Student sues govt. for violating rights

By CLAUDIA COHEN

A University student is suing the federal government for violating his privacy.

Loren Cohen, a student from the University's Law School, was arrested on April 29 as part of an investigation into a recent bombing. Cohen is a member of the ACLU, and recently sued the government for violating his First Amendment rights.

A law trial was held in Washington, DC, District Court on Feb. 17 by attorneys from the American Civil Liberties Union (ACLU) and the Defense Justice League. The court is expected to render its decision in the coming weeks.

SAAS plans to establish its own black studies program

By PHYLLIS KANTER

The Student Research Council of the University of Pennsylvania has charged that the university is not doing enough to provide academic aid to black students.

In an interview with the Daily Pennsylvanian, several black students expressed their dissatisfaction with the current level of support provided by the university.

One student, who asked to remain anonymous, said that the university's policies are discriminatory and that black students are not being given the same opportunities as their white counterparts.

Harnwell promises minimum changes in admission policy

By JOAN RIEBER

In a letter to a number of University graduates, President Harnwell promised that there would be minimal changes in the admissions process for the next academic year.

Harnwell stated that the university would not be lowering its standards, but would be making some necessary adjustments.

The admissions process will remain unchanged, but Harnwell promised that the university would be more selective in its admissions decisions.

WILLIAM J. HERNER

Mr. Harnwell also revealed that an all-black research group headed by the Afro-American Students (SAAS) has decided to set up a new institute to provide academic aid for black students.

Cohen refused to pay for the Community of Students' steering committee's campaign. Cohen stated that he did not feel that the committee was adequately representing the interests of the students.

The university's response to Cohen's refusal was not immediately available.

U. to cut financial aid to grad students

By DON HORNORIT

A bill to cut financial aid to graduate students is being considered by the University's Board of Trustees.

The bill, which was introduced by Dr. James A. Harnwell, is intended to reduce the university's budget deficit.

The proposal has sparked widespread opposition among graduate students, who have argued that the cuts would adversely affect their studies.

UPCoS refuses to pay for the upcoming U. Council election

By JONATHAN B. TALMADGE

Plagiarized by other students, the budget for the University of Pennsylvania's Student Council election has been reduced by $10,000.

The reduction is due to the inability of the Campuswide Student Council to fund the election. The council has raised only $5,000, despite efforts to secure additional funds.

On-campus polling stations will continue to be installed.

Local

COLLEGE PRESIDENTS CALL FINANCIAL IMPOSSES "CRITICAL"

The presidents of the University of Pennsylvania, the University of California at Berkeley, and the University of Chicago have called for an immediate increase in financial aid to students.

The presidents have outlined a series of measures that they believe will help to alleviate the dire financial situation facing many students.

The measures include an increase in financial aid, an increase in tuition, and a reduction in the number of courses offered.

Mr. Russell said he was concentrating on the 1,600 students who had been commissioned by the university to write a report on black studies. Mr. Russell also mentioned that he was preparing a report on the university's urban responsibility as shown in the recent strike settlement.

The university council, which is expected to hold its first meeting this week, will be concentrating on the 1,600 students who had been commissioned by the university to write a report on black studies. Mr. Russell also mentioned that he was preparing a report on the university's urban responsibility as shown in the recent strike settlement.

Mr. Russell said he was concentrating on the 1,600 students who had been commissioned by the university to write a report on black studies. Mr. Russell also mentioned that he was preparing a report on the university's urban responsibility as shown in the recent strike settlement.
Black studies

Campus Chest decides that it will not disband

By PETER ELLICK

The news of campus Civil Liberties Act was unanimously rejected a proposal, made by outgoing members of the last year's Board of Directors, to disband the organization.

The move was made by board members who felt that Campus Chest has had a valid role to play in the political scene.

The proposal was made by board members who felt that Campus Chest has had a valid role to play in the political scene.

