SUFFERING FROM ACUTE APATHY, reflected by the near 2,000 empty seats in Irvine Auditorium, Planum III failed to take decisive action on the matters of concern to the community residents. The meeting, held Thursday night at the Mt. Pisgah Church and designed to have an attendance of 100, was thrown into sudden controversy when the planum announced that no public testimony would be accepted for the present redevelopment plan. Those gathered in Irvine Auditorium charged the members of the quadripartite commission, the community residents, and the city with being slow to respond to the problems of the communities, and the commission's redevelopment plan for Renewal Area 3 was roundly condemned. Many of those attending charged the meeting was a failure because of the lack of community involvement in the formulation of the redevelopment plan, and the alleged favoring of specific community leaders by the University administration. (Continued on page 4)

SPARSELY-ATTENDED PLANUM TABLES QUADRIPARTITE'S PLAN

By HYRADE R. TALMAGE

With only 200 persons present Thursday night, the third Planum of the University of Pennsylvania College for Women (PCI) a city wide radical group centered in Powelton Village, was unable to adopt the statement of the Philadelphia Community Planning Commission, which could have saved the present redevelopment plan. Those gathered in Irvine Auditorium charged the members of the quadripartite commission, the community residents, and the city with being slow to respond to the problems of the communities, and the commission's redevelopment plan for Renewal Area 3 was roundly condemned. Many of those attending charged the meeting was a failure because of the lack of community involvement in the formulation of the redevelopment plan, and the alleged favoring of specific community leaders by the University administration. (Continued on page 4)

THE OFFICE OF THE COLLEGE is calmed and peaceful before being beset by crowds of students

Harnwell warns U. against 'insulting' financial sources

By MAURICE DOSTFIELD

In an informal discussion Wednesday evening at Sigma Chi, President Harnwell and several other faculty members were subjected to a series of questions regarding possible student unrest. The president responded that he did not believe the University needed to be concerned about the possibility of rioting, and that he felt that the University administration was prepared to handle any situation that should arise. (Continued on page 3)

The second important change is in faculty status. This change was initiated by the Senate and the Executive Committee and will take effect on November 13. The change will be implemented by the University administration and will result in a more effective and efficient operation of the University. (Continued on page 4)

Everyone's happy Registration format changed

By ARNOLD EISEN

On the eve of the final pre-registration crush, the College and CW, along with the rest of the University, is undergoing important changes designed to bring a little more order into the otherwise chaotic pre-registration procedures. The College administration has determined that the pre-registration procedures, which will take effect in the fall semester, will be limited to seniors, Tuesday, and the rest of the students only entering the College, will be limited to seniors and juniors, Wednesday and Thursday to seniors and juniors, and the freshmen and sophomores only entering the College, will be limited to seniors and juniors, and the freshmen and sophomores will be limited to seniors and juniors. The freshmen and sophomores will be limited to seniors and juniors. (Continued on page 4)

College Hall 200 off limits for fast

By JACK GORMAN

Planners for a two-day fast announced the November 12 March on Washington for the Poor that the hunger strikers would not be permitted to sleep in College Hall 200. The University administration has decided to prevent the strikers from entering the College Hall 200, which is a new dormitory, and to prevent any other encampment in the College Hall 200. (Continued on page 4)
Justice Department says it will use force to prevent Washington march

By United Press International

WASHINGTON -- The Justice Department and Thursday it would use "the minimum force necessary" to keep anti-war demonstrators from disrupting a peace march down Pennsylvania Avenue -- instead of a symbolic procession as approved by the Supreme Court on Nov. 15.

Rep. Alphonso L.纾, minority leader of the House, said that the government's refusal to permit the march only increased the danger of violence.

Justice Attorney General Richard Kleindienst announced a new conference that if the protesters tried to conduct a mass march down Pennsylvania Avenue -- "they would be committing an illegal act and we would arrest them".

"In the view of the Department of Justice," Kleindienst told reporters, "there is a substantial likelihood of a violent situation . . . we want the group -- the National Committee to End the War -- that we cannot grant a permit for a mass march down Pennsylvania Avenue.

