N. VIETNAM. VIET CONG CRITICIZE U.S. FOR DELAYS TALKING

Although the relations between Saigon and Washington have been on the mend since the last big Vietcong strike, the Americans are still far from satisfied. Saigon is too worried about making a deal that will lead to the cheapening of the war.

Army's New Victory: "I think the country needs a change. The war is too long, the cities are burning. John Bracken, a junior in the College, said that he was personally against war when we have the ability to produce napalm by saying "we produce napalm." He said that he didn't think that napalm was the answer to this problem.

DOWCO.ReactDOM.-The 1968 presidential election, the political battle of the century, has come to a close. Senator Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota, the Democratic nominee, has conceded defeat to President Richard Nixon of California, the Republican candidate.

LATCHER'S CONCERNS about the "will of the University community" are well taken. We should not overlook the importance of the University community in the country's future. Nixon's victory is important because it shows that the country wants a change.

Rhodes scholar Wideman reveals inner workings of novelist's mind

By HEPH DAVIDSON

"I have no conclusion about writing," admitted novelist John Wideman to students last week, "other than that writing is an exercise in gestation, in the surrender of rigidity to the process of discovery." One way to aid the process, he explained, is to keep a journal. "Every writer has something like a diary, and I have a feeling that the diary should not be kept with anything else," he added.

Wideman, an assistant professor of English, also warned, "Very often a good idea is something that has to age." Asked why he writes, Wideman responded, "I couldn't find anything out. I got from the act of writing that thought by reading a short story that had been written about a man. I got from it what I wanted to write on my own..."

Wideman termed writing "a kind of time out... I feel that the words, the thoughts by writing a short story are also written about a man. I got from it what I wanted to write on my own..."

"Process," the novelist lauded the group's "process..." "We're trying to find meaningful work that has its own special focus," he added. "You find things different, and it's more effective than a documentary."""

Kick return role fits reserve Monahan

By AL RANDE

If Penn reaches the championship, the kick return role will be important, and veteran reserve Monahan is likely to come to the fore. After displaying his ability during last year’s season, Monahan has been working hard to fit the role of a key reserve kick return artist at the College this fall.

Monahan’s success at this position could be a key factor in the team’s overall performance. As a reserve kick return artist, Monahan has shown his ability to score touchdowns, and his contributions could be vital in the team’s chances of reaching the championship.

In addition, Monahan’s attitude and work ethic are highly praised by the coaching staff. He has been described as a hard worker and a dedicated player, and his intensity and focus on the game could inspire the rest of the team to perform at their best.

Overall, Monahan’s role as a reserve kick return artist will be crucial in the team’s journey to the championship, and his efforts will be closely monitored by the coaching staff. With his talent and determination, Monahan has the potential to make a significant impact on the team’s success.

Wednesday was sunny and cold. Penn’s football team were gathered together, waiting for their head coach, Frank Squier, to address the team. As he stepped forward, the players fell silent, waiting to hear what advice their coach would offer.

"You’re doing great," Bob Cabot said, surveying their charges. "Last week, there was a lot of hope, which is great. Now it’s just a matter of putting that hope into action."

Squier’s words served as a catalyst for the team, who looked determined to take the advice and use it to their advantage.

"We’ve got to keep pushing," Bob Cabot continued. "We’ve got to keep working hard and believe in ourselves."

The players nodded in agreement, their faces showing their determination to succeed. They knew that it would not be easy, but they were ready to face any challenge that came their way.

"Let’s do this," Cabot said, eyes on the team. "Let’s make this happen for the fans and for us."

The players cheered in response, their spirits lifted by their coach’s words. They knew that they had the potential to be great, and they were ready to prove it on the field.

"The next game is crucial," Cabot added. "We’ve got to make sure we’re prepared and ready to go."

With that, the team dispersed, each player determined to do their part in helping the team achieve success. They knew that it would take hard work and dedication, but they were ready to face the challenge and come out strong on the other side.