Presidentials task force recommends dropping draft for all-volunteer army

By United Press International

WASHINGTON -- A Presidential task force, in a report to the Congress, has recommended that the draft for the armed forces be abolished and that the nation move to an all-volunteer army.

The task force, which was appointed by President Johnson in January, was charged with studying the feasibility of an all-volunteer army.

The report calls for a two-year basic enlistment period followed by a four-year term of service.

The task force also recommended that the draft be abolished and that the nation move to an all-volunteer army.

The report calls for a two-year basic enlistment period followed by a four-year term of service.

The task force also recommended that the draft be abolished and that the nation move to an all-volunteer army.

The report calls for a two-year basic enlistment period followed by a four-year term of service.

The task force also recommended that the draft be abolished and that the nation move to an all-volunteer army.
FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 23, 1970

New CA director calls for new forms of worship

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 23, 1970

New CA director calls for new forms of worship

By ELLEN WEBER

Robert Warren, newly appointed director of the Christian Association (CA), said this week that the "spiritual vacuum" at the University was "a profound need" that must be filled.

"We should be concerned about our religious organization to help students obtain a 'way of understanding life,'" he added.

Also speaking at the University was that Yale University minister, Mr. Warren, who is both the Acting Director of the CA and received his B.A. from Yale in 1967. The CA is the oldest student-run religious organization in the country and has more than 12,000 members.

Mr. Warren said that the CA has "many signs of revitalization" and that the CA is "a living organism." He added that the CA is "a community of religious institutions that provides a religious reason for the existence of other religious organizations on campus." He also called for a "new form of worship" to replace the "old" form of worship.

Mr. Warren said that the CA has "many signs of revitalization" and that the CA is "a living organism." He added that the CA is "a community of religious institutions that provides a religious reason for the existence of other religious organizations on campus." He also called for a "new form of worship" to replace the "old" form of worship.

Mr. Warren said that the CA has "many signs of revitalization" and that the CA is "a living organism." He added that the CA is "a community of religious institutions that provides a religious reason for the existence of other religious organizations on campus." He also called for a "new form of worship" to replace the "old" form of worship.

Mr. Warren said that the CA has "many signs of revitalization" and that the CA is "a living organism." He added that the CA is "a community of religious institutions that provides a religious reason for the existence of other religious organizations on campus." He also called for a "new form of worship" to replace the "old" form of worship.

Mr. Warren said that the CA has "many signs of revitalization" and that the CA is "a living organism." He added that the CA is "a community of religious institutions that provides a religious reason for the existence of other religious organizations on campus." He also called for a "new form of worship" to replace the "old" form of worship.

Mr. Warren said that the CA has "many signs of revitalization" and that the CA is "a living organism." He added that the CA is "a community of religious institutions that provides a religious reason for the existence of other religious organizations on campus." He also called for a "new form of worship" to replace the "old" form of worship.

Mr. Warren said that the CA has "many signs of revitalization" and that the CA is "a living organism." He added that the CA is "a community of religious institutions that provides a religious reason for the existence of other religious organizations on campus." He also called for a "new form of worship" to replace the "old" form of worship.

Mr. Warren said that the CA has "many signs of revitalization" and that the CA is "a living organism." He added that the CA is "a community of religious institutions that provides a religious reason for the existence of other religious organizations on campus." He also called for a "new form of worship" to replace the "old" form of worship.

Mr. Warren said that the CA has "many signs of revitalization" and that the CA is "a living organism." He added that the CA is "a community of religious institutions that provides a religious reason for the existence of other religious organizations on campus." He also called for a "new form of worship" to replace the "old" form of worship.

Mr. Warren said that the CA has "many signs of revitalization" and that the CA is "a living organism." He added that the CA is "a community of religious institutions that provides a religious reason for the existence of other religious organizations on campus." He also called for a "new form of worship" to replace the "old" form of worship.