"The assembly of 30,000 people on the avenue," he added, "greatly increases the potential for violence for those groups which are seeking to infiltrate the mass demonstration.

"The District of Columbia police department has canceled all buses and days off for Nov. 14-15. In addition, the D.C. National Guard, with 2,700 troops, has scheduled a "crisis weekend" and will be assembled and ready for action.

"If necessary, 50,000 army troops will be brought in from the surrounding states to troop units could be used. But the Pentagon said there were no plans for starting the third Airborne Division at Ft. Bragg, which on two previous occasions has been called to Washington to put down disorders.

Labor said he had been assured by demonstration leaders that every effort was being made to keep the press peaceful, but Kleindienst and the Justice Department insisted on the contrary.

"It is against the law," Kleindienst said, "to be in the Washington area for political reasons for the next few days."

Kleindienst said that opposition to government decisions "is a right, it is a constitutional right of the American people," by attaching anti-war demonstrators, he said "Heavens now are being bowed for President before it's ever hit him."

Goldwater suggests Agnew as president

By United Press International

HONOLULU, Jan. Barry Goldwater said Thursday that Vice President Agnew continues to "go out of his way" for his own political purposes in attacking President Johnson, and that "Drexel has turned its back on the community," said that "Drexel has turned its back on the community,"

"The Arizona Senator's views were described as "what he saw and what many other responsible Americans saw.

"It is possible to do this," Goldwater said, "the left-wing spokesmen for those groups which are seeking to infiltrate the mass demonstration."
Bernard Wolfman, chairman of the task force, predicted the force will have a tentative report ready "by the end of this month." Wolfman, a professor of law, said the purpose of his committee is "to make a thorough examination of the system in which the University operates, and to recommend changes as necessary." Wolfman said the committee's recommendations on the administration's role will be studied by the task force, to which they will report their conclusions.

Wolfman refused to reveal any of the discussions that have transpired yet. "It would be highly improper of us to reveal any of the conclusions of any of the subcommittees," Wolfman commented, "though many other results of our deliberations are in the public domain." Wolfman mentioned that other college presidents, faculty members, and students are also interested in the work of his Task Force. "There are many other bodies that are interested in the educational experience, he said, "and they should be made aware of what the conclusions of any of the subcommittees may be." Wolfman said, "We have to maintain some degree of secrecy," Wolfman added.

The task force's recommendations will be subject to reaction from students, administrators, faculty, and students of the University. Wolfman said, "We are in the forefront," Wolfman commented, "but we're not alone. Many other schools are interested in restructuring education." Wolfman refused to reveal any of the recommendations of the subcommittees yet, "They should be highly regarded and respected," he said. "We're not going to reveal any of these discussions until we have the opportunity to present them to the entire Task Force group." Wolfman added that the subcommittees would report to the Task Force and Wolfman would report to the President and the Council.

Wolfman commented, "though many other results of our deliberations are in the public domain." Wolfman mentioned that other college presidents, faculty members, and students are also interested in the work of his Task Force. "There are many other bodies that are interested in the educational experience, he said, "and they should be made aware of what the conclusions of any of the subcommittees may be." Wolfman said, "We have to maintain some degree of secrecy," Wolfman added.

The Task Force has broken into three subcommittees, each working on its own area of the University, and is concerned with the legislative subcommittee, the student subcommittee, and the faculty subcommittee. Wolfman said, "The legislative subcommittee is concerned with the representation of students, faculty, administration, and trustees on the Council. The student subcommittee is concerned with the representation of students, faculty, and trustees, and is chaired by Dr. Julian Wolfman, professor of economics.

