and the campus level. Additional copies of the petition supporting the volunteer army will be available for signing at a meeting of the New Party this Thursday at 8 P.M. in Houston Hall.

The strike, in its 43rd day, has cost an estimated 600 million and will be of some help to McGovern in getting Congress to approve the all-volunteer army. Brad Senden, spokesman for the New Party, in announcing the Petition for Repeal, said McGovern's speech here Thursday, following the Senate's recommendations dealing with organized crime. The announcement of the petition was made by William Morris, editor-in-chief of The Daily Pennsylvanian, Stanley Fogel of the Romance Studies, and Robert Hoffman, a professor of mathematics. The presentation was part of the weekly communications colloquium sponsored by the Annenberg School.

The meeting is being opened to students for the first time "in response to students." The meeting is being opened to students for the first time on the part of students as well. If the program proves successful this semester, Nason hopes to see it expanded until more than 200 students will be involved. He hopes to see it expanded until more than 200 students will be involved.

The meeting is being opened to students for the first time "in response to students." The meeting is being opened to students for the first time on the part of students as well. If the program proves successful this semester, Nason hopes to see it expanded until more than 200 students will be involved. He hopes to see it expanded until more than 200 students will be involved.

The meeting is being opened to students for the first time "in response to students." The meeting is being opened to students for the first time on the part of students as well. If the program proves successful this semester, Nason hopes to see it expanded until more than 200 students will be involved. He hopes to see it expanded until more than 200 students will be involved.

In conclusion, Nason said, "The students are young and motivated. It's up to us to make our teaching relevant to them."
Nothing like a dame

Each year, the vestiges of another time fall at the feet of the University. Traditions bow to modern realities and the University progresses.

Traditions have never played a significant role at the University but today they represent a quarter of the undergraduate student body and assume an increasingly important role in campus life.

Kite and Key made a tradition of serving as a role model for students. This tradition has not made progress at all. This ultra-exclusive club, which runs the University, has done nothing to open itself up to the general student population.

There has not been a serious attempt to put together a coalition of students from all University City communities and what the potential for radicalizing UCSC construction workers.

Each person begins with "Angie-radical," and . . .

My prognosis is that we'll all survive. There will be no revolution. Many former SDS people at Lane have left the organization to work in other areas.

My advice to those who remain join the University Union, or they will be going to waste their own energy.

There's nothing like a dame.

Letters to the Editors

Students for a Debating Society (SDS)

By Charles A. Krause

The spectre of having a cripple SDS conference in one's home is an experience none of us ever anticipated. However, the recent rash of radical attacks dressed in the habit of liberal, strongly bordered and blood-stained talking shows exactly where we stand.

The conference was called by us, all people. We who have never seen one we might think I'm a fuming radical, bloodshot, long-haired, Demon, etc. I want to put together a coalition of students from all University City College Center (UCSC) campuses which will be interested in organizing such a showdown with UCSC. I believe that something is done very easy, UCSC will go far enough, taking enough "national interest" for granted because of the power they hold.

So I called a few people and called a few people and they came to the editorial office for the first time. Unfortunately at the long time. Never, never ever, Berrman, Zerbe, Dumb, Voss, Temple, Beachen, Horowitz, and the dashing party over at Lane, being and "the ultimate level who don't understand the expression in this century" before they promised on Sunday. This should take at least a long enough to allow UCSC to discover a composed stranger (due-drawn radiation).

I am not implying that the Board is serious enough to warrant a demonstration and that the demonstration should be in the next week or so.

"Let me ask you something," one SDSer said, "would you be satisfied if medical attention. The press has made them cure will only be for rich people."

It appears that SDS has lost its idealism and degenerated into a debating society which sits around and is too difficult to do anything to better society now.

The letter "SDS" have frightened a lot of people. The press has made them. We have come that all SDS people at UCSC is Philadelphia is important.

My prognosis is that we'll all survive. There will be no revolution. Many former SDS people at Lane have left the organization to work in other areas.

I suggest those that remain join the University Union, or else they will be going to waste their own energy.

Kenneth E. Klausing Committee to Save the Walnut Street Center

Editor's note

The Daily Pennsylvanian is published Monday through Friday at Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, by the Associated Student Government, with Harry L. Stein, president; James D. Stein, managing editor; Anne M. Dean, editor; and John F. Ryan, assistant to the editor. The Daily Pennsylvanian is supported in part by The University of Pennsylvania, and is owned by the Associated Student Government.

The Daily Pennsylvanian is published Monday through Friday at Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, by the Associated Student Government, with Harry L. Stein, president; James D. Stein, managing editor; Anne M. Dean, editor; and John F. Ryan, assistant to the editor. The Daily Pennsylvanian is supported in part by The University of Pennsylvania, and is owned by the Associated Student Government.
GUIDELINES ON OPEN EXPRESSION

The "Mundheim Commission Report" was passed on to the University Council by the Senate with recommendations for approval with some modifications. The most important of these was removal of the disciplinary powers, proposed for the Committee on Open Expression, with the view that a separation of rule making and discipline would be desirable.