Mr. Warren said that the CA has "many signs of revitalization" and that the CA is "a living organism." He added that the CA is "a community of religious institutions that provides a religious reason for the existence of other religious organizations on campus." He also called for a "new form of worship" to replace the "old" form of worship.

Mr. Warren said that the CA has "many signs of revitalization" and that the CA is "a living organism." He added that the CA is "a community of religious institutions that provides a religious reason for the existence of other religious organizations on campus." He also called for a "new form of worship" to replace the "old" form of worship.

Mr. Warren said that the CA has "many signs of revitalization" and that the CA is "a living organism." He added that the CA is "a community of religious institutions that provides a religious reason for the existence of other religious organizations on campus." He also called for a "new form of worship" to replace the "old" form of worship.

Mr. Warren said that the CA has "many signs of revitalization" and that the CA is "a living organism." He added that the CA is "a community of religious institutions that provides a religious reason for the existence of other religious organizations on campus." He also called for a "new form of worship" to replace the "old" form of worship.

Mr. Warren said that the CA has "many signs of revitalization" and that the CA is "a living organism." He added that the CA is "a community of religious institutions that provides a religious reason for the existence of other religious organizations on campus." He also called for a "new form of worship" to replace the "old" form of worship.

Mr. Warren said that the CA has "many signs of revitalization" and that the CA is "a living organism." He added that the CA is "a community of religious institutions that provides a religious reason for the existence of other religious organizations on campus." He also called for a "new form of worship" to replace the "old" form of worship.

Mr. Warren said that the CA has "many signs of revitalization" and that the CA is "a living organism." He added that the CA is "a community of religious institutions that provides a religious reason for the existence of other religious organizations on campus." He also called for a "new form of worship" to replace the "old" form of worship.

Mr. Warren said that the CA has "many signs of revitalization" and that the CA is "a living organism." He added that the CA is "a community of religious institutions that provides a religious reason for the existence of other religious organizations on campus." He also called for a "new form of worship" to replace the "old" form of worship.

Mr. Warren said that the CA has "many signs of revitalization" and that the CA is "a living organism." He added that the CA is "a community of religious institutions that provides a religious reason for the existence of other religious organizations on campus." He also called for a "new form of worship" to replace the "old" form of worship.
Sanctuary

On Sept. 16, 1940, having passed through both issues of the Student, the United States' first Selective Service Bill, the draft act which produced the bill was designed as a "temporary" measure to stave off the face of an ever-wasting world war.

Now, almost 30 years later, this "temporary" measure still stands as a monolithic symbol of all the inequity and oppres-siveness lurking in which the gains of the status quo are referred to as "progress.

Almost 30 years later, this same "emergency" which imploded itself directly into the conscience of this University in the person of David Kelly, a draft resister seeking sanctuary at St. Mary's Episcopal Church adjacent to the campus.

By taking his stand in such close proximity to the University, by appealing to the consciences of a large number of students and faculty department coun-sees who will be on campus tonight to explain GE's business policies, prior to conducting scheduled recruitment interviews. We urge members of the University community to attend this educational confrontation, the second such meeting held under the guidance of the new recruitment policy, passed earlier this year by the University Council.

This policy is a "temporary" measure and valid ones -- to facilitate the exchange of ideas between students and prospective employers, and to interject a bit of institutional morality into a previously amoral
situation.

Two reasons for impatience are valid ones -- to facilitate the exchange of ideas between students and prospective employers, and to interject a bit of institutional morality into a previously amoral
situation.

The Senior division (Age 50 and over) progressed as preferred EK Ross will meet Calvin MacCracken in the final match at 10:30.

Squash

(Continued from page 6)

and Tommey Page was the number-ten man in the final match against New, delivering his second win of the season, 13-11, 11-3.

Page's number-one win was his most valuable, 10-7, 10-7, 10-6, 7-11, 11-9.

In the national men's five-year-time team competition, Penn's men tied prey on Saturday afternoon to a perfect Williams team, 9-0, and in the second round after trouncing Furnas. By now the second-seeded team has
secured its second consec-
tive national title.

