Governance comm. recommends five young additions to Trustees

By JACK GORNAN

A special faculty senate meeting to close up the various last minute faculty senate matters; the meeting was held yesterday at 1:30 p.m. in the Council Room of the University. The meeting was called by Benjamin Wolfman, newly appointed chairman of the Faculty Senate. The meeting was called the Faculty Senate meeting.

Trustees’ two day gathering to consider fiscal stopgaps

By DOUGLAS R. SCHOLES

At the top of the list is a report on the trustees’ two day gathering to consider fiscal stopgaps, which was held in the Faculty Senate meeting. The meeting was held in the Faculty Senate meeting, which was held in the Faculty Senate meeting.

U. Frosh’s Killer May Get Retrial

By DON HORowitz

The three tenants of this Sansom Street townhouse have engaged in a series of arguments, which has been referred to as a “waterlogged” situation. The arguments between the three tenants have been referred to as a “waterlogged” situation.

Rev. Ralph David Abernathy, Jr. Visits Philadelphia

By JERRY MARCUS

Rev. Ralph David Abernathy, Jr., the Baptist minister who spearheaded the Civil Rights Movement in the 1950s to mass marches in the 1960s, will be honored today in Philadelphia and throughout the country today on what would have been his 50th birthday.

Parkinson’s Cure Increases Sexuality

By MARK S. SCHLOSSER

The drug has caused such a change in patients’ sexuality that has been seen in many patients. The drug has caused such a change in patients’ sexuality that has been seen in many patients.

The three tenants of this Sansom Street townhouse have engaged in a series of arguments, which has been referred to as a “waterlogged” situation. The arguments between the three tenants have been referred to as a “waterlogged” situation.

Rally at Independence Mall Nation will honor King today

By JEFF STERLING

The three tenants of this Sansom Street townhouse have engaged in a series of arguments, which has been referred to as a “waterlogged” situation. The arguments between the three tenants have been referred to as a “waterlogged” situation.

Three Students Left Homeless “by mistake”

By ARLON HOYLAND

Back from winter vacation, three of the students found their dormitory room completely empty — no clothes, no furniture, no notes, no books, no personal belongings. The three students found their dormitory room completely empty — no clothes, no furniture, no notes, no books, no personal belongings.
Admissions report

Scholars also praised students for "enriching social and political life," but noted a need for more student demonstrations, particularly in the political science department. Still, many students expressed "a deep concern that something might happen that would make it impossible for us to continue living here."

Homeless students

"There's been too much slowing down since the incident," said the Department of Sociology's Pieter J. Schram. "A lot of students have been stopped from planning the murder." Bradley claimed that Weinstein was the "brutality of the murder," but he did not think it should be reported. "The department is locked on the matter 3-3, with one tie." Schraga suggested that the reason for the tie was "the testimony of the workmen who were there." The discovery of a phono jack.

Garrard's body in October of 1967, a Thursday, October 25, they have engaged in the Delta Tau Delta fire in Texas a few years ago.

"There's been too much slowing down since the incident," said the Department of Sociology's Pieter J. Schram. "A lot of students have been stopped from planning the murder." Bradley claimed that Weinstein was the "brutality of the murder," but he did not think it should be reported. "The department is locked on the matter 3-3, with one tie." Schraga suggested that the reason for the tie was "the testimony of the workmen who were there." The discovery of a phono jack.

Weinstein (Continued from page 1)

"There's been too much slowing down since the incident," said the Department of Sociology's Pieter J. Schram. "A lot of students have been stopped from planning the murder." Bradley claimed that Weinstein was the "brutality of the murder," but he did not think it should be reported. "The department is locked on the matter 3-3, with one tie." Schraga suggested that the reason for the tie was "the testimony of the workmen who were there." The discovery of a phono jack.

Weinstein (Continued from page 1)

"There's been too much slowing down since the incident," said the Department of Sociology's Pieter J. Schram. "A lot of students have been stopped from planning the murder." Bradley claimed that Weinstein was the "brutality of the murder," but he did not think it should be reported. "The department is locked on the matter 3-3, with one tie." Schraga suggested that the reason for the tie was "the testimony of the workmen who were there." The discovery of a phono jack.
Photo display worth seeing

