed written, double spaced, 60 characters to the line, and must not exceed two pages in length. The editors reserve the right to edit subject to space limitations.
Cigarette smoke rises from the dining room to the inside terrace of the "Fortress of Penn Womanhood." The clustering of dishes and trays above the chafing of coeds indicates that the cafeteria is almost empty. Dinner or breakfast, as the case may be, is almost over. Only the hangovers, the slow eaters and those avoiding study or class are still seated at blacktoped, mock-marble tables.

WAR ON EMILY POST

These late-leavers are the most hated by the waiters, but none of the Hill Hall gourmets escape their scorn. Hill Hall dwellers often wonder why "the servants" are so easily disliked.

Anny Vanderbilt could tell them why, so could Emily Post. The simple fact is that once they're through the griddle doors, they cease to be ladies. In their private world the touch into childlike不好ness is not allowed in the dining halls. The girls don't wear pajamas anymore, but what they do wear in many cases looks like it was a carpenter suit to sleepwear and had served as such during the previous night. One of the boys who usually works the night shift commented on breakfast attire, "I was grussled when the men said they would do it again." One wonders what his reaction would be to the new Dormitory Parliament proposal to let girls wear pajamas to breakfast.

LESS SERVI

But wait! The coeds still have other tricks up their sleeves and individual sleeves. Cigarette ashes mixed with fried eggs is another culinary delight. If catching up quickly is napkins drenched in orange juice and coffee. In the general etiquette department, blue "rules" must be worn to dinner except Friday and Saturday afternoons. A long napkin is needed to blot any rag will do even if it has to be worn with a disintegrating sweater.

Perhaps it's the totally unladylike treatment they receive that has made the milk curd and the oyster tough. An ironed skirt (it takes only five minutes) and a sweater may make the morning coffee taste better and make the hard boiled eggs peel a little easier. Then again, maybe it won't, but it would certainly impress the look of the cafeteria.

The coeds in women's rooms this day was partly the result of a shift in student preferences from last year, according to Alice Emerson, dean of women.

"Last year there was trouble filling housekeeping rooms on the fourth floor. Mrs. Emerson, "This year many coeds wanted to return to those rooms." That was circumscribed last week by saying that the "voice of the Senate is the voice of the faculty. People had more respect for the faculty and Rutman spoke, they speak for themselves."

Rutman also replied to Wishner's resolution, "We do not vote on the actual issue but the faculty is that the present situation is unsatisfactory."

Room Draw

The coeds in women's rooms this day is partly the result of a shift in student preferences from last year, according to Alice Emerson, dean of women.

"Last year there was trouble filling housekeeping rooms on the fourth floor. Mrs. Emerson, "This year many coeds wanted to return to those rooms." That was circumscribed last week by saying that the "voice of the Senate is the voice of the faculty. People had more respect for the faculty and Rutman spoke, they speak for themselves."

Rutman also replied to Wishner's resolution, "We do not vote on the actual issue but the faculty is that the present situation is unsatisfactory."

Cigarette smoke rises from the dining room to the inside terrace of the "Fortress of Penn Womanhood." The clustering of dishes and trays above the chafing of coeds indicates that the cafeteria is almost empty. Dinner or breakfast, as the case may be, is almost over. Only the hangovers, the slow eaters and those avoiding study or class are still seated at blacktoped, mock-marble tables.

WAR ON EMILY POST

These late-leavers are the most hated by the waiters, but none of the Hill Hall gourmets escape their scorn. Hill Hall dwellers often wonder why "the servants" are so easily disliked.

Anny Vanderbilt could tell them why, so could Emily Post. The simple fact is that once they're through the griddle doors, they cease to be ladies. In their private world the touch into childlike不好ness is not allowed in the dining halls. The girls don't wear pajamas anymore, but what they do wear in many cases looks like it was a carpenter suit to sleepwear and had served as such during the previous night. One of the boys who usually works the night shift commented on breakfast attire, "I was grussled when the men said they would do it again." One wonders what his reaction would be to the new Dormitory Parliament proposal to let girls wear pajamas to breakfast.