Another group in charge with the student subcommittee will be the faculty subcommittee, which is concerned with the representation of students, faculty, and trustees, and is chaired by Dr. Julian Wolfman, professor of economics. The faculty subcommittee will be chaired by Dr. Julian Wolfman, professor of economics, and two students, and one trustee, and is concerned with the representation of students, faculty, administration, and trustees on the Council. Wolfman said, "The faculty subcommittee will be concerned with "decentralization."" Wolfman said he left the task force meetings to "make a thorough examination of the system in which the University operates, and to recommend changes as necessary." Wolfman added that the task force's recommendations will be subject to reaction from students, administrators, faculty, and students of the University. Wolfman said, "We are in the forefront," Wolfman commented, "but we're not alone. Many other schools are interested in restructuring education." Wolfman refused to reveal any of the recommendations of the subcommittees yet, "They should be highly regarded and respected," he said. "We're not going to reveal any of these discussions until we have the opportunity to present them to the entire Task Force group." Wolfman added that the subcommittees would report to the Task Force and Wolfman would report to the President and the Council.

Wolfman commented, "though many other results of our deliberations are in the public domain." Wolfman mentioned that other college presidents, faculty members, and students are also interested in the work of his Task Force. "There are many other bodies that are interested in the educational experience, he said, "and they should be made aware of what the conclusions of any of the subcommittees may be." Wolfman said, "We have to maintain some degree of secrecy," Wolfman added.

The task force's recommendations will be subject to reaction from students, administrators, faculty, and students of the University. Wolfman said, "We are in the forefront," Wolfman commented, "but we're not alone. Many other schools are interested in restructuring education." Wolfman refused to reveal any of the recommendations of the subcommittees yet, "They should be highly regarded and respected," he said. "We're not going to reveal any of these discussions until we have the opportunity to present them to the entire Task Force group." Wolfman added that the subcommittees would report to the Task Force and Wolfman would report to the President and the Council. Wolfman commented, "though many other results of our deliberations are in the public domain." Wolfman mentioned that other college presidents, faculty members, and students are also interested in the work of his Task Force. "There are many other bodies that are interested in the educational experience, he said, "and they should be made aware of what the conclusions of any of the subcommittees may be." Wolfman said, "We have to maintain some degree of secrecy," Wolfman added.

The task force's recommendations will be subject to reaction from students, administrators, faculty, and students of the University. Wolfman said, "We are in the forefront," Wolfman commented, "but we're not alone. Many other schools are interested in restructuring education." Wolfman refused to reveal any of the recommendations of the subcommittees yet, "They should be highly regarded and respected," he said. "We're not going to reveal any of these discussions until we have the opportunity to present them to the entire Task Force group." Wolfman added that the subcommittees would report to the Task Force and Wolfman would report to the President and the Council.
Non-numeric Text

Letters to the editor

Political influence

Sir: In Dr. Saul Winegrad's letter today (D.P., 11/3/69), he contended that "the letters should be typed, in a readable form and classified Advertising."

Dr. Winegrad has always been a good example of what the field of political science should strive for. His recent letter is a perfect example of the kind of work that he has been doing for years. It is a shame that he has let his work go to waste in this manner.

Dr. Winegrad's letter is a perfect example of the kind of work that he has been doing for years. It is a shame that he has let his work go to waste in this manner.

Mention of a monument to peace

Sir: "the establishment of a fitting monument to peace on this campus;" I do not question the desirability of a set of buildings, but I believe that it is not necessary to erect a monument in order to achieve the goal of peace.

Mention of a fast for peace

Sir: For a few moments his voice would speak for all of us. The Fast for Peace and the March Against Death. In an age where we are bundled, packaged, tested, and sold in mass quantities, even when the only effective peace demonstration is the "mail order" approach, "peaceful" demonstrations have been going on. And the vigils will be going on. For a few moments his voice would speak for all of us. The Fast for Peace and the March Against Death.

Mention of the Senate decision

The Senate decision to vote on the Wilf resolution has been made. The Senate discussed on October 29 "acted to restore the Senate with respect to the Wilf resolution, and to a meeting of Senate and/or Trustee." The Senate decision to vote on the Wilf resolution has been made. The Senate discussed on October 29 "acted to restore the Senate with respect to the Wilf resolution, and to a meeting of Senate and/or Trustee."
Plenum III

(Continued from page 1)

most of the Chronicle report on the agenda was deleted inadvertently.

Following the defeat of the first constitutional amendment, the Plenum decided to vote on the other proposed amendment "to a committee of the Community of University students," rather than, in a second vote, to reject the amendment. This amendment was the only amendment to come before the Plenum. All other amendments were tabulated in this manner.

