ELECTIONS FOR SENIOR CLASS SET FOR APRIL

STRIKE LAWS DISMISSED BY COURT

attitudinal changes that might have occurred because of the "course experience." The answers of participants in the study will be kept in the strictest confidence.

HERSHBERG CONDUCTS STUDY OF RACIAL ATTITUDES

U.S. AND BRITAIN CENSURE ISRAELI DEFENSE, JOINT CHIEFS OF STAFF, CIA'S, FORMOSA BASES AND A FOOTHOLD AGAINST COMMUNIST CHINA.

Containment policy means China war, Morse says

By ALBAN SALAMAN

The current policy of the United States, that military containment of China must be replaced by a policy of "engagement" toward the Island, if it is to be an effective strategy, Morse, Wayne Morse--son of Senator Morse, and a professor of constitutional law at the University Law School, said in a series of lectures in Irvine auditorium.

"Unless we expand the Eisenhower-McNamara military policy of containment and make it a policy of "engagement," he said, "we will not have the necessary military foundations that it was not based on an over-simplified course of events. Nor can we be "engaged" because we have no "engagement" with either China or the United States.

"We cannot "engage" China without eventually going to war with China," Morse said in his concluding remarks.

"We must change our course of events, Morse said, "to a more effective strategy." "We cannot "engage" China without eventually going to war with China, he said.

"We must change our course of events, Morse said, "to a more effective strategy." "We cannot "engage" China without eventually going to war with China, he said.

"We must change our course of events, Morse said, "to a more effective strategy." "We cannot "engage" China without eventually going to war with China, he said.

"We must change our course of events, Morse said, "to a more effective strategy." "We cannot "engage" China without eventually going to war with China, he said.

"We must change our course of events, Morse said, "to a more effective strategy." "We cannot "engage" China without eventually going to war with China, he said.

"We must change our course of events, Morse said, "to a more effective strategy." "We cannot "engage" China without eventually going to war with China, he said.

"We must change our course of events, Morse said, "to a more effective strategy." "We cannot "engage" China without eventually going to war with China, he said.

"We must change our course of events, Morse said, "to a more effective strategy." "We cannot "engage" China without eventually going to war with China, he said.

"We must change our course of events, Morse said, "to a more effective strategy." "We cannot "engage" China without eventually going to war with China, he said.

"We must change our course of events, Morse said, "to a more effective strategy." "We cannot "engage" China without eventually going to war with China, he said.

"We must change our course of events, Morse said, "to a more effective strategy." "We cannot "engage" China without eventually going to war with China, he said.

"We must change our course of events, Morse said, "to a more effective strategy." "We cannot "engage" China without eventually going to war with China, he said.

"We must change our course of events, Morse said, "to a more effective strategy." "We cannot "engage" China without eventually going to war with China, he said.

"We must change our course of events, Morse said, "to a more effective strategy." "We cannot "engage" China without eventually going to war with China, he said.

"We must change our course of events, Morse said, "to a more effective strategy." "We cannot "engage" China without eventually going to war with China, he said.

"We must change our course of events, Morse said, "to a more effective strategy." "We cannot "engage" China without eventually going to war with China, he said.

"We must change our course of events, Morse said, "to a more effective strategy." "We cannot "engage" China without eventually going to war with China, he said.

"We must change our course of events, Morse said, "to a more effective strategy." "We cannot "engage" China without eventually going to war with China, he said.

"We must change our course of events, Morse said, "to a more effective strategy." "We cannot "engage" China without eventually going to war with China, he said.

"We must change our course of events, Morse said, "to a more effective strategy." "We cannot "engage" China without eventually going to war with China, he said.

"We must change our course of events, Morse said, "to a more effective strategy." "We cannot "engage" China without eventually going to war with China, he said.

"We must change our course of events, Morse said, "to a more effective strategy." "We cannot "engage" China without eventually going to war with China, he said.

"We must change our course of events, Morse said, "to a more effective strategy." "We cannot "engage" China without eventually going to war with China, he said.

"We must change our course of events, Morse said, "to a more effective strategy." "We cannot "engage" China without eventually going to war with China, he said.

"We must change our course of events, Morse said, "to a more effective strategy." "We cannot "engage" China without eventually going to war with China, he said.

"We must change our course of events, Morse said, "to a more effective strategy." "We cannot "engage" China without eventually going to war with China, he said.

"We must change our course of events, Morse said, "to a more effective strategy." "We cannot "engage" China without eventually going to war with China, he said.