In the national women's five-year-
time team competition, Penn's men tied prey on Saturday afternoon to a perfect Williams team, 9-0, and
in the second round after trouncing
Furnas. By now the second-seeded team has
secured its second consec-
tive national title.

In the National Women's five-year-
time team competition, Penn's men tied prey on Saturday afternoon to a perfect Williams team, 9-0, and
in the second round after trouncing
Furnas. By now the second-seeded team has
secured its second consec-
tive national title.

In the National Women's five-year-
time team competition, Penn's men tied prey on Saturday afternoon to a perfect Williams team, 9-0, and
in the second round after trouncing
Furnas. By now the second-seeded team has
secured its second consec-
tive national title.

In the National Women's five-year-
time team competition, Penn's men tied prey on Saturday afternoon to a perfect Williams team, 9-0, and
in the second round after trouncing
Furnas. By now the second-seeded team has
secured its second consec-
tive national title.

In the National Women's five-year-
time team competition, Penn's men tied prey on Saturday afternoon to a perfect Williams team, 9-0, and
in the second round after trouncing
Furnas. By now the second-seeded team has
secured its second consec-
tive national title.

In the National Women's five-year-
time team competition, Penn's men tied prey on Saturday afternoon to a perfect Williams team, 9-0, and
in the second round after trouncing
Furnas. By now the second-seeded team has
secured its second consec-
tive national title.
In memory of Francis George
A blood drive will be held

TUESDAY FEBRUARY 24
HOUSTON HALL
2ND FLOOR

STUDENT BLOOD DONORS CLUB

Kite and Key
I.A.A.
Men's Residence Board
Sigma Chi

Sigma Phi Epsilon
Sigma Nu
Psi Upsilon
Announcement on Ivy status for NIT

An announcement is expected today or tomorrow concerning the Ivy League Presidents' vote on participation in the National Invitation Tournament.

The motion to allow individual members to accept a bid to the Madison Square Garden-based tournament regardless of their Ivy League status has been accepted.

The tallying has stood at four in favor of the proposal and three against, with Dartmouth still to choose. Dartmouth voted against the proposal, but now there is a possibility that Dartmouth may change its decision.

Accordingly, Dartmouth president John Sloan Dickey misunderstood the question voted upon, thus causing a mess-up. He had decided in December to vote on that matter.

The Ivy League basketball championship automatically receives a bid to the NCAA tournament.

Fencers cut up dissent-riddled Bulldogs, 17-10

By JIM LOWY

As expected, the Penn fencing team toppled Yale Saturday at Weightman Hall by a score of 17-10. Up to this point, this Ivy League record of 3-0 (7-2 overall) was setting up a showdown with undefeated Columbia, and nationally ranked New York.

Grassin decided to cut last year's captain, Brandon Tartikoff and two-year veteran from the athletic department refuses to let go.

Next Saturday in New York, is the fact that Grassin re-establishe record to 3-0 (7-2 overall) setting up a showdown with undefeated Columbia, and nationally ranked New York.

One can see that the team members played, with subs accounting for 17 Red and Blue points.

The Ivy League was an impressive display in compiling a 4-4 match, Bob Morse and Corky Calhoun back to back, and man-to-man defense, the hoop.

The week layoff between the UConn and the charity stripe kept Brown from all the year.

Frosh five rips Broncos

By BILL WITTE

This season secures the freshman basketball game between Smith and Woman's at the Palestra at the Philadelphi, with the Quakers building a reputation as a top-flight Ivy League team. Miller made the charity stripe for the year's 100th point.

As a Frosh, Miller scored that first shot before losing track of the score. Miller missed his first three shots, scoring only 18 points.

There was a complete turnover between Monday at 7:00 p.m., the following Tuesday, Feb. 24.

