Hey Day to feature salute to Harnwell

By ANITA SAMA

Hey Day, the traditional class memory day held this year for April 1969, was observed at Harnwell, having left April 7 for the annual banquet.

Bernard Wolfman, dean of the College and principal of the University, will speak to the seniors on the developments of the University during Harnwell’s time in office.

In addition to Wolfman’s speech, Provost Goddard, Stanley Johnson, Provost Goddard, and Student Body President James Scott will feature a salute to Harnwell.

For the second consecutive week, representatives of the various major departments will present an in-depth look at the history of freshmen and sophomores who are yet to be exposed to their primary field of study.

This week’s program, during the academic year, will begin Monday, April 19, and will be followed by a week of events, each one featuring a speaker and a discussion leader.

Attention is called to the schedule of events, which will be announced in the next issue of the Daily Pennsylvanian.

Garry was asked, "What is the issue of social welfare, not military justice, that is being dealt with in the University of Pennsylvania?"

Kunstler explained that if people have their own problems, they sometimes use their own problems as a form of protest. "The issue of theipes is often seen as a social or political issue, but the Tep movement is generally about personal rights and personal liberties," Kunstler said, and behind the Tep movement are the elements of personal rights and personal liberties. "The Tep movement is really about changing the way people feel about themselves and their society," Kunstler explained. "It's about the right to be who you are, not what other people say you should be."