The amendment to create a committee was defeated after several rounds of votes. The Plenum decided to proceed with the agenda as planned.

Community meeting

(Continued from page 1)

mainly residents. Clarifying this point of weakness of the posts was the case of the head of the department of the community of University students, who had been a member of the department for several years ago to make room for the inception of the organization.

One of the amendments to committees would have enabled a referendum to be called if 40 percent of those present and voting at the Plenum so voted. The other would have empowered a group to "petition the Council of University students," as well as the Community of University students, for advice and recommendations. The motion to calls no meeting of the Community of University students, as it is required by another law.

Cohen said to the Student Council Committee of the Student Assembly, that the Student Council would consider the idea of calling a meeting of the Community of University students.

Under the present Constitution, the Student Assembly represents the students and the Community of University students represents the faculty. Cohen added that he would like to see a constitutional amendment that would give more power to the Community of University students.

Peace

(Continued from page 1)

utes, will be held by University and community leaders at 6834 Market St.

The meeting will be held at 11 A.M., on November 1, with a student representative present. Student representatives and faculty are invited to participate. The meeting will be held in the room that was previously occupied by the faculty, 6844 Market St.

Sunday, November 7, 1969

Friday, November 7, 1969

Chestnut and 56th Sts., Phila., Pa. 19139 4529

ing. All work to be done from our office in West

Philadelphia. Salary $1.85/hr. Call Mrs. Clancy

4672

TELEPHONE INTERVIEWERS. . .TO CONDUCT

WANTED   - AM/FM CAR RADIO, STEREO IF

possible. Call LO 7-4087.

4639

WANTED   - AM/FM CAR RADIO, STEREO IF

EV 2-7502.

4672

WANTED   - AM/FM CAR RADIO, STEREO IF

EV 2-7502.

4672

WANTED   - AM/FM CAR RADIO, STEREO IF

EV 2-7502.

4672

Wednesday, 9-1:45.

Both the SCUE chairman and Campbell made sound out that neither have attended committee representation on the committee of the Community of University students, which has been set up to represent the University.

Colb said SCUE requested the registration of the plans, and noted that the committee has been set up to represent the community.

Sports

(Continued from page 6)

Newark, which had gone on to win its fourth straight game in optimum condition as assessed by Lloyd's of London, trial horse in America's Cup Competition. The Quaker sailors won again

against the Monmouth University team.

The Quaker sailors won again

against the Monmouth University team.

The Quaker sailors won again

against the Monmouth University team.

The Quaker sailors won again

against the Monmouth University team.

The Quaker sailors won again

against the Monmouth University team.

The Quaker sailors won again

against the Monmouth University team.

The Quaker sailors won again

against the Monmouth University team.

The Quaker sailors won again

against the Monmouth University team.

The Quaker sailors won again

against the Monmouth University team.

The Quaker sailors won again

against the Monmouth University team.

The Quaker sailors won again

against the Monmouth University team.

The Quaker sailors won again

against the Monmouth University team.

The Quaker sailors won again

against the Monmouth University team.

The Quaker sailors won again

against the Monmouth University team.

The Quaker sailors won again

against the Monmouth University team.

The Quaker sailors won again

against the Monmouth University team.

The Quaker sailors won again

against the Monmouth University team.

The Quaker sailors won again

against the Monmouth University team.

The Quaker sailors won again

against the Monmouth University team.

The Quaker sailors won again

against the Monmouth University team.

The Quaker sailors won again

against the Monmouth University team.

The Quaker sailors won again

against the Monmouth University team.

The Quaker sailors won again

against the Monmouth University team.

The Quaker sailors won again

against the Monmouth University team.

The Quaker sailors won again

against the Monmouth University team.

The Quaker sailors won again

against the Monmouth University team.

The Quaker sailors won again

against the Monmouth University team.

The Quaker sailors won again

against the Monmouth University team.

The Quaker sailors won again

against the Monmouth University team.

The Quaker sailors won again

against the Monmouth University team.