"We must change our course of events, Morse said, "to a more effective strategy." "We cannot "engage" China without eventually going to war with China, he said.

"We must change our course of events, Morse said, "to a more effective strategy." "We cannot "engage" China without eventually going to war with China, he said.

"We must change our course of events, Morse said, "to a more effective strategy." "We cannot "engage" China without eventually going to war with China, he said.

"We must change our course of events, Morse said, "to a more effective strategy." "We cannot "engage" China without eventually going to war with China, he said.

"We must change our course of events, Morse said, "to a more effective strategy." "We cannot "engage" China without eventually going to war with China, he said.

"We must change our course of events, Morse said, "to a more effective strategy." "We cannot "engage" China without eventually going to war with China, he said.

"We must change our course of events, Morse said, "to a more effective strategy." "We cannot "engage" China without eventually going to war with China, he said.

"We must change our course of events, Morse said, "to a more effective strategy." "We cannot "engage" China without eventually going to war with China, he said.

"We must change our course of events, Morse said, "to a more effective strategy." "We cannot "engage" China without eventually going to war with China, he said.

"We must change our course of events, Morse said, "to a more effective strategy." "We cannot "engage" China without eventually going to war with China, he said.

"We must change our course of events, Morse said, "to a more effective strategy." "We cannot "engage" China without eventually going to war with China, he said.

"We must change our course of events, Morse said, "to a more effective strategy." "We cannot "engage" China without eventually going to war with China, he said.

"We must change our course of events, Morse said, "to a more effective strategy." "We cannot "engage" China without eventually going to war with China, he said.

"We must change our course of events, Morse said, "to a more effective strategy." "We cannot "engage" China without eventually going to war with China, he said.

"We must change our course of events, Morse said, "to a more effective strategy." "We cannot "engage" China without eventually going to war with China, he said.

"We must change our course of events, Morse said, "to a more effective strategy." "We cannot "engage" China without eventually going to war with China, he said.

"We must change our course of events, Morse said, "to a more effective strategy." "We cannot "engage" China without eventually going to war with China, he said.

"We must change our course of events, Morse said, "to a more effective strategy." "We cannot "engage" China without eventually going to war with China, he said.

"We must change our course of events, Morse said, "to a more effective strategy." "We cannot "engage" China without eventually going to war with China, he said.

"We must change our course of events, Morse said, "to a more effective strategy." "We cannot "engage" China without eventually going to war with China, he said.

"We must change our course of events, Morse said, "to a more effective strategy." "We cannot "engage" China without eventually going to war with China, he said.

"We must change our course of events, Morse said, "to a more effective strategy." "We cannot "engage" China without eventually going to war with China, he said.

"We must change our course of events, Morse said, "to a more effective strategy." "We cannot "engage" China without eventually going to war with China, he said.

"We must change our course of events, Morse said, "to a more effective strategy." "We cannot "engage" China without eventually going to war with China, he said.

"We must change our course of events, Morse said, "to a more effective strategy." "We cannot "engage" China without eventually going to war with China, he said.

"We must change our course of events, Morse said, "to a more effective strategy." "We cannot "engage" China without eventually going to war with China, he said.

"We must change our course of events, Morse said, "to a more effective strategy." "We cannot "engage" China without eventually going to war with China, he said.

"We must change our course of events, Morse said, "to a more effective strategy." "We cannot "engage" China without eventually going to war with China, he said.

"We must change our course of events, Morse said, "to a more effective strategy." "We cannot "engage" China without eventually going to war with China, he said.

"We must change our course of events, Morse said, "to a more effective strategy." "We cannot "engage" China without eventually going to war with China, he said.

"We must change our course of events, Morse said, "to a more effective strategy." "We cannot "engage" China without eventually going to war with China, he said.

"We must change our course of events, Morse said, "to a more effective strategy." "We cannot "engage" China without eventually going to war with China, he said.

"We must change our course of events, Morse said, "to a more effective strategy." "We cannot "engage" China without eventually going to war with China, he said.

"We must change our course of events, Morse said, "to a more effective strategy." "We cannot "engage" China without eventually going to war with China, he said.

"We must change our course of events, Morse said, "to a...
It is both disappointing and frustrating that the College faculty, yesterday, approved an amendment which would require students to complete four semesters or the equivalent of a foreign language. This amendment was tacked onto course units in social sciences, natural sciences and humanities.

We believe that a foreign language requirement ought only to build the maximum advantage of the student but a student can derive from the University. Every student as Dr. Stephen Shatz, associate professor of mathematics put it, oblates himself. The faculty should guide education, not determine it.