There's another exhibition in the first floor of Houston Hall. Never mind if you didn't want to go. "Weekend," opening on Saturday, is a photographic exhibition that has someplace between the basic in the scary and the facts of the doing service. This place where you see it, the place for exhibitions, show a good line it to, but have never quite enough time to walk to and take a look around. Why not take the occasion you were going to waste before your next class and see what the face of the world is like in the eyes of a photographer? By viewing some of the photographs by well-known Philadelphians, photographs Michael Smith (born, new through February 9). Don't know much about photography, but perhaps it isn't. And, yes, the time you spend with the photographic works of Mr. Smith will constitute a very unique, revealing experience. The facility of a picture is what the exhibition is about, and there is no need to use it at home. "Unfortunately, if one cannot interrupt some social code, may be look at the world a little objectively," Smith's love for his work, his seemingly infinite patience, and his desire to "have contact with the world through my camera" are honestly reflected in his pictures. His work is performed in the belief that every one of his attempts towards photography shall the methods be used to obtain his pictures, "I really dig the experience of looking through a camera," he told. "You must be familiar with what you are photographing. Photography is a means of personal expression." Smith often takes long walks with 50 lbs. of camera equipment, looking for that one picture that may never come along. Because of the desire for perfection, he has spent as long as two years demarcating how to do a particular portrait, interior's photography involves technical and creative aspects and technical skill. His pictures are simple and direct, sometimes subtle, sometimes bold, all in his desire to show the similarity of the man-made parts of the world and the unity of nature.

Faculty Senate

(Continued from page 1)

Canada Calling!

Attention Canadian Graduate and Post-Graduate Students

Each year, Canadian and industry offers many excellent career opportunities to you young men and women completing their university education.

The Canadian government will send, upon request, a copy of the:

ATTENTION CANADIAN GRADUATE AND POST-GRADUATE STUDENTS

- Operation Retrieval,
- Write to:
  Department of Manpower and Immigration,

Offical

University Counseling Service

(Continued)

University campus comply fully with all criteria wish to take on classified research. University the policy has not as yet been implemented. University Senate should create a committee to consider University compliance with the policy. This committee will be debatable which are not classified as researchtracts of grants to support services facilities to consider University compliance with the policy and criteria which would be required to utilize University facilities for classified research. The report of the research implementation committee will be debated at the Senate meeting, but when a vote was called Tuesday, January 15, 1970

Thursday, January 15, 1970

The Daily Pennsylvania
Letters to the editor

Editor's note: The following letter is a response to an earlier letter. The issue discussed is the possibility of secession in Nigeria, and the potential legal or moral justifications for such action.

JILL P. MESIROV

You wrote that fresh killings in Northern Nigeria were played down the fact that the unfortunate Nigerians were not even one-sided as your statement attempts to portray. I can reach you otherwise; secondly, I will ask Bob and Claudia if you don't believe us.

SAVET ROBERT A.

No matter what some foreign enemies may be placed at the same address. The Ibos in Nigeria; just as we want the Ibos, up to 50,000 Ibos in Lagos, capital of Nigeria, wouldn't have turned their backs in Opobo's years (in Ibo's, Eastern Region) from the clutches of their fellow brothers, the Ibos, the Federal troops would have raped this noble ideal.

MIMI ROGERS

Yes, it is true that we are the Ibos in Nigeria, just as we want the Yoruba, the Hausa, the Efiks and all the other components of our Nigeria. Continuing, you said of the Nigerian conflict has a deeper root that Nigerians had not at any time been freed them from their ego trips and passions, they have found real peace, love and joy. Christ has freed them from their ego trips and hang-ups and they can finally begin to love "their neighbors as themselves." As Christ said, "Therefore, if the Sun shall make you free, you shall be free indeed." Can this type of student be found at Penn? Yes. Try College Life, career counseling, and placement office. This book, "The Intellectual" write Penn. In short, they're sick of being "boxed" into a materialistic, unrestrained culture.

On campuses all over the nation students are faced with the task of "weathering" an academic system incompatible with an educational system that prepares them for the real world. They have found their "liberal" through a personal encounter with Jesus Christ. They have discovered that where success, drugs, sex, politics and all of the other things used to fill up the emptiness inside have failed, a relative solution is found at Penn. In short, they're sick of being "boxed" into a materialistic, unrestrained culture.

On campuses all over the nation students are faced with the task of "weathering" an academic system incompatible with an educational system that prepares them for the real world. They have found their "liberal" through a personal encounter with Jesus Christ. They have discovered that where success, drugs, sex, politics and all of the other things used to fill up the emptiness inside have failed, a relative solution is found at Penn. In short, they're sick of being "boxed" into a materialistic, unrestrained culture.

Richard Brautigan's
two novels and a book of poetry together in one house like Delacorte Press hardcover volume ($6.95), or separately, in three shack-like Delta paperbacks ($1.95 each). "But much of you" consists of his possessions" (Luke 12:5).

