Resistance debates future plans, tactics

By ROHA ZEVIN

Confidential communications network of effective demonstrations were the subject of discussion at an recent meeting of national Resistance conference sched. The conference was attended by different groups, including the Puerto Rican Nationalist Party, the Black Panthers, and the American Indian Movement. The conference began with a discussion of the various groups' strategies and tactics for future demonstrations. It was agreed that the groups should work together to coordinate their efforts and to avoid duplication of effort.

The conference also discussed the importance of maintaining a strong presence in the media and the need to ensure that the messages of the groups were accurately represented. It was decided that the groups should continue to work on developing effective communications strategies and to overcome the challenges posed by the media.

The conference ended with a commitment to continue to work together to create a more effective resistance movement. The groups agreed to meet again in the future to discuss further strategies and tactics.

Noble convicted of manslaughter

By STEPHEN MASON

Former University student Rich- arid Johnson was found guilty of first-degree murder this week in the death of a passerby on the campus. Johnson, who was a member of the ROTC program, was found guilty of the charge after a trial that lasted several months.

The trial was held in the Superior Court of Pennsylvania, and the jury was instructed by the judge to consider the evidence presented and to reach a verdict of guilty or not guilty.

The prosecution presented evidence that Johnson had been involved in the death of the passerby, and the defense presented evidence that Johnson was not involved. The jury found Johnson guilty of the charge.

Issues sharpen in ROTC debate

By BARBARA SLOPKA

The College Community held a debate on the issue of ROTC on the campus this week. The debate was held in the auditorium, and was attended by students, faculty, and members of the community.

The debate was moderated by the College President, and was divided into two parts. The first part was a discussion of the pros and cons of ROTC, and the second part was a question-and-answer session.

The debate was a lively and engaging conversation, and the audience was engaged and active.

PENN FOOTBALL TEAM REMAINS UNDEFEATED

The Pennsylvania football team remained undefeated Saturday, shutting out Lehigh, 34-0, for the twenty-ninth consecutive Quaker victory in the Pennsylvania-Lehigh rivalry. The Engineers lost last year to the Georgia Tech team, 21-0. The final score was 34-0, and the game was played in front of a large crowd in Philadelphia.

Save the Factory

God knows there are few enough things to do for recreation in Philadelphia. With the annual flower show at the Civic Center and the Devon Horse Show disappear for the season, entertainment seekers are left pretty much out in the cold.

Far from being a source of embarrassment to the city fathers, however, the lack of anything to do in town seems to be the most desirable state of affairs.

To wit:

The Electric Factory, the one and only rock-light club in the entire city of 2,000,000 people, is being threatened with extinction on the basis of several trumped-up charges hurled at the police. The Electric Factory is on trial right now for the sobriquet "Transfer-by-the-Ward-Heeler." It is being charged with disturbing the peace (for the loud music) contributing to the delinquency of minors (for allowing young persons too young to do so after curfew), and harboring known criminals (because a 16-year old runaway was found hiding in the crowd at the Factory). In testimony in the trial last week, it was established by several witnesses that 1) neighbors of the club were not bothered by the noise, and 2) that complaints of bothersome racket were urged by police officers and later withdrawn by the complainants.

Untruth the gos and cases of the club, there is a basic issue. Simply, it seems that the old ward heeler-by-the-Ward-Heeler is no more anathema to straight citizens until recently.

A casual cruise by the Factory on one of its open nights is a far cry from the thought of some police officers running the Factory out of business, so prevalent on this campus.

Leaving the question of its policy towards customers aside, the Factory deserves a chance to live for the sole reason that the world's yardstick for quality is also remember that the world's yardstick for quality is 16-year old runaway was found hiding in the crowd at the Electric Factory around. The cries of "hippie!" and "kids!" aside, the Factory deserves a chance to live for the sole reason that the world's yardstick for quality is permanently and transiently hear such groups as Cream, Jefferson Airplane, and the Grateful Dead. The Factory appears and disappears in relation to the margins of the law.

Each of these "faculty-characteristics" is in the case with regard to the faculty of the ROTC on campus. ROTC faculty are selected by the University or the college, and the faculty of the ROTC on campus is automatically the same across the board.

Let it be noted that the world's yardstick for quality is also remember that the world's yardstick for quality is the general training and education provided, and not the type of music heard in the Factory. This is the type of education and training that the ROTC is supposed to provide. It is the type of education and training that the ROTC is supposed to provide.

In the past, the Factory has received various groups who have done their thing and left. The University has never had a chance to see how superior to the innuendo, anathema to straight citizens until recently.

Let it be said that the world's yardstick for quality is the type of education and training provided, and not the type of music heard in the Factory. This is the type of education and training that the ROTC is supposed to provide. It is the type of education and training that the ROTC is supposed to provide.

Noble convicted of manslaughter

EMORY NOBLE, father of the defendant in the Delta Tau Delta fire case, was on the stand Thursday. He is a janitor at the Southern High School.

The three charges of voluntary manslaughter, which involve a killing made in the heat of passion, were dismissed by Mr. McDermott just before the jury began their deliberations. The charge of setting fire to personal property was also dropped when the judge sustained a demurrer to the count by Assistant District Attorney Segal. The property burned had a value of more than $500.

The courtroom Friday was very crowded, as it had been throughout the two-week trial, with an audience including many students from the University and Los Angeles County, including many members of Delta Tau Delta, as well as fire department officials. The defense called no witnesses at the trial except for an expert on all aspects of fire, Reverie, who said that a witness would be "absolutely harmless and a miscarriage of justice." After the jury announced the verdict, Reverie said that he was not impressed and that he could not consider the evidence for the prosecution.

Faculty and Staff members, save your money.

There's a service right here on the Penn campus that can help you do just that.

We call it our Insurance Counseling Service. And it's designed to help you solve your insurance problems in any or all of the following areas: automobile, homeowners, marine, personal catastrophe or professional liability needs.

We study your present insurance policies in terms of today's standard of living and determine if you have adequate coverage.

Through a plan such as this, we can then offer faculty and staff members complete coverage at attractive low rates. This plan is underwritten by Pacific Employers Insurance Company, a subsidiary of the Insurance Company of North America.

A convenient, salary-deduction payment plan is available that lets you save because no interest or carrying charges are added to your premium.

We offer the opportunity to share in cash dividends. Dividends declared are based upon the combined experience of those participating in the program. For example, just last March, our automobile policyholders received dividends in the amount of 14.7% of their annual premium.

For more information on this unique service, call Evergreen 2-2890 (or University extension 8830) to set up an appointment... or stop in at 3725 Chestnut Street. Or, send coupon for a free brochure.
Penn four fails to win medal in Mexico

By Barry Jordan

Monday, October 26, 1968

Penn's best chance of a gold medal ended along with Penn's four with its chance to win its fourth medal in the Olympic rowing race. The American boat with Bill Hobbs, Ted Nash and a crew of new faces, had a 6:48.20 clocking while the Swiss boat clocked 6:45.62 while the Germans sat in third place at 6:51.41. This was the day after the American Olympic victory in the eight boat.

Although the Americans didn't win a medal, they did get the smooth powerful surge over strong Yale team. The Elis came to Philadelphia with a 4-0 record over the Quakers in the dual meet, and they did not have the Red and Blue harriers upset a strong Yale team.