Despite recent moves aimed at abandoning "pre-packaged education," the retention of a language requirement demonstrates that many members of the faculty refuse to relinquish their hold over so much of the ingredients. By requiring a level three-four proficiency, the faculty is imposing its own values on students. It is time for students to determine their own educational priorities and decide the merit of the courses offered.

Moreover, the elimination of language requirements would strengthen the language departments. It is ironic to think that these departments fear that they will die at the hands of students. Introductory courses in French, Spanish, and German are now seriously overcrowded. Classes in German averaged 15.4 students during the fall term. French I and Spanish I averaged 16 and 18 students in the fall. Instead of the death of a department, we envision increased opportunities for those who elect to study languages.

The Dally Pennsylvanian published Monday through Friday at Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. It is owned and published by the student body of the University of Pennsylvania. The editors and staff of the paper are not responsible for the opinions of articles written by contributors. The Opinion Section is open to all students on equal footing. This newspaper is published every business day of the year.
Canada sponsors arts

Monday, April 2, 1969

Richard and Karen Orlin will present their popular "Jazz Concert" series at the Royal Alexandra Theatre in downtown Calgary, starting on April 2. The series will feature well-known jazz musicians from across the country, including the legendary "Jazz Rhyme" quartet. Tickets are available at the box office or online at www.royalextheatre.com. For more information, contact the Royal Alexandra Theatre at 866-628-7675.

Draft law mixed

(Continued from page 1)

by Jameson who had announced that the draft bill would be introduced on Tuesday, April 1.

The faculty was simply divided on the issue of the Nationalomy of the party. Some faculty members believed that the Nationalomy would be a positive move for the country, while others were concerned about the potential for conflict between the Nationalomy and the Orange Order.

The controversy over the draft bill has highlighted the tension between the Orange Order and the Nationalomy. The Orange Order, which is a Protestant paramilitary group, has been a key supporter of the Nationalomy. Some faculty members believe that the draft bill is a way for the Nationalomy to win support from the Orange Order.

However, others argue that the draft bill is a violation of the Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms.

The Faculty Council will meet on Tuesday, April 8, to discuss the issue of the draft bill and the future of the Nationalomy.

Faculty

(Continued from page 1)

The faculty council has been divided over the issue of the Nationalomy of the party. Some faculty members believe that the Nationalomy would be a positive move for the country, while others are concerned about the potential for conflict between the Nationalomy and the Orange Order.

The controversy over the draft bill has highlighted the tension between the Orange Order and the Nationalomy. The Orange Order, which is a Protestant paramilitary group, has been a key supporter of the Nationalomy. Some faculty members believe that the draft bill is a way for the Nationalomy to win support from the Orange Order.

However, others argue that the draft bill is a violation of the Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms.

The Faculty Council will meet on Tuesday, April 8, to discuss the issue of the draft bill and the future of the Nationalomy.

Faculty
Red and Blue cindermen crush LaSalle, host the Hawks Saturday

Frosh stickmen stick to keep them happy, but the Perm lacrosse team has Bozo. Quaker J.V.

Vary his off-the-field activities from Wharton School."

I'm going to stay drunk for a month."

I'm not the only one, but it's hard to keep from laughing."

One word, "Good!"

Starting attack

Balloons and The Hawk."

everything."

Despite weather that was cold and wet, the Hawks defeated the Quakers.

Floyd Craven was the only winless runner in the meet.

Myers, who was the meet's only double winner, in the 100 (10.1) and 220 (22.6).

The field events were a potential source of frustration and, at times, a source of embarrassment.

The Perm on top 46-36, the winners' 3 points in the first three events.

But the Perm on top 46-36, the winners' 3 points in the first three events.

When the same question was put to Ford, the Penn stickmen have outscored their last three opponents.

Penn's record-conscious wasn't constant with his teammates. The Perm on top 46-36, the winners' 3 points in the first three events.

"...It was just great playing with the Blue Devils, and playing on the field in a beautiful state indoor record with a toss of 62'," Bozo said.

"...It was just great playing with the Blue Devils, and playing on the field in a beautiful state indoor record with a toss of 62'," Bozo said.

"...It was just great playing with the Blue Devils, and playing on the field in a beautiful state indoor record with a toss of 62'," Bozo said.

"...It was just great playing with the Blue Devils, and playing on the field in a beautiful state indoor record with a toss of 62'," Bozo said.

"...It was just great playing with the Blue Devils, and playing on the field in a beautiful state indoor record with a toss of 62'," Bozo said.