University employees to be allowed to attend Oct. 15 Plenum meets again tonight to decide on sanctuary and flag-lowering questions

By JOHN B. TALMADGE

The second session of the first Plenum of the University of Pennsylvania Community of Students will convene tonight to consider issues left over from the first meeting. The two sessions were the only ones the University allowed to be held on the campus last week, as the school had scheduled other meetings in the auditoria.

The Plenum will meet tonight at 7:00 in Irvine Auditorium. The resolutions that were not acted upon during the previous meeting will be reconsidered this evening.

(Continued on page 2)

D.A. candidate says he has not heard his "law and order" radio advertising

By JONATHAN B. TALMADGE

The announcement of the search for a newGraci on the campus was made by the President of the University, who said that he had been working with the Board of Trustees on the problem for some time. The President also said that he was confident that the campus would be able to find an appropriate successor for Mr. Clendenen, who is retiring after this academic year.

(Continued on page 3)

Gym requirements might be scratched

By CLAUDIA CONROW

A recommendation to eliminate the physical education requirement has been presented to President Frawley by a special committee set up by the Athletic Advisory Council.

The University's two highest athletic officials informed Frawley Monday that they believed the gym requirements were unnecessary and that the requirements were being considered.

"We're looking at a committee that will study the elimination of the requirements," said Frawley, adding that he would make a decision after the committee had reported.

Frawley added that the committee would be composed of representatives from all athletic departments and that would include both faculty and students.

(Continued on page 3)

The Daily Pennsylvanian Tuesday, October 7, 1969

Volume LXXXV, No. 52
Philadelphia, Pennsylvania
Copyright 1969 The Daily Pennsylvanian

10/7/69
Thieu had said previously the Saigon government was willing to discuss any Plenum.

"we are ready to discuss with the other side every subject provided that they want to hold serious discussions to end the war," Thieu told the Nati...
Choose a look.

Norelco will help you keep it.

Choose any look. Make it yours. Then Norelco will help you keep it.

Because razor technology only works if you change it. And it still needs to be trimmed and shaved. Norelco handles that. So it pop-up trimmer will keep your beard looking fresh. And its shaving head shaped the way you want them. The 3 floating heads will follow the particular face contours. And inside the floating heads are 18 self-sharpening blades that are used once or twice a week it strokes off whiskers. The Norelco unique rotary action keeps the blades sharp while it strokes off whiskers.

It's pop-up trimmer will keep your whiskers and sideburns trim. And its pop-up trimmer will keep your whiskers and sideburns trim. Every time you shave.

Norelco

Even on a budget like yours.

Van Harvey

Contemporary professors are often accused of lacking both a sensitivity to modern problems and an interest in undergraduate education. Professors of religious thought are characterized as either ivory-tower eccentrics or service evangelists. Van A. Harvey fits none of these stereotypes.

A desire to "where the audience thinks he brought him to the University a year ago from Southern Methodist, where "life in the fall revolved around football, fraternities, and sororities."

"Life in the fall revolved around football, fraternities, and sororities."

"Life in the fall revolved around football, fraternities, and sororities."
Houston Hall as sanctuary

By STUART MADDEN

On Thursday evening, October 2, the annual meeting of the Freshmen Association took place in Houston Hall, in the first full meeting, publicly heard and attended by the freshmen.

It seemed that this seemed to be a sort of a turning point. It was the first time that the freshmen had been invited to attend a meeting of the freshmen.

The freshmen are, of course, the younger generation of students, and they are the ones who have the most to say. They are the ones who are the most likely to be interested in the future of the university.

The freshmen are, of course, the younger generation of students, and they are the ones who have the most to say. They are the ones who are the most likely to be interested in the future of the university.

But the fact remains that the freshmen are, of course, the younger generation of students, and they are the ones who have the most to say. They are the ones who are the most likely to be interested in the future of the university.

The freshmen are, of course, the younger generation of students, and they are the ones who have the most to say. They are the ones who are the most likely to be interested in the future of the university.

But the fact remains that the freshmen are, of course, the younger generation of students, and they are the ones who have the most to say. They are the ones who are the most likely to be interested in the future of the university.

The freshmen are, of course, the younger generation of students, and they are the ones who have the most to say. They are the ones who are the most likely to be interested in the future of the university.

But the fact remains that the freshmen are, of course, the younger generation of students, and they are the ones who have the most to say. They are the ones who are the most likely to be interested in the future of the university.

The freshmen are, of course, the younger generation of students, and they are the ones who have the most to say. They are the ones who are the most likely to be interested in the future of the university.

But the fact remains that the freshmen are, of course, the younger generation of students, and they are the ones who have the most to say. They are the ones who are the most likely to be interested in the future of the university.

The freshmen are, of course, the younger generation of students, and they are the ones who have the most to say. They are the ones who are the most likely to be interested in the future of the university.

But the fact remains that the freshmen are, of course, the younger generation of students, and they are the ones who have the most to say. They are the ones who are the most likely to be interested in the future of the university.

The freshmen are, of course, the younger generation of students, and they are the ones who have the most to say. They are the ones who are the most likely to be interested in the future of the university.

But the fact remains that the freshmen are, of course, the younger generation of students, and they are the ones who have the most to say. They are the ones who are the most likely to be interested in the future of the university.

The freshmen are, of course, the younger generation of students, and they are the ones who have the most to say. They are the ones who are the most likely to be interested in the future of the university.

But the fact remains that the freshmen are, of course, the younger generation of students, and they are the ones who have the most to say. They are the ones who are the most likely to be interested in the future of the university.

The freshmen are, of course, the younger generation of students, and they are the ones who have the most to say. They are the ones who are the most likely to be interested in the future of the university.
Tuesday, October 7, 1969

Letters to the Editor

SOCIETY OF PENNSYLVANIA STUDENTS

COMMUNITY OF STUDENTS - PLENUM - Tonight Irvine 7:30 P.M.

MODERATES LIBERTARIANS OPPOSE RES. 7 & 8 OF PLENUM

HELP PREVENT SUCH CHAOS AT PENN! COME TO OUR TABLE IN COLLEGE HALL GREEN AND TALK! VOTE AGAINST 7 & 8 IN THE PLENUM ON TUES. 7:30 P.M.
Harriers fall to Harvard, bounce back big, 15-48

By RICK FURLONG and JAY RABINOWITZ