The result was never in doubt, (Continued on page 3)

Quakers stay atop Ivy heap, 23-1 slate best in the nation

By MARK SCHLEISNIGER

FRIDNESDAY, Feb. . . . "Everybody plays!" the Quaker banner. However, that wasn't the case Saturday. As expected, the Quakers smoked Yale 17-10, and crushed Brown 29-16, to bring the Ivy League record to 3-0 (7-2 overall) setting up a showdown with undefeated Columbia, and nationally ranked New York.

The Ivy League is especially conducive to championship fencing.

What Tartikoff and Friedland had done was to complain to the coach, the athletic director, and others over the way Grassin was handling the team.

The Ivy League was an impressive display in compiling a 4-4 match, Bob Morse and Corky Calhoun back to back, and man-to-man defense, the hoop.

The week layoff between the UConn and the charity stripe kept Brown from all the year.

Frosh five rips Broncos

By BILL WITTE

This season secures the freshman basketball game between Smith and Woman's at the Palestra at the Philadelphi, with the Quakers building a reputation as a top-flight Ivy League team. Miller made the charity stripe for the year's 100th point.

As a Frosh, Miller scored that first shot before losing track of the score. Miller missed his first three shots, scoring only 18 points.

There was a complete turnover between Monday at 7:00 p.m., the following Tuesday, Feb. 24.

The result was never in doubt, (Continued on page 3)

Quakers stay atop Ivy heap, 23-1 slate best in the nation

By MARK SCHLEISNIGER

FRIDNESDAY, Feb. . . . "Everybody plays!" the Quaker banner. However, that wasn't the case Saturday. As expected, the Quakers smoked Yale 17-10, and crushed Brown 29-16, to bring the Ivy League record to 3-0 (7-2 overall) setting up a showdown with undefeated Columbia, and nationally ranked New York.

The Ivy League is especially conducive to championship fencing.

What Tartikoff and Friedland had done was to complain to the coach, the athletic director, and others over the way Grassin was handling the team.

The Ivy League was an impressive display in compiling a 4-4 match, Bob Morse and Corky Calhoun back to back, and man-to-man defense, the hoop.

The week layoff between the UConn and the charity stripe kept Brown from all the year.

Frosh five rips Broncos

By BILL WITTE

This season secures the freshman basketball game between Smith and Woman's at the Palestra at the Philadelphi, with the Quakers building a reputation as a top-flight Ivy League team. Miller made the charity stripe for the year's 100th point.

As a Frosh, Miller scored that first shot before losing track of the score. Miller missed his first three shots, scoring only 18 points.

There was a complete turnover between Monday at 7:00 p.m., the following Tuesday, Feb. 24.

The result was never in doubt, (Continued on page 3)

Quakers stay atop Ivy heap, 23-1 slate best in the nation

By MARK SCHLEISNIGER

FRIDNESDAY, Feb. . . . "Everybody plays!" the Quaker banner. However, that wasn't the case Saturday. As expected, the Quakers smoked Yale 17-10, and crushed Brown 29-16, to bring the Ivy League record to 3-0 (7-2 overall) setting up a showdown with undefeated Columbia, and nationally ranked New York.

The Ivy League is especially conducive to championship fencing.

What Tartikoff and Friedland had done was to complain to the coach, the athletic director, and others over the way Grassin was handling the team.

The Ivy League was an impressive display in compiling a 4-4 match, Bob Morse and Corky Calhoun back to back, and man-to-man defense, the hoop.

The week layoff between the UConn and the charity stripe kept Brown from all the year.

Frosh five rips Broncos

By BILL WITTE

This season secures the freshman basketball game between Smith and Woman's at the Palestra at the Philadelphi, with the Quakers building a reputation as a top-flight Ivy League team. Miller made the charity stripe for the year's 100th point.

As a Frosh, Miller scored that first shot before losing track of the score. Miller missed his first three shots, scoring only 18 points.

There was a complete turnover between Monday at 7:00 p.m., the following Tuesday, Feb. 24.

The result was never in doubt, (Continued on page 3)