LESS SERVI

But wait! The coeds still have other tricks up their sleeves and individual sleeves. Cigarette ashes mixed with fried eggs is another culinary delight. If catching up quickly is napkins drenched in orange juice and coffee. In the general etiquette department, blue "rules" must be worn to dinner except Friday and Saturday afternoons. A long napkin is needed to blot any rag will do even if it has to be worn with a disintegrating sweater.

Perhaps it's the totally unladylike treatment they receive that has made the milk curd and the oyster tough. An ironed skirt (it takes only five minutes) and a sweater may make the morning coffee taste better and make the hard boiled eggs peel a little easier. Then again, maybe it won't, but it would certainly impress the look of the cafeteria.

The coeds in women's rooms this day was partly the result of a shift in student preferences from last year, according to Alice Emerson, dean of women.

"Last year there was trouble filling housekeeping rooms on the fourth floor. Mrs. Emerson, "This year many coeds wanted to return to those rooms." That was circumscribed last week by saying that the "voice of the Senate is the voice of the faculty. People had more respect for the faculty and Rutman spoke, they speak for themselves."

Rutman also replied to Wishner's resolution, "We do not vote on the actual issue but the faculty is that the present situation is unsatisfactory."

S Societyp Fail to Make Full Use of New 'Sex Liberator'

By PAUL DOUGLASS

(CPF)—The very fact that we must face the abortion issue, to a certain extent reflects a basic subject we have so far avoided: birth control. If students had easy access to birth control devices not only the pill, one might logically wonder why abortion and illegitimate birth would be almost too small to mention. But as social dictates now stand, most unmarried co-eds who feel they need protection must somehow appear to a doctor either married or over twenty-one. Why must someone lie to dispense the pill to any student on this campus?" Rutman suggested two ways to dispense the pill to any student. The first is to offer classes in the unmentionable subjects. High schools are beginning to offer classes in the unmentionable subjects. It is often argued that the widespread use of birth control pills would usher in an unprecedented era of promiscuity and mass de-
Bobby the Kid Kennedy Rides the Range

By KAREN COLE
The Collegiate Press Service

Of all the folk-heroes of the west, there was never a more colorful and dashing than the ferocious young outlaw known as Bobby the Kid, he was the boy who wrecked the range with a color. Even today, they tell stories of how he would ride across the plains with his long hair in his eyes and his teeth flashing, screaming, "Let us press forward!" He was feared by everyone, but especially by the older bandits who knew that the Kid would not come in to a showdown with them. Strangely, though, young folk admired him. They tried to forget the fact that he was an outlaw and accept him as a human being. Now, the Kid belonged to the Johnson gang, which roved the countryside stealing from the rich and stealing from the poor and doing nothing but stealing from the body. Although the Kid agreed in principle with the gang's actions, he was very often in opposition with the leader of the gang. "Lawless Linden," Johnson, and his sidekick, Humble Hube.

The Kid had his first run in with Linden over a simple little thing like a bank robbery. While the gang was hunkering down in their hideout, they made plans to raid the city of Amarillo, Texas and rob the banks. The next day, they entered the city fearlessly with their guns blazing. Within a few minutes, they had evaded the vault of one of the banks, and were well on their way back to the hideout. As they sat around the campfire in the evening, planning the next day's raid, the Kid blurted out, "I've made up my mind that, uh, we should get out of Amarillo!"

"Who said Lawless Linden," said Linden.

"What?" echoed Humble Hube.

"Kid," said the Kid, repeated, "it is my opinion that, uh, we should get out of Amarillo because it's, uh, just not right. Furthermore, I think we should give Humble and myself some time of our own back. After all, uh, we may be outlaw, but we're certainly not imperialists!"

Linden was stunned. Was this the boy he had cared for from childhood? He was not much he could do about it. He could have been a good bandit! Could this be the sweet cherub who used to sit on his knee and call him "Uncle Linden"? This was the first time that had challenged his judgment on any matter and it had scared him. Humble Hube was even more scared. He knew that the Kid was young and ambitious, and he envisioned himself mysteriously disappearing and the Kid becoming Linden's new sidekick. But there was not much he could do about it. He never knew how much he got to be Linden's buddie in the first place, and now that he was, most of the time he didn't know what was going on.