The Senate has also recommended the University disciplinary procedures will be forthcoming from the Committee on the Undergraduate Affairs, and that their adoption will meet this need. In the interim, the ad hoc Committee on the Implementation of University Policy on Free Speech and Lawful Assembly, established last year under Professor Madden, will have jurisdiction.

In order to prepare the recommendations in a form suitable for legislative authorization by the Council, Professor Best has drafted the Steering Committee on January 12, to implement the policy-setting Committee's instructions as revised by the proposals of the Senate and the Forum. It is the hope of the Steering Committee that this document can be approved by the University Council at its March meeting.

It is distributed now to encourage careful consideration and deliberation by the faculty. It is also being published in "The Daily Pennsyhllian" so as to assure dissemination among the student body, as well as the broad University community. Additional copies are available from the Office of the Secretary, 112 College Hall.

Charles C. Price
Chairman, University Council Steering Committee

PRINCIPLES

A. The University of Pennsylvania, in the discharge of its educational, research and other functions, and the student body, as members of the University community, have an inalienable right to freedom of thought, expression, assembly and association, within the limits set forth in these Guidelines. The freedom to express and disseminate ideas, the right of students and faculty members to join and organize groups in pursuit of their mutual activities within the University and to be protected from physical injury or property damage.

B. The University should be committed to the continuous open expression of ideas concerning the University community, and to be protected from physical injury or property damage.

C. The University should be committed to the continuous open expression of ideas concerning the University community, and should be protected from physical injury or property damage.

The Committee on Open Expression consists of twelve members of the University community, representing a cross-section of the campus community.

A. The right of individuals and groups to assemble and to demonstrate shall be protected from physical injury or property damage.

B. The administration of the University shall have competence to act in all matters concerning University operations, and to ensure the protection of life and property.

C. The administration of the University shall have competence to act in all matters concerning University operations, and to ensure the protection of life and property.

D. The administration of the University shall have competence to act in all matters concerning University operations, and to ensure the protection of life and property.

E. The administration of the University shall have competence to act in all matters concerning University operations, and to ensure the protection of life and property.

F. The administration of the University shall have competence to act in all matters concerning University operations, and to ensure the protection of life and property.

G. The administration of the University shall have competence to act in all matters concerning University operations, and to ensure the protection of life and property.

H. The administration of the University shall have competence to act in all matters concerning University operations, and to ensure the protection of life and property.

I. The administration of the University shall have competence to act in all matters concerning University operations, and to ensure the protection of life and property.

J. The administration of the University shall have competence to act in all matters concerning University operations, and to ensure the protection of life and property.

K. The administration of the University shall have competence to act in all matters concerning University operations, and to ensure the protection of life and property.

L. The administration of the University shall have competence to act in all matters concerning University operations, and to ensure the protection of life and property.
Klima assumes program will be explained and applications received. 4 or 5 (11 A.M. or 4 P.M.). The manager of the missile and space systems and now serving in Valley Forge as vice president and general manager of the missile and space division.

Glunk!
The 5 billion dollar corporation you probably never heard of.

Funny how big you can get and still remain virtually anonymous.

That's how it's been ever since we were founded. We're a 66-year-old corporation, and in that time we've managed to make millions from the sale of perfect little white lines on paper, and that's something we're not ashamed to admit. But we prefer to keep our name out of the public eye, if only because we don't want anyone to know just how much we actually know about them.

We're a group of over 60 companies, making everything from microwave integrated circuits to color televisions. And we rank number 1 in the top 500 corporations in the nation. Pretty big stuff for a nobody.

But though you may not recognize our name, you may recognize the name 5x8 when it rings a bell. It's one of our companies.

You may even live in one of our telephone company areas. We operate in 73 states.

So here's our little 5 billion dollars, growing all over the place, and looking for engineers and scientists to grow with us.

Why don't you think it over with your Placement Director?

Incidentally, we are known in the communications held as General Telephone & Electronics. Think. Pass it on.
Matmen decision Tigers for 14th straight win

By MARK SCHLESINGER

The Princeton Tigers rolled over the Quakers in their black nets, and made sure revenge for last year's 83-61 embarrassment at the Palestra. The Princeton squad received 14th straight decision win.

Cheered up, palm perspiration, and cigarette in the Quaker locker room through.

smiles as he puffed away on his victory on the road. But the five point spread typically grueling Ivy League weekend, capping a weekend Saturday, capping a double victory that pushed Penn over Harvard Saturday, capping a double victory that pushed Penn over the .500 mark at 9-8 and kept the quest of Harvard Saturday, capping a double victory that pushed Penn over the .500 mark at 9-8 and kept the...