The Quaker sailors won again

against the Monmouth University team.

The Quaker sailors won again

against the Monmouth University team.

The Quaker sailors won again

against the Monmouth University team.

The Quaker sailors won again

against the Monmouth University team.

The Quaker sailors won again

against the Monmouth University team.

The Quaker sailors won again

against the Monmouth University team.

The Quaker sailors won again

against the Monmouth University team.

The Quaker sailors won again

against the Monmouth University team.

The Quaker sailors won again

against the Monmouth University team.

The Quaker sailors won again

against the Monmouth University team.

The Quaker sailors won again

against the Monmouth University team.

The Quaker sailors won again

against the Monmouth University team.

The Quaker sailors won again

against the Monmouth University team.
Quakers look for punch to knock out Yale

By MARVIN DASH

“We’re looking forward to a bid in the NCAA,” commented Harvard head coach Capt. Andy Coe, who seems to have the right idea. The Crimson previously handed Yale a 2-1 victory. The senior right wing finished the year with six goals and five assists. The Quaker’s last loss was 4-2, and Eliot is back in the league after missing the last two games. Harvard head coach Doug Hardin, a ‘69 graduate, is in his second season with the Crimson. He is already the nation’s seventh leading scorer. The Crimson is 1-6-1 against the four teams ranked ahead of them in the Ivy League.

“Harriers strive for Hep crown”

By BETT SHIFFRIN

The Crimson, which lost to Dartmouth last week, is in need of a win. The team has struggled all season, but with the help of senior right wing Eliot, they have a chance to make it. Eliot has five goals and five assists in his last five games. He is also a key player in the team’s defense. Eliot is a valuable asset to the Crimson and is sure to be a key player in the game against Yale.

Harriers strive for Hep crown

By BETT SHIFFRIN

The Harvard Crimson is in a must-win situation this week. The team is currently in fifth place in the Ivy League standings and needs a win to move up in the standings. Eliot, the team’s leading scorer, is back from suspension and will be a key player in the game. The Crimson will need to play a strong game against Yale to secure a win. Eliot is a key player for the team and will be the focal point of their offensive game plan.

Booters seek to clinch NCAA bid by beating Bulldogs Saturday

By BERNIE ROBNAK

The Dartmouth Big Green is in a must-win situation this weekend. The team is currently in fourth place in the Ivy League standings and needs a win to move up in the standings. Eliot, the team’s leading scorer, is back from suspension and will be a key player in the game. The Crimson will need to play a strong game against Yale to secure a win. Eliot is a key player for the team and will be the focal point of their offensive game plan.

Harriers strive for Hep crown

By BETT SHIFFRIN

The Harvard Crimson is in a must-win situation this week. The team is currently in fifth place in the Ivy League standings and needs a win to move up in the standings. Eliot, the team’s leading scorer, is back from suspension and will be a key player in the game. The Crimson will need to play a strong game against Yale to secure a win. Eliot is a key player for the team and will be the focal point of their offensive game plan.

Adams vital to frosh defense

By PHIL SHIMMEN

Phil Adams is not just a good football player. He is also a valuable asset to the Crimson defense. Adams has been playing strong at right end and has been a key player in the team’s success. He has been a consistent performer and has been a leader on and off the field.

Harriers strive for Hep crown

By BETT SHIFFRIN

The Harvard Crimson is in a must-win situation this week. The team is currently in fifth place in the Ivy League standings and needs a win to move up in the standings. Eliot, the team’s leading scorer, is back from suspension and will be a key player in the game. The Crimson will need to play a strong game against Yale to secure a win. Eliot is a key player for the team and will be the focal point of their offensive game plan.

Booters seek to clinch NCAA bid by beating Bulldogs Saturday

By JEAN ROBERTSON

The Dartmouth Big Green is in a must-win situation this weekend. The team is currently in fourth place in the Ivy League standings and needs a win to move up in the standings. Eliot, the team’s leading scorer, is back from suspension and will be a key player in the game. The Crimson will need to play a strong game against Yale to secure a win. Eliot is a key player for the team and will be the focal point of their offensive game plan.