The civil war in our country, like not other war, has been unfortunately bloody. As I have said earlier, the type "Ibos" has never at any time been treated as a separate group. Yes, it is true that we are the Ibos in Nigeria, just as we want the Yoruba, the Hausa, the Efiks and all the other components of our Nigeria. Continuing, you said of the Nigerian conflict has a deeper root that Nigerians had not at any time been freed them from their ego trips and passions, they have found real peace, love and joy. Christ has freed them from their ego trips and hang-ups and they can finally begin to love "their neighbors as themselves." As Christ said, "Therefore, if the Sun shall make you free, you shall be free indeed." Can this type of student be found at Penn? Yes. Try College Life, career counseling, and placement office. This book, "The Intellectual" write Penn. In short, they're sick of being "boxed" into a materialistic, unrestrained culture.

On campuses all over the nation students are faced with the task of "weathering" an academic system incompatible with an educational system that prepares them for the real world. They have found their "liberal" through a personal encounter with Jesus Christ. They have discovered that where success, drugs, sex, politics and all of the other things used to fill up the emptiness inside have failed, a relative solution is found at Penn. In short, they're sick of being "boxed" into a materialistic, unrestrained culture.

Richard Brautigan's
two novels and a book of poetry together in one house like Delacorte Press hardcover volume ($6.95), or separately, in three shack-like Delta paperbacks ($1.95 each). "But much of you" consists of his possessions" (Luke 12:5).
Letters to the editor

[Continued from page 4]

[Image 0x0 to 1384x1992]

Thursday, January 15, 1970

[Image 0x0 to 1384x1992]

The Daily Pennsylvaniam

Ongoing

Tickets for the final annual all-

Orioles Mask and Wig productions are on sale starting today in the East Clive

Room, located at 216 South Locust Street.

The show with its 35-man cast will run through Thursday, January 29.

Tickets will be available from Ticket

Sales for $3.00 per person.

Markets—Major—Writer

Wanted

Sales oriented writer and planner for creative marketing and advertising group. A youth-oriented job.

Call: ALPHER DE MARTIN, 424 Sixth Avenue, Hammond, N.J. (215) 967-7086 / (215) 967-1123

[Image 0x0 to 1384x1992]

Engineers:

Join the diversified world of Martin Marietta

We are seeking engineers in Electrical, Electronic, Mechanical and Civil Engineering. We offer good salaries, free parking, employment in stimulating long term \Research, Development, Design, Test, Evaluation and Manufacturing programs in the fields of Space and Missiles.

We have major facilities in Baltimore, Maryland; Denver, Colorado; Orlando, Florida; Wheeling, Illinois and Huntsville, Alabama. And professional opportunities at Cape Kennedy and Vandenberg AFB. Each location offers opportunities for continuing education with financial support.

Representative on campus

Monday January 19

For interview, contact placement office. If unable to schedule interview, please write to:

Director, College Relations

Aerospace Group Dept. 115

Martin Marietta Corporation

Friendship International Airport

Maryland 21245

MARTIN MARIETTA

An Equal Opportunity Employer—Male or Female

[Image 0x0 to 1384x1992]
Fencing: wow of a comeback

By JIM LOWY

Talk About Comebacks!

The Quaker fencers, down by 9-0 against Temple at the start of today's dual meet, found room for their entire victory. Goalie Tim McQuiston made 10 saves in Philadelphia's 7-1 victory.

The Quaker's only scorer in the first stanza for the 7-1 victory. McQuiston made 10 saves in Philadelphia's 7-1 victory.

The Quaker fencers, down by 9-0 against Temple at the start of today's dual meet, found room for their entire victory. Goalie Tim McQuiston made 10 saves in Philadelphia's 7-1 victory.

Talk About Comebacks!

The Quaker fencers, down by 9-0 against Temple at the start of today's dual meet, found room for their entire victory. Goalie Tim McQuiston made 10 saves in Philadelphia's 7-1 victory.

The Quaker fencers, down by 9-0 against Temple at the start of today's dual meet, found room for their entire victory. Goalie Tim McQuiston made 10 saves in Philadelphia's 7-1 victory.

The Quaker fencers, down by 9-0 against Temple at the start of today's dual meet, found room for their entire victory. Goalie Tim McQuiston made 10 saves in Philadelphia's 7-1 victory.

The Quaker fencers, down by 9-0 against Temple at the start of today's dual meet, found room for their entire victory. Goalie Tim McQuiston made 10 saves in Philadelphia's 7-1 victory.

The Quaker fencers, down by 9-0 against Temple at the start of today's dual meet, found room for their entire victory. Goalie Tim McQuiston made 10 saves in Philadelphia's 7-1 victory.

The Quaker fencers, down by 9-0 against Temple at the start of today's dual meet, found room for their entire victory. Goalie Tim McQuiston made 10 saves in Philadelphia's 7-1 victory.