But this started Linden thinking. Maybe having a romantic young fellow like the Kid by his side would enhance his own popularity, and people wouldn't come up and shout at them. So one night, just as had been expected, Humble Hube disappeared and was never as heard from again. It was even said that when anyone mentioned his name, Linden would just smile and say, "Who?"

So Bobby the Kid became Linden's new partner and together the duo charmed and alarmed folks from Montana to the Mississippi River. This went on for quite a while until the inevitable happened. Bobby, impetuous young rascal that he was, was not content to be number two. He wanted to be leader of the gang and was ready to challenge Linden the first time he saw him slipping. Finally, the time came. "I've decided, to uh, take ovah now," he told Linden.

APARTMENT FOR RENT

APARTMENT FOR RENT

DAILY PENNSYLVANIAN

MONEY |

FOR SALE

MONEY |

FOR SALE

APARTMENT FOR RENT

APARTMENT FOR RENT

APARTMENT FOR RENT

APARTMENT FOR RENT

APARTMENT FOR RENT
NEWS FROM THE IVY LEAGUE WORLD;
THE LATE COLLEGE ROUND UP

Reprinted from the April 11 Cornell Daily Sun: "The Faculty Committee on Sexual Abominations, or so the FCSA might well be called, decided to call sexual intercourse an inapppropriate activity in the freshman dorms. The abominations board corrected the salacious Freshman Council legislation which had voted to prohibit the act only when it offended the sensitivities of others. The faculty group was it to make sure the little boys in the dormitories weren't doing anything that they wouldn't do if they didn't live in University facilities. Haas off to the progressive program of the FCSA in keeping sin and lust out of the University."

Yale was granted recently by the presence of Author Tom Wolfe, who once wrote a thesis for a Yale professor on Hemingway's use of the word "and."

Returning to Yale last week, where he worked on his Ph.D., Wolfe told the Senior Class Dinner that he finds it more interesting to write about a whiskey runner than about Lyndon Johnson. Reported the Yale Daily News: "People ask me why I'm not dealing with something serious—War, Poverty, or some other horseman of the Apocalypse," he said.

"Why write on Junior Johnson, who runs whiskey in North Carolina, when you could write on Lyndon Johnson?"

"I tell them it's because I think the career of Junior Johnson tells us a great deal more than Lyndon Johnson, D. D. Eisenhower, or any of the rest," Wolfe said.

According to Wolfe, the 'American Dream,' is no longer a political idea of peace or prosperity. He said it is an Ohio motorcycle salesman, sailing off the Ohio landscape at 140 miles per hour, his torso belted to the surging engine of his bike."

Last Monday's Daily Princetonian reported that a survey by Princeton's student-run Press Club indicated that about 15 per cent of Princeton's students have experimented with drugs. The figure coincides with an estimate made by President Gobbin. The Press Club findings, said the report, "showed that marijuana is the most commonly used drug, but that some students have turned to the use of hashish and LSD as well."

"The student reporters estimated that about 19 undergraduates supply drugs to the rest of the drug users. They indicated that, although prices vary, marijuana generally costs a student $1.01 per half ounce and LSD runs about $8 per 'trip'."

"Many of the Press Club's data centered on specific characteristics of the drug users interviewed. The finding showed that 40 per cent say they are on the Dean's List, 23 per cent participate on varsity athletic teams and 70 per cent are in eating clubs."

"An LSD user said that his drug gives you unimaginable versatility with what you can do with yourself!"

The report indicated that most users avoid alcohol, which they consider themselves generally more creative and sensitive than those who do not use drugs.

This last item may require some explanation, for it is possible that Happenings haven't reached your campus yet. Be assured they will because Happenings are the biggest college craze since moonwanderings.

A Happening, in case you don't know, is the first formal art form. Things just happen. For example, eighty naked men come out and squat with each other with five boxes containing tinted yogurt. Then eighty more naked men come out and light birthday candles in the noses of the first eighty men. Then one girl, clothed, comes out and pulls three thousand feet of sausage casing through her pierced ear. Then eighty more naked men come out and eat a station wagon. There is, of course, a musical accompaniment to all these fun things. Usually it is "Begin the Beguine," played by 26 trench mortars, a drop forge, and a rooster.

There used to be, some years ago, still another requirement for becoming a hippie: a man had to have a beard. But no longer. Beards were worn in the past, not so much as a protest, but because shaving was such a painful experience. Then along came Personna Super Stainless Steel Blades.

Today if you don't want to shave, well, that's your hang-up, isn't it? Baby? I mean when you've got a blade like Personna that togs neither does it scrape, what's you going to do? You can't much like get with it; you're living in the past. Shaving used to hurt, used to scratch, used to gouge, used to give you all kinds of static. But not since Personna. It's a gas, man. It's a doozy; it's mom's apple pie.

Hey, man, like how about doubling your shaving cool? For example, eighty nude men come out and eat a station wagon. Hey, man, like how about doubling your shaving cool? For example, eighty more naked men come out and eat a station wagon. Hey, man, like how about doubling your shaving cool? For example, eighty more naked men come out and eat a station wagon. Hey, man, like how about doubling your shaving cool? For example, eighty more naked men come out and eat a station wagon.

You, like any other lovable, clean-living, freckle-faced American, want the American Dream, isn't it? Like treat it like Personna comes in double-edge style and Injector style too. I mean like any way you try it, you don't have to turn your face into a slum, do you? Shave around the nose, baby, neatly and nicely with Personna. I mean like Personna comes in double-edge style and Injector style too. I mean like any way you try it, you gotta like like it.

Hey, baby, how about doubling your shaving cool? Like how about using those crummy whiskeys with some Burma-Shave? Like regular or menthol? Like have your Sophomore Slump in the freshman year.

As for becoming a hippie, simply follow these steps:

1. Shave your legs for the first time.
2. Go steady with a girl who has long greasy hair.
3. Have your Sophomore Slump in the freshman year.
4. Go steady with a girl who has long greasy hair, a guile.

How? Well sir, to become a hippie, simply follow these five simple rules:

1. Read all of Dickens in the original dwarf.
2. Have your Sophomore Slump in the freshman year.
3. Wear buttons that say things like this: NATIONALIZE DAIRY QUEEN

4. Go steady with a girl who has long greasy hair, a guitar, enlarged pores, and thermal underwear.
5. Attend Happenings regularly.

For example, eighty more naked men come out and eat a station wagon. Hey, man, like how about doubling your shaving cool? For example, eighty more naked men come out and eat a station wagon. Hey, man, like how about doubling your shaving cool? For example, eighty more naked men come out and eat a station wagon. Hey, man, like how about doubling your shaving cool? For example, eighty more naked men come out and eat a station wagon.

Come in and see PUFF THE MAGIC DRAGON Yd Olde Tobacconist, Ltd. 3643 Walnut 222-2224

---

Penn Tops Harvard. As Lawrence Scores 3

By RICHARD GINSBERG

Penn’s varsity lacrosse team extended its winning streak to five in a row by downing Harvard, 10-3, in Cambridge on Saturday. The Quakers are now 2-0 in Ivy League competition, having defeated Yale 5-4 earlier in the season.

Harvard jumped out to a 1-0 lead, but Penn came right back to tie the score as Charlie Dewey converted a feed from Mark Boeing.

Tom Gasparini took a feed from Quakers ahead to stay, 3-2. Yale’s, we just played better of the crease. Excellent afternoon in the goal as co-captain Bill Lawrence drove in from midfield to score unassisted. But from that point on the Quakers were in complete command.

Yale tied the score as Charlie Dewey converted a feed from Mark Boeing.

Quakers are now 2-0 in Ivy League competition, having defeated Yale in a row by downing Harvard, 10-3, in Cambridge on Saturday. The Crimson’s third and last goal came with 5:28 remaining in the final period, Patton ended the day’s scoring. As leading scorer for the Quakers, he found himself in trouble in the fifth with men at the goal. But Varsity Bid Falls Six Seconds Short

The Indians only outhit the Quakers eleven to nine, but managed to score three runs. The biggest victory for the Penn teams, their first defeat in three years.